A meeting of "The Citizens' League of the State of New Jersey", formed at Trenton, May 2, will be held in Library Hall, Elizabeth, next week Tuesday, at 2 p. m. The object of this meeting is a free conference upon the matter of opposing future legislation in favor of legalizing gambling upon race-tracks in New Jersey, and Sunday liquor selling. From what has been accomplished in this direction, we may well thank God, and take courage. Much, however, remains to be done. Final success will be attained only by unceasing vigilance and unwearied effort. We must expect a renewal of the battle in the next Legislature of our State. For this we should begin preparation now. This is not a "a minister's movement"; it sprang from and belongs to the moral and religious people of New Jersey. All who are interested in this work, which is of such vast interest to our homes, our communities, and the whole State, are earnestly invited to at tend this meeting, whether at present members of the League or not.

RELICS OF A TRAGEDY.

Carefully Preserved in the War Department Archives.

The Weapon With Which Lincoln Was Shot—The Dagger That Booth Used in His Flight — Other Implements of the Murder.

[COPYRIGHT, 1891.]

"How many people do you suppose," asked Mr. Saxton, a clerk in the office of the judge advocate general of the army, the other day, "have ever seen the weapon with which Wilkes Booth killed President Lincoln?"

Mr. Saxton was with a party of friends, and his question rather aroused interest. Nobody could guess, of course. It had been generally supposed that every relic of the Lincoln assassination had long ago been seen or written about by everybody who had interest in such things, but when somebody in Mr. Saxton's company suggested that idea, he only smiled and said: "Then everybody has been greatly fooled. I suppose the dime museums are filled with such things, and we all know that the Army Medical museum, which is now in Ford's old theater, has many interesting relics of those tragic days, which every visitor to Washington can see if he chooses. But the real implements of the assassination—the genuine exhibits of the trial before the military commission which hanged Booth's fellow conspirators, are up in the judge advocate general's office, as part of the record of the trial, and" (here Mr. Saxton bowed modestly) "they are in my charge."

Mr. Saxton, is a grayhaired man. His friends try to dub him "Major," but he won't have it, for he says: "I was never bigger than first sergeant, and I am proud of that title." Sergt. Saxton has charge of all five of the rooms in the big war department building, which contain the court martial records. It is a bureau of war departments rarely visited because it is not known to contain anything especially interesting. Everything connected with the assassination of President Lincoln was long ago supposed to have been distributed among the various museums and historical societies, or to have passed into private hands.

Not so, every implement, every exhibit, every physical object that figured in the dreadful deed forms a part of the military record of the trial, and as such is carefully guarded in the office of the judge advocate general. But few people ever see these. Not many know they are in existence. When Mr. Saxton asked how many in the opinion of his young friends present had ever looked at them, his answer, "About three or four people a year—friends of the secretary of war, or judge advocate general," was indeed a surprise. The exhibits in the great trial are most carefully guarded. Nobody can ever see them without permission of the secretary, or the judge advocate general, and nobody can take copies of any of the written matter without express permission of the secretary himself.

It is a gruesome exhibit that Mr. Saxton has to display, when anybody comes to him with the proper authority. The room that he occupies is big and broad, with ceilings fifteen feet high. All the four walls are covered with a solid framework of pigeon holes and drawers, numbered in a way that nobody could understand. To the left of Mr. Saxton's desk is a range of three-deep drawers. In these drawers, packed in close, is the record of the trial of the Lincoln assassins. There were no typewriters in those days; the whole record is written in a big, bold hand, on departmental paper, and the whole is kept carefully locked up.

The physical exhibits of the trial are kept in the vault. When Saxton brings out these dreadful things, he does it with an air that indicates his personal responsibility. His voice is hushed; he directs his typewriters to cease work, he sends his lady stenographer out of the room, and with the most delicate touch lifts the precious relics, shows them, and it is only with evident reluctance that he allows even a favored visitor to touch them.

The first thing of importance that he has to show, is the stage plan of Ford's theater—the same that was drawn by the engineering department of the army for use on the trial. It is ragged and thumbstained. Four colors indicate the positions of the various actors in the great tragedy. Every position occupied by Booth—with his line of flight, is marked in red. Where Mr. Lincoln sat in his box, and the position of the people with him—Mrs. Lincoln, Maj. Rathbone and Miss Harris, is marked in blue. Where Laura Keene and her chief support, Harry Hawk, stood in the second act of "Our American Cousin," right in the center of the stage, is marked in purple, and where Booth fell upon the stage on his leap from the box and broke his leg, is indicated in green.

This diagram is interesting, because it was the official diagram before the court. The certificates as to its genuineness are signed in the most careless way by a young lieutenant of engineers who probably had no idea of what a great historic document this was likely to become. When Mr. Saxton had carefully rolled this up and packed it away in its tin case, he brought forth from the vault a small box, about two feet long. Across the top of the box lay what seemed to be a club—a piece of scantling about three inches wide by two inches thick. It was finger-worn, and full of bruises. Over one of its surfaces were huge blotches of blood stains. Mr. Saxton with almost an air of sacredness, gently lifted this billet of wood and laid it aside, until he could get at the box itself. Saxton is a lecturer as well as a custodian, and he said: "I put that stick away then because I want to get at the contents of the box first, and put them all out before you. He laid the club down, and fished out an old fashioned Derringer pistol of exquisite make. Very impressively he laid that down; then out of the box came a hideous dirk and two little boxes of wood, one of them with a glass face in it, like a crystal of a watch; then a pocketbook, such as men carried thirty years ago in their breast pockets—intended for money and memoranda. In one compartment was the place for the old carte de visite, which was the pride of the early photographer.

When Mr. Saxton brought out the little Derringer he said impressively: "This is the weapon with which Mr. Lincoln was killed." Mr. Saxton allows no one to take that in his hand. It is an expensive gunpowder toy—just as they used, or had always ready to use, a quarter of a century ago. It is an expensive weapon, as those things were in those days. The short barrel is sharply rifled and studded with silver. The hammer action is two "clicks," pulled with the thumb. The hammer goes down on a percussion cap. The stock is of rosewood, beautifully carved, and the whole is artistically mounted and decorated in silver. That old type of Derringer was a wicked shooter at short range. Booth put it at President Lincoln's head, within two inches of the skull, and death quickly followed. He threw it away in the box before making his leap to the stage, and that is how the little weapon got into the hands of the government. In the butt of the little pistol are two old-fashioned percussion caps. They are mildewed with age and worthless, but Mr. Saxton says: "These little caps are just as they were found in the butt of the pistol." When Mr. Saxton shows them he gets a sheet of glass, or pure white paper, and dumps the little caps out. No stranger is permitted to touch them.

Mr. Saxton next produced one of the little wooden pill boxes, and out of it came the leaden bullet which had caused Mr. Lincoln's death. It had originally been a round bullet, but was slightly flattened by impact with the president's skull, and it was shown just as it came from the hands of the army surgeons who had extracted it. It is precisely the size and shape of an old-fashioned oval lemon candy drop. It weighs about a quarter of an ounce. "This," said Mr. Saxton, as he took up a little steel rod with a fine point, "is the probe with which they found the bullet."

"These," continued the custodian of the sacred treasures, "are the fragments of bones taken from the wound. They are little scraps of the bony structure of Mr. Lincoln's skull." The little box containing them is lined with velvet and covered with a watch crystal, so they can be seen, but not handled.

Mr. Saxton has next to show a pocket compass, which Booth used to direct him in his flight through the Maryland swamps. Though unused now and carefully locked up, the needle still points unerringly. It is in a small leather case, lined with velvet, and the droppings of sperm from the candle, which Booth used at night to note his observations, yet disfigure the velvet in which the compass is set. This is one of the most interesting of the hidden relics of the great tragedy.

Booth's diary taken from his dead body, after he was killed in the barn at Garrett's farm, has been time and time again printed, but scarcely anybody of the present generation ever saw the original. Mr. Saxton has it among his treasures. It is a small leather-covered book beginning with April 16, 1865, all preceding pages having been cut out, presumably by the assassin himself. The contents of the remaining pages, which close abruptly, on April 21, are simply the ravings of a crazed man in his flight, after what he repeatedly terms "the great deed." The matter itself has no great interest at this late day, but the little leather-covered book in itself has. Booth wrote a regular hand, effeminate in its alignment. It was of the Italian type, small and compact. On one of the small pages of his diary he could put one thousand words. He wrote with a lead pencil, and the entries seem to be as fresh as when written. Nobody can copy those without permission of the secretary of war—a privilege accorded to but few, and few ask for it, for they are raving, wandering observations, that have little coherency, and are of no value as relating to the great conspiracy.

But there is one compartment of the little pocket diary that does contain something interesting. These are four cartes de visite of actresses famous in Booth's time for their beauty. Each picture is tinted, as was the custom in those days. Miss Effie Germon, once leading lady at Wallack's, is one. It is a fair, young face, strikingly beautiful. The hair is combed down over the temples and ears, as was the fashion thirty years ago, but the features are fresh and girlish. Miss Germon, if living, is now an old woman, and they say she is fat.

Caroline Richings, the once famous singer, is another face that figures in this historic dairy. She, too, is fresh and fair. Her picture is taken in profile and from the back of her head and about her ears hangs a profusion of short and kinky curls. Brady, of New York, is the photographer of both these. The third picture, Mr. Saxton said, nobody knew who it was, but his visitor had doubts as to whether Mr. Saxton was speaking the exact truth. The picture looked liked one of Olive Logan, who was once a noted actress in New York and since an authoress of repute. The visitor asked if it was she, but Mr. Saxton busied himself about something else. The lady was full of face, with great dark eyes, and on her head was arranged a lace scarf in Spanish fashion. The reticence of Mr. Saxton was afterwards explained when it became known that this was the picture of a daughter of one distinguished senator from a New England state and the wife of another now living from the same section.

The fourth picture in the diary is that of Rose Eytinge, long since retired from the public gaze. All these women were then in the heyday of their youth and popularity, and at the very zenith of their careers. Perhaps those who are living may read with astonishment that their early portraits are being so carefully guarded by the judge advocate general of the army.

In fact so carefully does the judge advocate general guard these pictures that he will not permit them to be copied. He was closely pressed the other day to permit this, but he said: "No, you can make pictures of all the inanimate things, but I do not think it fair to make drawings of the pictures of the ladies whose portraits were found in Booth's diary. Some of them are living—all of them have friends—and I do not think it fair at this late day to give their features the publicity which you propose. One of the ladies whose face figures there you could not copy anyhow, but without reference to her I do not think that it would be fair, even to Mr. Booth's old associates on the stage, to bring their portraits into prominence." And Gen. Lieber drew the line right there.

But he said: "Go on with your other pictures."

Then came the hideous dirk. This was the weapon that Booth brandished in his hand when he jumped upon the stage and shouted "Sic Semper Tyrannis." With it he slashed his way across the stage, striking blindly like a wild man. No matter who came in his way he went at him furiously. Dr. Withers, who was then the leader of the orchestra at Ford's theater, happened to be in the wings. He heard the shot and inquiringly put his head out to find out what was the trouble. Booth rushed upon him like a hurricane, with one hand brushed him aside and with the other made a furious drive with the dagger. Dr. Withers is yet alive but he carries a mark on his arm, which he often shows to his friends. Even Spangler, the accomplice, stumbled across the infuriated man's path and received a stroke from the weapon. As Booth darted from the stage door of the theater and plunged for the horse in waiting he threw the knife away and it was found by the government official. It is a clean cut blade, double-edged and with an old-fashioned silver plated hilt; the handle is of deer-horn, and the blade is embellished with all sorts of inscriptions, such as "America," "Home of the brave and land of the free," "Liberty and Independence," but the manufacturer's name appears as Mason of Sheffield.

A tiny little copper medal or token, said to have been blessed by the pope, which was found on Booth's breast at his death, is still preserved carefully.

The club, or piece of scantling, before referred to, was then brought out. The little piece of wood had more to do with the conviction, sentence and final hanging of the conspirators than anything else. It was the brace of a door. It was proved that on the day before Mr. Lincoln was killed Booth and Spangler, the stage carpenter, fixed the box of the president so that the assassin could enter it at any moment. They took off the lock of the door to prevent anybody else closing it. When Booth entered the vestibule of the box he closed the door and put up the wooden bar to hold it against any incomers while he was nerving himself to his work.

That is the wooden bar that Mr. Saxton has to show. It is covered with Mr. Lincoln's blood. It has been worn by constant handling. It was that, because it was proved that he made it, which sent Stage Carpenter Spangler to the Dry Tortugas for twelve years. It came very near hanging him.

THE STATES IN GENERAL.

CONNECTICUT is threatened with the loss of her shad.

OHIO'S grape crop per acre is worth three times that of California.

A KANSAS farmer is producing maple sugar from sap furnished by trees artificially grown.

IT is said that the natives of Alaska spend so much of their time in boats that their legs are crooked and weak.

THE Massachusetts legislature has appropriated $2,000 to be applied toward disseminating information regarding abandoned farms in the state.

TEXAS claims 1,512,385 horses and heads the list. Illinois is next with 1,123,973. In valuation Texas claims $49,618,333 and Illinois $69,314,509.

A FARM at Pithole, Pa., which was bought some years ago, during the oil excitement, by Chicago speculators for $1,500,000 was sold recently at a tax sale for $100.

OKLAHOMA is nearly as large as the state of Ohio. It has 60,000 inhabitants, a larger number than either Wyoming or Nevada has, and is now about ready for statehood.

WESTERN Franklin county contains the second highest elevation in Massachusetts, an isolated peak in the town of Rowe, bearing the name of Mount Davis, 2,170 feet in altitude.

WOMAN suffrage is symbolized in Wyoming's new seal of state, which shows the figure of a woman from whose uplifted arm is suspended a broken chain, while the state's motto is "Equal Rights."

DELAWARE is said to have more living ex-governors than any other state in the union. Five of them—B. T. Biggs, John P. Cochran, James Ponder, John W. Hall and Charles F. Stockley—are still engaged in active business.

H. J. BUILE of Lyon county, Kan., rented a farm last year for $880 on which he raised 8,000 bushels of corn. At present prices his crop would bring $4,000. He had no one to help him but his son, but Providence may have favored him on account of his name.

INTERESTING STATISTICS.

THE National academy, London, had 29,960 admissions on public days in 1890, an average of 2,565.

THE German empire, by the last census, has 49,500,000 of population, Prussia having of these 30,000,000 and the next division, Bavaria, having 5,500,000.

THE earth's fifteen hundred millions of human inhabitants speak 3,064 different languages and possess about one thousand different religious beliefs.

BELLUE'S society for the homeless sheltered last year 108,000 men and 15,500 women. Since 1870 the society has assisted, with lodgings, bath, breakfasts and medical care, 2,209,000 persons.

Typewriting.

The extension of the use of the typewriter is shown by the fact that in one single building in New York city there are one hundred typewriter operators at work from nine o'clock in the morning till five in the afternoon. In the office of one of the insurance companies there are seventy-five young women employed as typewriters, operators and clerks.

many medicines but failed to get any relief. At last, about two years ago, I commenced using the F. E. C. Kidney, Blood and Liver Remedy. From the first it commenced to help me, and with the use of three bottles I was cured and am now well and able to do the heaviest kind of work. My business is moving pianos and heavy boxes. To any one suffering with Kidney trouble I say, by all means try the F.E.C. Remedy. LORING GALE.
The F. E. C. Remedy is taking the lead of all others, wherever it is in the only remedy for Your Blood. Send for circulars. All druggists, $1 per bottle; six for $5.

BEWARE OF PARALYSIS!
Dr. Comfort's little "Compills" are a sure preventative. Do you have dizzy spells or a feeling of numbness, or fears of circulation? Do not delay; get "Compills." They are made from roots and herbs. If not kept by your druggist, send 25 cents to the F. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y., and the "Compills" will be sent by mail.

For sale by E. J. SHAW, Druggist.

THE BRIGGS MATTER

Ready to Come Up Before the General Assembly.

IN SESSION IN DETROIT TO-DAY.

The Question Brought in on the Selection of a Moderator.

All the 216 Presbyteries Are Represented—The Committee Ready to Report on the Revision of the Creed—Some of the Changes Made—Editor Shepard to Lead a Big Meeting.

DETROIT, May 21.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church convened here to-day. The only important business this afternoon will be the election of a Moderator.

All the 216 Presbyteries are represented in the Assembly.

The new Moderator will be selected with regard to his views on the Briggs question, and not with reference to his views on the revision of the Westminster Confession, as last year, so completely has the new issue overshadowed the old. Of the candidates in the field, but one, the Rev. C. A. Dickey, of Phiadelphia, is affiliated in any way with Dr. Briggs. He is a director in the Union Theological Seminary. He is also connected with the Board of Publications of the Presbyterian Church.

Both connections will tend to defeat him, it is said.

The other persons spoken of as candidates, Prof. W. H. Green of Princeton, the Rev. Dr. Baker of the First Church of Philadelphia, and the Rev. Ebenezer Erskine, of Hartford, are all unfriendly theologically, if not personally to Dr. Briggs.

The Briggs Heresy Problem.

The Briggs matter will formally come before the General Assembly after the appointment of the standing committees to-morrow. It will come up in two shapes. One will be the announcement of his appointment to the Edward Robinson chair of Biblical Theology in the annual report of the Union Theological Seminary The other shape will be the overtures of the 75 Presbyteries which have asked that this appointment be not confirmed by the General Assembly.

The committee appointed at the last General Assembly on Revision of the Confession of Faith will probably report to-morrow. The committee admit that its recommendations will not satisfy every one. The conservative branch of the Church, who opposed all revision of the Creed, will read with satisfaction that at the outset it was decided that no alterations or amendments be proposed that would in any way impair the integrity of the Reformed or Calvinistic system of doctrine taught in the Confession.

To-morrow evening will be given entirely to church meetings, Saturday morning to the consideration of ministerial relief, and Saturday afternoon the body will go to Michigan University at Ann Harbor to assist in the dedication of McMillan Hall, a Presbyterian guild home given by Senator McMillan. On Sunday Col. Elliott F. Shepherd, editor of the Mail and Express of New York, will lead a great popular meeting in favor of Sabbath observance.

EXCITEMENT IN PORTUGAL

A Belief that the King Will Soon be a Fugitive.

LISBON, May 21.—Grave rumors are afloat regarding the condition of affairs here, and public anxiety is very great as to the result of the exciting strain.

Nobody would be surprised to see the King of Portugal a fugitive. The Count of Paris has been in hourly communication with Lisbon all day and a crisis is anticipated.

NATALIE'S TRIUMPH.

The Ex-Queen Cheered by the People on Her Way to Bucharest.

BUDAPESTH, May 21.—At Semlin, Hungary, where ex-Queen Natalie stopped after being expelled from Servia, great crowds of people gathered in the streets near her hotel, awaiting an opportunity to see her and make demonstration of their sympathy.

Many of the people of the upper classes called upon the exiled lady to pay their respects.

Upon leaving her hotel at Semlin the ex-Queen was greeted with the utmost enthusiasm, and was repeatly cheered as she drove to the quay on the Danube, where she is to embark on a special steamer for Jassy, in Romania.

She went on board of the steamer at 10 o'clock, and as the boat drew out into the stream the ex-Queen bowed gracefully to the thousands who stood along the wharves to bid her God speed.

She will proceed to Bucharest from Jassy by rail.

No Compromise With Parnell.

DUBLIN, May 21.—At a meeting of the National Federation Timothy Healy said that no member of the Federation desired anything like reconcilliaton with Parnell. They would be glad to receive any Parnellite into the Federation on his giving up all connection with Parnell, but any compromise recognizing the present or future claims of Parnell to Irish leadership could not be thought of.

Spring Garden Bank Officials Arrested.

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—President Francis M. Kennedy and Cashier Henry H. Kennedy, of the Spring Garden National Bank, were arrested last night charged with receiving deposits after they knew the bank was insolvent. The two men were taken before a magistrate and released on $5,000 bail for a hearing to-morrow morning.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE TARRYTOWN VICTIMS.

The Bodies of the Italians Killed by the Explosion Buried To-day.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., May 21.—Wreck and ruin on one side and grief and sorrow on the other tell the story of the awful calamity here.

The railroad is severely censured by Tarrytown people for not taking more precautions in the transportation of such deadly material as giant powder or dynamite. One thousand or twelve hundred pounds of the explosive—enough to blow a whole city full into eternity—were carried on the flat car of the ill-fated construction train without the slightest covering or protection.

The railroad company now claim that the explosion was caused by a spark from a pipe that was being smoked by one of the Italians who sat upon the flat car containing the dynamite.

Detective Humphrey, Chief of the Detectives of the New York Central Road, and his staff met Coroner Mitchell here at 11 o'clock to confer with him regarding the inquest. The inquest will probably be held on Monday.

The coroner says that all the men are accounted for. There were 18 men killed. The wounded in the hospitals are doing as well as could be expected. Engineer George Herrick, the engineer of the train on which the dynamite was transported, who was badly cut about the neck and body, and who is suffering from concussion of the brain, is getting along well at the Provident Home Hospital.

The bodies of the dead Italians were buried to-day in the old Sleepy Hollow cemetery.

GREAT MASONIC TURNOUT.

Over Eight Thousand Masons in Line To-day at Utica.

UTICA, N. Y., May 20.—This city is crowded with strangers, who came here to see the big Masonic parade and laying of the corner-stone of the Masonic Home to-day. Grand Marshal Ehlers of New York says that his figures indicate that there were over 8,000 Masons in line and 30 or 40 bands of music in the parade.

The streets along the line of march were profusely decorated and present a fine appearance. The arrangements for feeding the multitude were complete, and there was no lack of food for any number under 50,000. All the schools, manufactures and mills were closed, and the entire day was devoted to the festivities.

TO-NIGHT'S BIG BATTLE.

Corbett Says if He is Defeated He Will Retire from the Ring.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Pool-selling on the Jackson-Corbett fight to-night began last evening. About $5,000 were placed at odds of 10 to 7 on Jackson. The Corbett contingent are holding off for a better price, which they think they will get Corbett is in fine condition. Jackson has had more experience in the ring than he has, and is 11 pounds heavier.

Corbett, in answer to a question as to his intentions after the fight, said: "If I win, I will go East. You see if I win I shall be on the road to the championship. If I lose I shall leave the ring."

A Pennsylvania Clergyman Killed.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., May 21.—There is general regret here over the sudden death of Rev. H. J. Hamilton of this place, which occurred at Cincinnati. He was a delegate to the Baptist Convention, which is now being held in that city. While he was passing a building in course of erection near the corner of Walnut street, a large stone fell from the third story, striking him squarely on the head. He was removed to the City Hospital, where he died within two hours.

Secretary Halford Back from Europe.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The steamship City of Paris has arrived here from Liverpool, having made the run from Queenstown to Sandy Hook in 6 days 1 hour and 56 minutes. E. W. Halford, President Harrison's private secretary, and Miss J. Halford were among the passengers arriving by the steamer.

A Lovers' Quarrel Results in a Tragedy.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Louis Roffel shot and seriously injured his sweetheart, Ray Weinberg, last night, on the sidewalk in front of his home, No. 45 Forsyth street. He then shot and fatlly wounded himself. A lovers' quarrel is supposed to be the cause of the tragedy.

The Rose Parricide Case.

LYONS, N. Y., May 21.—George Lumbert, the confessed Rose parricide, was indicted yesterday in the first degree and immediately arraigned in the Court of Oyer and Terminer before Judge Rumsey. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried this fall.

Petitioned Into Insolvency.

BOSTON, May 21.—W. L. Brown, of the Freeman Print Works, North Adams; the Zylonite and Celluloid companies, and the Freeman Print Works have been petitioned into insolvency by two Boston banks.

A Young Incendiary Arrested.

SALEM, Mass., May 21.—A 14-year-old girl, Rosie Duce, is under arrest for attempting to set fire to Manchaug Mill No. 1. She says she thought if she could burn the mill she would not have to work

TORNADOES RAGING

A Dozen Persons Killed in a Missouri County.

OVER ONE HUNDRED INJURED.

Calls for Assistance Have Been Sent to Surrounding Towns.

Homes, Crops and Farming Implements Swept Away by the Cyclone—A Section Fifty Miles Long Damaged in Texas—Small Animals Killed by the Thousands—Half a Million Dollars Lost.

MEXICO, Mo., May 21.—A cyclone swept through Audrian county early in the morning, devastating a section 12 miles long and a mile broad. A dozen persons were killed and over 100 injured.

The devasted district is 12 miles northeast of this city. The number of wrecked dwellings has not yet been ascertained, but over 50 have been reported.

In every case the destruction has been complete, and in many cases the unfortunate victims lose home, crops farming implements and live stock.

All physicians of this city are out attending the injured, and calls for assistance have been sent out to surrounding towns.

TEXAS STRUCK.

A Section Fifty Miles Long Swept by a Tornado.

GAINESVILLE, Tex., May 21.—A tornado swept over the country near here last night, and it has been learned that the section damaged is about 50 miles long and from two to five miles wide.

The farmers have all lost their entire possessions. Rabbits, birds and other small animals were killed by thousands by the hail-storm. The total loss will reach half a million.

NEW JERSEY WHITE CAPS.

They Try to Drive a Westerner Out of May's Landing.

MAY'S LANDING, May 21.—White Caps have again made their appearance in this vicinity.

This time their wrath was vented upon John Glaspey, who had recently come from the West and to work on the farm of his aunt, Mrs. Norton Woodruff, near this place.

A few days ago the White Caps visited Mrs. Woodruff's barn and cut loose the horses and turned them into the barnyard, and left a note informing Glaspey that they would return and do further damage if he did not get out.

Glaspey borrowed a gun. About midnight two men approached the barn. Glaspey called upon them to halt and they ran. Glaspey shot at them and one of the men exclaimed "I am shot."

Last night White Caps again visited the barn and poisoned a valuable colt. Glaspey also received another warning to leave the country within 24 hours.

GEN. RAUM WILL NOT TALK.

Not at Liberty to Make Public His Interview With the President.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—General Raum, Commissioner of Pensions, had an interview with President Harrison last evening at the Executive Mansion.

When asked to-day the result of his conference with the President, at which it is supposed the question of tendering his resignation was discussed, he simply showed a slip of paper which he had prepared for members of the press in answer to this inquiry, and on which was written: "I sent a half hour with the President and had a very agreeable interview."

Beyond this the Commissioner had nothing to say, except that he was not at liberty to make public his interview with the President.

Big Blaze at Albany This Morning.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 21.—At 1:45 this morning fire broke out in the machine shops of the West Albany car shops and consumed that building, rendering the machinery useless. The flames spread rapidly, and the blacksmith and paint shops were also burned. Some rolling stock in the yards was destroyed. The fire department found it difficult to get at the fire. Over 1,500 men will be thrown out of employment.

Steel-Plate Printers on Strike.

NEW YORK, May 21.—A strike of the steel-plate printers employed by the American Bank Note Company was begun Tuesday, but the fact did not leak out until to-day. The men are employed chiefly on government work, and should the strike be a prolonged one serious inconvenience to both the public and government may ensue. About 150 men are affected.

THEY DIVIDE THE PURSE.

All Bets Off on the Bowen-Myer Fight at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, May 21.—Referee Brewster has handed in the following decision to President Noel of the Olympic Club in regard to the Bowen-Myer fight: Fight decided on fouls; all bets off; purse divided equally.

There is much comment among sporting men on this decision. It is argued that under such ruling hereafter when a fighter finds he is whipped he has only to foul his opponent to get one-half of the purse and enable his backers and friends to get back any money they have bet on him. Under prize fighting rules a man who fouls his opponent loses the fight.

Fireworks Factory Blown Up.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The three buildings of the Unexcelled Fireworks Company at Granville, near Elm Park, on Staten Island, blew up at 9:45 a. m. Employees of the company were loading bombs with gunpowder at the time. Two men were blown up. One was struck in the back with a piece of the flying bomb and the other was badly burned. The three buildings were destroyed.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY

Formed in Cincinnati Amid Wild Enthusiasm.

A NATIONAL COMMITTEE NAMED

Political War is Declared Against the Money Power.

The Farmers' Alliance Ideas Adopted—A Prohibition Plank Ruled Out—The New Party Wants Unlimited Silver, No National Banks and Eight Hours for Workingmen—Exciting Scenes.

CINCINNATI, May 21.—The National Union Conference has formally declared for a third party.

It is to be the People's Party, opposed to all monopolies and corrupt influence in public life, against the denomination of railroad, iron, coal and other barons, and in favor of the farmer and laborer.

The report of the committee on platform was presented by Ignatius Donnelly and read by Robert Shilling. It opened with a lengthy statement of the political and social grievances and evils that had rendered independent political action not only desirable but necessary. Then came the resolutions, which are summarized as follows:

The Ocala, St. Louis and Omaha declarations were endorsed. All national banks as banks of issue should be abolished and legal tender treasury notes be issued to any amount required.

Next came the demand for the unlimited coinage of silver, for the restoration of all lands held by aliens, foreign syndicates and railroad corporations, after a certain allowance, for the abolition of class taxation and all taxation beyond that needed for an economical administration of government.

"We demand a just and equitable system of graduated tax on income. We demand the election of President, Vice-President and United States Senators by a direct vote of the people."

Then provision was made for the election and management of the National committee. Denunciation of the last Congress came next, followed by the labor plank:

"Resolved, That as eight hours constitutes a legal day's work for Government employees in mechanical departments, we believe this principle should be farther extended so as to apply to all corporations in the different States of the Union."

Great enthusiasm was manifested when the resolution naming the new movement the People's Party of the United States was read, the victorious element indulging in several rounds of applause. At the conclusion of the reading Shilling made an energetic argument in favor of adopting the platform as prepared, and appealed to the delegates to abstain from adding any pet theories to the document.

T. H. Davis of Texas, an ex-Confederate officer and a six-footed, goateed, typical Southerner, moved the adoption of the platform, and resolutions in their entirety, declaring that it was time that the farmers of the South and the laboring men of the north clasped hands across the chasm and buried the blood shirt forever. He was followed by a Union soldier, Gen. John Wadsworth, of Fort Wayne, Ind., who, toward the close of an impassioned address, called upon the Texas ex-Confederate to return to the platform. Davis complied, bringing with him Col. R. W. Humphrey, the leader of the Colored Alliance of the South, which boasts of a membership of a million and a quarter.

A Pandemonium of Enthusiasm.

The three men clasped hands, and each uttered a fervent "God bless you." The sight moved the delegates on the floor to a frenzy. They broke from their seats, bearing aloft the banner designating the respective States and crowded upon and around the stage. The ex-Confederate seized one of the American flags that decorated the desk of the presiding officer and waved it in the air, and Wadsworth and Humphrey followed his example. The delegates were short of bunting, so they tore down the flags from the galleries and organ loft and literally wrapped the three men in their folds, while cheer after cheer echoed in the rafters. For 20 minutes or more it was a pandemonium of enthusiasm. One half the audience sang the "Star Spangled Banner," while the other half was rendering "America," and the men from Kansas and Texas hugged and embraced their colleagues from the West and Northwest. Order was restored only when everybody was exhausted.

A motion to insert a prohibition plank was voted down, and the resolutions, without addition or alteration, were adopted.

A National committee was then appointed and the convention adjourned sine die.

The Lumber Boycott Ended.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The boycott which was declared by the labor unions against certain lumber dealers in this city, has been declared off, and the sale and delivery of lumber in this city, which was stopped by lumber dealers because of the boycott, has been resumed. The strikers will go back to their old positions as union men. The end can hardly be called a victory for any one.

The Mary Tobin Mystery.

NEW YORK, May 21.—District Attorney Fitzgerald of Richmond County has not yet fixed a date for reopening the investigation of the Mary E. Tobin mystery. He said that he was in communication with District Attorney Kahle of Franklin, Pa., and Lawyer Osmer, who represented the Tobin family.

Gedney Pleads Not Guilty of Perjury.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Edward E. Gedney, formerly president of the defunct North River Bank, pleaded not guilty in the Court of Oyer and Terminer to an indictment for perjury and nine others for overdrawing his accounts with the bank contrary to section 600 of the Penal Code.

MONEY FOR CHILI REBELS.

A Quarter of a Million Deposited in a San Francisco Bank.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—In connection with the arrest of Senator Trumbull, the alleged agent of the Chilian insurgents, it is currently reported here that $250,000 has been for some time on deposit here in the Bank of British North America to the credit of the insurgents and their agents.

The money was sent here from Chili and it is said that letters are now in the possession of the authorities which show that many of the wealthy and influential citizens of Chili have contributed this and other large sums for the overthrow of Balmaceda's Government.

U. S. District-Attorney Garler states that the fact of there being a large sum of money here to the credit of Senator Trumbull would be an important circumstance in determining the guilt of the accused.

Much speculation is indulged in as to the outcome of the attempt of the United States Grand Jury at Los Angeles to secure the despatches from the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies relative to Chilian officers.

It is said here that the Superintendents have refused to produce the despatches.

LABOR UNIONS DISAGREE.

A Split Between the Two Organizations in the Coke Regions.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., May 21.—A split has occurred between the two labor organizations in the coke region, the Knights of Labor and the Miners' Protective Union. A meeting of the latter organization was held and the strike was declared off and an order given to the members to return to work.

The Knights of Labor committee voted to continue the strike for another six weeks at least.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Lord Salisbury was warmly received in Glasgow.

A State branch of the National Afro-Americans' League was formed at Harrisburg, Pa.

Over ten million logs are jammed on the east bend of the Kennebec River just below Indian Pond, Maine.

It is said that the appointment of ex-Congressman Grosvenor of Ohio to a foreign mission will be announced in a few days.

Nathan Gratz, of Newark, N. J., was fined $250 in the Federal Court at Trenton for using a cancelled stamp on mail matter.

The three-year-old son of Mr. Roswell Hill of Athens, N. Y., was killed by the accidental discharge of a gun with which he was playing.

The Aldermen of Lowell, Mass., have passed the appropriation of $4,000 to celebrate the Fourth of July after the Mayor had vetoed it.

Isaac Herdman, alias "Dirty Ike," convicted of killing Capt. Dagon, at Port Oram, N. J., was sentenced to two years in State Prison for manslaughter.

William Grisale of Middletown, Conn., ate three dozen raw eggs, a head of cabbage, one pound of cheese, a half pound of crackers and drank a glass of beer on a wager.

The firm of Satterlee, Bostwick & Martin, insurance brokers of New York, are accused of misappropriating large sums paid to them as agents for fire losses and premium on policies.

James McDuffie, who shot and killed his son's housekeeper, Kate Lawrence, at Rochester, N. H., on April 19, and who has since been in jail at Dover, died in the prison during the morning.

The annual session of the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., was held at Bridgeport, Conn. Four lodges were formed during the year. Receipts were $123,674.33, and the total membership 12,075, a gain of 675 for the year.

Mr. Thomas Beaver, an influential citizen of Danville, Pa., died at his residence there yesterday, aged 79. He accumulated a vast fortune by coal mining and railroad enterprises. He was an uncle of ex-Governor Beaver.

Italian Brigands Busy.

ROME, May 21.—Brigands near Sabiaco have murdered the mother of Signor Segna, who was formerly secretary of the Papal Nunciature at Madrid.

E. at Yale, Tuesday night, when the elections to the Greek letter societies were given out, the D. K. E. men appeared first on the campus, with two calcium lights borne at the head of the procession. All the students were clad in black dominos, with cowls and the Greek letter Phi on their backs. Psi Upsilon, wearing white cowls and dominos, with a black Beta, their chapter letter, on their backs, met them, and, after parading about the campus for a half hour, each trying to out-sing the other society and making a great display of red and blue fire, Roman candles and rockets, the leaders of the two organizations announced the election of the Juniors to membership.

Fancy Cattle Take a Tumble.

The Jersey cattle, excellent and beautiful as they are, are gradually finding their true level. At a sale of famous cows in New York Tuesday the highest price paid was $190, while two other famous milkers went for $120 and $100 respectively. Thirty-six others, all of the best strains, brought lower prices still. It is but a few years ago, as Plainfield milkmen and cattle dealers and breeders are well aware, that the heads of these famous strains brought $10,000 and $15,000 each. Fancy prices, of course,—remarks the Elizabeth Journal—But—it adds—the cattle are just as good now as formerly; some of them are better; but they have become so numerous that they are rated at their financial value as producers of milk, butter and cheese. In other words, they have come down to nearly their true value, and those who prefer them to other cattle can get them.

Salvation Shouters Indicted.

Now that it is proposed to have Salvation Army street parades, tambourine drills, and other similar public demonstrations, in Plainfield, as is done in other cities, it will be interesting to know that the Mercer County Grand Jury at Trenton yesterday made a presentment charging members of the Salvation Army with making loud noises on drums and tambourines and with boisterous singing and shouting. This is probably the first case in the United States in which the Salvation Army has been presented by a Grand Jury. The jury say they do not deny the rights to worship God according to the dictates of one's conscience, but they declare that this right is not properly exercised when it is habitually and constantly used to the disturbance and annoyance of respectable people.

Eight Thousands for New Jersey.

The Secretary of War, with the approval of the President, has made allotments of money to the various States and Territories for arming and equipping the militia, on the basis of representation in Congress. Among them is the sum of $8,292 to New Jersey. The funds will be available July 1.

Shiloh's Cough Cure

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

FANWOOD MUST HUSTLE NOW,

If She Wants to Wrest That Championship from Plainfield's Grasp.

The Plainfield Crescent League played its last game in the Central New Jersey whist tournament, last night, and by the score of 325 to 298, against the Fanwoods, made a final excellent showing in the race for the championship. The players made a splendid spurt to make this, their last opportunity, memorable; and besides materially increasing their average number of points per game in the entire series they succeeded in making the biggest score of the tournament, making just one point more than did Westfield in its phenomenal score of 324 Tuesday evening.

The score in detail is as follows:

PLAINFIELD.		FANWOOD.
Kleb & Bates	50	Stevens & Miller	19
Kleb & Bates	44	Force & Quereau	28
Kleb & Bates	33	Kyte & Downer	22
	126		70
Keller & Wilbur	22	Force & Quereau	28
Keller & Wilbur	30	Kyte & Downer	46
Keller & Wilbur	50	Stevens & Miller	29
	102		103
Dunham & Daniel	17	Kyte & Downer	62
Dunham & Daniel	30	Miller & Stevens	38
Dunham & Daniel	40	Force & Quereau	25
	87		125
Total	325	Total	298

In this game Fanwood too made a spurt, and beat its former highest score of 295 by three points. It was, in fact, high-score night, for at Elizabeth the New Jersey Athletic Club was defeated only by the big figures of 309 against 295. By these extraordinary scores the four clubs materially increased their average number of points per game, Plainfield jumping from 573 1-7 to 279 5-8, Fanwood from 271 to 274 6-7, Bergen Point from 267 1-2 to 271 3-7, and Elizabeth from 256 to 263 4-7. A scrutiny of the record, as it stands, corrected to date, with the tournament on the eve of closing, will be interesting:

	Games Played	Total Points Scored	Average
Crescent League	8	2237	279 5-8
Fanwood Club	7	1924	274 6-7
N. J. A. C., Bergen Point	7	1900	271 3-7
Elizabeth Ath. Club	7	1845	263 4-7
Westfield Ath. Club	7	1774	253 2-7

	Games Played	Games Won	Games Lost	Percent
Plainfield	8	6	2	.750
Elizabeth	7	5	2	.714
Bergen Point	7	3	4	.428
Fanwood	7	3	4	.428
Westfield	7	1	6	.143

	Plainfield.	Elizabeth.	Bergen Point.	Fanwood.	Westfield.	Games won.
Plainfield	—	2	1	2	1	6
Elizabeth	—	—	2	1	2	5
Bergen Point	2	—	—	—	1	3
Fanwood	—	2	—	—	1	3
Games lost	2	2	4	4	6

As will be seen from a study of the figures, Fanwood must make 313 points in its final game in order to tie Plainfield. The highest scores she has yet made have been 298 and 295. Bergen Point has 337 points to make in order to catch up, and the others are hopelessly behind, though all the clubs but Westfield have a commendable record. The only redeeming feature of Westfield's playing has been the big score of 324 by which it defeated Fanwood Tuesday night. It looks as though Elizabeth were going to tie Plainfield on the percentage of games won; but on the total number of points scored in the tournament, which is the deciding matter in the awarding of the championship, the Elizabethans have no chance of climbing out of fourth place.

The last two games in the series will be played next week. At Bergen Point the New Jersey Athletics will meet the Westfields. At Elizabeth Fanwood will make its deciding effort for the supremacy.

Already a similar tournament, with a larger number of club entries, is being planned for next winter. The tournament now closing has aroused great interest in the game.

Blimm—Lehnan.

The wedding of Joseph C. Blimm of Plainfield, and Miss Mamie T. Lehnan, took place at 8 o'clock last evening, at the residence of the bride's mother, New York city. The Rev. Father Scanlon officiated. The bride was becomingly attired in fawn faille, and carried a bouquet of Marechal Neil roses. Miss Kittie Lehnan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Jacob Blimm, Jr., of this city, brother of the groom, was "best man". The dining room and parlors were handsomely decorated with flowers and smilax. The gifts consisted of silver-ware, bric-a-brac and other useful and valuable articles. A reception, and a supper by a New York caterer, followed the ceremony.

The happy couple will occupy a handsomely furnished flat in the Hart building on Park avenue.

Big Masons from Plainfield Present.

Atlas Lodge, No. 125, F. and A. M., had a grand time at its regular communication on Monday evening last. Besides the regular work of the Lodge, the Master Mason's degree was conferred in the presence of a large and distinguished company of Masons from surrounding towns. A fine collation was served during the evening.

High praise was accorded to Atlas for the masterly way in which the work was exemplified.

Among the distinguished Masons present were: From Anchor, No. 149, Plainfield, F. O. Herring, F. G. Neighbour; from Jerusalem, No. 26, Plainfield, L. Blackford, James Suckle, E. Odam, John Odam, Rudolph Carman, John Ulrich, P. M.—Westfield Leader.

FREEDMEN'S DAY IN PLAINFIELD.

Colored People to Celebrate Their Emancipation from Bondage.

The colored citizens of Plainfield have for some time been planning for the establishment of Emancipation Day celebrations in this city, and at a meeting last night Messrs. W. E. Johnson, Wm. Douglass, Wm. H. Kline, Abram Brown, Benjamin Sutton, Saunders, Alonzo Hill, Moses Carey, Peter Anderson, Wm. Manning, Israel Jones, William Mayhew, and Peter Wyckoff, were appointed a committee of arrangements to prepare for the first observance of the event, which is to be held probably some time in August. It is anticipated that such a celebration annually will be of great benefit to the merchants, the hotel keepers, and the people of the town in general, in the bringing of great crowds of people into the city, and the consequent heavy patronage of the stores. An interesting programme will be arranged for each day of the celebration, and, besides the transaction of business at the convention, there will be out-door exercises, parades, and an abundance of gay festivities. The streets and groves will be thronged with people in gala-day attire, and a most interesting and patriotic spectacle may be expected. It is hoped that all will co-operate in making the enterprising undertaking a success. Prominent citizens are expected to assist in the preparations and in making the event a notable one. The utmost spirit of friendliness and non-partisanship will prevail. Concerning the celebration the committee, of which W. E. Johnson has been appointed chairman, have issued the following:

The first emancipation of colored slaves in the British Isles occurred August 1, 1834; subsequently, in 1843, Great Britain emancipated more than twelve million slaves in her East India possessions. Each of these acts while important, historically, to the rising Negro are overshadowed by the more recent manumission by Abraham Lincoln (January 1, 1863), of four millions of our brethren.

This day, commemorative of one of the most important events in the annals of American history, should be duly and appropriately observed annually by us as American citizens. As the day of American Independence is cherished by every patriotic citizen, so should the day of our emerging from the thraldom of enchattled slavery be memorable, and be kept ever fresh and green.

It is the desire of the committee to demonstrate, through these celebrations, the real, not simply the superficial, progress of the race. We wish to make it not only an occasion of hilarity, but the time for shaping and imparting lofty and noble sentiments in the hearts of all, that the rising generation may be better prepared for its higher and exalted destiny.

It is expected that the orator of this year's celebration will be J. J. Price, a full-blooded negro of remarkable abilities, who is President of the Salisbury, N. C., University.

TO BE TRIED AS A HERETIC.

Points of Dispute in the Presbyterian Controversy That Begins To-day.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Honeyman left this morning for Detroit, where the annual session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church opens to-day. This session will have before it two important matters, the revision of the Confession of Faith and the consideration of orthodoxy of Prof. Charles N. Briggs of the chair of Biblical Theology in the Union Theological Seminary. The former of these two questions has already been so long discussed that a feeling approaching unanimity has been reached throughout the Church. The Briggs matter, however, is by no means of this character. The present indications are that a fierce battle will be fought over it, and upon its decision results that may rend the Church from its foundation seem to hang. The Rev. C. E. Dunn, son of S. F. Dunn of Park avenue, is one of those who will sit in judgment. He thinks Dr. Briggs is theologically correct.

The question of Dr. Briggs's orthodoxy is not at all a new one. It has been raised at different times for several years. He has been referred to as the leader in the revision movement, and has in that position felt the opposition not only of those who thought his revision ideas ultra, but of all who have thought it their duty to stick by the standard of the Church in every word and line.

It was, however, left for his inaugural address, delivered on assuming his present position last January, to arouse discussion as to his views on three of the cardinal points in the Presbyterian doctrine; points which had never been dreamed of in all the heated revision argument, and upon which it is alleged not only Presbyterianism, but all evangelical Christianity, depends. These three points are the belief in the Bible as the only true source of Divine authority, the belief in the verbal inspiration and consequent absolute inerrancy of the Bible, and the belief in the immediate sanctification at death of all those who die in the faith.

Big Bills the Counties Owe.

The Census Bureau has just issued a bulletin showing the indebtedness of New Jersey by counties. According to this bulletin the total debt of all the counties, less sinking fund, in 1890 aggregated $6,668,463 The bonded debt of the counties in aggregate reached $4,642,149. The floating debt of all amounted to $198,873, and the sinking funds to $1,112,912.

The total debt of Union county, less sinking fund, was $287,000 (bonded), a per capita of $3.96. In Somerset county the floating debt was $87,051, the bonded debt $47,818, and the total, less sinking fund, $134,869, a per capita of $4.76.

CLAIRVOYANT!

Mrs. Dr. EDWARDS,

Being in such great demand in Plainfield, she has consented to remain until next

Wednesday Morning, May 27,

As a favor to her many kind patrons. She will then leave for Easton, positively never to return to this city for business again, as she is compelled to go to Europe in August for a few months.

Mrs DR. EDWARDS,

Known in this country from Maine to Mexico. She was born with the wonderful gift of second sight, and with a veil. She is the seventh daughter of the seventh daughter. She reveals every mystery; tells you if the one you love is true or false. She removes every grief, settles lovers' troubles, and causes speedy love marriages. She gives reliable information to gentlemen in all business transactions, and informs them how to make profitable investments and acquire speedy riches. She tells lucky lottery numbers. She has an OSIRIS EGYPTIAN TALISMAN, which is noted all the world over, as a specific charm for the unlucky. All who are in trouble or sick, should call without delay.

MATTING STOCK

Is without a doubt the most extensive in Central New Jersey. Every quality at all prices. The Matting that we are at present offering at $5 per roll of 40 yds cannot be equalled in this city.—Our great Oil-cloth stock contains an immense variety of patterns, in all widths and prices.—Blabon's No. 1 goods a specialty, at 50c per sq yd.—Ingrain Carpets from 25c. Tapestry Brussels, 35c.—30c to 75c is the range of prices on our Window Shades. At 25c we sell a nicely polished hard-wood Curtain Pole, with brass fixtures. Something extra in the Rug line is the one we are at present selling at $2.50; size 5 feet by 30 inches. The quality the same as heretofore sold for $3.—Notes from the Millinery Department.—Always in stock nearly every shape or design in Ladies' head-gear.—Daily productions of artistically trimmed Hats and Bonnets.—Constant additions to our line of Flowers, Ornaments and Millinery Goods.—Thrice more patronage than any previous season is sufficient evidence that our styles are correct, and prices the lowest.

'Twas Poet Lea, Not Lawyer Cholfie.

[From The Somerville Messenger.]

[Counselor Charles A. Reed has taken to writing base-ball rhymes for the Somerville papers, with a local West End application.—Plainfield Daily Press.]

I see the Plainfield Press
Has given all the credit
Of making up those verses
[Perhaps you haven't read it]

To C. A. Reed, the President
Of the Crescent base-ball team;
But The Press it was in error.
[Things are not what they seem].

The Counselor could have done it,
Had he tried a little bit,
But his brother, Dr. Louis,
Is the man to blame for it.

One's a Crescent, one's a West End;
Both are jolly, both are tall;
Friends they are one to another,
But they're enemies in base-ball.

A Great Society's Giant Gathering.

Among the most zealous workers in planning for the success of the International Christian Endeavor Convention be held at Minneapolis, Minn., from July 9 to July 12, inclusive, is Miss Alice B. Spangenberg, of Woodland avenue, Netherwood. As District Secretary for Union county she is striving earnestly, in co-operation with others, for the formation of a large party of delegates from this section. It is hoped that many will take advantage of this opportunity to attend the great meeting of this great movement and at the same time enjoy a vacation trip to the beauties of the northwest. After the Convention special Christian Endeavor excursions to Denver and other distant points of interest will be arranged, besides shorter trips to Minnehaha Falls and Lakes Minnetonka, White Bear and Harriet. Especial attention is called to the fact that all the railroads have agreed to give round trip tickets to Christian Endeavorers, for the twin cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis, at the rate usually charged for a single fare one way. Not only this, but they have consented to make the return coupons good for use until August 26, thus giving to visitors nearly six weeks for personal enjoyment, besides the week for the convention and its duties. It is anticipated that at least fifty thousand delegates will attend the convention, which promises to be the largest religious gathering ever held in the new world. Plainfielders interested may procure much information from The Bulletin, 625 New York Life Building, Minneapolis, Minn., the first four issues of which, with full particulars, may be obtained for two cents. Or they may write to the Rev. William Hoppough, Springfield, N. J., who will have charge of the transportation from this locality.

Sportsmen Smash Clay Pigeons.

The South Plainfield Gun Club had a fine afternoon's sport, shooting at inanimate birds, on the club's grounds, yesterday. Standard keystone targets were used, the clay pigeons being thrown at unknown angles, from hidden traps, into flight that was difficult to cover. Only five clean scores were made. These were all in the first three events, and were by Tee Kay, Apgar, Teeple and Brantingham. Of the men who shot in every event Tee Kay and Apgar each smashed 49 targets out of 55 they fired at, Brantingham shattered 45, and Smith 44. Teeple tried at 45 and struck 35. The scores:

Event No. 1—10 keystones each. Tee Kay, 10; Apgar, 10; Smith, 7; Brantingham, 7; Voehl, 2.

Event No. 2—10 keystones each. Apgar, 10; Teeple, 10; Tee Kay, 9; Brantingham, 8; Smith, 8; Soper, 6; Irons, 3; Voehl, 2.

Event No. 3—10 keystones each. Brantingham, 10; Smith, 9; Tee Kay, 8; Apgar 8; Irons, 8; Teeple, 7; Soper, 6; Voehl, 4.

Event No. 4—15 keystones each. Tee Kay, 13; Apgar, 13; Brantingham, 12; Soper, 12, Smith, 11; Irons, 10; Voehl 10; Teeple, 9.

Event No. 5—10 keystones each. Smith, 9; Tee Kay, 9; Teeple, 9; Apgar, 8; Voehl, 8; Brantingham, 8; Soper, 4.

Plainfield Sermons Never Pall.

The Trenton State Gazette has found out why sermons in some cities are often dull and Sunday services flat, stale and unprofitable. "It is not because preachers are commonplace and choirs stupid, but because the hearers are stupefied by foul air." This will account entirely, not only for the success of the seashore services and those in the woods, but also for the undlagging success of those at Plainfield, where the churches are always freely ventilated, and where the atmosphere is always blissfully pure and exhilarating.

Getting Ready For the Bi. Boys' Coming.

The Elizabeth City Council has acknowledged, in very complimentary manner, the importance of the New Jersey Division of the League of American Wheelmen, by extending a formal welcome to them and promising all the courtesies due to such an organization from the mayor and city officials. The prospects are that the approaching Division meet in Elizabeth will be a pronounced success. The Plainfield Bicycle Club will be on hand in full force.

To Wallop the West Ends.

The Seton Hall College men are to play against the West Ends at Somerville next Saturday, and they are no youngsters, either. They have beaten Yale and Princeton in former years, and are ball-players, every one of them.

The return game against the New Jersey Athletic Club has been put off until next week Wednesday, May 27, when it will be played on the grounds at Bergen Point, for blood and glory.

For the sake of large profit some dealers offer substitutes when Hires's Root Beer Packages are called for. If you care to have true goods, and a most delicious drink, run no risk, and insist on getting Hires's.

THE PASTOR-EDITOR'S PAPER.

Some Interesting Things Entertainingly Said by the Rev. Mr. Goodrich.

The Rev. Charles Lyman Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, has issued the May number of his most excellent denominational paper, Our Church, from which the following extracts of general interest are taken:

Children's Day is the second Sunday in June.

Mr. Robinson's class are to have charge of a sociable in June.

Mrs. Potter is now at her former residence on Fifth street. Mrs. Haberle, her niece, is with her.

Said some one to the pastor recently: "I think the ladies of your church are the nicest I ever met." Why certainly!

The Ladies' Missionary Society will meet Thursday afternoon, May 21. The programme has been arranged by Miss Gardiner.

It has gone! The fence! A relic of barbarism swept away. What could be more inappropriate than an iron barrier around a church.

A committee from the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor have taken in hand the work of providing and arranging flowers for the church services.

The Bible training class for young men and boys, conducted by Mr. Robinson, has closed for the season. It has done a good work, and will be opened again early in the fall.

O HAPPY CHURCH, NO FAULT TO FIND!

No grumble this month. Everybody contented. The pastor has fairly besought people for grumbles, but could not get any,—except grumbles against himself, and he wouldn't put those in.

Thomas Clarkson may well have the sympathy of us all. Only two months ago he buried his wife, and now he has laid baby Maysie beside her, and Willie and Florence have been suffering from the same disease that took Maysie away. We are glad to state, however, that now they are getting well.

Miss Dollie Wilkisson is making a short visit in Plainfield. She brings word that Mrs. Wilkisson has not been very well in Spokane Falls. She has been living too high, the doctor says,—that is, too high above the sea. We will hope that she may yet return to Plainfield, where she is so much esteemed.

At a meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society, held April 28, by unanimous vote of the members present the time for the annual meeting for the election of officers was changed from the second Tuesday in October to the fourth Tuesday in May. At the coming meeting the presence of every member is desired.

A CHALLENGE FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOL BASE-BALL.

Are there any base-ball players in the Sunday-school? Why don't they challenge the First Presbyterian Sunday-school to a match? Or why don't the wheelmen of the Sunday-school—male and female—have a school run some fine Saturday afternoon?

Willard Haff has been appointed assistant Superintendent of the Monroe Avenue sunday-school, a very excellent choice. Our Methodist friends have shown good taste. Mr. Haff had been serving very efficiently as Superintendent of the Evona sunday-school which was merged with the Monroe Avenue. It is good to see a young man entering in such a hearty and capable way into Christian work.

Mrs. Isabel Spenser Freeland, of Boston, addressed our Wednesday evening meeting, May 13, on the subject of "The Open Church Door". It was an interesting and stirring setting forth of what is being done by some churches—like the Berkley Temple, Boston, and St. George's church, New York—in aggressive Christian work. It made us feel that we are doing very little, and has set us to thinking how we may do more.

COMPLETING CHAUTAUQUA'S COURSE.

The Chautauqua Circle is to hold its last meeting of the season the last Friday in May. The Circle has now been reading three years. One more year will complete the course, and the faithful ones can then graduate and receive a Chautauqua diploma. The readings next year will include American history and literature. We hope that many who have not read with us this year will plan to take up the course next Fall.

The Congregational Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, which was organized six years ago, when the Christian Endeavor movement was young, and when there was none other in Plainfield, will give an entertainment Thursday evening, May 28, to raise money for missionary purposes. The Rev. M. Merriam will give his entertaining lecture, "Chalk and Talk", and there will be a social hour, during which refreshments will be served.

The grumble sociable held last month under the management of Mrs. Buell proved to be a successful and pleasant affair. Miss Clark read a paper upon African explorations, which showed evidence of wide reading and careful preparation. She illustrated it with maps of her own drawing. A church choir of a hundred years ago favored the gathering with their presence and sang some of the hymns they used to sing in the good old days gone by. They assumed the names of Miss Kirkner, Miss Whiting, Mr. Hunt and Mr. Lewis. They sang very well, but on the whole we prefer the modern hymns.

THE PASTOR TAKES A SPIN.

The Association at the hospitable Central church, Philadelphia, was an unusually good one. E. L. Suffern was our delegate. Miss Mattie E. Powlson was to have gone as a delegate also, but the grip held her. The programme was a rich and varied one; the topics practical and admirably discussed. The spirit of "Brotherly Love" suitable to the city was manifest in rare measure. The pastor enjoyed something that was not on the programme—a spin through Fairmount Park behind a pair of three-minute horses, driven by the genial Mr. Waters, a brother-in-law of Mr. Roney.

A Congregational Council was held at Upper Montclair May 12, for the installation of the Rev. W. O. Weedon. Mr. Weedon, it will be remembered, gave one of the addresses at the Conference here. Our church was represented by the pastor, who, inasmuch as Mr. Weedon, in college days, then Commodore of the Amherst Navy, installed him stroke oar of the freshman crew, took a peculiar pleasure in assisting to put him in stroke oar of a neighboring church. Mr. Weedon was bow oar of the only Amherst boat that ever won over Harvard and Yale, and he is as manly and earnest a pastor and preacher as he was an oarsman.

SACRIFICE THE HAMMOCK AND GO TO CHURCH.

As the hot weather approaches there comes with it a test of Christian consecration which will show in attendance at the Sunday-school and prayer meetings. A pastor notices with great regret a disposition on the part of one and another to become irregular in attendance at Sunday-school; to slip away without staying to the Christian Endeavor meeting; to be reluctant to do Christian service. It is natural for one to feel the temptation to this; but it should be resisted. There were times when boys and girls even had such consecration that they would go to the stake though the faggot fires were hot. It is a pity if boys and girls now cannot go to Sunday-school and Christian Endeavor meetings though the weather is warm. A little martyr nerve, a touch of the heroic, is a good thing for every one to have. It would better be cultivated. But, by the way, it is not certain that it is the boys and girls that show the most need of it. Faithfulness in supporting all the church services in spite of a little personal discomfort is as truly evidence of consecration as going to be a missionary.

Those Roads a Big Free Advertisement.

Is there any other county in this State, or in any other State,—queries a New Jersey exchange—that is getting more free and beneficial advertising among home seekers, and others whose good opinion is worth having, than the county of Union at just this time? And it is all on account of the good roads. "The Famous New Macadam Roads of Union County, N. J." is the the title of an article that is being published in a Boston paper and sent broadcast throughout the United States. The roads are telford instead of macadam, but the advertising is just as good for Union county, and for Plainfield, in which the best of these roads centre. Only a few days ago one of the leading New York dailies had a long editorial upon these same roads. In many ways the people are getting big returns for their outlay. And what wheelman or driver who has used the new roads hasn't pronounced them a thing of beauty and a joy forever!

Another Close Game to be Expected.

One of the most exciting ball games of last season was that between the Crescents and Greenpoints, on the afternoon of July 4, in this city. The visitors tied the score in the eighth inning, 3 to 3. In the ninth Jones, as usual, made the winning run for Plainfield. He got his base on balls, worked around on a long hit of McIndoe's, and came in on a wild throw of the ball from centre field.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

THEY BUILD NESTS.

The Paradise Fish a Marvel of Beauty with Curious Habits.

There is on exhibition at a little aquarium in a window in East Sixteenth street, New York, a curious group of the finny tribe never before seen in this country. It is a family of Cochin China paradise fish consisting of a full-grown male and female and several of their little progeny. The fish is a marvel of beauty. The head is gray in color, and is mottled with dark spots, and the gills blue, bordered with crimson. The eyes are yellow and red, and the pupils black. The sides of the body are crimson, with ten or twelve vertical blue stripes. The tail is crescent in shape and is crimson, with a blue border. When the fish is excited all the colors are brilliant. When the male fish is fighting for the possession of a female of the species he extends all his fins and displays their most vivid colors. The tail is covered with small spots, like the eyes on a peacock's tail, and the under surface of the fish becomes jet black. The colors of the dorsal fin change constantly from green to blue, sometimes showing white spots, and the body trembles perceptibly, radiating colors of every hue.

As summer approaches the fish become very active and build a nest. The male fights for the possession of the female and the victor betakes himself to a corner of the aquarium, where he commences to construct his nest. Taking a position about an inch below the surface of the water he frequently takes air into his mouth and then ejects it forcibly in the shape of little bubbles covered with a glutinous substance which prevents them from bursting for several hours. He continues to make bubbles until he has a little floating platform about six inches in circumference and a quarter of an inch thick. When the nest is finished the female approaches and deposits her eggs beneath the nest. The male gathers the eggs with his mouth and places them on the bulby nest. When all the eggs have been cared for the female again makes her appearance, and the operation is repeated until about a thousand eggs are on the nest. The eggs hatch out in about thirty-six hours.

POEMS OF THE SEASON.

Aunt Mary.

There's a time at the close of day,
When the tea things are put away,
When Aunt Mary thinks and winks and blinks,
And what does she think of, pray?

Does she think of the days gone by,
And is every breath a sigh
For the hours she spent in merriment,
When quick were foot and eye?

Do those nights, long gone, return,
And love's old passion burn?
Of faraway June does memory croon,
And make her poor heart yearn?

Or is it of other things
Her memory busily sings—
Of troublesome mice and boys not nice,
Of the cupboard door that swings?

If her thoughts are of this or that,
For the gift of a brand new hat,
She would not tell, I know right well—
Aunt Mary's the household cat.
—William S. Lord, in Good Housekeeping.

What Is the Reason?

I told Hezekiah to tell Widow Gray
To tell Mother Brown, next door,
To tell Dicky Dwight, who goes that way,
To tell Deacon Barnes, at the store,
To tell the old stage-driver, Timothy Bean,
To come for me, sure, and in season;
But I've waited all day, and no stage have I seen;
Now what do you think is the reason?
—Emma C. Dowd, in Ladies' Home Journal.

A Dead Grief.

All is over! Come away!
Buried is my grief to-day;
See! it lieth deep and low,
With a name upon its breast.
Hush! in quiet let it rest.

Open is it to the sky!
But the grief so still doth lie
In its cofined peaceful sleep,
Ne'er again to throb with pain:
Listen! on it falls the rain.

Shielded well by sorrow's pall,
What though other griefs may fall?
Shall I—can I fear them more
Than that cofined grief can fear
Clods which fall upon its bier?
—M. C. Salmon, in Chambers' Journal.

In the Night.

The proud will o'er our thoughts no longer holds its sway,
They come and go unbid,
The happy thoughts of a more happy day,
Unholy thoughts half rid.
The child's dim fancies long ago forgot;
They mingle strangely and we wonder not,
While out of doors upon the roof the rain is beating down.

And dreams pass by—they blend and fade away and change,
Myriads in one short night.
Things do so strangely, yet it seems not strange
Nor other than aright;
Our babies talk like sages while they're fed,
We sing in glee beside that first deathbed,
And out of doors upon the roof the rain is pouring down.

Half-conscious moments, lying thus 'twixt sleep and wake,
Which shall it be? we say.
Their wonted looks the forms around us take.
We feel the light of day,
But specter hands still beckon to remain
The dream of now will ne'er be ours again,
And out of doors upon the roof the rain is dripping down.
—Elizabeth M. Chapin, in Springfield Republican.

The Mirror of a Life.

"The sun is up," he gayly cried;
"I think it meet that I
Should get my spade and rake, and haste
My garden luck to try."

And so he toiled until he saw
Where he was digging squirm
A corpulently beautiful,
Enticing fishing worm.

"I will a-fishing go," said he,
And toward the stream he went;
But presently a toothsome duck
Its course near by him bent.

"My gun," he thought, "I should have brought;
I'll go and get it straight;"
And so he homeward took his way,
Although the hour was late.

"The traveling I have done," he vowed,
"Has used me most severe;
I'll take the opportunity
To rest while I am here."

And so he laid him down and slept,
And ere his sleep was done
The lake beside the western hill
Gleamed with the setting sun.

Alas! to see so poor a day
With good intent so rife!
Alas! how oft it may be found
The mirror of a life.
—Washington Post.

A Battle.

I saw a battle yesterday;
And would you have me tell
The story of this fearful fray,
And how it all befell?

Against the mists the sun made war;
The foggy mists, you know,
That in the morn by sea and shore
Their ghostly forces show.

The sun shot down his shafts of light,
And pierced their ranks, and made
Them scatter into shreds of white
And dying bits of shade.

It was an utter rout, I ween;
The mists were vanquished foes.
No bugle called, no blood was seen,
I heard no clash of blows,

Yet in an hour the day was clear,
The sky triumphant shone;
While, from a bush that budded near,
The wind a flower had blown

Till at my very feet it lay,
All white within the sun;
It was a flag of truce, to say
The fight was fought and won.
—Richard E. Burton, in St. Nicholas.

The Would-Be Politician.

He thought he had a mission
To be a politician
And show the boys some tricks they never knew.
He had a little money—
This may indeed sound funny—
For in politics it's "boodle," "tin" and "glue."

He soon became "good fellow"—
So free, so kind, so mellow.
The "gang" all grew to love him more and more.
They pushed him and they groomed him,
They puffed him and they boomed him,
They swelled his head fourteen by twenty-four

He kept the boodle flowing,
The "gang" kept loudly blowing—
He had a "cinch" on everything in sight.
They kept him swiftly moving,
They said he was improving—
He never slept a wink by day or night.

He never kicked or grumbled,
He never "even tumbled"—
He thought he'd soon get office, honor, fame,
But, alas, in the convention
His name they didn't mention,
And he didn't have a dollar to his name.
—Dayton World.

THE TALE OF A CAT.

Teddy Chats About His Experiences with Ralph Amos.

SUPPOSE I am one of the happiest cats that ever lived. Ever since I was born, down in the basement of the nice house that we live in, I have had about everything that a cat's heart could wish for.

They say that I am very pretty, and before my eyes were fairly open I could hear children telling how cunning and sweet I was, and when I used to be taken up into the library and placed on that nice soft sofa pillow every one that came in said that I was a little beauty. I suppose if everybody said so it must have been true. I had the nicest blue ribbon tied around my neck all the time, and my younger days were very happy.

We have some very good times at our house now. There is Ralph, a nice little boy about four years old, and Hector, one of the nicest great dogs you ever saw, and we three have lots of fun.

Sometimes Ralph plays circus and puts me on Hector's back, and then he makes Hector walk around the yard while he plays on a little trumpet that he has and leads the procession. He makes believe that he is the band at Barnum's circus, and we all enjoy it very much.

Sometimes when Hector is taking a nap in front of the library fire I go softly up and crawl up on his back and curl down to a nap myself. Hector is nice and soft and warm and seems to like it. One day when I was sleeping on Hector's back Ralph came in and laid down upon the mat, put his head on Hector, and he went to sleep, too; so there we were, all three of us, asleep together, and when my mistress came in and found us there, I heard her say she would like very much to have our pictures taken.

My master said he would get his camera, and he brought in the funniest looking box with long yellow legs and then put his head under a cloth. When he did that I felt a little nervous and moved a little, and then Hector woke up and he moved, and that woke Ralph up. So when master got his head out from under the cloth there was nothing pretty to take a picture of.

About the funniest thing that ever happened to me was last fall, when the house was being painted. Ralph got a brush somewhere and before I knew it he had his arm around my neck and was daubing my face all over with that white paint, and on my black fur it didn't look pretty at all. I got away, and for two or three days I was too ashamed of myself to go upstairs, so I stayed in the basement with cook.

I had a funny thing happen one day when cook was out. I was hungry and thought I would just help myself to milk, so into the pantry and onto the shelf I went, and what do you think! Just as I looked over the side of the pan there was a mouse in the milk swimming away as fast as he could, but he couldn't get out. I thought I would let him stay there a little while, and after I had drank the milk I would eat him, too. So I began to drink the milk, and it grew lower and lower in the pan, and the first thing I knew jump went the little mouse out of the pan, across the shelf into his hole! I jumped after him, but he was too smart for me.

I don't like boys—that is, big boys. Big boys are always throwing stones and things and always saying "scat!" until you almost jump out of your skin when you see one coming.

I wish I had time to tell you more of the good times that I have, but to tell the truth I have an invitation to a cat party to-night over in Tommy Watkins' house, and I must get on a new Egyptian red ribbon and wax my mustache. Some day I'll tell you about the party—that is, if we have a good time, and I guess we will. Good-by.—Ralph Amos' Cat Teddy, in N. Y. World.

An Ambitious Boy.

"Willie," said the visitor, "what is your ambition?"

"I'd like," said the boy, putting down his yellow covered story of the plains, "to have people tremble like leaves at the mere mention of my name."—Harper's Young People.

The Land of Ducks.

There are more ducks in the Chinese Empire, says an authority, than all the world outside of it. They are kept by the Celestials on every farm, on the private roads, on the public roads, on streets of cities and on all the lakes, ponds, rivers, streams and brooks in the country. Every Chinese boat also contains a batch of them. There are innumerable hatching establishments all through the Empire, many of which are said to turn out about 50,000 young ducks every year. Salted and smoked ducks and duck's eggs constitute two of the most common and important articles of diet in China.

EUROPE'S population on January 1 was 380,200,000. The population of each of the other continents was estimated to be as follows: Asia, 850,000,000; Africa, 127,000,000; Australia, 4,730,000; North America, 89,350,000; South America, 36,420,000; polar regions, 300,000. The total would then be 1,787,000,000.

HEART FAILURE.

Alarming Increase of This Terrible Nerve Disease

Weak Heart, Shattered Nerves and Nervous Prostration the Trouble With Thousands.

Failure or weakness of heart action is very prevalent.

It is a most serious and dangerous condition to be in.

The first symptoms may be very slight and apparently trivial.

But do not fail to heed them if you value your life.

The Warnings Are Plain and Unmistakable.

Nervousness and Weakness,
Irregular or Intermittent Pulse,
Giddiness, Swimming of the Head,
Strange, Faint Feelings, Trembling,
Short Breath, Sinking Sensation,
Coldness or Swelling of Feet and Legs,
Fluttering or Palpitation in Left Side of the Chest,
Feeling of Apprehension or Anxiety as of Impending Danger,
Drowsiness Daytimes, Sleeplessness at Night.

A little over exertion, excitement or emotion, may bring on the attacks at any time. Sudden rising from a stooping or reclining position will cause dizziness, and rapidly climbing stairs will make the heart palpitate, produce weariness and shortness of breath. In some cases there are pains in the region of the heart, but in most cases there is no pain whatever.

Neglect of these symptoms will result in Heart Failure, Spasms or Neuralgia of the Heart or Death.

Functional heart disease—that is from failure of nerve power of the heart—is curable if you use Dr. Greene's Nervura. Indeed, this wonderful remedy for heart, brain and nerve should be used in all cases. Used when the first symptoms show themselves, it will prevent all danger of heart failure. It is purely vegetable and harmless, and its use offers the only sure hope of curing these terrible diseases and averting the fatal results. It is, we unhesitatingly affirm, a remedy of so great merit and marvelous virtues that no sufferer should neglect to use it, if a safe and sure cure is desired. It is for sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

No Other Remedy in the World Ever Had Such a Testimonial.

For the benefit of those who may be suffering and fail to find relief I desire to state my case. For over a year I suffered from a HEART DISEASE, a constant pain, with severe attacks of palpitation, until I anticipated a sudden death at any time. I became weak and debilitated, with a loss of energy, despondency, etc. Hearing Dr. Greene's lecture, he so faithfully described my condition that I determined to try Dr. Greene's Nervura. My improvement has been continuous and rapid. I have used five bottles, and the pain and palpitation are gone. I sleep well, have an excellent appetite and feel well.

S. A. DEVEAUT,
Nortendale, York Co., N. B.

Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth St., New York, its discoverer, is the famous specialist in the cure of nervous and chronic diseases. The doctor has devoted special attention to the treatment of all forms of chronic diseases through letter correspondence, and will give by mail his opinion and advice in any case free of charge. The perfection of this system renders a complete cure almost assured, as his success in treatment by correspondence is wonderful and unequalled.

N. B. Send for symptom blank to fill out, or write Dr. Greene about your case, and a carefully considered letter, fully explaining your disease and giving you a perfect understanding of all its symptoms will be returned, free of charge.

F. BORNHORST.

Lost Health Restored.

Starkey, Yates Co., N. Y., June, 1890.

I was suffering from general debility fifteen months, had eight doctors treat me, took all sorts of medicine, slept hardly more than one hour nights, sweat a good deal, got so weak that it opened the last of my life, my heart troubled me so that I couldn't sit up nor walk. After I took the second bottle of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic my appetite returned, slept nearly all night, the sweats and heart trouble disappeared, and now am happy to say that I can work again and enjoy good health. MRS. P. MALEY.

Our pamphlet for sufferers of nervous diseases will be sent free to any address, and poor patients can obtain this medicine free of charge from us.

This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig of Fort Wayne, Ind., for the past ten years, and is now prepared under his direction by the

DECLARED A DRAW

Corbett and Jackson Fight 61 Rounds in 'Frisco.

AN ENORMOUS CROWD PRESENT.

The Pugilists Were in the Ring Over Five Hours.

Jackson Pushed the Fighting Throughout—Both Gave an Unusual Exhibition of Scientific Work—Corbett When Hard Pressed Clinched—He Got in Some Good Body Blows.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Greater interest was never manifested in any fight which has occurred on the Pacific coast than that created by the great heavyweight battle between Peter Jackson of Australia and Jim Corbett of San Francisco, which occurred last night at the gymnasium of the California Athletic Club.

This was due not only to the merits and prominence of the two principals, but also to the fact that the contest would open the way to settling the question of the championship of the world, as the winner is expected to meet Frank Slavin, the man who has defeated all the best men on the other side of the big pond.

The men had trained hard and carefully, and both were said to be in better form than ever before in their lives. Jackson had the advantage of a little more beef than Corbett possessed, but in every other respect it was agreed by the sporting public generally that the men were evenly matched.

Hiram Cook was appointed referee by the athletic club, and the seconds of the fighters were Sam Fitzpatrick and Billy Smith for Jackson, and John Donaldson, Billy Delaney and Harry Corbett for Corbett.

The Fighters Cheered.

It was some minutes after 9 o'clock when the principals with their seconds entered the ring. Both men were enthusiastically received, showing that each had plenty of friends. The men when stripped appeared in magnificent shape, and a hum of admiration sounded through the hall. The weights were announced as, Jackson 197, Corbett 185.

After the gloves were adjusted the men advanced and shook hands. Time was called for the first round at 9:30.

The Battle by Rounds.

First round—Preliminary sparring marked the opening of the round, the men evidently endeavoring to get a line on each other's style. Jackson was the first to lead, when a clinch followed. The men broke away slowly and Jackson led with the right but missed. Corbett hit the colored man lightly and, as the round closed, Jackson got in a good one on Corbett's ribs.

Second round—Corbett led and a clinch followed, in which Jackson was forced to the ropes. When they came to the centre of the ring Jackson led twice, but only landed lightly. Corbett then got in one on Jackson's stomach.

Third round—Both men showed wonderful activity on their feet. Jackson attempted to fight at close range, but Corbett clinched. Considerable feinting followed and each led several times, but only succeeded in landing lightly. Jackson followed Corbett around the ring toward the close of the round. Corbett laughed, and the negro tried to hit him, but missed.

Fourth round—The men sparred cautiously for a full minute. Every time the Californian led he followed it with a clinch. He landed hard on Jackson's right side three or four times and received nothing in return. During the close of the round the men were fighting at close quarters.

In the next two rounds Jackson had the best of it.

Seventh round—Jackson followed Corbett around the ring leading for the stomach, but fell short.

Ninth—Corbett caught Jackson's wind twice.

Tenth round—This round was uneventful.

Eleventh round—Jackson rushed the fighting, forcing Corbett to the ropes, where he escaped like an eel, slipping through the negro's arms. Jackson steadily pressed his man for an opening and Corbett responded by a beautiful left-handed lead for the stomach, which Jackson evaded by a backward jump.

In the next four rounds Corbett continued to elude punishment.

Sixteenth round—Corbett had much the best of this round and toward the end caught Jackson heavily on the jaw twice, which elicited great applause from his admirers.

Seventeenth round—Corbett landed on the neck, and Jackson caught the Californian a hard one on the chest, knocking him backward. He got in several other hard ones in this round, receiving only a light one in return.

In the next five rounds the men sparred mainly for wind, with no advantage to either.

Twenty-second round—Only light blows were exchanged in this round, though Jackson tried to land heavily on Corbett's ribs.

Twenty-third round—Not a blow that amounted to anything was struck in this round, the men following each other around the ring.

The next eight rounds was marked by some severe slugging, but mostly sparring for wind.

Thirty-third round—Both were very cautious, and but few blows were struck.

Thirty-fourth round—About the same as the previous round. The men evidently trying to gain strength.

There was little fighting until the 41st round, when there was a rally in which Jackson did most of the fighting and landed two heavy blows on Corbett's wind and heart.

42d and 43d rounds—The men began walking again. Corbett was plainly the weaker of the two, but nothing was done by Jackson.

The 47th, 48th, 49th and 50th rounds were marked by only a few blows. Jackson seemed stronger, but was evidently afraid to force the fighting.

In the 50th, 51st, 52d, 53d, 54th, 55th and 56th rounds nothing was done but walking around. The crowd occasionally expressing disgust with the two gladiators by pounding canes and loudly cheering occasional blows struck.

A Draw.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22, 2:50 a. m.—In the 61st round, both men being physically unfit to continue, the directors decided the match unsatisfactory, and the referee declared no match.

EX-SECRETARY TAFT DEAD.

A Sketch of His Career as Lawyer and Statesman.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Ex-Secretary Taft died at San Diego last evening. The remains will be taken to Cincinnati for burial.

Alphonso Taft was born in Townsend, Vt. on November 5, 1810. He graduated at Yale, where he was later a professor. In 1840 he began the practice of law in Cincinnati, where he afterwards served three terms as judge of the Superior Court. He held the position of member of the Board of Education for 25 years, and had been a trustee of the University of Cincinnati from its formation. In 1875 he was spoken of as a candidate for Governor of Ohio, but owing to opposition his name was withdrawn. On the resignation of Gen. Belknap, in March, 1876, Judge Taft was made Secretary of War, and in the May following he became Attorney General.

DR. GREEN ELECTED.

He Receives the Unanimous Vote of the General Assembly.

DETROIT, Mich., May 22.—Rev. William H. Green of Princeton was unanimously elected Moderator by the Presbyterian General Assembly.

It is definitely understood that the discussion on Dr. Brigg's case will be held next Thursday.

Following is a synopsis of what the annual reports to the General Assembly will show:

The women of the church have sent to the Mission House during the year $310,000. The board of church erection received $96,726.87, which, with the unexpended balances, gave it a total working capital of $126,642.29. The total membership of the Presbyterian Church, including the Dutch and German Reformed Churches, in the world was 20,265,500, of which 1,562,809 were in the United States.

SHE BEWITCHED HIM.

The Reason Why a Newark Man Gashed His Wife With a Razor.

NEWARK, N. J., May 22.—Frederick Hauk quarreled with his wife at 682 Springfield avenue last night and cut her terribly with a razor.

Policeman Wolff, who was sent to arrest Hauk, was thrown down stairs by him. Hauk then ran into the street, where he was captured by another policeman.

At the hospital it was said that Mrs. Hauk was likely to die.

Hauk told the police that his wife had bewitched him. At times he said she almost prevented him from breathing.

Little Girl Burned to Death.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., May 22.—Mrs. Walter Connor went out early in the forenoon and left her children playing in the kitchen. When she returned her little three-year-old girl was burned to death. The children had been playing at the fire, and the clothes of the little girl had become ignited. The other children were too much frightened to do anything for her.

Poisoned by Buttermilk.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., May 22.—Mrs. Leland, who keeps a boarding house at Whitehall, her daughter and three boarders, railroad men, are prostrated from the effects of some unknown poison. It is thought they were poisoned by buttermilk, which was served at a meal. They are very ill at present, but the physicians say they will probably recover.

Found He Was Heir to a Fortune.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., May 22.—William W. Miller, of Lyon, in searching for property he inherits from an ancestor named Burkhard, has found that he and others are heirs to 900 acres of land claimed by the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company at Tamaqua. It is said that the heirs have been offered $1,000,000 for their claim.

Denounced the Marriage System.

BOSTON, May 22.—A radical speech was delivered by Mrs. Lake, the free love Spiritualist, the question of whose marriage was recently up in court. She denounced the marriage system, declared that the ceremony is useless, and that love should regulate continuance of marriage.

The Central Paying All Bills.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., May 22.—All the expenses of the burial of the Italian victims of the explosion, doctor's bills, etc., have been borne by the New York Central, and it is understood that the company will assist the families of the victims who are in want.

CITY FUNDS MISSING

Philadelphia's Treasurer Offers His Resignation.

SAYS HE IS A RUINED MAN.

Hundreds of Thousands of Quaker City Cash Unaccounted For.

President Marsh of the Defunct Keystone Bank Disappears—His Bail Declared Forfeited—The United States Commissioner Now Trying the Case Against Ex-Cashier Lawrence—A Day of Sensations.

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—City Treasurer John Bardsley, whose methods of depositing funds belonging to the city in the various banks of the city is being investigated, has tendered his resignation to take effect May 30. No reason is given for the retirement. Mr. Bardsley was elected in November, 1888, and his term would have expired at the end of the present year.

Later Mr. Bardsley said that he was a ruined man, having lost all he had in the world. He had been the cause of the loss to the city of hundreds of thousands of dollars, and the only thing possible for him was to step down and out.

The examination into the affairs of the Keystone Bank was resumed in the United States Commissioner's office. Ex-Cashier Lawrence was there and answered to his name, but President Marsh did not answer. Then it was found that Marsh had flown. He left his home at Ridley Park in the morning. When called he was probably several hundreds of miles away.

His bail was declared forfeited and the examination went on. It was developed at the inquiry that the missing pages of the ledger of the bank, the pages which had been torn out bodily, contained the account of John Bardsley, the city treasurer. It was also learned that these pages were torn out about the time of the visit of the bank examiner.

The great sensation of the day in the matter of the Philadelphia bank troubles is the statement made by City Treasurer Bardsley, that there is still $930,089 of the State money placed in his care unaccounted for.

DR. BROOKS APPROVED.

New York, Albany and Providence Vote for His Consecration as Bishop.

NEW YORK, May 22.—The Standing Committee of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York, by a majority vote, decided to give the assent of the New York diocese to the confirmation of Dr. Brooks' election.

An Albany dispatch says the election of the Rev. Phillips Brooks as Bishop of Massachusetts has been approved by the standing committee of the Albany diocese of the Episcopal Church, ultra high churchmen.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 22.—At a regular meeting of the standing committee of the diocese of Rhode Island canonical consent was given to the consecration of the Rev. Phillips Brooks, D.D., bishop-elect of the diocese of Massachusetts.

THE PRESIDENTIAL BATTLE.

Ohio Will be the First Point of Attack by the People's Party.

CINCINNATI, O., May 22.—Since the adjournment of the National Union convention scores of dispatches expressing approval of the outcome of the gathering and offering congratulations have poured in upon the delegates from all over the country.

Both factions to the third party controversy are satisfied with the result, and each claim the victory.

An effort will be made to bring the industrial conference that assembles in February next into the fold, but, whether successful or not, a People's Party Presidential ticket will be placed in the field next year.

The national committee of the People's Party held a meeting at the Hotel Emery, and installed H. E. N. Tabeneck, of Illinois, as chairman, and Robert Schilling, of Wisconsin, as secretary, and informally discussed a plan for a vigorous campaign all over the country. Ohio will be the first point of attack. A State ticket is to be placed in the field next month, and Congressman Simpson, General Weaver and others will stump the State from one end to the other. A national campaign fund of $100,000 is also to be raised.

Big Paint Fire at Portland.

PORTLAND, Me., May 22.—A stubborn fire broke out in the extensive wholesale paint warehouse of Burgess, Forbes & Co., Commercial street, shortly after midnight, and burned for several hours. The loss will be heavy as the store was a large four-story brick building, and the firm carries a large stock of paints, oils and varnishes.

Parnell Votes With Balfour.

LONDON, May 22.—The consideration of the Irish Land bill was resumed in committee of the House of Commons. Messrs. Healy and Sexton opposed, and Mr. Parnell supported, a new clause regulating the distribution of money to tenants, which was moved by Balfour. The clause was sustained by a vote of 151 to 98.

WHO POISONED HUNTER.

His Housekeeper is Under Suspicion of Having Caused His Death.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., May 22.—Great interest is taken in the Hunter will case of Crown Point. Theodore Hunter died about the middle of April. After his death Anna Murray presented a will bequeathing her $25,000.

Mr. Hunter died in great agony, and at the time of his death it was rumored that he had been poisoned. An analysis of his stomach revealed the presence of enough arsenic to kill several men.

Before the coroner the woman admitted that she had purchased the poison, and Mrs. Murray is under suspicion of having caused his death.

The case is being investigated at Port Henry. The will is contested by nephews and nieces and sensational developments are expected.

THE CYCLONE'S VICTIMS.

People in Missouri Rendered Destitute by the Terrible Visitation.

ST. LOUIS, May 22.—Reports from Centralia, in this State, show further loss of life and property from the cyclone, which had spread destruction about Mexico, Mo.

The path of the cyclone was 300 yards wide. The people of the neighborhood are all Germans of moderate means, and are rendered entirely destitute by this terrible visitation.

It is believed that when all are accounted for the number of dead will run up to thirty or forty.

Two Conferences in Future.

SCRANTON, Pa., May 22.—The most important result of the meeting here of the Eastern Conference of the Primitive Methodist Church was a division into two conferences—the Eastern Conference comprising New England States and the Pennsylvania embracing this State, Ohio and New Jersey. The Eastern Conference will meet next May at Fall River, and the Pennsylvania Conference at Newcastle, Pa., the same month.

The Cronin Case to be Reopened.

BOULDER, Col., May 22.—A private dispatch has been received here by a friend of O'Sullivan, the Chicago ice man, in prison on account of the Cronin affair, which says that O'Sullivan wants to make a confession, and that the case will be reopened with sensational developments.

O'Brien and Dillon's Bail Reduced.

DUBLIN, May 22.—The Tipperary court, having refused to remit the bail forfeited by Dillon and O'Brien, has consented, with the assent of the Crown, to reduce the amount one-half in view of the subsequent surrender of the prisoners.

The Carney-Burge Fight.

NEW YORK, May 22.—A cablegram says that Dick Burge arrived in London this morning. It is expected that the fight between he and Jem Carney will take place to-night. Carney is the favorite.

Her Death Due to Starvation.

BOSTON, May 22.—An autopsy held on the body of Catherine Sheedy, who was found dead in St. Joseph's Church, showed that death was due to internal causes, probably starvation.

TO CHECK THE FLOOD

The Present Tide of Immigration to be Investigated.

A COMMISSION TO GO ABROAD.

The Members Will First Visit New York to Study the Problem There.

The Treasury Statement Shows a Surplus of $15,000,000—Pension Commissioner Raum to Retire—No Action This Week on the Spanish Reciprocity Question—Land Court Judges to be Appointed.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Secretary Foster has appointed a committee composed of ex-Congressman Grosvenor, of Ohio; Dr. Walter Kempster, the noted expert on insanity, and Mr. Powderly, a brother of T. V. Powderly, to go to Europe and investigate the immigration problem.

The commission will sail about June 15. Prior to their departure the commission will devote some time to studying the character of the immigrants who land in New York.

The commission is instructed to devote special attention to the countries of Southern Europe and ascertain the reason for the outpouring of the people to the United States; the financial aid furnished them by municipalities; whether criminals and indigent emigrants are sent here by the sanction of the State or municipalities, and all information on the subject that will enable the United States to frame laws to prevent undesirable immigration into this country, or to stop it entirely through diplomatic intercession.

MONEY IN THE TREASURY.

The Net Surplus is Now More Than $15,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The President is taking an active interest in the financial condition of the Treasury and has directed that he be furnished with an estimate of the probable revenue from all sources for the next fiscal year, based on the changes made by the last Congress in the customs and internal revenue laws.

The result of the changes are now becoming apparent in the daily receipts of the Treasury Department. The customs receipts show a continued falling off; the receipts from that source, by a statement issued at the Treasury, for the first 20 days in May, being less at the port of New York by $1,690,934 than they were for the corresponding period of last May. The same ratio of decrease is reported at other ports. Internal revenue receipts also show a decrease but not so marked.

The net surplus in the Treasury, despite the decrease in the receipts, is crawling up, the drain from the direct tax expenditures being almost over, and at the close of business yesterday was $15 000,000.

The Treasury statement just issued shows that the Treasury held on May 20 $262,057,483 in gold bullion and coin, being a decrease since the first of the month of more than $12,000,000, and since the first of January of more than $32,000,000.

The Spanish Reciprocity Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—It is understood that no action will be taken this week in regard to the issuance of the Spanish reciprocity proclamation, as the President does not care to act in the absence of Secretary Blaine. In case there is a prospect that the Secretary will be detained in New York after Monday or Tuesday of next week, however, action may be taken. In this event, it is said, Mr. Foster, who negotiated the treaty with Spain, will go to New York and act as the medium of communication between Secretary Blaine and the President.

Land Court Judges to be Appointed.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Attorney-General Miller says that the President will take up the question of the appointment of Land Court Judges within a few days, and the announcement of the appointments will probably be made next week. The Attorney-General further says that the appointment of the Circuit judges authorized by the last Congress will not be announced until Congress meets in December.

Must Prove They Were Loyal.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The payment of claims for property destroyed during the war has been suspended until the Confederate records can be thoroughly searched to discover whether any of the claimants were disloyal during the rebellion. A cursory examination of the records has already shown that some of those who claim to have been loyal were active Confederates.

Mr. Halford at His Desk.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Mr. E. W. Halford, the President's private secretary, has returned to Washington much improved in health, and has resumed his official duties at the White House.

Commissioner Raum to Retire.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Gen. Raum will retire from the head of the Bureau of Pensions, this having been decided upon at his recent conference with the President.

Warrants Out for Rioting Strikers.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., May 22.—The strikers held a mass meeting at Valley Works and made a riotous demonstration against the new men at work. Warrants were issued for the arrest of 20 of the strikers charging them with riot, assault and intimidation. Ex-Master Workmen Kerfoot and Pepper have been arrested. Fifteen others will be arrested to-day.

For Ireland and Not Parnell.

NEW YORK, May 22.—A new organization of Irish-Americans was formed here last night, called the National Federation of America. It is pledged to further the cause of home rule and to assist the suffering tenantry. It demands that the fund held in Paris be used to relieve the evicted. Eugene Kelly heads the list of members, and the organization is opposed to Parnell.

THEY FEAR AN UPRISING.

The Garrison at Belgrade is Being Heavily Reinforced.

BELGRADE, May 22.—The attitude of the Servian peasantry toward the expulsion of ex-Queen Natalie is causing the Regency the greatest apprehension.

The garrison of Belgrade is being hurriedly reinforced. The Ministry's position is shaken. Twelve persons who were wounded on Monday have since died.

Revolutionary talk is being indulged in and there is great uneasiness.

Ex-King Milan, in an interview at Paris, says that the expulsion of ex-Queen Natalie had been most unskilfully managed. In his opinion, the action of the Servian Government would results in changes in the Ministry, but would cause no modification of Servian policy. There was, Milan believed, no danger of a revolution. As for himself, he had abandoned politics.

BREAK IN THE COKE STRIKE.

The Men Apply in Droves for Their Old Places.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 22.—The coke strike has ended, so far as the southern end of the Connellsville region is concerned. At Redstone Works the men voted to go to work and they applied in droves, and the company could not accommodate all of them with employment.

At Leith also a break occurred, and 30 of the men applied to Supt. Whyte for work, but the works are not quite ready to start.

PORTUGAL'S TROUBLES.

The Financial Situation There is Becoming Worse.

LONDON, May 22.—A dispatch just received here from Lisbon says that the nancial situation there is becoming worse.

Owing to the disappearance of small notes from circulation and the appearance of larger notes in their place, it is difficult to change the money. Money lenders are advertising for gold and silver.

A Brutal Wife Murderer Hanged.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., May 22.—James Kane was hanged here at 8:19 a. m. for the murder of his wife on March 23d last. His neck was broken and he died hard. Kane murdered his wife by plunging a long carving knife into her heart. He was arrested, and expressed satisfaction at the deed he had done. He only wished that he could have murdered his son also.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Lizzie Vanhart, of Trenton, is visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Stout, at "The Elms", East Front street.

David Bennett Hill, John R. McPherson, and Leon Abbett, are among the notables who are expected to honor Plainfield with their presence at the Emancipation Day celebration next August.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Edwin B. Maynard, on North avenue, last evening, by the Sunday-school children of Emmanuel Baptist church, who were entertained by their teachers, Miss Maud Mitchell, Miss Nettie Walley and Mrs. Maynard. There were games and other social pleasures, besides a collation of good things to eat.

Daniel W. Littell has purchased of Abram Dunlap the residence property 119 West Seventh street near the home of ex-Councilman Isaac Rushmore, and opposite that formerly owned by Seymour Hait. It is 113 by 400 feet, and one of the most desirable locations in the city. The price paid was $7,500. Mr. Littell will remove there with his family early in July.

John Dietrich is again at his home on Arlington place from an enjoyable visit to Windom, Minnesota. He found the county a magnificent one for agricultural development, and one of its chief joys is its possession of 35 beautiful lakes, teeming with fine fish. During his visit scarcely a day passed that he did not enjoy the sport of landing the finny denizens of the Minnesota waters.

It is said that Mrs. Nellie Yale Nelson, well known as an amateur actress in the Amaranth Dramatic Society of Brooklyn for eight years, has decided to appear on the professional stage, her husband, who has objected to it, having finally consented. Several engagements have been offered to her. Mr. Nelson's first wife was a Miss Baldwin, formerly of this city, and a sister of the deceased wife of Newton P. Drake of Duer street.

The Rev. Mr. Richards and Dr. Ketcham, officiated at the funeral services of Robert S. Manning, at his late home, 21 Franklin place, yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Dr. Woodbridge, of New Brunswick, pronounced the benediction. There was singing by a quartette composed of Miss Alice Holmes, Miss Eleanor Demarest, Elmer E. Runyon and B. T. Barnes. The house was crowded with sincerely sorrowing friends. Interment was private.

OBITUARY.

Carmon Parse.

Carmon Parse died at the home of his wife's brother-in-law, Dr. Daniel C. Adams, Grove street, North Plainfield, at two o'clock this morning. He was conscious almost to the end, and breathed his last quietly and peacefully.

Mr. Parse was born at Scotch Plains, fifty-five years ago. He had always lived in this vicinity. He was a man of a modest, unassuming nature, and his life was a tranquil, unobtrusive one. Ill health had of late checked its tireless flow of activity, and towards the last the deceased was compelled to undergo much suffering, which he did with a patience and Christian spirit worthy of emulation. Death came as a happy release to the tired mortal, wearied with his prolonged illness.

Mr. Parse began the battle of life as a dry-goods clerk, clerking with the firm of Webster & Marsh at about the same time that Elias R. Pope, his subsequent partner, was clerking for I. S. Dunham, but in 1862 he left that house to enter the First National Bank of Plainfield, with which he remained ever since. In 1867 he and Postmaster E. R. Pope and Alpheus L. Mundy formed a copartnership under the firm style of Pope, Parse & Mundy and purchased and continued as general merchants the store of Webster & Marsh, where Mr. Parse had formerly worked, at the corner of Front and Somerset street. After six years Mr. Mundy withdrew, and for the following three years the firm was known as Pope & Parse. Howard A. and David S. Pope then became partners in the concern, and Mr. Parse withdrew and devoted himself entirely to the business of the bank, which he served long and faithfully in the responsible position of cashier. He also became a director of the Plainfield Gas Light Company.

During Mr. Parse's illness Frank S. Runyon, the assistant cashier, took charge of affairs, and will doubtless be rewarded for his year of fidelity by promotion to the position so sadly made vacant.

Continued prosperity has followed the affairs of the bank under Mr. Parse's management, and by his thrift and business foresight he accumulated a comfortable fortune of his own. His widow, who survives him, was before marriage a Miss Honeyman, sister of John H. and Newton. The deceased had no children.

Mr. Parse was known to the entire financial world as the author of the most unique and undecipherable signature ever seen on a bank bill, if not the queerest on record. The scrawl was a famous one, but the banker was very sensitive about it. During a trial in court, some time ago, the astonished judge asked Mr. Parse, who, with some of his manuscript, was one of the witnesses, if the atrocious scribble that had been presented in evidence was really his autograph. Mr. Parse replied, somewhat pathetically, "Your Honor, I taught myself to write that thing when I was a very young man. I then thought it very smart, but now, in my older years, I see its folly, and am heartily ashamed of it. I have tried hard to change to a different signature, but cannot. This blot remains a part of me, the growth of an error adopted in youth." He disliked exceedingly the notoriety it brought him.

THE ELDER TURNED BACK THE CLOCK.

Time Was Too Fleeting for the Merry Gathering at the Ladies' Tea.

The "tea" given by the Ladies' Christian Work Society of the Trinity Reformed church, at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. George L. VanEmburgh, 85 East Second street, last evening, was a success both socially and financially. The number of patrons was large, and each contributed an appropriate sum in return for the fine and substantial supper served. The amount realized will be given by the ladies to the church, to help reduce the floating debt. The table was ornamented by a large column of flowers in the centre. During the evening instrumental music was rendered by Miss Lizzie Vanhart, of Trenton, and Mrs. E. H. Bird sang a solo. The time passed so pleasantly and rapidly that elder VanEmburgh was obliged to turn back the hands of the clock, when no one was looking, to prolong the enjoyment. The committee in charge of the affair were: Mrs. G. L. VanEmburgh, Mrs. R. A. Meeker, Mrs. E. T. VanWinkle, Mrs. J. F. MacDonald, Mrs. W. G. E. See. The ladies of the society are doing a great work, and one that is appreciated by the church.

What One Society Spent for Music.

The annual meeting of the Choral Society was held in Vincent chapel, last evening. An excellent report was read by the secretary, Nelson W. Runyon, and another by the treasurer, H. Otis Newman. During the season of '89 and '90 there passed through the treasurer's hands $1,600. This season just closed the receipts were $2,200.

After an address by Mr. Howland the following officers were elected:

President—W. W. Howland.
Vice President—C. W. McCutchen.
Secretary—Nelson W. Runyon.
Treasurer—H. O. Newman.
Librarian—Nelson Y. Hull.
Board of Directors—D. E. Davis, R. J. Shaw and George Rogers.

Entertaining impromptu speeches were made by E. J. Fitzhugh, C. W. McCutchen, W. R. Richards and D. E. Titsworth, and refreshments followed.

It gives immediate relief—we mean Salvation Oil, the great pain remedy of the age. Sold by all dealers. Price 25 cents.

AN IN-DOOR GARDEN OF ROSE BUDS.

Mrs. Poillon's Reception a Glimmer of Sunshine on a Rainy Day.

The "rose tea" given at the home of Mrs J. J. Herring Poillon, on Putnam avenue, Wednesday, a delightful affair. The reception rooms were decorated with hundreds of roses of the rarest and most beautiful sort, and the wax lights that shed a glow over the tables had their radiance softened into delicate tints by dainty rose-colored shades, twinings of smilax, and sprays of other green leaves. The refreshments were served by a veritable rose bud garden of young ladies charmingly attired in costumes of rose-pink hue, and wearing corsage bouquets of red and white. Those who assisted Mrs. Poillon in the reception of her guests were Mrs. S. P. Simpson, wife of the rector of the Church of Our Saviour at Netherwood, Mrs. Finch, Mrs. Wheeler, and Mrs. Truman of Netherwood.

At a booth filled with fancy wares the Misses Allen and Truman presided. Refreshments were gracefully served by Miss Ellie Beale, Miss Simpson, Miss Lawrence and Miss Cole, of Netherwood, and Miss Clare Southmayd and Miss Stevens, of Elizabeth.

The house was thronged with guests from 5 till 9 o'clock, and after the "tea" was over dancing was enjoyed by the young people, on the finely polished, mirror-like floors.

Aside from the special features of the occasion, the opportunity to inspect the Poillons' handsome home was itself a treat. One who was present from out of town writes enthusiastically of its elegant sumptuousness and cordial hospitality. The pattern of the house is somewhat after the old colonial pattern. Its interior finish and furnishings are of the chastest and handsomest, rich without extravagant effects, and every detail conforming to the perfection of the designer's ideas. The plans have been artistically treated to suit the needs and requirements of the nineteenth century, yet there have been retained the old colonial features, with quaint, cosy nooks, in unsuspected quarters, all treated in polished oak or papered in subdued but rich colors, and boasting a magnificent hall staircase of carved oak that in itself is worthy of a visit and prolonged examination. Extremely beautiful are the design and details of this stairway, as are also those of the heavy mantels in tiles and hard oak, the carved book shelves laden with well selected books, the walls hung with paintings and engravings of the best schools, and the old china and bric-a-brac of every sort freely distributed about the rooms.

The "tea" netted a snug sum for the Church of Our Saviour, for whose benefit it was given.

The treat was thoroughly appreciated. The number of visitors would doubtless have been doubled, had it not been for the storm which came up in the afternoon and broke out again in the evening.

HORSE THIEF J. NELSON LE CLAIR.

Turned Over to Justice by His Brother-in-Law and Sent to Elizabeth Jail.

Justice Nash sent J. Nelson Le Clair to Elizabeth, this morning, to await the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of horse stealing. Le Clair has respectable connections in this city but he annoyed them so that his sister's husband put the police on Le Clair's track to get rid of him. Otherwise he might have been a free man yet.

George Stone, a horse dealer, who had located himself and a stock of animals for sale, along the road between Fanwood and Westfield, says that LeClair worked for him until shortly after midnight of Wednesday when he left with one of Stone's horses, valued at $60.

Le Clair sold the horse in Plainfield the next day to hackman Patrick Lynch for $5. Therefore the latter was arrested as a receiver of stolen goods and he was compelled to give $200 bail to also appear if indicted by the Grand Jury.

Peaches Will Be Plentiful and Luscious.

The Somerville Unionist-Gazette quotes experienced peach growers as saying that up to the present time there is every prospect of a good yield of peaches this season in Somerset county. The rains of a week ago came just at a time when it was feared that the setting fruit would fall for lack of moisture, and as yet there is no evidence that the late frosts have not injured the tender fruit. About White House, New Germantown, Peapack, Neshanic and vicinity, the trees look remarkably thrifty, and many orchards are very full. There having been no yield for a year or two, the trees have had an opportunity to gain strength and vitality, and if present prospects count for anything Somerset county is to reap a rich harvest from the crop.

Schools Free and Open But Pupils Far Between.

School master Ayers, Superintendent of the public school in Somerset county, is quite discouraged with the look of things in most of the country schools he has been visiting. In one school there were only three pupils in attendance. In three schools he found twenty-three pupils. Grip and measles have done much to deplete the numbers.

Shiloh's Cough Cure

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c, 50c, and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

CLAIRVOYANT!

Mrs. Dr. EDWARDS,

Being in such great demand in Plainfield, she has consented to remain until next

Wednesday Morning, May 27,

As a favor to her many kind patrons. She will then leave for Easton, positively never to return to this city for business again, as she is compelled to go to Europe in August for a few months.

Mrs DR. EDWARDS,

Known in this country from Maine to Mexico. She was born with the wonderful gift of second sight, and with a veil. She is the seventh daughter of the seventh daughter. She reveals every mystery; tells you if the one you love is true or false. She removes every grief, settles lovers' troubles, and causes speedy love marriages. She gives reliable information to gentlemen in all business transactions, and informs them how to make profitable investments and acquire speedy riches. She tells lucky lottery numbers. She has an ORIRIS EGYPTIAN TALISMAN, which is noted all the world over, as a specific charm for the unlucky. All who are in trouble or sick, should call without delay.

READY MIXED PAINTS,

Are unsurpassed (if equalled) in the following particulars:
They are painters' paints.
They are perfectly pure.
They may be used by an old-line painter, just as he would use White Lead mixed by himself.
They will save money to painters.
They are uniform.
They are as bright as the best tinting colors can make them.
They are permanent.
They are good for many years wear when properly applied.
They will stand unlimited brushing out.
They are cheaper than any similar color mixed by hand.
They will cover on a good surface 400 squar feet, two coats, per gallon.
They will cover on a poor surface 300 square feet, two coats, per gallon.
When freely thinned out with pure, raw Linseed Oil, their spreading capacity is still greater

MUSIC AND DRAMA AT ST. MARY'S.

Parochial School Pupils Entertain Their Parents and Friends.

A highly successful dramatic and musical entertainment was given by the pupils of St. Mary's school, before a large and appreciative audience, last evening. Besides choruses, excellently rendered by the school, there were beautiful part songs and fine histrionic selections, on the programme.

In the representation "Mary Crowned by the World", some very good tableaux were given. The participants were: "North America", Miss Maggie Rafferty; "South America", Miss Katie Cooley; "England", Miss Mamie Kelly; "Ireland", Miss Julia Day; "Asia", Miss Kittie Quinn; "Africa", Miss Maggie Sheehan; "Maids of Honor", Miss Lizzie Moore, Miss Lizzie Casey; "Crown Bearer", Miss Nellie Casey.

The two-act drama, "The Peasant Queen", brought forth very clever acting from the young people. The characters were: "Madame Migmago", the village busybody, Miss J. Day; "Madame Boncour", proprietress of the farm, Miss M. Kelly; "The Countess de Belleville", lady of the village, Miss M. Sheehan; "Adele", granddaughter of Madame Boncour, Miss K. Cooley; village girls, candidates for the rose of honor—"Marguerite", Miss K. Quinn; "Louison", Miss L. Casey; "Martine", Miss L. Kiely; "Jeanetton", Miss L. Moore; "Claudine", Miss N. Casey; "Bettina", servant to "Madame Boncour", Miss A. Glennon. During the progress of the play Miss Josie Schaffer sang sweetly "Where the Beautiful Rivers Flow", John Daly recited stirringly "Erin's Flag", the students gave a fine flag drill, accompanied by St. Mary's Flute and Drum Corps, and "Robin Adair" was beautifully rendered by a double quartette composed of the Misses J. Schaffer and N. Casey, sopranos, J. Daly and T. Conneely, tenors, Misses J. Day and M. Sheehan, altos, and T. Shirley and J. Conneely, bassos.

An amusing farce, "An Army of Applicants", was ably presented by Edward Lynch, who personated the character of "David Dobbs", a merchant in want of a confidential clerk, Frederick Hughes, as "Pat O'Shea", Dobbs's servant, and Martin Galbraith, Theodore Shirley, Thomas Burns and James Conneely, young men in search of a job.

A charming shepherdess drill by the young ladies and a good-night song, with tableaux, brought the pleasant evening to a close.

Mrs. Ronan was the efficient musical director.

Such Witless Pranks Must Not Be Played on Uncle Sam.

Such a horrible odor was noticed in the office of the Potter Press Works, a day or two ago, that carpenters were about to be sent for to tear up the floor and clean out the dead rats from which the overpowering stench was supposed to emanate. It was found, however, that the smell came from a mysterious box that had come through the mail and that lay in the office awaiting the claim of one of the workmen. The man to whom it was addressed opened the package in fear and trembling, and a mess of decayed fish heads and putrefied bodies of mice was disclosed to view. The scent was frightful, and lingered about in the atmosphere even after the offensive stuff had been buried in the ground. Now the Potter men are trying to find out what funny joker sent the box. The government provides a heavy penalty for the sending of such things through the mail, and this may prove an expensive prank when the offender is caught.

A Gay Lark for the Bi Boys.

Rain has spoiled the last two planned-for runs of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, but the boys will make up for all the frolic they have missed, at the run mapped out for to-morrow. The riders will leave Plainfield at 4 p. m., and will spin at Joe-Pike speed over the macadamized roads, now in prime condition from the rain, to Orange. The route will be a charming one, by way of Elizabeth, Springfield and Millburn. At Orange a big supper will be had, and the return will be a jolly one in the semi-sentimental moonlight. They'll get home in time to have a nap before the Sunday morning sermon.

He Will Pray and Sing With His Hands.

The late Brig. Gen. Thomas, of Catskill, N. Y., was one of the great fighters in the late civil war.

His eldest son is a deaf mute of high oratorical power and standing, among the deaf mutes of this country. This gentleman, with his wife, who, for a long time was a teacher in the deaf mute college at Washington Heights, N. Y., will attend the Park Avenue Baptist church, next Sunday evening, when he will render the Lord's prayer, also that popular hymn, "Nearer my God to Thee", in the sign language.

Journeyed from China to Preach to Plainfield.

The Rev. D. H. Davis, who has been at the head of the Seventh-Day Baptist Mission station at Shanghai, China, for the last eleven years, and who is now the guest of his brother-in-law, W. H. Rogers, of this city, as told exclusively in THE PRESS a week ago, will preach at the Seventh-Day Baptist church to-morrow morning at 10:30. Strangers will be welcome.

I have used Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills for Dyspepsia, &c., and have been cured by them. I cheerfully recommend them to all who suffer from the same.

A METHODIST PILGRIMAGE TO EPWORTH.

Plans Completed for the Journey of Dr. Hurlbut's Famous League.

The Epworth League Pilgrimage, which will start from New York city July 8 for a transatlantic trip, with Epworth, England, the birthplace of John Wesley, as the objective point, promises to comprise a large party. The Rev. James T. Docking, member of the Board of Control of the league, and originator of the idea of the pilgrimage, in which the Plainfield Methodists are deeply interested, gives some interesting particulars about the plans for the pilgrimage.

From the amount of correspondence that has been received in regard to the pilgrimage there seems to be every chance that the Bothnia, which has been engaged for the trip, will not be large enough for the accommodation of all, and therefore room has been secured on the steamship City of New York for some of the excursionists.

The plans, so far as they have been formulated, contemplate the assembling of the pilgrims at the rooms of the Methodist Book Concern in Fifth avenue, where a reception will be given to them, July 7, at 6 p. m. Addresses will be made by some of the best-known bishops of the church, including the Rev. Dr. John Heyl Vincent, whom the Methodists of Plainfield, Bishop Vincent's old home, love so well, and by well-known city clergymen. That other famous Plainfield clergyman, the Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut, founder of the league, will of course be one of the principal speakers. After the reception the party will go aboard ship and will sail the following morning at 7 o'clock. It is the intention to devote the afternoon of every pleasant day during the trip to meetings of an "Itinerant Club", to be organized on board by the Rev. Dr. S. F. Upham of Drew Theological Seminary. In the forenoon a "school of methods" will be conducted.

Arriving at Liverpool, Friday, July 17, a special train will take the pilgrims to London. Monday, July 20, another special train will convey the party to Haxey, where carriages will be taken to Epworth, a beautiful drive of about four miles, returning to London the same evening. The party will remain four days in London. Those wishing to remain longer or to go elsewhere may do so at their own expense after the four days. The return trip will be made by the Bothnia.

The cost of the trip, not including hotel expenses while in London, will be $120. Those who wish to make a more extended tour will have the privilege of either of two other routes, one of which, taking in a run to Paris and returning via Boston July 30 on the Scythia, will cost $180, while the other, including a trip to Switzerland, will cost $290.

'Twas the Work of Somerset's Inspector Byrnes.

The noisy, clamorous New York World is now making a very loud claim that the capture of the two ruffians and robbers who almost murdered old John Toms in the lonely Kilpatrick farmhouse on the Hamilton avenue road from New Brunswick to Middlebush was effected only through its munificent and beneficent efforts. Prosecutor Steele, however, when questioned at his office in the Chautauqua building, this city, concerning the case, said that there was not a scintilla of truth in the World's boastful story. The prosecutor has all along had detectives under his employ on the case, has paid them, and knew just what they were doing. Reporters are very often greatly instrumental in solving mysteries that puzzle detectives and in bringing wrong-doers to justice, but in this case the success is all due to the prosecutor, and the World's claim is stamped as a brazen attempt to steal from the county the honor of the capture. The Somerville Unionist-Gazette, commenting editorially on the matter, insists that the prosecutor has carefully conducted the case and deserves to have all the credit. He has been criticised because the men were not captured sooner, but who knows that they would now be behind the bars had not the slow-and-sure policy been adopted?

Step on the Plank and See the Fountain Play.

Boroughites are complaining of a miserable board sidewalk on Somerset street, near Linden avenue, that after every rain splashes and squirts muddy water all over the clothing of those having to use it. If the owner does n't soon make repairs he may have dire punishment inflicted on him. Already the atmosphere of the neighborhood is oppressive with the feminine lamentations and masculine profanity of the victims, and if those floating planks and that sloppy squashy puddle are n't speedily replaced by some footway more substantial there'll be war in the borough for a fact.

The Postal Handles All Dispatches Promptly.

Joseph M. Eder, whose wide-awake business enterprise and hustling management have made the local branch of the New Jersey Postal Telegraph Company worthy of patronage, is about to leave town to engage in work for the Postal company in New Brunswick. He will be succeeded in Plainfield by J. E. Pucci, who may be depended on to maintain the retiring manager's standard of prompt, reliable and satisfactory service.

The Stern Sire Soused the Love-sick Serenaders.

In Memory of Departed Comrades.

The following general order, concerning the observance of Memorial Day in Plainfield, has just been issued:

Headquarters
Winfield Scott Post, No. 73,
G. A. R.,
Dept. of New Jersey.

General Order No. 2.

PLAINFIELD, May 20, 1891.

COMRADE:—Orders from National and Department Headquarters again summon us to assemble and in a spirit of Fraternity, Charity, and Loyalty, strew with flowers the graves of our departed comrades.

The Post will assemble at headquarters Sunday evening, May 24, at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of attending divine worship at the First Presbyterian church on East Front street. Comrades will appear in Dark Clothing, Regulation Hat, Badges and Gloves.

In accordance with the action of the Joint Memorial Detail, Commander Wm. C. Smith is hereby appointed Marshal for Memorial Day. The graves of comrades will be decorated by details the morning of Memorial Day, and said details will assemble at Post rooms at 6:30 a. m.

The Senior and Junior Vice Commanders and Officer of the Guard will secure their details before Memorial Day and will decorate such cemeteries as the Joint Memorial detail may direct.

Comrades will assemble at Post headquarters at 8 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of attending the memorial service at the Soldiers' Plot in Fairview Cemetery, Westfield.

At 1:30 o'clock p. m., the Post will re-assemble at Post headquarters, and after a short parade will proceed to Music Hall, where the usual memorial services will take place.

Decorating details will obtain their flags and floral offerings at the rooms of Terrill & Cole.

Comrades:—Our organization has never enjoyed the confidence and respect of the citizens of this vicinity that it does at present, and in order that we may further merit the same let each and every comrade use every endeavor to be present at the evening service and on Memorial Day.

By order of
WM. C. SMITH,
Commander.

Official,
GEO. W. MOORE, Adjutant.

Unifying the Work of Young Baptists.

Inasmuch as the young people's societies in the Plainfield Baptist churches are among the most wide-awake in the State, it is probable that their members will soon be the leading spirits in the recently-organized Baptist Young People's Union of New Jersey.

The Union was formed at Newark, Wednesday. At the preliminary meeting it was announced that the Young People's Christian Endeavor societies were strong in the churches of the State, but were not denominational enough to suit the older members. From the country districts it was said that the societies were not strong enough to become strictly denominational, and in the cities the Endeavor societies were not at all denominational. After much discussion and planning, organization was effected under the title already quoted. All young people's societies in Baptist churches in the State [there are upwards of 120, forty-two of which were prepresented at the convention] are eligible to membership in the union, the object of which is "to promote the interests of the young people's societies in the Baptist churches of this State, to unify the young people in Christian service and fellowship, and to interest them further in missionary activity, local, State, home and foreign".

The union will meet at Mt. Holly in October.

Fluctuations of the Jersey Berry Crop.

A Jerseyman skilled in the cultivation and distribution of fruit states that he has driven thirty miles through the strawberry-growing section of Monmouth county, and did not see anywhere anything that would warrant him in expecting anything except an exceedingly small crop of indifferent strawberries. All the early berries, those which generally make the finest fruit, have been utterly destroyed. It has been so dry that it was impossible for the plants to bring forth more blossoms, and all the blossoms that had been formed at the time of the frost were killed. Yet in Burlington county the growers are expecting their usual large crop of sweetest berries.

Sam Wilbur Will Hand Out the Prizes.

Plainfield sportsmen are planning to attend the second tournament of the season under the auspices of the Newark Gun Club, at the club grounds, John Erb's old stone house, Newark. There will be three days' shooting at keystone clay pigeons, May 26, 27, 28, and two days at live birds, May 29 and 30. Samuel Wilbur, who so long and satisfactorily conducted the cash affairs of the Middlesex Gun Club, will have charge of the cashier's department, and John Pentz will have the management of all the live-bird contests. There will be great sport.

How Plainfield's Pastors Like the Wheel.

A pastor who rides a bright new wheel says: "My Sundays are better for my week-days' riding; my voice is stronger, my vigor more abounding, and my head more clear. The bicycle affords me that pleasureable exercise which I must have, takes me quickly to the bounds of my parish calling, and keeps me in touch with my young men—with it I forget that I am growing older, and others seem to forget it too."

Death Awaits Dogs on Stiner Place.

A man on Stiner place, North Plainfield, has put up a sign in his front yard warning dogs to keep off his premises if they want to escape being sent to that bourne from whence no poodle returneth. He threatens generous doses of cold lead for all trespassers, and it seems that even those dogs that can't read the sign are not exempt.

"I weep for Adonais—He is dead." Yes; but those tears wouldn't have been shed if the world had then known of Dr. Bull's Coug Syrup.

An Evening of Music and Song.

The entertainment gotten up by the Woman's Temperance Aid Society at Reform Hall, last evening, was a decided success, notwithstanding the failure of the elocutionist to appear.

President Spencer occupied the chair. The exercises were opened as usual by the singing of an anthem by the choir, followed by prayer. Miss Florence Randolph was then introduced, and rendered a piano solo with charming effect. The next piece, "Drift, My Bark", a vocal duet, by Miss Hawkins and Mrs. Wheaton Lowry, was heartily applauded. The audience were next favored with a beautiful piano duet by Miss Florence Randolph and Mrs. Geo. Greenleaf.

An anthem, "The World is Moving On", by the choir, was substituted for a recitation, and was well received. Mrs. King followed with a solo, "Save The Boys", which received well-merited applause. By request Miss Randolph and Mrs. Greenleaf played another piano duet, the execution of which was exceedingly fine.

The closing piece a violin solo, "The Old Folks at Home" with variations, by Mr. Conde, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Buckley, was rendered in a masterly manner, and brought forth calls of "encore" from the audience. The auditorium was well filled with a cultured and appreciative audience, who were dismissed with a few appropriate remarks by the president, apparently well pleased with the first of a series of proposed entertainments at the hall.

"The Manhattan" Will Open To-morrow.

In the new building recently erected by its owner, F. Linke, at 179 and 181 Somerset street, opposite the Crescent ball grounds, the Manhattan Wine Room will be opened to-morrow as a first-class resort for gentlemen. It has been handsomely furnished at a great expense to please the eye of its patrons, and it will be always stocked with the best brands of wines and liquors of every description.

Ballentine's export and Schaefer's wiener beer will be on draft, as well as the St. Louis and the imported beers. Mr. Linke will aim to make "The Manhattan" a popular place by sparing no pains to please its patrons and assure their comfort in every way.

Not this End of Union County.

An exchange says that the meanest man on record lives in Union County. He sold his son-in-law one-half of a cow, and then he refused to divide the milk, maintaining that he sold only the front half. The son-in-law was also required to provide the feed the cow consumed, and compelled to carry water to her three times a day. Recently the cow hooked the old man, and now he is suing his son-in-law for damages.

GRASSVALE.

Grassvale lay hidden in the hills in indolent repose;
It lay there, like a snow-flake in the bosom of a rose,
Against the mountains on the east the east winds vainly pressed,
And the mountains stopped the fury of the storm-burst from the west.

But the Grassvale people waited for a railroad to come down,
And tunnel through the mountains and wind grandly into town;
Through the weed-grown streets of Grassvale men would saunter to and fro,
And tell how, when the railroad came, the little town would grow.

Every night to Durkee's grocery came a crowd of men to talk it,
With big empires in their fancy and two nickels in their pocket;
But the cows trod down the dahlias in each housewife's small, front yard,
And whole droves of pigs went rooting down the village boulevard.

Every morn the magic sunrise all the eastern hills would streak,
And God flung His sunset banner from the topmost western peak;
But moss grew on the houses where no paint had yet appeared,
As the face that has no beauty is the first to raise a beard.

The chimney of the old town hall was thrown down by the rain,
And they struck a rusty funnel through the bottom window pane;
At the Baptist church the steeple blew off one tempestuous day,
And they left it as a rendezvous where hens could go and lay.

The great dream of the railroad banished their uneasy fears,
Although they had a suit of clothes but once in thirteen years;
For they reasoned when the railroad should come winding down their way
They should have a pair of trousers almost every other day.

And we all wait for our railroad, while our front yards grow with thistle,
Lay and listen in our valley for the locomotive's whistle;
Yes, we build up mighty railroads in our superheated brain,
While we ought to climb our mountains and just foot it to the train.

—S. W. Foss, in Yankee Blade.

MR. BOWSER.

Some of His Eccentricities as Related by Mrs. B.

What He Knows About Corns—The Difference Between a Dress-Maker and a Tailor—His Wife's Revengeful Work.

HAD been suffering with a soft corn for about a week before Mr. Bowser suddenly inquired:

"What on earth makes you limp as you walk?"

"I didn't know as I did limp. I have a corn, however."

"Corn — yes! Evidence that the fools are not all dead yet! Good enough for you or any other woman who'll jam her No. 5 feet into No. 3 shoes! Hope you'll have a dozen!"

"Corns don't always come from wearing tight shoes."

"Don't they? Bet you a million dollars to a cent they do! Can't come any other way; and a man or woman who will wear shoes too small for them ought to be published to the public at large as non compos mentia."

On the third day after the above conversation I noticed that Mr. Bowser limped as he came home to supper.

"Had a fall?" I queried.

"No, ma'am."

"I notice that you are lame."

"Not much! I'm not one of the lame sort."

I was sure that he was uncomfortable, if not suffering, but nothing more was said until after supper. Then he dodged upstairs, and when I went upstairs after him a few minutes later I found him with his shoe and sock off.

"Foot was cold and I thought I would rub it a little, you know," he explained.

"Mr. Bowser, you've got a corn!"

"Never!"

"I'm certain of it! Hold your foot up here!"

"Bosh! My foot is cold—that's all. Corn! I'd like to see a corn come on my foot!"

"Hold it up here! There! There, Mr. Bowser, if that isn't a corn between your toes, then I never saw one! It's a soft corn, comes from a tight shoe. Your toes have been pinched until they rubbed together."

"It can't be."

"But it is. A man or woman who will wear shoes too small for them ought—"

He drove me out of the room and locked the door, but I had the satisfaction of knowing that he suffered for a whole week. The nearest he owned up to it was when he came home and said:

"No wonder I suffered. Carbuncles are tender things. It would have put you in bed."

"I never heard of a carbuncle between the toes."

"Probably not. There are several things in this world you never heard of, smart as you are."

I expected a new dress to come up one evening in time for a party to which we had been invited. At six o'clock he began to grow uneasy and queried:

"Why on earth didn't you have it here this morning?"

"It wasn't done."

"Then you should have given your order farther ahead. Mrs. Bowser, you are a very soft mark."

"But the dress will be here by seven o'clock."

"Bet you two farms to a cent! Never knew any thing of yours to come up within twenty-four hours of the time promised. This is a nice state of affairs, I must say!"

"The dress will come."

"Not until to-morrow, and we might as well make up our minds to stay at home."

It was there at half-past six, and he got out of it by saying that it was a mistake for which the dress-maker would probably commit suicide. A week later he ordered a new suit, stipulating that they were to be sent up at noon on a certain day. We were to go to a party that night, and at breakfast I queried:

"WHERE IN HALIFAX IS THAT SUIT OF MINE?"

"Do you feel certain of your new suit?"

"Do I feel certain that I live?" he replied, with a grand wave of his hand.

"But it may not come up."

"And the sun may bust its biler and the pieces tumble to earth. The clock will not have struck twelve before that suit is here."

But when he came up to dinner I had to inform him that no suit had arrived.

"Oh, well, the parcel boy is taking it slow," he answered. "It will be here before I go."

But it wasn't. He waited ten minutes over time and then went to the telephone and called the tailor up and said:

"I suppose that suit has started on its way up."

I could not, of course, hear the reply.

"Why, that suit I ordered a week ago."

[Tailor's reply unheard.]

"You haven't! That's a pretty idea! Do you mean to tell me that suit isn't finished?"

[Tailor's reply unheard.]

"Well, you see that you do! If it's one minute after six I'll leave the suit on your hands!"

"How about my dress-maker?" I asked, as he hung up the trumpet.

"How about nothing! Dress-makers deliberately perjure themselves, while this was a mere oversight. It'll be up at six."

"And if not?"

"Didn't I say it would be up at six? Make all your arrangements to go to that party."

When he came up at six and failed to find the suit he turned five shades whiter. Going to the phone he yelled to the tailor:

"Where in Halifax is that suit of mine?"

[Tailor's reply unheard.]

"No, it hasn't! What do you mean by such conduct?"

[Tailor's reply unheard.]

"Yes, if it comes at seven sharp, but not a minute later! You folks down there must have all been on a drunk this week!"

"Is it coming at seven?" I asked.

"Certainly. I didn't expect it before, but wanted to hurry 'em up a little."

"Well, I hope it will come."

"Hope! It will come, and that's all there is about it."

But seven o'clock came without the suit. It didn't come at half-past, nor at eight, and Mr. Bowser called up the central and was told that the tailor shop was shut up. He danced up and down, rapped on the box, kicked the cat and told the baby to shut up, and finally he sat in a chair and looked at me in a cold, icy way.

"Well, how about dress-makers?" I asked.

"Not a word, Mrs. Bowser—not a word! I see how it is!"

"How what is?"

"More of your revengeful work! You wanted to get even with me and you have done it."

"But what did I do?"

"Never you mind! Let your own conscience answer! I'm going down-town, and if I shouldn't return to the house you can communicate with any lawyer you see fit."

But he was home and in bed by eleven, and glad to drop the subject.—Detroit Free Press.

OSSAWATTOMIE'S BOYS.

How Owen and Jason Brown Disposed of Their Little Fortune.

John Brown, of Harper's ferry, whose soul goes marching on, has two sons, Owen and Jason, who went into the valley where Pasadena sits in the sunshine of the California Paradise, and there struggled against adversity and fought pinched circumstances in a long and hard contest.

A Lewiston gentleman just home from Washington, says the Lewiston Journal, met in New York an old friend, an attorney of much note, who recently settled the estate of one of these sons who recently died at or near Pasadena. The attorney told the Lewiston gentleman a story whose moral will be touching, no matter how badly it may be told in this place, and whose theme is heroic along the better line of heroism. This attorney found the affairs of the deceased in good order, but his estate small. He obtained from the surviving son a memento of John Brown, a letter written to one of the sons nearly fifty years ago—a good letter, with one or two bits of honest, manly advice in it. In progress of looking up the affairs the attorney found out this, that the two sons had lived along in a rather pinched way, paying for their little place, working hard and patiently, uncomplaining in their toil, and that they finally had saved two hundred dollars for a little nest egg against future troubles. About two years ago or more, as every one knows, Charleston, S. C., fell in earthquake. There was want and suffering—a misery in some sections paralleled only by the flood at Conemaugh. When these two brothers heard of it, forgetting that South Carolina had embodied the element that had slain a father, and hearing only the cries of want, they sent their entire little fortune to Charleston, and it was used in allaying the miseries of the men and women who in a certain way had been responsible for their father's death.

There's the story. You can think it over, especially in the light of its unostentatious giving, and perhaps you may see its moral. The fact that it has been unnoticed so long and that one of the sons has died without seeing even a newspaper reference to the incident, is proof enough that it was a gift of pure generosity and nothing else.

AN INSOLVENT NATION.

The Bankrupt Condition of the Once Prosperous Portugal.

Portugal will ere long, unless present indications are at fault, give another of the illustrations so frequent in her recent history of the rapidity with which a nation once on the downward grade gains momentum. Time was, says the Boston Transcript, when if Portugal did not "hold the golden East in fee" she at least divided possession of it with Venice. In those days when she was a great power on sea and land, with great fleets and armies at her command, she could have bought a large part of Europe, and then have had some money to put by for a rainy day. Now the rainy day has come and finds her with no money put by. In this emergency she has gone begging of the bankers, and it is understood has secured a loan of about thirty-two million dollars from a syndicate of capitalists to tide over her present needs. Whether this sum will be sufficient is seriously doubted in London, where the Portuguese financial situation is pretty well understood. The debt of Portugal is about one hundred and forty dollars per capita of her population of five million, or in all somewhere in the neighborhood of seven hundred million dollars. The interest charge is about twenty-five million dollars, or considerably more than half the revenue; the deficit within two years has been as high as fourteen million dollars. These figures made London financiers indisposed to come to the assistance of Portugal, more especially as some of their number were already creditors of the Portuguese Government. One of the first purposes to which four million dollars of the recently borrowed money will be put will be to pay Baring Brothers their due. The immediate interest demands will take up ten million or twelve million dollars more in January, and the question is, when will Portugal want to borrow again, since the entire amount of the loan is only sufficient for little more than a year's interest. Portugal might do well to realize on her African possessions now. They would net her a good sum, and a nation that has neither gold nor steel can not hope to hang on to her colonies long when such powers as Germany and England long for them.

We are happy because of our glorious health; for Health, my boy, is Happiness."

What picture can equal that of a young mother and child in perfect health? and what a rare sight it is!

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S Vegetable Compound possesses those health-giving properties so important to both mother and child. It is the only Legitimate Remedy and Positive Cure for those peculiar weaknesses and ailments incident to women. Every Druggist sells it as a standard article, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00.

Mrs. Pinkham freely answers letters of inquiry. Enclose stamp for reply.

Send stamp for "Guide to Health and Etiquette," a beautiful illustrated book.

CAN
WINCHENDON, MASS., Feb. 19, 1890.
P. E. C. Medicine Co.:
I had been afflicted for a long time with a severe kidney trouble. I was so bad I was unable to work more than three months in the year. Had used a good many medicines but failed to get any relief. At last, about two years ago, I commenced using the P. E. C. Kidney, Blood and Liver Remedy. From the first and heavy boxes. To any one suffering with Kidney trouble, I say, by all means try the P. E. C. Remedy. LORING GALE.

The P. E. C. Remedy is taking the lead of all others, wherever introduced. It is the only remedy for Sour Blood. Send for circulars. All druggists; $1 per bottle; six for $5.

BEWARE OF PARALYSIS!
Dr. Comfort's little "Compills" are a sure preventative. Do you have dizzy spells or a feeling of numbness, or want of circulation? Do not delay; get "Compills." They are made from roots and herbs. If not kept by your druggist, send 25 cents to the P. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y., and the "Compills" will be sent by mail.

For sale by R. J. SHAW, Druggist.

THE BLAINE RUMORS

Friends Deny that the Secretary is Breaking Down.

SIMPLY A VICTIM OF OVERWORK.

Emmons Blaine Says the Whole Story is the Result of Personal Spite.

Secretary Tracy Says Mr. Blaine is as Strong Mentally as He Ever Was—The Matter Discussed in a Cabinet Meeting. Public Uneasiness Caused by the Misleading Statements Given Out Daily.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Secretary Tracy in an interview about published statements casting doubts upon Secretary Blaine's real condition, mentally and physically, denies emphatically the truth of such statements, "and any statement," he said, "that Mr. Blaine is not as strong, sound and alert mentally as he ever has been does him grave injury.

"The last time I saw Secretary Blaine," he added, "only a few days before he left for New York, we were together a long time in consultation over a most important public document. It was criticised and discussed at great length, and I have never seen him when he appeared to better advantage than he did on that occasion."

The statement as to the Secretary's health was discussed in the Cabinet, and, while there was no divergence there from the general opinion as to the character of the publication, nevertheless some of the Cabinet members were inclined to think that the misleading statements given out from day to day in regard to Mr. Blaine's condition were largely responsible for the public uneasiness.

What Emmons Blaine Says.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Emmons Blaine, when asked regarding the reports about his father, said: "The story is a lie and a gross misrepresentation. Any denial of it would be almost useless, as the statements are merely general and refer in a great degree to what is past and gone." Young Mr. Blaine went on to say that in his opinion the whole story was the result of personal spite. His father, he said, was simply the victim of over-work. Regarding the statement that the business of the State Department suffered on account of the mental inability of its chief, young Mr. Blaine said that the official records of his fathers office would completely disprove such a grouniess assertion.

Mr. Blaine Much Improved.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Dr. Dennis said this morning that he would not take Secretary Baine out riding to-day as he feared the weather would be too warm. Mr. Blaine is now able to be up and about the house, and Dr. Dennis says that his complete recovery is only a matter of a few days.

THE PENSION MONEY.

Secretary Foster Thinks He Will Have No Trouble in Meeting the Demand.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—With reference to the quarterly pension payments, due June 4, aggregating $26,000,000, Secretary Foster says that he does not anticipate any difficulty in meeting the demand. He had no doubt but that the receipts over the expenditures would be sufficient to meet this amount. There was already on hand nearly $16,000,000 surplus.

There would be no necessity of calling in the deposits held by the National banks on account of the Government to meet pension obligations. The amount of Government funds on deposit with National banks was $23,000,000.

The Secretary thought it likely that an opportunity to renew the $50,000,000 4 1-2 per cent. bonds would be given to the holders of said bonds, after Sept. 1, at the rate of not more than 2 per cent. He had no doubt that definite steps would be taken in the matter in a short time.

With regard to the shipments of gold, Secretary Foster said that it conclusively showed that the credit of the United States could not be shaken by any drain upon it.

Promoted on His Deathbed.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A telegram has been received by the adjutant-general of the army announcing that Capt. Frank Hamilton, 2d Artillery, is lying at the point of death at his post, Fort Wadsworth, New York harbor. He has just been promoted to be major of the 3d Artillery on account of the retirement of Col. Gibson. The announcement of his promotion was sent by telegraph from the department.

The Sale of the Galena Recommended.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The board of officers appointed to survey the United States ship Galena, which was wrecked on the coast of Massachusetts, near Gay Head, has made its report to the Navy Department. The board finds that the vessel cannot be repaired within the 20 per cent. limit and it recommends her sale. The Galena was an unarmored cruiser of the third rate.

Concert To-Day for the Children.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The President directed that a concert be given by the Marine Band in the White House grounds to-day for the children in lieu of the Easter Monday egg rolling, which was abandoned because of the bad weather at the time.

The Boyer Revenue Bill Passed.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 23.—The Boyer Revenue Tax bill passed the House finally—yeas, 136; nays 21. An attempt to substitute the Granger bill was defeated.

Revolution in Argentina.

BUENOS AYRES, May 23.—A revolution has broken out in the province of Cordoba. The insurgents have cut the telegraph wires.

PASSED FOR A YEAR.

The General Assembly Disposes of the Confession of Faith Problem.

DETROIT, Mich., May 23.—The expected debate on Revision of the Confession was closed for this year by the adoption of Dr. Hayes's motion that the report of the committee be sent down to the Presbyteries for criticisms, etc., using which the committee—continued at its request till next assembly—can then make its final report.

President Patton, of Princeton, probably represented those who have urged important modifications of the report if there had been any proposition that the assembly should adopt as its own the recommendations of the report before sending it down. He made the principal address urging that it be sent down without any adoption or endorsement.

It is rumored that Professor Briggs has announced his determination to contest every point in his case, carrying them into the civil courts, and up to the highest courts any points involving civil rights, and thus keeping up a conflict it may be for years.

KILLED BY AN EXPLOSION.

Ten Negro Convicts Meet Death in a Mine in Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 23.—At the Pratt mines an explosion of gas in a shaft where convicts are worked killed ten negro convicts and one free miner named Tom Moore.

It is believed that the men had in some way knocked off a plank from a door which stood across an old chamber and on which the word "Gas" was written. The gas rushed out and caught fire from the lamp.

Officers of the company went to the rescue and worked to save the men, but were themselves suffocated and narrowly escaped, being dragged out unconscious.

The bodies of the dead have all been recovered.

The mines are not considered in danger from gas as a rule, and this is the first accident of the sort for a long time.

Two life convicts worked faithfully with the rescuing party.

THE DEPUTIES ACQUITTED.

They Were Charged With Murdering the Morewood Rioters.

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 23.—At 9 o'clock last night the jury in the case of Capt. J. A. Loar, Harry Wilson, Louis Davis, Richard Burns, Caryl Brown, Horace Ruce, Jacob Zundel, Harry Gilbert, Miles Hann, Elmer Nichols and Jesse Berger returned a verdict of not guilty.

The accused were on guard as deputy sheriffs at Morewood Coke Works on the morning of April 2 last, when several riotous Hungarian and Slav strikers were shot dead. The deputies were subsequently arrested for murder and indicted.

BIG FAILURE REPORTED.

The Star Rubber Company of Trenton in Financial Trouble.

TRENTON, N. J., May 23.—The Star Rubber Company, one of the large concerns here, is reported as having failed. The officers deny this, and say they expect to patch up matters.

They claim that the banks have refused to discount the company's paper because of the general lack of confidence existing among the banks. If the Star Rubber Company fails several other concerns will go down with it.

Favor Dr. Brooks for Bishop.

ST. LOUIS, May 23.—The trouble over the election of Dr. Philips Brooks to be Bishop of Massachusetts is settled, the standing committee of the diocese of Missouri have decided to approve of his election.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 23.—The standing committee of the diocese of Indiana voted unanimously to confirm the election of Dr. Philips Brooks as Bishop of Massachusetts.

Collapse of the Big Pool Scheme.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 23.—The grand pool scheme involving $100,000, organized under the name of the New Haven Jockey Club, has collapsed. The scheme was backed by a syndicate of pool-room and policy-room proprietors, and the plan was to give prizes to the holders of tickets bearing the names of the first, second and third horses in the Suburban Handicap, which is to be run at Sheepshead Bay on June 16.

Charges of Fraud Sustained.

CHICAGO, May 23.—After much debate the important matter before the National Trotting Association, the expulsion of the stallion Nelson was decided by the Board of Review. The decision was averse to the horse and its owner, and will create somewhat of a sensation in sporting circles. The charges of fraud were sustained.

Requisition from Gov. Bulkeley.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 23.—The requisition papers in the case of Lewis Y. Carroll, who was recently arrested in Worcester and who is wanted in Bridgeport for embezzlement, have been issued by Gov. Bulkeley.

The Rose in Favor in Auburn.

AUBURN, N. Y., May 23.—The vote of public schools on State flower was 1,042 for the rose and 574 for the golden rod.

THEY SCENT DANGER

Keystone Bank Directors Preparing for Trouble.

REWARD OFFERED FOR MARSH.

Philadelphia's City Treasurer Has Made an Assignment.

He Is Being Shadowed by Officers—The Tangle Seems to Be Increasing and the End Far Distant—A Member of the Select Council Makes a Statement—Gov. Pattison Wants Information.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—The sensational developments in the matter of the city's financial affairs, the Keystone Bank and the Spring Garden Bank continue to be of paramount interest, and they were further intensified by the rumors concerning another national bank which has city money on deposit. President Marsh has not been found, and his bondsmen have offered a reward of $1,000 for his capture. There was a rumor that he had been apprehended in Montreal, but this the government officers of this city denied.

In the meantime Bardsley's affairs are becoming more complicated. The court granted an order that he should answer such questions as Councils' investigating committee saw fit to put to him. He has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, and his bondsmen attached the Bradford Mills property. There is no doubt he is a ruined man. The experts appointed by the mayor are still at work on his books, but it will be some time before they have anything definite to give out.

The city treasurer is being shadowed by the officers, but those in authority are delicate in their admission of this. It is even rumored that he will be arrested, and the equivocal replies of the mayor and others to questions on this point only tend to confirm these suspicions. Bardsley was at his office until noon, when, at the bidding of a deputy United States marshal, he went to the marshal's office. He issued a statement concerning his connection with the Clamer notes, which Mr. Clamer corroborates in full.

Governor Pattison, as the State Executive, enters upon the proceedings. He has instructed Auditor-General McCamant to gather such information as may be obtainable, so that he may take such action as the circumstances may warrant. The tangle seems to be increasing, and the end still seems to be far in the distance.

A reliable member of select council made this statement: "The end is not yet. I can tell you for a fact that several of the directors of the Keystone Bank have within the past few weeks sold or otherwise disposed of their horses and other property. They scent danger in the air. They have been allowed sufficient time and they have made the most of it. If you levy on several of them today you would get nothing. They have been preparing, and are prepared for unpleasant experiences.

THE DAVIS SHOE FAILURE.

Creditors Will Probably Receive Sixty Cents on the Dollar.

BOSTON, Mass., May 23.—It is reported that the liabilities of Mr. Joseph Davis will amount to $3,000,000, and that the creditors will, in all probability, receive sixty cents on the dollar. A meeting of creditors will be held on Monday.

A sensation was created here when the report was received that the Hill Shoe Company of Memphis had failed, and William Vilas Hill, the president of the company, immediately thereafter committed suicide. The failure of the firm was directly due to the failure of the Davis Shoe Company, of Lynn, which owed the Hill Shoe Company between $300,000 and $400,000.

CANADA IN TROUBLE.

Everything in Confusion and Everybody Is Alarmed.

OTTAWA, May 23.—Matters at Ottawa are in a critical condition. Sir John Macdonald is ill again, suffering, it is said, from a collapse similar to that which came upon him at Kingston during the elections.

His oldest colleague, Sir Hector Langevin is lying under indictment for fraud and malversation of public funds. Mr. Chapleau is demanding the French leadership in virtue of his greater services and cleaner reputation, while conviction that the end of the long reign is near is corroding the allegiance of many private members elected to support the Government.

Its humbler workers in the country are hurrying as fast as they can under the friendly roof of the Custom House or Postoffice. Everything is in confusion; everybody is alarmed. There is talk of sending for Tupper, but no one believes his presence could avert the crash that is imminent.

Only One Year for the Hub's Mayor.

BOSTON, May 23.—The Senate bill extending the term of office for the Mayor of Boston from one to two years was defeated in the House.

GUARDING THE CZAR.

A Big Police Force Organized in Moscow to Protect Russia's Ruler.

LONDON, May 23.—Great preparations are being made in Moscow for the coming visit of the Czar to lay the foundation of a memorial to the late emperor. The exact date of the visit is kept secret, as usual in regard to the Czar's movements.

House owners have been notified to provide a number of men to act as undress police on the occasion of the visit, and each house owner will be held responsible for the good conduct of the men provided by him. The number of men so selected is to be considerable, and it is estimated that not less than one in ten of the crowd on the occasion will be acting in the capacity of special constables.

The cause for the unusual precautions is chiefly the bitter and revengeful feeling aroused in the Jewish population by the expulsion of the lower classes of Moscow Jews.

A Big Estate Without an Executor.

NYACK, N. Y., May 23.—Millard F. Onderdonk, who was executor in the noted will case of E. D. Hendra, a wealthy colored man, who died at this place several years ago, had his letters revoked because he moved out of the State, and he has just made an accounting before the surrogate of Rockland County, showing that the estate is indebted to him for $9,000. His successor has been appointed, but the necessary bond of $150,000 has not yet been furnished, hence the estate is now without an executor or administrator. Several of the legacies have been disputed, and it is possible that no legatee will ever receive any of the large fortune.

Nine College Crews to Race.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 23.—So far as is known here there will be nine college crews on the Thames River this season. Races already announced to come off are: Columbia and Cornell freshmen, June 19 or 23; Harvard, Yale and Columbia freshmen, June 23 or 24; Cornell, Columbia and University of Pennsylvania university crews, June 22; Yale and Harvard University, June 26.

Lieutenant Casey's Slayer.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 23.—D. E. Powers, attorney for Plenty Horses, asserts that he secured evidence at Pine Ridge which will positively acquit his client of the crime of murdering Lieutenant Casey. American Horse, one of the influential chiefs of the Sioux nation, will be a witness for the defendant. The case will open on Monday.

A Bridge Gives Way.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., May 23.—During the parade of a circus at Tyrone the wooden bridge which crosses Bald Eagle creek gave way with an immense crowd of people. O. A. Sanders, a telegraph operator of Huntingdon, was badly injured, and there were many narrow escapes from drowning.

Pigeons Flying 224 Miles.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—The nine birds of E. W. Twining, of Yardley, Pa., the first this season to be liberated for the prize and for public record, were let go in Orange, Va., at 8 a. m. The atmospheric conditions are favorable and good speed may be looked for. The air-line distance is about 224 miles.

"Yes, madam, ladies who try Cleveland's Baking Powder will have nothing else. They say it goes farther and gives better results. Almost everyone uses it now."

MURDER AND SUICIDE

A Dissipated Shoemaker Kills His Wife and Himself.

ONLY MARRIED A FEW WEEKS.

He Fired Six Shots at the Woman While Running from Room to Room.

The Double Tragedy Brought About Over Four Handkerchiefs—He Accused His Wife of Trying to Steal Them and Struck Her—She Attempted to Defend Herself, When He Pulled His Revolver.

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., May 23.—Frank Turke, aged 40 years, who kept a small shoe store on Palisade avenue, quarreled during the day with his wife, to whom he had been married but a few weeks, and finally shot her in the neck, inflicting injuries which resulted in her death in a few minutes. He then shot and killed himself.

Although several of the neighbors heard the shooting none of them witnessed the killing. From what could be learned from the children who were looking in the shop, the double tragedy was brought about by Turke accusing his wife of stealing four handkerchiefs. She had packed her trunk and decided to leave him. She refused to open the trunk, and this enraged him so that he struck her and she attempted to defend herself, when he shot her. She started to run from one room into another and he fired several shots at her, only one of which took effect. It is said that he fired six shots, including the fatal bullet which he fired into his own breast.

Turke buried his first wife about seven weeks ago, and engaged his second wife as housekeeper from an agency in New York. His first wife's mother committed suicide in Harlem several days after her daughter's death by jumping from a third story window.

Bank-Wrecker Classen Denied Bail.

NEW YORK, May 23.—In the case of the United States against Peter J. Classen, Judge Benedict of the United States Circuit Court has handed down a decision denying the application of the Sixth National Bank wrecker to be admitted to bail pending the decision of the Supreme Court.

The Lumber Trouble Not Settled.

NEW YORK, May 23.—E. H. Ogden, secretary of the Lumber Trade Association, has issued a card this morning denying the report that the Lumber Dealers' Association had conceded the demands of the walking delegates, and stating that no yards will be opened until a settlement is reached.

Strikers' Demands Refused.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., May 23.—One hundred men employed on the construction of the electric street railway are on strike for an increase of 25 cents a day. The company says it will suspend operations for a year rather than submit to the demand.

She Would Rather Live Apart.

BALTIMORE, May 23.—Mrs. John Carroll, of "The Caves," Baltimore county, has begun a suit for divorce. Mr. Carroll is a large landed proprietor. Mrs. Carroll is a sister of Douglas Thomas, president of the Farmers and Merchants' Bank.

Removals at the Boston Custom House.

BOSTON, Mass., May 23.—Speaking of the dismissals at the Custom House, Collector Beard said to a reporter to-day: The reduction in the force of the Custom House here means a saving of $25,000. The reduction will take place on June 1. This will make a total reduction, under my administration, of $60,000. Most of those who will go are clerks. There will be no new hands taken on.

Tragedy in "Little Italy."

NEW YORK, May 23.—Albarigo Arnone, aged 24, was shot and instantly killed and John W. Remington, aged 26, was mortally wounded by Guseppi Cangro on East 112th street in "Little Italy" last night during a quarrel. The murderer escaped. All the parties participating in the tragedy are Italians.

Short in His Accounts.

WILMINGTON, Del., May 23—John J. Dougherty, collector of taxes for the northern city district, is short in his accounts about $16,000. He was elected by the Democratic Levy Court two years ago.

AN ATROCIOUS CRIME.

Swift Vengeance on Two Murderers in a Mountain Town.

LOUISVILLE, May 23.—One of the most fiendish crimes ever known in Kentucky is reported from Sandy Hook, the county seat of Elliott county.

A young school teacher, Miss Maude Fleenor, was thrown from a horse, frightened by two Wilcox brothers, each of whom the girl had refused to marry.

With a leg and an arm broken she was chained in a deserted cabin, where she was kept a prisoner since the middle of April, and, slowly dying, was made the victim of her captors' lust.

The brothers of the missing girl finally headed a posse and search was begun. Last Thursday in crossing a deep and heavily wooded ravine an old and apparently deserted cabin was passed. While waiting for laggers, several members of the party heard a groan in the cabin. Thinking the noise came from a stray hog, they paid no attention to it.

As the party was moving from the cabin a second and louder groan was heard. Upon examining the interior of the log structure a horrible sight met the gaze of the searchers. There, stretched upon a rudely constructed bunk, lay the poor, emaciated form of the once lively Maude Fleenor. The couch upon which she lay was covered with a small quantity of dirty straw and full of vermin.

When the rescuing party entered the cabin the poor girl opened her eyes, recognized her betrothed, and said in a voice scarcely audible, "Amos, the Wilcox boys did it." They were the last words she ever spoke. In fifteen minutes she was dead. From a buxom lass of 135 pounds, she had dwindled to a mere skeleton, weighing scarcely seventy-five pounds.

Her sufferings, both mental and physical, must have been fearful. As soon as the body was placed in the care of friends, the posse started out to hunt for and capture the Wilcox boys. Both were found without trouble, and at first firmly denied their guilt, but upon being brought face to face with their victim, both wilted and made full confessions.

Both men seemed very anxious and uneasy during the writing of the confession, and corroborated each other in every detail, with one or two exceptions. After making the confession each one asked the question: "What are you going to do with us?" The answer came quick in the form of a Winchester bullet for each. The girl's death had been avenged by her brother and intended husband.

Foreign Talk About the Itata.

PARIS, May 23.—It has just leaked out that the agents of the Chilian rebels first applied to the Foreign Office in London to intercede with the United States government as to recalling the Charleston from pursuit of the Itata; but Lord Salisbury refused to have anything to do with the matter, and the insurgent agents then sought the good offices of Minister Reid. The newspapers here reaffirm the truth of the reported Itata agreement, and say that the Chilian steamer will be taken into a United States port and that when she arrives there an embargo will be placed upon her.

The Pope's Special Note.

ROME, May 23.—The German Kaiser is not the only sovereign honored with a special note from the Pope accompanying a copy of the labor encyclical. A copy, with a personal note, has been sent to every European sovereign except King Humbert, not even the Sultan of Turkey being neglected in the list.

College Summer Courses Will Count.

BOSTON, May 23.—All courses in the summer school of Harvard College, beginning with this summer, in geology, physics, German and engineering, will, by direction of the faculty, be counted toward the students' degree. This is the first step in allowing all summer courses to count in the regular university work.

Suicides at Monte Carlo.

LONDON, May 23.—At Monte Carlo yesterday a banker of Munich, named Speckart, committed suicide because of heavy gambling losses. Six suicides have occurred at Monte Carlo since May 1.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—You will find linen goods at Peck's.

—The Rev. T. E. Davis, of Bound Brook, fractured a rib by a violent fit of sneezing.

—The Elkwood Cafe, West Second street, is open on Sundays from 10 o'clock a. m. until 8 o'clock p. m.

—It is reported that a New York capitalist is to build and operate a kid-glove manufactory in Washington Valley.

—U. S. Fish Commissioner Gay says the Delaware is the best shad stream in the world. But Raritan shad are all right, too.

—Are you going to buy a pair of shoes to-night? If so, go direct to Sherwin's. He has the largest stock, and sells at the very lowest prices.

—A large assortment of Oxford ties for ladies, at $1 per pair, may be found at Kenney's shoe store, corner of Front street and Park avenue.

—Plainfield frequenters of Lake Hopatcong will miss Lotta this season. She will spend the summer at Long Branch, where she has taken a cottage.

—The Dunellen Borough Commissioners believe in good roads. They are macadamizing New Market avenue from Centre street to the Central Railroad.

—A horse owned by Charles Turner ran away on Manning avenue yesterday and smashed Benjamin Johnson's front fence. Mrs. Johnson caught the animal.

—The New Brunswick Fredonian says that cards are out for the marriage of Miss Katie C. Colthar, of Plainfield, to John Reid, of Princeton, to take place at Plainfield June 2.

—It is repoited that the Dunellen Borough Commissioners have ordered the main road between Dunellen and New Market to be macadamized, and will expend $800 on the work.

—To-morrow evening, at the Bound Brook Congregational church, a meeting of the County Union of Christian Endeavor Societies will be held. An address is expected from J. B. Cleaver of Plainfield.

The American Sabbath Tract Society will issue the interesting and exhaustive article of the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, "Why I Am a Seventh-Day Baptist", in pamphlet form, for world-wide distribution.

—Those who have n't decided how to spend Memorial Day will find in the Jersey Central's Lake Hopatcong and Mauch Chunk trips, advertised in THE PRESS to-day, an excellent opportunity for a good time.

—A former member of Grace hurch has signified his intention of putting a brass pulpit in the new church as a memorial to his mother. The children of the parish have begun the accumulation fund for a font.

—Shareholders of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association will meet next Monday evening, at 7:40 o'clock, in Mr. Liefke's rear room, 27 West Front street, entrance from Exchange alley, for the payment of monthly dues, etc.

—Improvements are still going on in the thriving borough of Dunellen, through the inducements made by the Dunellen Building and Loan Association. At the recent monthly meeting a loan of $1,600 was given out, for the purpose of erecting a cottage on Front street.

—"Hoagland's Express," business, heretofore conducted by Peter Hoagland, will be continued by his son at the old stand, 39 North avenue. A. E. Hoagland has been associated with his father in the business for the past year, and will be pleased to have the continued patronage of the public.

—People seem to live to a good old age at Basking Ridge. Uncle Jacob Stewart died early Tuesday morning at the advanced age of 91 years, and the village has one resident still hale and hearty at the age of 89, and one who, though 97, is still able to read and be about the house, besides many above 70 years.

—The Resolutes defeated the Young Songsters at base-ball this morning, by the score of 40 to 18. The battery for the Resolutes was: LaBoyteaux and Kline, pitchers, and Taylor, catcher. The battery for the Young Songsters was: Albertis and Mumford, pitchers, and Pice, catcher. S. Perrine was umpire.

—The Rev. W. C. Kinsey, pastor of the Dunellen M. E. church, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Life of Christ", together with a miscellaneous programme of pictures, recitals and songs, in the church, next week Thursday evening. The lecture will be illustrated by seventy-one views thrown on canvas by a stereopticon. During the evening Mr. Kinsey will sing several selections.

A Street Through Handsome Country Seats.

Work on Forrest avenue, Scotch Plains, is being pushed as fast as possible, under the supervision of Hezekiah Hand, and promises to be a thoroughfare which will do credit to the town. The street will run through the handsome property of Warren Ackerman, Dr. Coles, Thomas Young and others, and will materially improve the grounds and open up some fine building sites, as well as give a short cut to the Fanwood station to a large portion of Scotch Plains residents, enabling them to avoid the present tedious route.

For the sake of large profit some dealers offer substitutes when Hires's Root Beer Packages are called for. If you care to have true goods, and a most delicious drink, run no risk, and insist on getting Hires's.

NEW JERSEY'S VETERAN MASON.

His Ninety-First Year of Life Begins To-morrow.

Timothy Hunting Morse, the acknowledged oldest Mason (in time of service) residing in New Jersey, will celebrate his ninetieth birthday anniversary at his home, 26 East Fifth street, this city, to-morrow. He is a native of Natick, Mass., where he was born May 24, 1801. At the age of 15 he was apprenticed to the carpentry trade, and it was through a simple incident in his early career as a carpenter that he became a Mason. While assisting in the erection of a barn he had to flee to an old farm-house attic for shelter from a storm. In rummaging about the rubbish he found and read a Masonic Monitor, and immediately made up his mind to adopt for himself the principles contained therein. He accordingly handed in his petition to Mt. Moriah Lodge, Canterbury, Conn., in the year 1824. His thoroughness in acquiring the Masonic work was remarkable, and he speedily was raised to the degree of Master Mason, and became Senior Deacon. In 1827 he removed to Uxbridge, Mass., and affiliated with Solomon's Temple Lodge of that place. In 1829 he became its Worshipful Master, and held that station three years. In 1833 he received what were thought to be serious injuries, caused by his falling fifty feet from the top of a building, and he was forced to retire from active business, and removed to Bangor, Maine. His public spirit won him various offices of trust and honor. He was made a Select Councilman and Warden of the Penitentiary, and was commissioned by the United States Government keeper of the U. S. Arsenal at Bangor. In 1848 he was elected Worshipful Master of Rising Virtue Lodge, of Bangor, and in 1851 was appointed District Deputy Grand Master. Armed with authority from the Grand Master, he instituted many new lodges, and appointed officers and installed elected ones. In 1849 he was elected a member of Mt. Moriah Chapter, and in 1853 received his Knight Templar degrees from St. John's Commandery at Bangor. He held for four years the position of Prelate, considered one of the finest working positions in the Commandery.

In 1857 Mr. Morse removed to Plainfield, and in 1865 affiliated with Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, of that city. He has resided in Plainfield ever since. The members of Jerusalem are proud of him, not only on account of his veteranship, but also because of his sterling worth. To the enterprise of Mr. Morse Jerusalem owes its elegant hall, and it was through his instrumentality that the late Henry G. Latimer bequeathed to the Lodge a valuable Midmer organ.

Mr. Morse is beyond question the most renowned Mason in the State. At all big gatherings of the order he is accorded the highest honors, even greater than those given to the Grand officers. He now holds the office of District Deputy Grand Master.

The veteran Mason is very benevolent in appearance. His hair is a soft gray, and his side-whiskers are of the same color, until at the cheek-bones they merge into a jet black. He is still robust of frame and firm of step, and walks freely about the streets every pleasant day.

At his birth Mr. Morse weighed but two pounds and a half, and at the age of ten days had developed full-fledged measles, that left him deaf. In the course of his life he had two narrow escapes from violent death. The first was his terrible fall, when several ribs were broken, an arm was fractured, a leg was put out of joint, and the scalp was stripped from his skull. Good surgery prevented bad scars. At another time he was whirled about a whizzing shafting, and only the utmost self-possession and superhuman physical exertion saved his life.

Mr. Morse is the father of four children. He has a daughter in the west, and resides with the other, Mrs. William A. Freeman; his sons are William G. Morse, a well-known Plainfield architect, and George L. Morse, a Brooklyn architect, of wide-spread fame. Among the many big buildings that George Morse has designed and built is the new home of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle. The elder Mr. Morse was himself the designer and builder of many substantial brick and stone blocks and public buildings in the Nutmeg State.

Mr. Morse has an honest disapproval of physicians, and thinks that the human race is prone to over-doctoring. He attributes his good health and longevity to his avoidance of unnecessary medicine-taking, his shunning altogether the use of tobacco, and his leaving strong drink entirely alone.

His Masonic and other friends hope that he may complete his century in as good health and happy spirits as his present condition indicates.

Cut an Artery in His Head.

A singular and serious accident is reported from Dunellen. While the seventeen-months-old son of Walter Vliet was playing on the back porch, a large two-inch chisel fell from the top of a closet, striking the child on the top of the head and glancing to the left side. An artery was severed, and the child bled nearly to death before medical aid could be secured. Dr. Champney is attending the case, and hopes for a full recovery.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed. —Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

ALL JOIN IN ITS ERECTION!

The Soldiers Monument Should be Built by Contributions From Every Inhabitant of Plainfield, Old and Young.

Three thousand circulars like the following have been mailed to citizens of Plainfield and the borough. Let everybody give something; as much as he or she can afford, no matter how small. Each can then feel a personal pride in the monument when completed, and the city will receive honor therefor.

It is proposed to erect in this city a monument to commemorate the victories of the armies of the United States during the late Civil War, and especially to commemorate the patriotism and valor of New Jersey soldiers and sailors; and to this end a corporation has been formed, pursuant to the laws of New Jersey, known as "The Soldiers' Monument Association of Plainfield, New Jersey."

Plainfield and its neighborhood sent to the war for the maintenance of the Union many gallant men. Of these some were killed in battle and others died of wounds and of sickness growing out of hardship and exposure. All were found faithful in the hour of trial.

In nearly every State that sent soldiers and sailors to conquer the great rebellion, the gratitude and patriotism of its citizens have erected monuments to commemorate the worth and bravery of the Country's defenders. In this respect New Jersey has hardly kept pace with her sister States, and Plainfield has not yet set up her memorial stone. The present moment is a suitable one for the accomplishment of this object. A model or plan of the proposed monument has, after much careful consideration, been adopted; the best possible site has been secured for it, namely, the triangular plot opposite the Crescent Avenue church; and the Association is now ready to receive subscriptions nee ded for the purpose. Representatives of the two Grand Army Posts (Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, and Major Anderson Post, No. 109) and the officers and directors of the Association, all of whom are named below, are officially and fraternally co-operating to this end. The fund raised will be kept separate from all others and will be sacredly devoted to the purpose of erecting the proposed Monument. Subscription papers will be circulated by the directors of the Association and by the Grand Army Posts. All remittances should be made to J. E. Stewart, Treasurer of the Association, 96 West Seventh street, Plainfield, N. J.

Please do not lay aside this statement and appeal without making at least a small contribution to the Monument Fund. Let the memory of the brave be cherished and let a granite shaft rise to keep alive in the thoughts of our children's children, the granite-like, sturdy and successful defense of our Nation's integrity, made by those who have gone before and by those who are now so fast passing away.

Mason W. Tyler, President; J. Evarts Tracy, Vice President; Nelson W. Runyon, Secretary; John E. Stewart, Treasurer. Directors—Mason W. Tyler, J. E. Stewart, Nelson Runyon, L. V. F. Randolph, Edward J. Olssen, George W. Moore, Wm. H. Williams, James S. Negley, E. B. Clark, J. W. Murray, Alex. Gilbert, A. C. Baldwin, S. A. Ginns, C. W. McCutchen, L. W. Serrell, Rowland Cox, J. Evarts Tracy.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Ground has been broken for the new residence of J. G. Musgrave, on Sycamore avenue.

The Sparrow Club were the guests of Mrs. George P. Dupee, Rockview avenue, this afternoon.

The Rev. R. Rhees, of Portsmouth Me., and formerly of this city, will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church, to-morrow morning.

The Rev. Charles B. Mitchell announces that he will tell his congregation to-morrow evening something about the "Peculiarities of Methodism".

One of the features of the entertainment to be given by Holy Cross church choir next Wednesday evening, will be a new, original farce by George Taggart, whose former piece, "A Howling Success", made such a hit at its several performances last fall. The name of the new play is as yet a secret, but those who will assist in the performance are Howard, Will and Tiffany Spencer and William Holmes, and it is promised that the new farce will be full of the same quaint humor and bright acting that marked its predecessor.

Plainfield's Amateurs Against Somerville's.

The base-ball team of the Plainfield Bicycle Club is to go to Somerville, Decoration Day, to play against the West End amateurs. Good sport is promised.

The game will be called at about 10:30. The admission will be only 10 cents, and the Somerville papers say that the game will certainly be a more interesting one than that of two weeks ago. B. T. Conkling, the blacklisted West Ender, has been reinstated, and will play in this game. W. B. Parker, the camera fiend and short stop of the Orange Athletics, will also be in the field, while Manager Mack will endeavor to hold down the first bag, and strike terror to the Plainfield pitcher. The rest of the Somerville team will be Decker, McFarlan, Carbonell, McMurtry, Major, Davenport and Frelinghuysen. All of the players will be genuinely amateurs, and there will be none from out of town. The Bi. Club team will be the same that has been playing such good ball this season.

A Supper to the Company.

No. 2 Engine was taken out for a "wash" last evening, the members of the company appearing in fatigue uniform. The engine was taken to the Elm place bridge, and worked finely. On the return to the house the newly-elected officers gave a supper to the members, and all had a merry time.

—A live-bird shoot is being held to-day on the grounds of the Perth Amboy Gun Club, between teams of ten men each from the Perth Amboy and South Plainfield Gun Clubs. Each man shoots at ten birds.

Shiloh's Cough Cure

This is beyon question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

CLAIRVOYANT!

Mrs. Dr. EDWARDS,

Being in such great demand in Plainfield, she has consented to remain until next

Wednesday Morning, May 27,

As a favor to her many kind patrons. She will then leave for Easton, positively never to return to this city for business again, as she is compelled to go to Europe in August for a few months.

Mrs DR. EDWARDS,

Known in this country from Maine to Mexico. She was born with the wonderful gift of second sight, and with a veil. She is the seventh daughter of the seventh daughter. She reveals every mystery; tells you if the one you love is true or false. She removes every grief, settles lovers' troubles, and causes speedy love marriages. She gives reliable information to gentlemen in all business transactions, and informs them how to make profitable investments and acquire speedy riches. She tells lucky lottery numbers. She has an OSIRIS EGYPTIAN TALISMAN, which is noted all the world over, as a specific charm for the unlucky. All who are in trouble or sick, should call without delay.

IN MEMORIAM.

At a recent meeting, the following memorials were presented and adopted by the Plainfield Woman's Christian Temperance Union:

MRS. GEORGE H. BABCOCK.

At this, the first assembling of our Woman's Christian Temperance Union, since the removal from our circle, by death, of Mrs. George H. Babcock—one of its representative officers—the hush of a great sorrow hovers over us all. Under the shadow of this bereavement with heavy hearts, we humbly bow to the chastening rod of our Heavenly Father.

It is difficult to measure in words the loss our union has sustained in the departure of one whose loving heart was full of our work, at home or abroad; in illness or in health her bright and active mind was constantly planning to promote our prosperity, and we realize how inadequately any words of ours can express our appreciation of her earnest and sincere interest, but to those in the lonely home we would extend our heart felt sympathy, commending both husband and child to the merciful care and protection of our kind Heavenly Father, and to the rich consolation which He alone can bestow, trusting that the Home beyond, to which He has taken her, may look brighter to us all, because she is waiting there.

ELLA TAYLOR.

Oh, the sad, sad hearts, which, gathered here, must to-day realize that the Angel of Death stands knocking just outside our doors, calling us who are still spared, to bid good-bye to one after another of those whom we have known and loved in this Christian Temperance Union, whose white-ribbon links have bound us so tenderly together as workers in the Master's vineyard. Our unshed tears and throbbing hearts bespeak the loving sympathy we unitedly extend to the mother and our sister whose home has been made so desolate. This new touch of sorrow has carried her beyond the reach of any earthly comfort that words of ours can give, to the shelter of the Everlasting Arms which enfold her, and to His whisper of an Easter joy in the coming re-union with her loved ones bye and bye.

But comes there not to us to-day a solemn message, as we remember the child whose enthusiastic devotion to her class in our Loyal Legion, and the unvarying cheerfulness of whose sweet face were so encouraging to us in our oft times wearying efforts?—a message and a warning, to be up and doing while the day lasts. As for the older ones among us, the years are slipping by, and there may be but "one more day's work for Jesus" ere we too may be summoned home.

An Expensive Suit for the Scheming Hired Man.

The Newark Evening News of Thursday evening said:

"John F. Dryden, the well-known president of the Prudential Insurance Company of Newark, Wednesday gained a final and complete victory in the suit brought against him about two years ago while he was residing at his country house near Plainfield. The suit was brought for wages alleged to be due the wife of the defendant's hired man. Mr. Dryden characterized the suit as an outrageous attempt to extort money from him, and declared his intention of carrying it to the court of last resort if necessary.

"There have been five different trials or arguments, and yesterday the Appellate Court at New Brunswick, without leaving the bench, gave judgment in Mr. Dryden's favor, declaring the plaintiff had no cause for action and ordering plaintiff to pay all costs of suit. The time spent by Mr. Dryden in fighting the case was worth to him many times the amount demanded of him as the price of peace, but he has shown that if the plaintiff took him for a peace-at-any-price man, he made a slight miscalculation.

"Craig A. Marsh, of Plainfield, apreared for Mr. Dryden, and one Somerville lawyer and two New Brunswick lawyers represented the plaintiff."

The name of the hired man was Cronin, who is out of pocket $250 by his litigation. The scheme was to extort money from Mr. Dryden for service alleged to have been rendered by the defendant's wife, but it was proved that the services of the wife were never engaged. Cronin was paid liberal wages, and had the use, rent free, of the gardener's cottage on Mr. Dryden's fine country-seat near New Market, in return for his care of the place. After he had been paid off and dismissed he put in his wife's claim, doubtless thinking that Mr. Dryden would pay the bill, unjust though it was, rather than suffer the annoyance of a fight in the courts. But Mr. Dryden got Counselor Marsh to do his fighting, and so of course he won.

The first trial of the case was at Dunellen; the jury disagreed. The case was next tried without a jury, and the verdict was against Cronin. The beaten man appealed, however, and after repeated argument on the law and merits of the case final decision was rendered as announced.

Washingtonville Notes.

John Kengar has sold his place to a party of capitalists who contemplate the immediate erection of a large boarding house. The price paid was $2,500.

David D. Smalley, Jr., has sold his farm to a party from New York, for $3,500.

John Koch's horse ran away in the woods yesterday, completely wrecking the cart to which it was attached. It ran with the shafts as far as Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, a distance of two miles, before he was caught. Mr. Koch says the only way to break a runaway horse is to kill him before he kills some one else.

Aaron Jimeson has sold his place to a Mr. Vielble of Newark. The valley will lose in Mr. Jimeson one of its most respected citizens, a good neighbor and kind friend. B.

Base-Ball Talk in Somerville.

To-day the West Ends are to play against the Seton Halls, "and"—remarks the Somerville Democrat—"they certainly ought to win this game. If they do not there is no use in keeping the team together. What will Plainfield people think seeing us lose such games, and with the team we are supposed to have! The team must take a brace somehow, or on the 13th of June, with the Crescents, we will meet the enemy and kill be theirs. With such playing those base-ball tossers from that city called the 'Colorado of the East', can win all six games, and then where will be the shouts of victory so loudly shouted in the camp of the West Ends last summer! It is now only three weeks before the first game will be played, and unless our boys get in some team work they will be ingloriously beaten on their own grounds. The Plainfield papers, and especially The Press, have been more than kind in their treatment of our games this season, saying nothing that has been unfair or unkind, when they have had the best chance ever offered in the history of base-ball, but we can scarcely expect them, like the babbling brook, to go on this way forever, and unless something happens right away we will be held up to the ridicule of all Plainfield people, besides playing to empty benches. Let Manager Mack and his star aggregation take a brace."

A Flagman's Anniversary.

W. M. Stamets, the gateman at the Broad street railroad crossing, Westfield, celebrated, last Wednesday, his seventeenth anniversary as flagman for the New Jersey Central Railroad Company. He has been stationed at Annandale, Glen Gardner and Fanwood on this line, and on July 1 will have been in his present position eight years. He has during these years suffered at times from an injury received in a wreck at Lebanon, Hunterdon county, years ago, yet he says that after all he has been absent from his post only eleven days, and during the eight years that he has been at Westfield he has been on duty every Sunday but three. During three years he made 365 days in each. The hours of duty for flagmen on crossings on this division are 14 hours on week days and 13 hours on Sundays.

A New Brewing Company.

The New Jersey and San Domingo Brewing Company filed articles of incorporation at the Union County Clerk's office, Elizabeth, yesterday. The incorporators are S. Roseno and Theodore Kruger of Canal street, New York, John Rohrssen of Jersey City, Jacob Zahn of Rutherford, and Theodore Reneicke of Elizabeth. The company's capital is $100,000. It will transact business in the counties of Union, Middlesex, and Hudson, the city of New York, and the republic of San Domingo.

Union County Teachers' Examination.

According to the rules of the State Board of Education, the regular spring examination is held the last Friday and Saturday of May. As, however, the last Saturday of May this year coincides with Decoration Day, which is a legal holiday, the examination will be held Friday and Saturday, June 5 and 6, at the usual place, the High school in Westfield. It will be for all grades of certificate.

Had a Bigger Load of Barley-corn Than Oats.

Last Sunday afternoon a wagon loaded with bags of oats appeared on Broad street drawn by a heavy team of horses. The driver, instead of attending to his business, lay on top of the oats dead drunk. Mr. Marsh followed the outfit as far as the railroad, and section foreman Probasco then went with the man to his home in South Plainfield.—Westfield Standard.

Funeral of Mrs. Carberry.

The funeral of Eliza A. Carberry, wife of J. B. Carberry, a prominent member of the New York Produce Exchange, was held at her late residence in Westfield yesterday afternoon. Many members of the Produce Exchange were present. Mrs. Carberry died suddenly Wednesday. She was the daughter of the late Rowland Pearsall of Monroe, N. Y.

A Query Answered.

"Where will we go for the summer?" is again the popular query. There is but one place for Plainfielders to go for the very best of everything in the jewelry line, and that is Collier's, No. 3 Park avenue. Satisfaction is a sure outcome to every one who invests at this reliable establishment.

Will Fred Marsh and W. E. Wilson Be Elizabeth's Battery?

A highly interesting battle on the base-ball field is being arranged for, to take place within a few days. The nines will be composed of the legal talent of Elizabeth and Plainfield, and the trial of skill will take place in this city.

A Base-Ball Yelp from Mt. Ararat.

(From The Westfield Standard.)

We understand that the Plainfield Crescents' heads are swelling again. Well, Westfield is right in it this year—and the Crescents will not be able to scratch a victory from us as they did last year. We thirst for gore!

"Bull-dose-ing" is at present going on at such a rate in this community that our dealer is hardly able to keep up a supply of Dr. Bull's popular and exeellent Cough Syrup. New Holland, Pa. Clarion.

Good Reading for Little Expense.

There has been a very important discovery made in European schools, and that is that boys who are taught to be kind to all lower creatures become a good deal better fellows. They become not only kinder to the lower animals, but kinder to each other, kinder to the little fellows, kinder to everybody, and everything that needs protection. One English school makes its boast that out of about 7,000 boys that have been sent out, carefully taught to be kind to animals, not one has ever been convicted of any crime. Out of 2,000 convicts in our prisons, inquired of a few years ago, it was found that only twelve ever had any pet animal in their childhood.—George T. Angell, in Our Dumb Animals.

Persons wishing a bound volume of Our Dumb Animals for a public library, reading room, or the public room of a large hotel, can send seventeen cents in postage stamps, to pay postage, and will receive the volume. Persons wishing it for gratuitous distribution can send five cents for postage, and receive ten copies, or ten cents and receive twenty copies.

A Story of Phillips Brooks.

The Springfield Union tells the following as a new story of Phillips Brooks: One day recently, so the story goes, a little boy went to see the great preacher and tried to sell him some kittens. But Dr. Brooks had no need or desire for such things and told the boy so. But the young salesman was persistent and said: "They are good Episcopal kittens," but even this fact could not make the sale. The next day Dr. Brooks called at a Unitarian friend's house and again met the young tradesman trying to dispose of the little pets, and in urging his case he said: "They are good Unitarian kittens."

"How is this?" asked Dr. Brooks; "yesterday you said they were Episcopal kittens, and to-day you say they are Unitarian."

"But they are different to-day," said the boy, "because they have got their eyes open."

Dr. Brooks did not pursue the conversation.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

THE DRAM SELLER.

What He Will Do for Those Who Patronize Him.

To all whom it may concern, with a general invitation to the people of the world:

Know ye, that having just opened a licensed shop for the sale of liquors in this place, I embrace this opportunity of informing you that I have commenced the business of making drunkards, paupers and beggars for the industrious and respectable of the community to support. I will for a small sum undertake, on short notice and with the greatest expedition, to prepare victims for the poorhouse, lunatic asylum, prisons and gallows. I shall deal in familiar spirits, which invite men to riot, robbery and bloodshed, and by so doing diminish the comforts, increase the expenses and endanger the welfare of the community. I will furnish an article suited to the taste, which will increase the number of fatal accidents, multiply distressing diseases, and render those comparatively harmless, incurable. I will deal in drugs which will deprive some of life, many of reason, most of property, and all of peace; which will cause fathers to become fiends, and will cause wives to become widows, and children to become orphans, and all to become great sufferers. I will cause the rising generation to grow up in ignorance and prove a nuisance to the nation. I will cause mothers to forget their helpless children, and priceless virtue no longer to remember its value. I will endeavor to corrupt the ministers of the Gospel, defile the purity of the churches, cause spiritual, temporal and eternal death. If any person should be so impertinent as to ask why I have the audacity to bring such accumulated misery upon a comparatively happy people, my honest reply is: "Greenbacks! Greenbacks! Greenbacks!" I live in a land of liberty. I have purchased the right to demolish the character, destroy the health, shorten the lives and ruin the souls of all those who choose to honor me with their patronage. Come one! Come all! Come on! I pledge myself to do all I herein promise. Those who wish any of the evils above specified brought upon themselves and their dearest friends are requested to meet at my "Bar," where I will for a few cents furnish them with the certain means of doing so. My sign informs one and all that there will be empty pockets made here, red noses made here, fighters, gamblers, forgers, drunkards and murderers made here, widows and orphans made here, jail birds made here, candidates for the penitentiary made here, drunkards' graves dug here, victims for the gallows and candidates for hell made here, by virtue of my license to sell intoxicating drinks, for the law allows it, and the court awards my right to do so, and I have paid my license, that is a fact. Furthermore, here is the manufactory, where men upon whose face the image of God is stamped are changed as if by magic by drinking of whisky at ten cents a dram into the image of devils. It will change good, sober husbands into bad ones, produce bloated faces, bloodshot eyes and lead them surely on the road to hell. More than that, know ye, one and all, he who enters here is welcome to stay and drink as long as he has money, and when he has no more and the time comes to close up my shanty for the night he shall be transported to his night lodgings free gratis by being kicked out into the street, with the cold earth for a bed to lie on and the canopy of the heavens above him for a covering unless I happen to be drunk myself, in which case he can stay with me where I stay. So take notice, all ye that see and hear this advertisement of mine, for I am an honest dealer in whisky and intoxicating drinks.—Fire Brand.

CURED BY BLISTERS.

How a Determined Wife Cured Her Husband of Drinking.

A young wife had just settled in her new home. All seemed fair and promising. But one night her husband came home very late and staggered into the house. His wife was greatly shocked, and told him he was ill and to lie down at once. He did so, and in a moment or two was comfortably asleep on the sofa. His face was a reddish purple, his breathing heavy, and altogether he was a pitiable-looking object. The doctor was sent for post-haste, and mustard plasters applied to his feet and hands. When the doctor came, felt his pulse, and examined him, and found that he was drunk, he said:

"He will be all right in the morning."

But the wife insisted that he was very ill, and severe remedies must be used.

"You must shave his head and apply blisters," she urged, "or I shall send for some one who will."

His head was accordingly shaved closely and blisters applied. All night he lay in a drunken sleep, and notwithstanding the blisters were eating into the flesh, it was not till near morning he began to beat about, disturbed by pain.

About daylight he awoke to a most uncomfortable consciousness of blistered agonies.

"What does this mean?" he said, putting his hands to his bandaged head.

"Lie still—you mustn't stir," said the wife, "you have been very ill."

"I'm not ill."

"O yes, you are; you have brain fever. We have worked hard with you all night."

"I should think you had," groaned the poor victim. "What is the matter with my feet?"

"They are blistered."

"But I'm better now; take off the blisters, do," he pleaded piteously.

He was in a most uncomfortable state—his head covered with sores, and his hands and feet still worse.

"My dear," he said, groaning, "if I should ever get sick in this way again do not be alarmed or send for the doctor; and above all, don't [illegible] me again."

"O! indeed I will; all that [illegible] you were the blisters, and if you should have another spell I should be more frightened than ever, for the tendency, I am sure, is to apoplexy, and from the next attack you would be likely to die, unless there were the severest measures used."

He made no further defense; suffice it to say he never had another attack.—Ram's Horn.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

The Folly and Fallacy of License by a Well-Known Author.

The fallacy of licensing is one of the most stupendous evils and political blunders of our country.

A combination of interests, a long line of duties, a variety of opinions and adjustments of differences, make up our civilization. In the adjustments of these interests and security of personal rights none are more important than, and none so detrimental to the general welfare of the people, as the crime involved in the liquor traffic, especially the terrible criminality of a license for its justification.

Treating the liquor traffic with respect and toleration is an outrageous perversion of law and justice, and stands out as the most heinous and wicked blunder of our times.

This toleration and sanction of the sale of an insidious, fascinating poison to curse the people—a poison that inflames the passions, bloats the body, disturbs all its functions and dements the brain, besides impoverishing and pauperizing the people, inciting to crime, filling the prisons and jeopardizing every department of civilization, this colossal evil, sanctioned by the bribe of money, by a civilized community, is among the marvels of modern depravity, and shows how low, blunted and debased may become the public conscience through the indulgence of selfish appetites and degraded passions.

The people have got to learn the fallacy of these criminal blunders; and their criminal silence, in their treacherous toleration of this monster curse, includes a full complicity in all that follows.

To have any peace or security for our homes and property, this monster enemy must be crushed out with all the zeal and determination of an exasperated people. There must be no toleration, no concession, no tampering, no compromise. Only the most earnest condemnation of conscientious voters, crystallized into determined action that will permit no defeat, and a confirmed conviction that national prohibition is the only remedy for this scourge of our country will be of any avail.

Prohibition of the liquor must be so aggressive and so complete that the selling of alcoholic beverages will become the most aggravated offense, and the saloon effectually banished beyond the pale of our civilization, as a public nuisance.—W. J. Demorest, in The Voice.

FACTS AND FINDINGS.

CANADA does not allow a liquor dealer or saloon keeper to hold a municipal office.

NO LIQUOR is sold in that paradise of the poor, the People's palace, east end, London.—Temperance.

IT seems that in England, as well as in America, the brewers control the saloons. Of the 2,000 licensed houses in Liverpool all except 200 are in the hands of brewers.

THE Wisconsin legislature has been appealed to by the brewers to repeal the town option law and to force no-license towns to grant liquor licenses to any druggist who may apply for them.

IN New York last year 1,434 husbands procured divorces from their wives on the ground of drunkenness. During the same year 12,432 wives procured divorces from their husbands on the same charge.

IN Ireland the number of arrests for drunkenness steadily increases. In 1887, there were 79,000 arrests for that cause; in 1888, the number reaches 87,000, and in 1889, climbs up to 92,000.—W. C. T. U. Bulletin.

THE physician, of all others, should be the last one to use spirits in moderation or excess. The use of alcohol as a beverage, is direct evidence of ignorance of the teachings of modern science, and failure to keep up with the growth of medical advance.

WHAT does it profit a man to send his children to school, accumulate property, build big barns, etc., for his children, if his son is to go to ruin through the grogshop and his daughter preside over a drunkard's hovel? Yet no man's son or daughter is safe while open saloons abound. Let us save our children.

The Harm It Did.

"I have drunk whisky every day for thirty-five years," remarked a gentleman of sixty, rather proudly, "and I don't see but I have as good a constitution as the average man of my age; I never was drunk in my life." He was telling the truth; but to learn the whole truth you would have to study his children. The oldest a young lady, had perfect health; the second, a young man, was of a remarkably nervous and excitable temperament, as different from his phlegmatic father as possible; the third, a young lady of seventeen, was epileptic and always had very poor health. Did the father's whisky drinking have anything to do with the facts? The instance may be duplicated in almost every community. Think over the families of your acquaintance in which the father has long been a moderate drinker, and observe the facts as to the health of the children.—Ram's Horn.

What a Drunkard Left.

A dying inebriate in Oswego, N. Y., left his "last will and testament." "I leave to society a ruined character, a wretched example and a memory that will rot. I leave to my parents as much sorrow as they can in their feeble state bear. I leave to my brothers and sisters as much shame and mortification as I could bring on them. I leave to my wife a broken heart—a life of shame. I leave to each of my children poverty, ignorance, a low character and a remembrance that their father filled a drunkard's grave. For drunkards to read when they have time."—Texas White Ribbon.

Too Much for Pap.

Six-year-old Ted has been looking out of the window at a passing funeral, and his little face was a grave bit of an interrogation point.

"Papa, how does they go to Heaven?"

Papa thought a minute, then said: "O like a little bird sometimes, dear."

"A little chicken-bird, papa?"

"Yes," answered papa, rather amused.

Then Ted fell into a deep revery, his little face puckered into wrinkles.

By and by he looked up and said: "Then will mamma go up like a hen, papa?"—Ladies' Home Journal.

HEART FAILURE.

Alarming Increase of This Terrible Nerve Disease.

Weak Heart, Shattered Nerves and Nervous Prostration the Trouble With Thousands.

Failure or weakness of heart action is very prevalent.

It is a most serious and dangerous condition to be in.

The first symptoms may be very slight and apparently trivial.

But do not fail to heed them if you value your life.

The Warnings Are Plain and Unmistakable.

Nervousness and Weakness,
Irregular or Intermittent Pulse,
Giddiness, Swimming of the Head,
Strange, Faint Feelings, Trembling,
Short Breath, Sinking Sensation,
Coldness or Swelling of Feet and Legs,
Fluttering or Palpitation in Left Side of the Chest,
Feeling of Apprehension or Anxiety as of Impending Danger,
Drowsiness Daytimes, Sleeplessness at Night.

A little over exertion, excitement or emotion may bring on the attacks at any time. Sudden rising from a stooping or reclining position will cause dizziness, and rapidly climbing stairs will make the heart palpitate, produce weariness and shortness of breath. In some cases there are pains in the region of the heart, but in most cases there is no pain whatever.

Neglect of these symptoms will result in Heart Failure, Spasms or Neuralgia of the Heart or Death.

Functional heart disease—that is from failure of nerve power of the heart—is curable if you use Dr. Greene's Nervura. Indeed, this wonderful remedy for heart, brain and nerve should be used in all cases. Used when the first symptoms show themselves, it will prevent all danger of heart failure. It is purely vegetable and harmless, and its use offers the only sure hope of curing these terrible diseases and averting the fatal results. It is, we unhesitatingly affirm, a remedy of so great merit and marvelous virtues that no sufferer should neglect to use it, if a safe and sure cure is desired. It is for sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

No Other Remedy in the World Ever Had Such a Testimonial.

For the benefit of those who may be suffering and fail to find relief I desire to state my case. For over a year I suffered from a HEART DISEASE, a constant pain, with severe attacks of palpitation, until I anticipated a sudden death at any time. I became weak and debilitated, with a loss of energy, despondency, etc. Hearing Dr. Greene's lecture, he so faithfully described my condition that I determined to try Dr. Greene's Nervura. My improvement has been continuous and rapid. I have used five bottles, and the pain and palpitation are gone. I sleep well, have an excellent appetite and feel well.

S. A. DEYSART,
Mortondale, York Co., N. B.

Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth St., New York, its discoverer, is the famous specialist in the cure of nervous and chronic diseases. The doctor has devoted special attention to the treatment of all forms of chronic diseases through letter correspondence, and will give by mail his opinion and advice in any case free of charge. The perfection of this system renders a complete cure almost assured, as his success in treatment by correspondence is wonderful and unequalled.

N. B. Send for symptom blank to fill out, or write Dr. Greene about your case, and a carefully considered letter, fully explaining your disease and giving you a perfect understanding of all its symptoms will be returned, free of charge.

Lost Health Restored.

Starkey, Yates Co., N. Y., June, 1890.

I was suffering from general debility for seven months, had eight doctors treat me, took all sorts of medicines, slept hardly more than one hour, nights, sweat a good deal, got so weak that it seemed the last of my life, my heart troubled me so that I couldn't roll up for a walk. After I took the second bottle of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic my appetite returned, slept nearly all night, the sweats and heart trouble disappeared, and now am happy to say that I can work again and enjoy good health.

MRS. P. MALLEY.

Our Pamphlet for sufferers of nervous diseases will be sent free to any address, and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge from us.

This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., for the past ten years, and is now prepared under his direction by the

DUEL WITH RAPIERS

Chicago the Scene of an Affair of Honor.

AN AUSTRIAN BARON WOUNDED.

He Became Infatuated With a Pretty Young Actress.

A Young Southerner Was His Rival and They Had a Quarrel—They Arranged to Meet in Jackson Park at Daybreak—Some Sharp Fighting in Which the Nobleman Fared Badly.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Chicago was the scene of a genuine romance early in the morning with all the essential features—a wealthy nobleman, a beautiful woman, a duel and a mystery.

Baron Rudolf Kalnoky de Korespataka, a nephew of Count Kalnoky, of Vienna, arrived here a month ago, registering at the Richelieu merely as "Rudolph Kalnoky," of New York. While in America he became infatuated with Miss Millie Atherton, a member of the Duff Company. She led the Baron a doleful life both here and in other cities to which he followed her. She constantly kept before him that she could never become his wife, as her heart was already given to one for whose sake she would shortly end her stage life. Kalnoky finally became convinced of the truth of this and remained behind when the company left Chicago.

Ten days ago, however, he made a flying trip to Louisville in one last effort to conquer the pretty actress. While there he seems to have met one of his numerous rivals, though not the successful one. Saturday morning he returned to the Richelieu, having given up his original idea of following Miss Atherton from Louisville to Pittsburg. That same night the man whom he had encountered in the South dined with him at the Richelieu restaurant, the two seeming to take a morbid interest in together drowning their mutual sorrows. A too free indulgence in the wine ended in a quarrel in which the stranger was knocked down.

Kalnoky claimed he insulted Miss Atherton and asked Mr. Carlson, of the Richelieu to act as his second in the event of the stranger demanding a meeting. Carlson declined to act in this capacity, and when an hour afterward a friend of the Southerner appeared with a note demanding a meeting, Kalnoky at once accepted in a note which he sent to a friend then stopping at the Richelieu, and to whom the Southerner's second was referred.

Rapiers Selected.

The Baron was informed that all the details had been arranged, and that the meeting would take place at Jackson Park at daybreak. The weapons selected were rapiers.

At 4 a. m. the Baron entered a waiting carriage and was immediately joined by his second. On arrival at Jackson Park they found the opposite party.

The Baron Wounded.

At 10 minutes past 6 the adversaries were facing each other, sword in hand and bared to their shirts. A moment later the word was given, and like a flash the Southerner commenced. After some sharp fighting, the Southerner succeeded in inflicting a slight wound in the right leg of the Baron. A little later the Baron made a clever lunge, which pricked the skin on the right shoulder of his adversary. The latter, however, parried admirably, and at this moment, to the horror of the seconds, the Baron appeared to slip and literally to fall on the point of his adversary's sword, which entered his neck. A stream of blood gushed from the wound. The seconds at once stopped the combat. Baron Kalnoky was assisted to an adjoining knoll and his wound hastily dressed.

Kalnoky is supposed to be at the residence of a Hyde Park physician, who attended the duel in the capacity of medical attendant.

The Southern gentleman left the city on the Cincinnati train of the "Big Four" at 9:30 a. m.

BATTLE WITH HUNS.

In a Drunken Row One of Their Number Is Fatally Injured.

PLYMOUTH, Pa., May 25.—A terrible fight occurred last evening on the river bank, opposite this town. Six Hungarians from Ashley visited here this afternoon and drank very freely. Shortly after 6 o'clock they hired two boatmen to take them across the river toward their home.

On the way over the intoxicated Huns in one of the boats became restless and upset it. All were precipitated into the river. They were rescued by the occupants of the other boat.

When the boatmen demanded their pay the Huns set upon them. Their cries attracted the attention of a crowd of young men on the Plymouth side, who rowed to their rescue.

They thrashed the Hungarians, four of whom fled to the woods, but the others made a stubborn fight and were seriously hurt.

One of them is suffering from a severely fractured skull and has not recovered consciousness. It is feared that he will die. The other man sustained several knife wounds. No arrests have as yet been made.

Dr. Heber Newton Explains His Position.

NEW YORK, May 25.—In his sermon at All Souls' Church yesterday the Rev. Dr. R. Heber Newton carefully explained the theological opinions held by him which have attracted attention throughout the whole Christian world, and which will soon be made the subject of a church inquiry. Dr. Newton based his belief on the Nicene Creed, and opposed the thirty-nine articles of the Church and the Westminster Confession of Faith.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

LORD SALISBURY'S DELAY.

President Harrison Displeased With the English Premier's Tactics.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The President and his Cabinet officers are not a little put out by the failure of Lord Salisbury to reply to Secretary Blaine's proposition that both governments permit a limited catch of seals in Alaskan waters during the present season.

A gentlemen who called upon the President said that he expressed himself very much displeased with the manner in which the Premier had treated our Secretary's proposition, and he intimated that unless a response were received soon this government would take the bull by the horns, and, regardless of what England might think, issue very vigorous orders to the commanders of American revenue cutters.

It was over a month ago that Secretary Blaine's proposition was transmitted to Lord Salisbury, and, so far as can be ascertained, neither is a reply on its way nor has it even been prepared. The alacrity with which Great Britain's chief diplomatic officer accepted the suggestion that this year there should be no slaughter of fur-bearing animals in Behring Sea, and the way in which he now ignores what this government regards as a just request, have excited much comment here in administration circles.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—It is reported that orders relative to the Behring Sea sealing industry have been received from Washington by Collector Phelps. The orders are to be delivered to the commander of the revenue cutter Rush and are not to be opened until the vessel is at sea.

TWO DEATHS TO ANSWER FOR

A Woman Accused of Killing Both Her Husbands.

AUGUSTA, Me., May 25.—Five years after the commission of the crime a woman in this county is about to be accused in court of poisoning her first husband in order that she might marry a second, who himself recently died under suspicious circumstances. The first husband discovered in 1886 that his wife was unfaithful to him and he ejected her paramour from the house.

The following week the husband died and arsenic was found in his stomach. After his death the woman married the man who caused the trouble. Recently this man, who, it is alleged, had considerable power over the woman, was burned to death in bed under suspicious circumstances.

Detectives have been at work on the first case some time and claim to have discovered evidence that will fasten the crime on the woman.

STANFORD FOR PRESIDENT.

The Leaders of the People's Party Say He Will Head Their Movement.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The leaders of the third-party movement here profess to have direct assurances that Senator Stanford, of California, is ready to put himself at the head of their movement with all that is therein implied, and that he will be the standard bearer of the "Alliance" or "People's Party" in 1892.

Some of the Alliance leaders claim to be authorized to make public the alleged fact that Senator Stanford considers he holds his great fortune simply as "steward for the people."

Memorial Services in an Old Church.

HINGHAM, Mass., May 25.—Humphrey Post 104, G. A. R., held memorial services last night in the meeting house of the first parish, erected in 1681, and the oldest church in the United States in which religious services have been continually held. Rev. John F. Lindsay, rector of St. Paul's Church, Boston, and formerly a soldier in the Confederate army, was the orator of the occasion.

Cycling Trip Across the Continent.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., May 25.—Allen W. Swan, a resident of Rochester and a member of the New Bedford Cycle Club, has started from this city on a cycling trip across the continent. He will go via Philadelphia, Gettysburg, Wheeling, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Salt Lake, Leadville and Colorado Springs. He expects to be but very little over 100 days on his trip out.

General Butler Will Fight.

BOSTON, May 25.—General Benjamin F. Butler will probably to-morrow file a petition in the United States District Court for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Clarietta Johnson, now confined in the Woman's Reformatory. Judge Nelson has consented to give him a hearing this week.

All the Ball Players Arrested.

CINCINNATI, May 25.—An attempt was made by the Cincinnatis and Athletics to play a game of ball yesterday afternoon on the Association Grounds, but police interference put a stop to it at the end of the first inning. All the players were arrested. There was a large crowd in attendance.

A Quarter Million Gone.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 25.—C. W. Scranton, of the defunct bank of Bunnell & Scranton, which closed its doors May 16, has at last vouchsafed an opinion to the anxious depositors and creditors as to the condition of affairs. He says the liabilities will reach $400,000.

IN CUSTODY AT SEA

Philadelphia's Fugitive Bank President a Prisoner.

HE WAS BOUND FOR BRAZIL.

A United States Marshal and Two Detectives on the Same Ship.

They Will Probably be Landed at the Nearest American Port — Detectives Guarding Treasurer Bardsley at His Home in Germantown—Too Ill to be Removed—Astounding Exposures Expected.

NORFOLK, Va., May 25.—Marsh, the absconding president of the Philadelphia bank, is undoubtedly a prisoner on the Brazilian mail steamship which left here yesterday. Just as the vessel left the United States Marshal with two detectives reached the dock. They were barely in time, but managed to scramble on board and have gone to sea with the fugitive.

There is intense interest here as to the outcome. If the marshal asserts his authority the captain of the vessel must set his detectives and Marsh ashore. This will probably be done at some point outside the capes, and the next known of the quartet will be their arrival at some city still further south.

It may be that the party may be carried as far as Florida, but it is not thought the captain of the Brazilian vessel will refuse to obey the marshal's order to land them at the nearest American port.

BARDSLEY A PRISONER.

The Arrest of Philadelphia's City Treasurer May Bring Out Exposures.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—The great climax has come in the bank failure sensation and the matter of the accounts of John Bardsley, city treasurer, and holder of almost $1,000,000 of money belonging to the State.

Bardsley has been arrested, and is now watched by two detectives in his elegant residence at Germantown. He is too ill to be taken to court or prison, but it is expected that he will be arraigned to-morrow.

The warrant was issued by Mayor Stuart, when he learned that the records of the city treasurer's office are irregular, that his books are crooked, and that there are gross discrepancies in his bank accounts, and that the experts appointed by Mayor Stuart have already discovered a condition of affairs which indicates that the recent revelations are merely the beginning of a series of still more astounding exposures.

"There will be some big corpses lying about this city," said one of the persons who is interested in an official capacity in the investigation, "and if John Bardsley will tell the truth there will be an exodus to South America or some interesting additions to the penitentiary population. Philadelphia will furnish a sensation for the whole country."

Mrs. Bardsley, who is almost wild over the whole affair, has promised Mayor Stuart that she will use all her power to make her husband tell everything he knows in relation to the defunct banks, and the city officials are hoping that ere long they will get to the bottom of what even the bank officials admit is one of the most rotten concerns in the country.

LOOKED LIKE THE ITATA.

Sheered Off to Avoid Being Spoken by a Coasting Steamer.

CITY OF MEXICO, via Galveston, May 25.—It is reported from Central America that a steamer resembling the Itata was seen last Wednesday by a coasting steamer, which attempted to approach her. The vessel was running south, about 30 miles off shore, and sheered off to avoid being spoken.

The captain of the Esmeralda indignantly denies the reports that he is short of funds, and to disprove the statements exhibited to a newspaper representative letters of credit and cash aggregating upwards of $50,000.

No reinforcements have been sent to Acapulco, the Mexican government regarding the garrison there as amply able to prevent the Esmeralda from forcibly coaling or otherwise defying the port regulations. It is not feared that the Esmeralda will attempt anything of the kind.

The National Regatta.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Sporting men in Washington believe that the national regatta on the Potomac in August will be the greatest of its kind ever held in America. In support of this belief they point to the fact that Secretary Gibson has already received more letters asking for information than ever before since he filled the office.

Italians Quit New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—Eighty Italians returned home yesterday, and it is probably the beginning of an exodus of dissatisfied or frightened Italians. All but three were steerage passengers. One of those in the cabin was a relative of Geracci, killed in the prison.

YOUNG RAUM'S CASE.

The District-Attorney to Begin Proceedings Against Him at Once.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Attorney-General Miller placed in the hands of District-Attorney Cole the documents having to do with the charge that Green B. Raum, jr., had a man appointed to a Pension Bureau office in return for financial favors. Mr. Cole later had an interview with the Attorney-General, and it is understood to have been decided that proceedings against young Raum should speedily be begun. Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt, in commenting on the Attorney-General's move, said:

"We felt very sure that the testimony made out a prima facie case against the four men—Raum, Straun, Johnson and Smith—and that it was our clear duty to promptly report it, not only to the heads of departments in which the men were serving, but also to the Attorney-General for such action as he might see fit to take. The misconduct these men are alleged to be guilty is of so serious a character that we could do no less. Incidentally the whole affair shows the immense benefit conferred by the civil service law in doing away with the possibility of the sale of offices; it must be remembered that the gross offence alleged was in reference to the obtaining of a place in the unclassified service. Such an occurrence is not only always possible, but is always probable under the spoils system. It is impossible under ours."

THE BRIGGS CASE.

It Will Probably Come Before the Presbyterian Assembly To-Morrow.

DETROIT, May 25.—Look out for the Briggs debate. Every preparation is being made for a great struggle. The Briggs men are working with might and main to stem the tide of opposition against the Union Seminary professors. The hotel corridors are filled with clergymen earnestly advocating the cause they espouse. What the Briggs contingent wants is an able leader, and they are trying hard to find one.

The Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson, of Chicago, is here and sympathizes with Dr. Briggs, but he can take no part in the debate for he is not a commissioner. He is doing yeoman's service for the Briggs party. The Rev. Henry M. Field, D. D., of the New York Evangelist, is also on the ground and working hard on the same side, but he can have no vote on the question. Prof. Henry Preserve Smith, of Cincinnati, is about the only commissioner of prominence who sides with the Briggsites. He will certainly be heard from in the great debate.

THE RUBBER TROUBLES.

The Liabilities of the Star Company Estimated at $350,000.

TRENTON, N. J., May 25.—The Star Rubber Company's troubles excite much comment in business circles in this city. The liabilities as estimated are $350,000. Mortgages aggregating $250,000 will be given to protect the banks and indorsers of the company's paper.

The company has doubt, it is said, of being able to pull through. The creditors will probably to-day ask for the appointment of a receiver.

It is claimed by some that the company's assets will reach nearly as much as the liabilities, and that the company will be able to pay dollar for dollar.

Jonathan Stewart, the president, states that a receiver will be asked for to-day.

It is said that the Chemical Bank of New York has $30,000 of the company's paper and the Bank of America a smaller sum.

Died from a Snake's Bite.

BELVIDERE, N. J., May 25.—Fred Dufford, a well known stonemason of Quakertown, Pa., is lying at the point of death from the bite of a copperhead snake. Dufford was riding along the road and seeing the reptile sunning itself got out of the wagon to charm it. He claims to possess peculiar powers in this direction, but while attempting to manipulate the snake it suddenly threw out its fangs and fastened them in his arm. The snake could hardly be shaken loose. The man was at once attacked with spasms. The snake was subsequently killed and was found to measure three feet in length.

Mother and Child Drowned.

WINCHENDON, Mass., May 25.—Mrs. A. L. Scott and her one-year-old child were drowned near Glen Allen Mill. The woman, who was 30 years old, was out rowing with her husband when their boat capsized and the occupants were thrown into the water. Mr. Scott made desperate efforts to save his wife and child and only desisted when almost exhausted. The bodies have been recovered.

Train Robbers Captured.

OKLAHOMA CITY, O. T., May 25.—The Dalton brothers and the gang that robbed the Santa Fe passenger train at Wharton station, after being chased for two weeks, have been captured in the Sac and Fox reservation, 60 miles east of here, after a 19 hour fight by United States Deputy Marshals, aided by a detachment of the Fifth calvary.

Alexander McKibben Commits Suicide.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 25.—Alexander McKibben, who committed suicide in Denver, was well known in this city and comes from an old and respected family. His brother, Col. Chambers McKibben, is a member of Gov. Pattison's staff and is secretary of the Duquesne Club, the swell club of Pittsburg.

Reformed Presbyterian Church Synod.

PITTSBURG, May 25.—One of the most important meetings in the history of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of North America will begin in this city on Wednesday. The coming synod, instead of being called on to decide the cases of a dozen preachers charged with holding diverse courses, it will have at least twenty-five cases of this kind brought before it. What will make the meeting especially interesting is the fact that the dissenting young men will do their fighting on the ground that covenanters are permitted to vote on constitutional amendments, such as the prohibition issue.

PARNELL WILL STAY

If Deposed as Leader He Will Battle in the Ranks.

HE CONDEMNS THE SECEDERS

Willing to Step Aside if Gladstone Will Guarantee Home Rule.

Lord Romilly and Two Servants Perish in a Fire—The Government of Spain Alarmed—A French Officer Arrested for High Treason—Two Steamers Sunk in the Mersey—Four Persons Drowned.

DUBLIN, May 25.—Mr. Parnell went to Newcastle West and Limerick yesterday and was warmly received.

In Limerick he referred to the Boulogne negotiations, reminding his hearers that if Mr. O'Brien had then obtained the home rule assurances from Mr. Gladstone that he sought for, he, Mr. Parnell, would have been enabled to retire from public life, and he would renew the offer he then made.

If driven from the leadership of the Irish nation at the general election, he would still persevere, as a private citizen, to struggle, independently of all oppositions, for perfect freedom in Irish politics.

In Newcastle West he addressed 1,000 people, and dwelt on the Land bill, especially the clause limiting purchase to holdings of $50 valuation.

He condemned the seceders who opposed this clause, and declared that he himself would have been proud had he obtained this boon for Irish farmers, even from the Tory government.

LORD ROMILLY'S FATE.

With Two Servants He Perishes in a Midnight Fire.

LONDON, May 25.—A tragical fire occurred here about midnight. Lord William Romilly was in his drawing-room at his London town house, No. 2 Ovington Gardens, S. W., when he accidentally upset a paraffine lamp, causing a blaze which set fire to the apartment.

Lord Romilly attempted in vain to extinguish the flames, which spread, causing a suffocating smoke. His lordship was overcome by the smoke, and sank senseless to the floor.

The butler, smelling the smoke, rushed to the drawing-room. There he found Lord Romilly helpless. He at once pulled his lordship out of the room, and by his cries aroused the other servants.

An alarm of fire was given, and engines hurried to the scene and soon extinguished the flames. The firemen, entering the house, found two of the servants, Blanche Griffs, the housemaid, and Emma Lovell, the cook, both senseless.

A great crowd surrounded the house and the excitement was intense. Lord Romilly was removed to St. George's Hospital, but all attempts to bring him to life failed. Both the servants named were already dead when carried to the hospital.

Lord William Romilly was descended from the great jurisconsult, Sir Samuel Romilly. His father was also an eminent lawyer. He was himself born in 1833. He leaves a widow, Lady Helen (Denison) Romily, and a son by a former wife, John Gaspard Romily, born in 1866.

TROUBLE IN SPAIN.

The Government Alarmed Over the Strength of the Republican Movement.

MADRID, May 25.—The government is gravely alarmed over the growing strength of the Republican movement in Spain. Since their victories in the municipal elections, the Republicans have begun to recover from the depression into which they were cast by the overwhelming triumph of the Royalists in the early part of the year, and they are both resolute and demonstrative in asserting their opposition to monarchysm.

In Madrid, where the Republicans scored a remarkable success, the newspapers of the party are outspoken in calling for reform and retrenchment in the national and local administration, while there is no concealment of sympathy with the Republican struggle in Portugal. The tour of President Carnot is also commented on as showing the stability and security of Republican institutions in France.

THE POPE INTERFERES.

He Requests Cardinal Gibbons to Do Something About the Lynching Affair.

PARIS, May 23.—A dispatch to the Figaro from Rome says the Pope has written to Cardinal Gibbons asking the latter to furnish him with details as to the New Orleans dispute, and as to its effect upon the position of Italians.

His Holiness, according to this dispatch, has also requested Cardinal Gibbons to do his utmost to obtain an equitable solution of the questions which have been raised by the New Orleans lynchings.

Arrested for High Treason.

PARIS, May 25.—Emile Tripone, a French artillery officer, has been arrested on a charge of high treason in being an agent of the Armstrongs, the British gun manufacturers. Turpin, the inventor of melinite, has published a pamphlet charging Tripone with stealing and selling the secret of the manufacture to the Armstrongs.

Found Guilty of Poisoning.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., May 25.—The coroner's jury found Anna Murray guilty of poisoning Theodore Hunter at Crown Point. The woman was taken to Elizabethtown jail.

They Hold Davis' Paper.

BOSTON, May 25.—It is said that the four Salem banks interested in the Davis failure hold $140,000 of his paper. Banks in Lynn are said to have held $120,000 more.

SEATS IN THE SENATE.

The National Lawmakers Selecting Their Positions for the Next Session.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—There has been considerable changing around of seats in the Senate chamber. Senator Colquitt, of Georgia, has pre-empted Senator Joe Brown's seat right in the front row of the Democratic side and next to the main aisle. Mr. Carlisle goes down to Reagan's place—the old Beck seat—in the second row facing the Vice-President. Mr. Brice gets Colquitt's old seat in the rear row of the Democratic side, and Hill gets the next one to that—Hampton's. Gordon, of Georgia, will occupy Bate's former place, and the Tennessean will move around to the one to be vacated by Faulkner, of West Virginia. The new Senator from Louisiana, Mr. White, who succeeds Mr. Eustis, will sit where Mr. Payne, of Ohio, had a desk, and Mr. Palmer, of Illinois, will be a close neighbor of Mr. Barbour on the outside row.

On the Republican side the shifting has been just as marked.

Washburne succeeds Ignalls, and Quay will sit where Mr. Evarts used to do his talking. Walcott goes down from a back seat to the place vacated by Mr. Spooner, and Senator Dixon of Rhode Island will occupy the chair soon to be vacated by Senator Edmunds. The Kansas statesman, Peffer, has been awarded an extreme right-hand corner seat, lately occupied by Senator Allen.

NEW DISEASE AMONG SHEEP.

Imported from the West and Fatal to One Farmer's Flock.

KORTRIGHT, N. Y., May 25.—A singular and most fatal disease has broken out in the large flocks of sheep owned by De Witt Sharp, of this place, who, puzzled to account for the deaths of the animals, communicated with the State authorities. A thorough investigation and examination of the sheep decided the State Inspector, Mr. Quigly, to adopt drastic measures, and all which had been with those that had died, numbering about 200, were at once killed and their bodies burned.

It was found that the animals had died from worms which had preyed on the liver and other organs, and their existence is traced back to certain parasites, generally flies, which lay eggs on the grass eaten by the sheep. It is believed that the disease has been imported from the West, as a number of sheep were brought from there a few months ago by Mr. Sharp, and until then it was totally unknown here.

Rev. Dr. Bridgman an Episcopalian.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The Rev. Dr. Charles De W. Bridgman, who resigned from the pastorate of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church on account of theologic views which he held, not consistent with the doctrinal tenets of that denomination, was confirmed by Bishop Henry C. Potter yesterday afternoon in this city as a communicant of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Also his wife, son and daughter, together with his friend and old parishioner, Dr. Alfred L. Loomis, the noted physician, were confirmed.

Stabbed His Wife and Fled.

RIO GRAND CITY, Tex., May 25.—Derato Medina killed his wife yesterday and escaped to Mexico. He swam the river amid a shower of bullets. Medina walked into the house and found his wife arranging a basket of flowers, and he approached her, spoke to her lovingly and began to play with her hair, when suddenly he drew a dirk, reached over her right shoulder and stabbed her to the heart. She had two children and was a beautiful woman of the Spanish style.

The Boy Died of Exhaustion.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 25.—Dr. James McCann, at the West Penn Hospital, last evening, made the fourth attempt to remove a piece of clay pipe stem from the bronchial tube of David Williams, a 4-year-old boy. The lad had swallowed it a week ago. All efforts to grasp it with a probe, of which several kinds were used, proved futile, as it was impossible to secure a hold upon the hard substance. About two hours after the operation the boy died of exhaustion.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Ed. Moore, who kidnapped his young son on Thursday night at Watertown, N. Y., from his mother, has been captured.

The members of the New York and Brooklyn Coal Exchanges, on excursion this week, will be entertained by the coal men of Baltimore.

William Welch has started on a tramp from Chicago to New York to decide a wager of $500. He is to walk the 904 miles of his route in 19 days.

The International Telegraph District and Construction Company, of Baltimore, have admitted their insolvency and consented to the appointment of receivers.

An order has been issued from the Navy Department placing the Navy Yard at Norfolk, Va., under Civil Service rules and declaring all positions of foreman or master mechanics vacant on July 1.

The bill passed by the Massachusetts Legislature restricting the height of buildings to 125 feet has been signed by Governor Russell. The restriction applies to buildings in course of erection.

The faculty of Harvard College has made the annual award of fellowships and scholarships to the graduate school. The fellowships range in value from $150 to $750 and aggregate about $18,000.

The directors of the California Athletic Club decided to offer another purse of $7,500 to Jackson and Corbett for another "go" before the club. Each of the men was awarded $2,500 for their part in Thursday night's fight.

To take poison and die in the arms of her beloved was the romantic intention of Mrs. Agnes Robbins of New Haven, Conn., but it resulted in the poking of a yard of rubber hose into her stomach and a period of extreme nausea. She will live.

Two Brothers Drowned.

TROY, May 25.—Thomas and John Mason, brothers, while out in a row boat were capsized and drowned last evening.

THE DAILY PRESS.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The City Common Council will meet to-night.

—Peck is pushing out the goods now, and those that get them are happy.

—Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, of Elmwood place, who had a serious fall a few days ago, is once more able to be out.

—The First Baptist Sunday-school has decided to go to Belmar (Ocean Beach) on its annual excursion this summer.

—Plans for the Boys' Camp will be discussed at the meeting of the Young Men's Auxiliary, at the Y. M. C. A., to-night.

—In another column, $15 reward is offered to catch the persons who threw stones through the German church windows, on Craig place.

—Fred. E. Guerin, late prescription clerk at Kennedy's pharmacy, Jersey City, has removed to Plainfield and is now engaged at the Geib pharmacy.

—An organ concert will be given by the First Baptist Sunday-school June 9. The proceeds will be used to help pay for the new class-room addition to the church.

—Consecration meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. in the lecture room of the Trinity Reformed church to-night. An interesting service is anticipated. Visitors are always welcome.

—The virtuous and vigilant police force of the borough closed up the cottage photograph gallery yesterday, and those who wanted likenesses were compelled to wait till Sunday was over.

—The top of the tall water tower at Netherwood was visited by Mrs. Gisser and Mr. and Mrs. Myer, of Netherwood, yesterday, and also by John W. Murray, Jr., and James Martin, the fire chiefs. An American flag was planted at that dizzy height.

—The coming of Staff Captain Walsh, the reformed minstrel, to Plainfield, has been postponed on account of illness, but as soon as he has recovered Mr. Walsh will bring his banjo to the Salvation Army meetings here and play sacred tunes on the instrument at which he is so expert.

—The Unions of Grant avenue, defeated the Giants of the Pond Machine Tool Works at base-ball Saturday afternoon by the score of 5 to 2. The playing was remarkably close on both sides. The battery for the Unions were: Young and Taylor, and for the Giants: McComas and Foose. Walter Magee umpired the game.

—The Rev. R. Rhees, formerly of this city, but now of Portsmouth, Me., occupied the pulpit of the First Baptist church yesterday morning and preached a very able sermon from the text "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven"—Matthews v:16.

—The Unions of Grant avenue will play the Giants of the Pond Machine Tool Works a second game on Saturday, (Decoration Day,) in the morning at 10 o'clock, and the Morlile Athletic Club base-ball team in the afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Unions challenge any team in Plainfield whose members ages are not over 16. For games, address John Young, captain, 243 South Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

—The Juniors of the Pond Machine Tool Works played a game of base-ball with the St. Mary's Cadets, Saturday afternoon, on the Juniors grounds, corner of South Second street and Grant avenue, defeating them by a score of 29 to 15. The battery for the Juniors was Hickey and Foose, for the Cadets, Mack and Scott. Umpire—Walter McGue. If possible, the Juniors will play their next game wearing their new uniforms.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Messrs. Wm. Howatt and Wm. M. Tallman left this morning for Washington, D. C., on the Royal Blue Line.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore H. Hardy, of West Second street, spent the Sabbath with Mr. Hardy's parents at New Brunswick.

The Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut will deliver an address on "The True Aim of the Sunday-school", at the meeting of the Essex County Sunday-school Superintendent's Association in Newark this evening.

A feature of the Melopoia concert, tomorrow evening, will be the singing of E. N. Anderson's arrangement of "The Lost Chord," in which the local chorus will be assisted by members of the Rubinstein Club, of New York, who are all artists.

The Hon. Chauncey B. Ripley, of Westfield, drove to this city yesterday morning, and attended divine service at the Rev. Mr. Schenck's church. His stalwart form and dignified presence attracted considerable attention, and the after-service question was, "Who is he?"

That lamented scholar, the late Dr. Abraham Coles, of Scotch Plains, was the actual translator of every one of the remarkable versions of "Dies Irae" which he published, and in all sixteen most excellent renderings of that wonderful Latin poem were the production of his pen—which alone is a great literary work to be placed to the credit of one man.

PEOPLE CAN'T STAND THIS.

If the Crescents' Managers Don't Want to Kill Base-ball Altogether, They Must Wake up and 'Tend to Business.

A most uninteresting game of base-ball was that between the Plainfield Crescent League and the Greenpoint Athletics in North Plainfield Saturday afternoon. The spectators would have been better satisfied to see as the Crescents' opponents some local team of infants. It was quite evident that the Greenpoints were a job lot of fellows gathered together at random for the sole purpose of coming to Plainfield and getting the guarantee money of the management, not expecting to win, and not caring a continental about anything in the game out the profit there was in it. One or two of the men wearing the Greenpoint suits had probably been fair players at some remote period, but the entire aggregation was one of a very mediocre sort; there was no talent whatever. Bradley, who occupied the box for the visitors, admitted deprecatingly that he could neither pitch nor bat, and in frequent cheerful asides assured the grand stand people that he and his team were n't "in it". Some of the fielders were so poor that they could n't stop the ball even on a roll, and none of them could throw it in from any distance into the diamond. The catcher had n't strength enough to throw from the home plate to second, and the only strong feature of any player was the voice of the coacher, who bore evidence of having been an old-timer and who was so happy-go-lucky and said so many pat things that he kept good natured an audience that had every reason, early in the game, to get up and go home in disgust.

Against such a team the Crescents had no need to play ball. They merely toyed with the pigmies, but even without trying every man made a run in the third inning, and everybody was glad when the tame affair was over.

Since there was no brilliant playing there was no enthusiasm, and for lack of excitement the spectators nearly got the ague, sitting there watching the tiresomeness get more tiresome and the players get more wet and more muddy in the rain that kept showering down every two or three minutes. The only bright things were the occasional witticisms of the visitors' coacher, and even these were poor and dejected enough at times. When an audience can find nothing better to laugh at and applaud than the dubbing of Freddy Jones as "golden-rod" because he has put on umpire Berriman's gaudy yellow jacket to keep warm in, a game must be in a very bad way.

A detailed story of the game would be most tedious reading. The public will be more than satisfied to know the score:

Earned runs—Crescents, 4. First base on errors—Crescents, 4; Greenpoints, 1. Base on balls—Crescents, 6; Greenpoints, 3. Three base hits—Lufbery, Simmens. Two base hits—Lee, Malhall. Double play—Lufbery to McIndoe. Time of game, one hour and forty minutes. Umpire—Mr. Berriman.

The question naturally arises, Are games such as this to be foisted on the suffering Plainfield public all summer? Plainfield people like to see a good game—a close and exciting one—no matter which side beats. If the Crescents can't scrape up any team that they can beat only by tight playing, let them bring out some team that they can't beat at all. If the management of the League expect to draw the crowds and make the money they used to, they must give far better exhibitions in the field. The public does n't care nearly so much who wins as to see splendid playing on both sides. If Westfield, Rahway, and other little towns, can afford to play Bergen Point's New Jersey Athletics, why can't Plainfield? And why are n't games arranged against the Westfield Athletic Club, which has a most excellent team right here at Plainfield's very doors? If the Westfields can defeat the Bergen Points, who in turn have knocked the Somerville West Ends all to pieces, surely there is mettle in the Westfield team deserving of being met by that of the Crescent League. It is folly to scour the country for scrub teams. Another game or two of Saturday's sort, and there will have been driven away irrevocably from the grounds even the mere handful of people who have thus far consented to pay the high prices set by this year's managers. What further demonstration than the slim, beggarly attendances at the games that have already been played do the managers need to prove the fact which THE PRESS has reiterated so often, that the Plainfield public won't go so far out of its way as the new grounds seem to be, and pay an unnecessarily increased price? And if in addition to high prices, and grounds the location of which, and the getting to which, people do not take kindly, the majority of games played are to be of the miserable sort presented Saturday, base-ball will speedily be killed in Plainfield for all time. The game played on the open field on Park avenue, Saturday, when the Potter Press Works nine defeated the Plainfield Bicycle Club in a seven-inning contest by the score of 23 to 13, was a far better and more thoroughly enjoyable game than that between the Greenpoints and the Crescents. The Crescents are too superior a nine to be pitted against baby amateurs. What the Crescent managers need to do, if they want the old-time enthusiasm to be manifested, the grand stand and bleacheries to be crowded, and their cash-box full, is to cut down the price of admission to its former figure, substitute better clubs for those on the list to be played against, and give close and exciting exhibition contests. If the present sort of thing continue long, even the West End games won't bring out a corporal's guard. Saturday less than 200 people were present, and the bleacheries were bare and forlorn, when at a lower price they would have been comfortably filled. THE PRESS knows of a host of boys who would like to attend the games, but their prudent, economical mothers won't permit them to spend over 15 cents on a game, and their daddies won't spend more than that either, even on themselves. And that merry throng of handsome, gaily-dressed young women who used to fill the grand stand to overflowing and clap their dainty gloved hands at the multitude of brilliant plays, and go into ecstacies over the home team, and buoy the Crescents' hearts, in seemingly hopeless crises, with their smiles,—they are now here in sight: that extortion of an extra dime apiece has closed their purses, and the purses of their brothers and lovers and husbands.

If the Crescent management want hearty public support, they must come down off their perch.

And Yet the Crescents Won't Sign With Westfield!

The New Jersey Athletic Club were defeated Saturday, after winning seven consecutive games, by the Westfield Athletic Club. Below is the score:

Released in Time to Play the Game.

Jack Farrell, who covers second base for the West End base-ball team of Somerville, was arrested at Newark Friday night, on an old complaint, made by his wife, for breaking the windows of her home, No. 246 Clifton avenue. Farrell is under a decree of the Court of Chancery to cease molesting his wife, but in the present case the testimony given did not establish his guilt, and Justice Conlon discharged him Saturday in time for the game of the afternoon.

A VERY SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Four Inches of a Rusty Steel Rod Penetrate the Brain of Little Jennie Snedeker.

Shortly after noon, yesterday, A. H. Snedeker of West Fourth street, found his four-year-old daughter, Jennie Louise, lying under a tree near the house. Her head was bleeding profusely and she was screaming in an agony of pain.

Her father placed her in a carriage and she was immediately conveyed to the office of Dr. Paul on Park avenue. In his examination the doctor found the wound to be four inches in depth. The posterior temporal artery had been lacerated, the skull punctured, and the brain penetrated to the extent mentioned. It is a direct wound, and extends nearly through the entire right half of the brain.

Dr. Paul told THE PRESS reporter that punctured wounds are the most dangerous of all injuries. In the present case there is imminent danger of abscess, septicæmic infection, and tetanus, or lock-jaw. The scalp wound was enlarged, and small fragments of the skull were removed and an antiseptic dressing applied. This morning the child is resting quietly and is doing as well as can be expected with such a serious and generally fatal injury.

The unfortunate little girl it is supposed fell out of a tree and struck on her head, from the fact that the rusty iron had entered so far into the skull.

CLAIRVOYANT!

Mrs. Dr. EDWARDS,

Being in such great demand in Plainfield, she has consented to remain until next

Wednesday Morning, May 27,

As a favor to her many kind patrons. She will then leave for Easton, positively never to return to this city for business again, as she is compelled to go to Europe in August for a few months.

Mrs DR. EDWARDS,

Known in this country from Maine to Mexico. She was born with the wonderful gift of second sight, and with a veil. She is the seventh daughter of the seventh daughter. She reveals every mystery; tells you if the one you love is true or false. She removes every grief, settles lovers' troubles, and causes speedy love marriages. She gives reliable information to gentlemen in all business transactions, and informs them how to make profitable investments and acquire speedy riches. She tells lucky lottery numbers. She has an ORIENTAL TALISMAN, which is noted all the world over, as a specific charm for the unlucky. All who are in trouble or sick, should call without delay.

THE WHEELMENS ANNUAL MEET.

It Will Be a Bigger Event Than Even Last Year's at Plainfield.

With the memory of last year's meet at Plainfield still fresh in their minds, the wheelmen of the State are expecting great—even extraordinary—things, as the outcome of the promise the Elizabeth Wheelmen have made to make this year's meet the most enjoyable and successful ever held in New Jersey. The meet will begin at Elizabeth Friday, and will continue over Saturday. Plainfield will send a large delegation.

There have, in all, been seven annual meets in New Jersey. Three were held in Orange, one at Red Bank, one at Millville, and one at Plainfield. None of them were genuine successes excepting that of last year, at Plainfield, and that was such a pronounced success that the wheelmen of the State are nothing loth this year to get back once more to Union county. They got last summer merely a glance at the magnificent roads then in process of building, and it is no wonder they want to come back this year and take a spin over the whole system.

There were several causes for the comparative failure of former meets. In the first few years of the State Division's existence cycling was a limited pleasure. The sport has grown immensely since then, and there are now ten wheelmen where there was one. In the next place the meets were chiefly one-day affairs, necessarily conducted with economy, and marked by only such attractions as a few races, a short run and perhaps a luncheon—nothing to bring the wheelmen from distant sections of the State, no special accommodations for them, and no expenditure of money by the State Division.

Last year the division had more funds on hand, and decided to arrange the meet on a new plan, with new features and attractions. They spent between $600 and $700 in getting up something for the benefit of wheelmen, in which it was every man's privilege to participate. The new scheme acted like a charm and was the first decided success in the way of a State meet.

Following the same plan this year, the State Division has already expended about $1,000, and has promised the finest attractions yet offered to wheelmen in this State. Much of the money—possibly all of it—may come back into the division treasury, but the division has incurred the outlay for the sake of the members.

In the first place, the various wheelmen will, on their arrival in Elizabeth, be met at the station by a special committee of the Elizabeth Wheelmen, appointed for that purpose. Their wheels will be taken care of, and the cyclers will be made as heartily welcome as possible. The headquarters of the division, during the meet, will be at the Elizabeth Wheelmen's clubhouse, East Broad street, at which place all cycling visitors will be expected to register.

Friday, the 29th, will be a kind of preparatory and general business day. The division board of officers and the local consuls of this State will hold a meeting at the club-house at 5 p. m. There will doubtless be plenty of riding, if the day is clear, but nothing of consequence on that day.

In the evening, however, there will be an attraction of no small importance. This is the theatre party at the Temple Opera House, at which Nellie McHenry and her company will regale those present with Donnelley's farce comedy "A Night at the Circus". Nellie McHenry is one of the most vivacious actresses on the stage, and the play is said to be a succession of hearty laughs from the time the curtain rises till it falls.

On Saturday—Decoration Day—the meet will commence in earnest. It is expected that the incoming trains will be thronged with eager bicyclers from all parts of the State, with wheels of every description. At 9 a. m. the annual meeting of the State Division will be held at the Elizabeth Wheelmen's club-house. At this meeting, which many wheelmen skilfully shirk—though they should n't—the reports of officers will be read, committees and individuals will report the work accomplished, and matters requiring the action of the division will be brought up for adjudication. It will not be a long meeting, but one of interest and importance.

Immediately after the annual meeting, or at about 10 o'clock, the parade will be formed, and this will be an object of special interest to the citizens generally. Every club and every wheelman in the city is expected to join the line, for the route will be short. After the parade, which will come to a halt at Roselle, the division photograph of the parade will be taken, and a luncheon, tendered by the Elizabeth Wheelmen to their guests, will be served at Van Court Inn. It is expected that five hundred wheels or more will appear in the parade.

Next will come the runs over the magnificent county roads. The arrangements are for four of these runs. The first run will leave Van Court Inn at Roselle at 1 p. m., under command of First Lieutenant Bellinger, and will go to Plainfield, returning to Elizabeth via Westfield and Rahway. Distance, 25 miles.

The second run, under command of Second Lieutenant Calkins, will leave at 1:10, and will go to Westfield, to Rahway, to Elizabeth, to Union on the Springfield road, and return to Elizabeth. Distance, 22 miles.

The third run, under Captain F. C. Gilbert, will leave at 1:20, and go to Westfield, to Springfield, to Summit, to Elizabeth. Distance, 22 miles.

The fourth run, under Sergeant H. C. Williams, will leave at 1:30, and go to Elizabeth, to Springfield, to Milburn and return to Elizabeth. Distance, 18 miles. The pace will be moderate, 7½ to 8 miles an hour, so as to accommodate all. The officers will point out places and points of interest along the route. There are to be no races, as these runs, through a beautiful country, are deemed preferable to the great majority of wheelmen, inasmuch as it is more pleasant to ride than to see others ride.

The afternoon's runs will undoubtedly put the wheelmen in good trim to enjoy the banquet, which will be given at the armory at 5 p. m. The tickets to this are limited to 200 in number, and only L. A. W. members and invited guests will be admitted. Among the latter are ex-Gov. Green, Mayor Rankin, Senator Marsh, Hon. F. M. Voorhees, Frank Bergen, Wm. T. West, F. A. Dunham of Plainfield, who as Engineer of the fine new county roads will be one of the heroes of the day, Francis Collingwood, and a few others. Nearly all of these have accepted the invitation and will be present.

But these are not all the distinguished guests. A large number of officers of the National League have decided to be present this year at the New Jersey meet. All these dignitaries of the National and State Leagues will, it is expected, bring their wheels with them and join in the parade and the runs. Seldom have more of these officials ever decided to attend a division meet. A club from Middletown, N. Y., is coming down to take part in the days festivities, and a letter has been received from California asking for an official programme.

So in every way the meet gives promise of being a grand success. There are between forty and fifty clubs in the State, and undoubtedly every one will be represented. As hotel accommodations could not be had for so many guests in Elizabeth, arrangements were made for them in Roselle, Plainfield, Newark and Jersey City.

Among the officers of the division who will take prominent part are State Representative Townsend Bushmore, of Plainfield; and League Club Representative F. L. C. Martin, Captain of the Plainfield Bicycle Club.

Last of the Melopola's Concerts.

The final concert of the Plainfield Melopola will be rendered at The Casino to-morrow evening under the direction of W. R. Chapman. The soloists are to be Mme. Vogrich, soprano, Herr Andreas Dippel, tenor, Miss Inez Carusi, organ, and Messrs. Victor Harris and Louis Dressler, accompanists on the piano and harp, respectively. In addition to the chorus of trained local talent, twenty-five members of the Rubinstein Club of New York will participate.

This concert is expected to be the best and most successful given by the society. The programme will be as follows:

Daughters of the American Revolution.

A Chapter of this society is to be organized at Plainfield for the ladies entitled and resident in Union county, N. J.

The objects are to perpetuate the memory and the spirit of the men and women who achieved American Independence, by the acquisition and protection of historical spots and the erection of monuments, by the encouragement of historical research in relation to the Revolution and the publication of its results, by the preservation of documents and relics, and of the records of the individual services of Revolutionary soldiers, sailors and other patriots, and by the promotion of celebrations of all patriotic anniversaries.

Any woman may be eligible for membership who is of the age of eighteen years and who is descended from an ancestor who with unfailing loyalty rendered material aid to the cause of Independence as a recognized patriot, as soldier or sailor, or as a civil officer in one of the several colonies or States; or from the mother of such a patriot; provided that the applicant shall be acceptable to the society.

Information in detail will be furnished to ladies entitled to and desirous of joining this Chapter.

Here's a Good Nine to Play, Right at Home.

The Potter Press Works nine are anxious to play a game of base-ball against the Crescents. They have strong men on the nine, and have been getting down to good team work. Now that they have got warmed up, they think they can give Plainfield's pets a tussle.

Maybe it's warm, you're tired and thirsty. Knapp's Root Beer Extract makes root beer in five minutes.

Bring Out New York and Princeton.

First-class base-ball teams—teams that can come within an ace of snatching victory from the Crescents—can be procured for just as cheap guarantees as are now being paid to inferior clubs to come here. The Crescent managers will find it the part of wisdom and the road to profit to bring goods clubs every time, and to give the people an extra treat once in awhile in the shape of a game against some very renowned nine. THE PRESS would suggest that a game against Princeton College and another against New York would be big drawing cards to sandwich in among the more ordinary but still excellent games it and the people would like to see during the season. But above all other things, Messrs. Managers, put down the price!

Were the Plainfield Men Afraid?

(From To-day's World.)

The ten-men team pigeon match for $200 announced so be shot between members of the Perth Amboy and the South Plainfield Gun Clubs at Perth Amboy, Saturday, did not take place. The home club secured about six hundred pigeons for the contest, paying 60 cents a pair for them. There was great disappointment when at the hour for the shoot to open the Plainfielders had not arrived. The home team waited an hour, and as the Plainfield cracksmen failed to put in an appearance, sweepstake shooting was substituted. The home club's members declare that they will have nothing further to do with the South Plainfield Club.

The Lord's Prayer Said by Signs.

At the evening service of the Park Avenue Baptist church, yesterday, there was a large audience. Among those present was a son of the celebrated General Thomas of the late war. He is a deaf mute, highly educated. At the request of the Rev. Mr. Dilts, he recited in the sign language, very impressively, the Lord's Prayer. His wife, also a deaf mute, was present with him. Mr. Dilts preached a very earnest and interesting sermon on "Heresy". Mr. Moon favored the congregation with a solo, "Jerusalem", which was well received. The singing by the congregation was spirited, and a marked feature of the service.

Boys' Club Team Wins.

One of the finest games of ball anybody would wish to see, was played on Saturday afternoon between the "Young Richmonds" and the Boys' Club team, on the latter's grounds on Manning avenue. The features of the game were, the running catch of Winn, of the Boys' Club team, in the left field, and the catching of "liners" by Force, pitcher for the "Young Richmonds. Following is the score by innings:

Boys' Club.....0 0 2 2 0 0 0 3 *—7

Base hits—Boys' Club, 5; Young Richmonds, 4. Errors—Boys' Club, 6; Young Richmonds, 13. Umpire—John Perkins.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for six weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am nearly cured, and yet it seems tao good to be true. Have no doubt but that much of the sleeplessness people complain of is caused by indigestion.

Murderer Hallinger Writing a Book.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 25—Edward W. Hallinger, the condemned murderer, who is to be hanged here on June 30, has begun to write a book. He says it will be a history of his life. His object in writing it is to raise money for the support of his two children. He used to be a Baptist exhorter; afterwards he became a prize fighter.

Not Favorable to Dr. Brooks.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 25.—The standing committee of the Episcopal Diocese of Western New York has deferred consideration of the proposition to make Rev. Dr. Phillips Brooks Bishop of Massachusetts. This is equivalent to a vote in the negative, as the next meeting will not be held for three months.

The Strike Thoroughly Broken.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., May 25.—The coke strike is thoroughly broken, and reports indicate that 10,000 men went to work this morning. It is now probable W. J. Rainey and other independent companies, who have been paying the old wages, will force the cheaper Frick sliding scale on their men.

The Czarewitch's Visit to Siberia.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 25.—To celebrate the visit of the Czarewitch to Siberia, an imperial decree has been issued authorizing the Siberian Governors to remit two-thirds of the sentences and otherwise to ameliorate the condition of worthy convicts.

165 Italians Convicted.

ROME, May 25.—The result of the Mala Vita trial at Bari is that 14 have been acquitted, and 165 sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from six months to 15 years.

Conflict With the Portuguese.

LONDON, May 25.—The government confirms the statements as to the conflict between the British and Portuguese at Pungwe, but no details are given.

Four Persons Drowned.

LIVERPOOL, May 25.—The steamers Lestris and Mersey collided yesterday in the river Mersey and both sank, four people being drowned.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed.—Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

A cough is something which ought to be banished at once by using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

During the heated term the human system requires a gentle, cooling stimulant. What a blessing then to be able to make five gallons of a delicious temperance drink from a 25-cent package of Hires's Root Beer.

Swept Over a Falls and Drowned.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 25.—A terrible accident occurred on the Kettle River, near Sandstone last evening. A boat load of men were crossing the river at dark and ventured too near the Kettle Falls. The boat was caught in the rapids and whirled over the falls. Thomas Barnes of Chippewa Falls and Charles A. McGraw of Augusta, Me., both prominent lumbermen, and Swan Petersen were drowned. A boy named Whitesides and an unknown man are missing and are probably drowned.

A Challenge to Andy Bowen.

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—M. J. Mooney, instructor of sparring at the Missouri Gymnasium, this city, is out with a challenge to Andy Bowen for a finish fight for $1,000 and any purse that may be put up by any athletic club in the country. As an earnest Mooney has deposited $100 forfeit.

James C. Converse Dead.

GREENFIELD, Mass., May 23.—James C. Converse, of late years president of the National Tube Works at McKeesport, Pa., and formerly a prominent Boston, merchant, died yesterday aged 85 years.

An Old-Time Actor Dead.

OLEAN, N. Y., May 25.—J. H. Hughes, aged 86, an old time actor, better known to the profession as the Fakir of Avon, died at the Mansion House yesterday.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC.

Now, Hanner, 'tain't no use to tell what them newspapers say
About the storms and winds and floods that's comin' right away,
The cold waves that they harp about that's brewin' in the west,
An' movin' east 'bout just so fast. I hain't no confidence
In anything of that ere kind; it's the new-fangled way
Of runnin' things, as if the Lord He wouldn't hev' His say
About the weather any more. I ain't so tarnal green
As 't be tuk in by weather that's ground out of a machine!
An' I look where I'll find it straight for snow,
an' rain, an' hail,
In the good old Farmer's Almanac that hangs
there on the nail.

Them properbilities don't count; I want to know for sure
An' sartin when the winter'll come, the real sinson pure!
The kind of weather that we had so plenty in my day,
When sleighin' in November come, an' sometimes held till May!
In them times, Hanner, blizzards wuz a thing
we didn't know;
A snowstorm wuz a snowstorm, and a high wind wuz a blow;
An' when it cleared away we didn't harrer up our souls
A-worryin' about the storm that wuz hatchin' at the poles;
An' when we wanted weather news, 'bout which there wuz no fail,
We looked in the old almanac that hung there
on the nail.

We trusted some to signs, you know, as how the wild geese flew
A-goin' south, an' how the husks upon the field corn grew,
An' how the beavers built their dams, whether they's high or low,
An' if the breast bone of the goose wuz white,
look out for snow;
But when my mother wanted for to set a broody hen
She'd have to have the signs all right for a good hatch; an' when
My father wanted to find out if there'd be a rainy May,
So's he could raise his calves, an' know he'd have a crop of hay—
Why then they looked where weather calculations did not fail,
In the old Farmer's Almanac that hung there
on the nail.

The calendars may be all right for them as thinks 'em so,
But they don't tell the farmer when his grass is fit to mow.
I like to know about the time the new moon
will be here,
An' about the expected tantrums of the planets
through the year,
An' what time the 'clipses visible will be along this way,
An' if there'll be some thunder showers about camp-meetin' day.
I like to see the pictors that I've seen for many a year;
They bring me back to youth again—an' though some may think 'tis queer,
Them jokes in the last part is never old or flat or stale,
In the old Farmer's Almanac that hangs there
on the nail.

So, Hanner, 'tain't no use to try to beat it into me
That them "forecasts" in the newspapers that every day we see
Is of any sort of consequence; why, there hain't no kind of doubt
But what a man that undertakes to plan the weather out
Must know the heavenly bodies, an' conjunctions, just as I
Know all my cows an' horses, an' pigs that's in the sty!
He can't trust to them thermometers with fig
gers sot by rule,
Like the sums upon the blackboard when I went to desertict school.
An' when I want to know about the rain, an'
snow, an' hail,
I'll look in the Farmer's Almanac that hangs
there on the nail.

COLOR-BLINDNESS.

It Does Exist, and That Very Largely.

Some Interesting Facts in Regard to It—Why Persons Suffering with This Defect Should Be Kept from Railway and Steamboat Service.

That color-blindness does exist no one with any knowledge of the civil service and governmental or railway reports will deny; and since so much importance is attached to the ability to distinguish and read intelligently the meaning of language given by color sign, it is well that some attention should be devoted to the subject. This will be all the more apparent when we think of the great steamers crossing the ocean, or the railway trains traveling over the length and breadth of the land; one mistake regarding the color of a light or the appearance of a semaphore might be, and has been, the means of many disasters attending both life and property.

Young and Helmholtz tell us that the three primary colors, red, green and violet, have special nerve fibers in each point of the retina of the eye; but very often these fibers are wanting or defective, and so arises the difficulty of distinguishing between the various colors. To such persons the world must appear quite differently colored from what it appears to us. There are a great many persons—almost one in twenty—who are incapable of distinguishing red colors distinctly. They know from ordinary conversation that a certain color is called red, and by experience only are enabled to use this expression.

Governments and railway companies have taken up the subject; and examinations are periodically held in order to ascertain the powers of men to distinguish the different colors. That the examination is indispensable alike to engine drivers and sailors admits of no cavil. And it is always a highly commendable plan to stop a man on the threshold of a business which he by nature is unfit to occupy, to the safety of others as well as to himself.

People affected with color-blindness seldom declare a white color to be black, but oftener the reverse. Pink and green are very puzzling colors to the candidates; pink is over and over again described as white; green, yellow; and green gets every other color but its own. Drab and yellow also appear to be puzzling. Yellow is often said to be red, and one-third as often to be green. Neutrals are made particulars, and pale blue is often called green. But the most remarkable fact of all is that a green color, shown in a darkened room, was called red one hundred and seven times out of one hundred and eighty-nine.

Mr. Jabez Hogg, the consulting surgeon to the Royal Westminster Ophthalmic hospital of England, recently took a prominent part in bringing to light many facts connected with color-blindness, and has been instrumental in getting laid before the English public the Board of Trade Report. He says:

"In a family of seven children, four sons and three daughters, the eldest and the youngest of the sons are color-blind. The defect is inherited from the grandfather through the mother; but neither the mother nor any other member of the family is color-blind. In a family of five, three sons and two daughters, the three sons inherit color-blindness through their father and grandfather; while the two daughters, and indeed the whole of the females of this family, are free from color defect."

The question may be fairly asked: Does color-blindness increase with increasing age? There are some physical defects which can be outgrown and lost forever; but Mr. Jabez Hogg says of this very thing:

"A few carefully recorded cases lead me to think that age does aggravate the defect of color-blindness, as it does certain other defects of vision. It undoubtedly becomes more pronounced as the near point of vision recedes. In the case of Mr. D. B. C——, who at the early age of fourteen went to sea, and who, five or six years afterward, consulted me before he applied for his certificate as third mate, I pronounced him red-color blind; nevertheless, afterward he obtained his certificate; and subsequently those of second and first mate. But when, at the age of twenty-six, he applied for his master's certificate, he was unable to pass the color test. At this date I once more tested him for color, and on referring back to my notes of an earlier date, I came to the conclusion that his color-blindness had sensibly increased.

"Another was as follows: Capt. F—— consulted me for a disturbed state of vision — tobacco amaurosis. His color sense was also very imperfect; but as he soon recovered I saw no more of him for nine or ten years, when he one morning called upon me, complaining of defective sight and an inability to distinguish the ship's light. He was then very uncertain about his greens; dark-greens he called black and dark-reds were simply warmer colors than greens. In short, he was color-blind. Soon afterward he retired from the service.

"The next case is more strikingly corroborative. H. J——, a lad aged sixteen, myopic before going to sea, was examined at an ophthalmic hospital and pronounced free from color-blindness. On his return home, he passed the color-test examination and obtained his certificate. Four years afterward his father brought him to me. He was then complaining of his inability to distinguish the color of the ship's signal lights, and he often missed the ropes. This he attributed to his short sight. He was unable to select or sort the skeins of colored wool; in short, he was completely color-blind. I recommended him not to go up for his second examination. His friends thought otherwise. He was rejected, and his certificate was indorsed 'color-blind.' This, of course, put a stop to his further career in the service. The father of this patient was not color-blind; but he was unable to say whether his father or grandfather had suffered from any defect of vision. The myopia must have been transmitted."

The statistics we have just presented to our readers plainly prove that the utmost caution must be exercised by parents, railway officials and marine inspectors before they allow their children or their candidates to enter upon a line of occupation for which by nature they are wholly unfitted. And the public itself ought to lay to heart the many facts revealed by Mr. Jabez Hogg. A large percentage of the public is every day traveling either by sea or rail, and it is absolutely necessary that the utmost precaution should be exercised in ascertaining the competency of the men in charge for reading aright the colored signs and signals which in their various and silent ways predict safety, caution or danger.—N. Y. Ledger.

THE CAR TRACER.

A Railroad Employe Who Leads a Very Busy Life.

The car tracer is a man employed by a railroad company to hunt up lost freight cars. He travels a great deal, but the beauties of the country through which he passes are lost upon him, for he has no eye except for lost freight cars. If he takes a little snack in a railroad restaurant, his eye is turned to the window constantly, especially when a freight train goes rumbling by. He has been known to leave his coffee half drank, rush out and mount the caboose with an air of triumph, which proclaimed that he had recognized the initials and number for which he was searching. Studying freight cars as he does renders him oblivious to the beauty of the most elaborate Pullman or Wagner palace car, and he looks upon the latest improved vestibule limited with supreme indifference. In fact he dreams of nothing but lost freight cars, strayed or stolen, and initials and numbers dance before his sleeping vision continually. He doesn't confine his search to the main lines by any means, but wanders off on obscure roads, branches and cutoffs, and is sometimes rewarded by finding the lost car in some gravel pit, or switched off at a stone quarry and used as an office or perhaps residence for a sub-boss. Great is his joy then to drag it out to light and start the truant on its way home. Verily, there is more joy in the freight master's office over one lost car that is recovered than over ninety and nine that went not astray.—Texas Siftings.

—The Proper Material.—Mrs. Dinwiddie—"I see by this newspaper that the Princess Beatrice has made with her own hands an elaborate needle-work prayer rug." Dinwiddie—"She made it of she-kneel, I suppose."

—One Change.—Mrs. B.—"John, did you change your coat?" Mr. B.—"No, Maria, I changed my mind."

"YOU ARE SO YOUNG TO SUFFER!"

This occurrence is frequent. Young girls in public schools where great rivalry exists, often try to accomplish too much, and soon discover that their delicate organizations are unequal to the mental strain. Then the ambitious child is taken from school — "to rest" — in disappointment.

This is wrong. The ambitions of a child should be aided, not blasted. Thoughtful, intelligent mothers know what to do. Thousands of bright eyed, rosy cheeked, energetic and lovable school girls regard Mrs. Pinkham as their mainstay. They are right.

GERMAN PHILOPENA.

How the Game Is Played by the Young People in the Vaterland.

The German method of managing the pleasant play of philopena is as follows: When a couple meet after eating philopena together no advantage is taken of the other until one of them pronounces the word "philopena." This is the warning that now the sport is to begin.

Let us suppose that a gentleman calls upon a lady. She invites him to walk in and at the same time speaks the talismanic word. If he accepts the offer to walk in he is lost, unless she removes the ban by telling him to go away.

If she asks him to take off his hat he must resolutely keep it on; if to be seated he must stand, or if at the table she should hand him any article which he accepts she wins the forfeit.

During all this time he endeavors to take her by surprise, for the acceptance of any offer from the other wins the game. Both are constantly exercising their wits to prevent being caught, and the sport often goes on all the evening.

Perhaps the gentleman brings a little present and says: "Knowing that I shall lose my philopena, I have brought it along—here it is." If she is caught off her guard by the smooth speech she loses, for he immediately claims forfeit.

If neither wins at the first meeting the sport is continued to the second, and it may happen that half a dozen parties meet at the same time, all anxious to win of their philopena partners, so that the scene often becomes ludicrously amusing. It is "diamond cut diamond" in every truth.—N. Y. World.

MINISTERS AT WAR

Seven Offenders to be Placed on Trial To-Morrow.

A BITTER CONTEST EXPECTED.

It is Charged that the Reformed Presbyterian Synod Has Been Packed.

The Clerical Delegates Assembling at Pittsburg—An Effort to Devote the First of the Session to Prayer and Fasting—The General Assembly at Detroit to Consider Dr. Briggs' Case on Thursday.

PITTSBURG, May 26.—There is every indication that the sessions of the Synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of North America, which begins here to-morrow, will be full of bitterness and contention. So marked has the feeling among the members become over the proposition to cast out seven liberal-minded young ministers that, it is said, no less than 40 clerical delegates will have to go to hotels while sojourning in the city. Usually they are entertained by members of the church.

The charge is made that the Synod has been systematically packed in anticipation of the approaching trials. It is alleged that in the Presbyteries, when the election of delegates came up, care was taken to set aside men of liberal views and elect so-called conservatives.

The whole difficulty hinges upon the old Covenanter doctrine that members of the Church shall not participate in civil elections until "God" shall be recognized in the Constitution. The Liberals contend that members should have the right to exercise their own views. By way of preparing for the struggle to come the committee having charge of the prosecution of the seven offenders will recommend that the first day of the Synod be devoted entirely to prayer and fasting.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Dr. Briggs' Case Will be Taken Up on Thursday Morning.

DETROIT, May 26.—The debate in the Presbyterian General Assembly on the seal of the church finally wound up in the presentation of a dozen suggestions at once. The whole matter was recommitted for the committee to ponder over for another year.

The Assembly decided to remove the financial restrictions which have seriously hindered the work among the Southern negroes.

The report of the Committee on Theological seminaries was made the first order of the day for Thursday morning. This will open up the Briggs case for discussion. The sentiment expressed on all sides freely is that Briggs must go. If the Assembly so decides it is generally believed the trustees of Union Seminary will withdraw that institution from under the wing of the General Assembly and make it an independent college.

THE COST OF ORDER.

An Enormous Sum Paid Out in the Contest With the Coke Strikers.

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 26.—The sum paid out by the coke companies for deputies, arms and legal expenses during the great strike foots up very large.

There have been on duty 400 Pinkerton detectives at $3.00 per day for 20 days, costing about $28,000.

Besides there have been sworn in in both counties 800 local deputies, who served an average of a month each. At the rate of 25 cents an hour this amounts to $72,000. The Winchester rifles and other small arms were expensive items.

More than 1,000 eviction writs were issued and executed at a cost of $15 each. Injunction writs and costs have amounted to $3 more. The criminal costs and that of maintaining the State troops will make an enormous aggregate.

The Ball Players Demand Jury Trials.

CINCINNATI, May 26.—All of the ball players engaged in Sunday's game were present in the police court to answer the charge of playing ball on Sunday. King Kelly was there with his full quota of ball players, and pleaded not guilty. Attorney Hart demanded a jury in each case. The case of Manager Bancroft was set for next Friday, to be tried by a jury, while all the players will be tried likewise on Wednesday of next week.

Jilted and Attempted Suicide.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 26.—Babbitt Bourrie, a young German girl, attempted to commit suicide by jumping off a bridge into the Connecticut River, a distance of 30 feet. She was rescued by a boatman. The girl had a quarrel with her sweetheart, John Schmidt, because he paid attention to other young women.

Broke the Yale Running Record.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 26.—W. B. Wright, jr., Yale '92, has broken the Yale record for a half-mile run. The record was formerly 2:03 2-5, and this has been cut down in a private trial by Wright 2 1-5 seconds. It is thought that Wright will win the half-mile run at the Mott Haven games.

Ex-Gov. Butler Dies Suddenly.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 26.—Ex-Gov. David Butler died suddenly of heart failure at his home, near Pawnee City, early in the morning, in his 63d year. He was Nebraska's first Governor after she became a State.

CARNEY LOST THE FIGHT.

He Cried Like a Child When the Referee Decided in Favor of Burge.

NEW YORK, May 26.—A London cable dispatch says that the often-postponed prize fight between Dick Burge, of Newcastle, and Jimmy Carney, of Birmingham, for $5,000 and the lightweight championship of England, was decided during the day.

The battle was fought in the Hop Malt Exchange boxing rooms in the Borough. Betting was 100 to 80 on Carney, and several heavy bets were registered.

Carney had the best of the fighting from the start and punished Burge terribly. After the men had fought eight rounds it was any odds that the champion would win, and 100 to 50 was laid by Chippy Norton.

In the ninth round Carney fought the Newcastle man to a standstill. In the 10th round Burge showed great pluck and made a game effort to turn the tables, but Carney landed his left heavily on Burge's neck and fought him to the ropes. In the 11th round Burge clinched Carney. Desperate fighting followed until they broke ground, when Carney knocked Burge down by a tremendous blow on the left ear.

Burge's seconds, on seeing their man was defeated, shouted foul, and, to the surprise of all present, the referee awarded the fight to Burge. Great indignation was expressed at the decision. Carney cried like a child at the injustice done him. The fight lasted 42 minutes.

RELEASED ON $30,000 BAIL.

Dr. Graves Will be at Liberty for a Time at Least.

DENVER, May 26.—About 2 o'clock Dr. T. Thatcher Graves, who had been confined in the county jail since his arrest, was brought into the Criminal Division of the District Court. It had been agreed by the court and the district-attorney to admit Dr. Graves to bail in the sum of $30,000.

The bondsmen were investigated by the district-attorney and pronounced satisfactory, and Dr. Graves will be at liberty for a time at least.

TWO WERE KILLED.

A Driving Party Meet With a Terrible Accident.

LATROBE, Pa., May 26.—Richard Fouks, a miner from Lock Haven, aged 25 years; Miss Mollie McNally, aged 16, and Miss B. McCreary, aged 14, of this place, while out driving, were struck by the Pennsylvania Railroad limited express at the Jefferson street crossing at 8:30 o'clock last night. Fouks was instantly killed, and Miss McNally died an hour later. Miss McCreary was not seriously hurt. The horse was killed and the buggy destroyed.

An Old Woman Strangles Herself.

CORTLAND, N. Y., May 26.—Mrs. Huldah B. Hathaway, who lived in Tompkins street, was found dead in bed during the morning by her sister. Mrs. Hathaway had wound a small rope several times around her neck, but not tight enough to discolor the skin. It is believed that she died in an effort to strangle herself. She was 69 years old. She had been troubled with rheumatism, which it is believed caused her to become despondent.

Four Murderers to be Resentenced.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The United States Supreme Court dismissed the writs of error sworn out upon the refusal of the United States Circuit Court to grant writs of habeas corpus in the cases of Jugiro, Slocum, Wood and Smiler, the condemned murderers now in Sing Sing. The four men will probably be resentenced in a few days to die by electricity, as they have no further legal hope.

Father Ignatius Called a Tramp.

CLEVELAND, O., May 26.—In an interview published here Dean Y. B. Morgan, of the Trinity Episcopal Cathedral, declares that in his opinion the action of Father Ignatius in the case of the Rev. Dr. Phillips Brooks "is the impertinent interference of an irresponsible tramp." Dean Morgan was a leading member of the committee which tried the Rev. Howard MacQueary.

Bright Prospects for the Cape Cod Canal.

BOSTON, May 26.—The House of Representatives ordered a third reading of the bill incorporating Alfred D. Cox and others as the Boston, Cape Cod and New York Canal Company. The bill has already passed the Senate, and its final passage in the House is now considered certain. The enterprise has excellent financial backing.

Will Fill the Strikers' Places.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The striking plate-printers of the American Bank Note Company have not yet returned to work, and the officers of the company say they will fill their places at once. A large number of applications have been received and no trouble is anticipated in filling the strikers' places.

Butchers Fail for $50,000.

BALTIMORE, May 26.—Charles Lorein and George Lorein, trading as Lorein Brothers, have made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors. The firm is one of the largest in the butcher business in the city. The liabilities are about $50,000.

FAIL FOR A MILLION

Another Shock to Boston's Mercantile Community.

POTTER, WHITE & BAYLEY ASSIGN

The Firm Transacted a Shoe Business of $20,000,000 a Year.

The Crash Caused by the Failure of the Hill Company—Factories in New Hampshire and Massachusetts—Interesting Developments Expected in the Star Rubber Company Failure.

BOSTON, May 26.—Potter, White & Bayley, boots and shoes, doing business at 130 Summer street, have assigned to E. H. Dunn, W. H. Allen and President Bullins of the Revere Bank, where Mr. Potter is a director. Their liabilities are estimated at about $1,000,000.

The firm has done a business of $20,000,000 a year, and the failure gives the mercantile community a decided shock, although during the past three years there has been more or less talk to the effect that the firm's condition was not of the best.

The firm is composed of John G. Potter, H. M. Stephens and Frank C. Potter. John G. Potter is the only living member of the original firm. In June, 1886, Mr. Potter admitted his son, Frank C., and Mr. Stephens, the latter having long been an employe of the house. The firm's factories are at Farmington, N.H., and Cochituate, Mass.

The Hill failure is believed to have been the immediate cause of the failure. The slump in the Western and Southern trade also has much to do with it. Members of the firm declined to talk of the failure and referred all inquirers to their counsel. The latter, however, is out of town.

WILL ASK FOR A RECEIVER.

Interesting Developments Expected About the Star Rubber Company.

TRENTON, N. J., May 26.—The counsel for the Star Rubber Company will ask the Chancellor for a receiver. No explanation is made as to where the money has gone, except that the banks will refuse to discount the paper now held by the Star.

It is estimated that there is at least $700,000 of the Star Company's paper scattered around in New Jersey banks, with some in New York and Philadelphia. The plant of the concern is valued at $200,000. The value of the stock on hand is not known. There will be some interesting developments in the next two days.

BIG BAIL FOR BARDSLEY.

He is Still Too Ill to Appear for the Keystone Bank Hearing.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 26.—Chief of Police A. W. Wikert of Harrisburg arrived in this city with a warrant for the arrest of City Treasurer Bardsley, charged with the embezzlement of State funds.

The warrant was sworn out by Chief Wikert before Alderman Maurer of Harrisburg, and immediately thereafter Auditor-General McCamant and Chief Wikert started on a train for Philadelphia, being joined at Lancaster by Attorney-General Hensel, and reaching this city shortly after 10 o'clock.

The warrant and affidavit, made by Chief Wikert charges Mr. Bardsley "with embezzling a large sum of money, to-wit: The sum of $453,634.98 belonging to the State of Pennsylvania, and was demanded from him on the 19th of May A. D., 1891, in a settlement, made by the Auditor-General, according to the act of General Assembly in such cases made and provided."

Bardsley was put under $50,000 bail for a further hearing on Friday, and will go to jail as soon as he is able to leave his sick bed, which will be in two or three days, his attending physician says, providing he improves as he has done to-day.

No trace of G. W. Marsh, the fugitive president of the Keystone Bank, has yet been discovered. United States Commissioner Bell said to-day that it would be impossible for him to leave the country, as every port is watched. He also said that he never knew of such strenuous efforts being made to capture a fugitive, no expense being spared.

A Sympathetic Strike.

BOSTON, May 26.—The marble cutters employed by A. D. Puffer and J. W. Tufts are on strike because those firms are doing work for John Matthews & Son of New York, whose men are on strike for an eight-hour day.

The Tarrytown Inquest Adjourned.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., May 26.—Coroner Mitchell has begun the inquest into the explosion of Tuesday last, through which seventeen men met their death. No new facts were brought to light and the inquest was postponed until Monday.

Taxes Due from the Pennsylvania Road.

PITTSBURG, May 26.—A statement of the taxes due the State against the Pennsylvania Railroad has just been filed at Harrisburg. The amount is placed at $416,500.

PUBLIC FEELING AROUSED.

Fifty Thousand People Follow the Remains of a Murdered Boy.

LONDON, May 26.—The boy murdered by Conway, the Liverpool fireman, and put in a bag, in which his mutilated remains were found, was buried during the day. The public feeling on the subject was shown by the vast multitude that followed the hearse. It is estimated that not less than 50,000 persons joined in the funeral procession. If the people could get at Conway he would be torn limb from limb. The theory of the police is that Conway killed the boy in order to conceal an attempt at, or the perpetration of, an unnatural crime.

He Called for Letters.

ELIZABETH, N. J., May 26.—Edward H. Briel of Washington, D. C., was arrested in this city on a telegram giving a description of him received nearly a month ago stating that he was wanted in Washington for grand larceny. He was expected to call at the postoffice for letters from Baltimore. Detectives were on the watch, and when he arrived took him in custody. The authorities here say that they knew nothing of the charge, and are waiting for the Washington officers.

Miss Rogers Charged With Forgery.

BOSTON, May 26.—Miss Nellie Rogers, aged 26, of East Weymouth, was arrested at Crescent Beach charged with forging a check for $685 on the Eastern Banking & Trust Company, of Bangor, Me., purporting to be signed by L. Nichols, a livery stable keeper. Miss Rogers claims the check was given to her by a man named Knowles, who asked her to collect it for him, but she is somewhat hazy as to the identity of the man.

Corbett and His Manager Quarrel.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—Pugilist Jim Corbett has received an offer from the Olympic club of New Orleans, to act as instructor, and also an offer to travel with a minstrel show. He has quarreled with Charlie Stenzel, his manager. It arose from Corbett's action in accepting the decision of the directors of the California Athletic Club by which it was agreed to award the contestants in the Corbett-Jackson fight $2,500 each.

Officers of the Pilgrim Society.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., May 26.—The Pilgrim Society held its annual meeting at Pilgrim Hall and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Hon. John D. Long, of Bingham; vice-presidents, Hon. Wm. M. Evarts, of New York; J. Henry Stickney, of Baltimore; Frederick L. Ames, of Boston, and Isaac N. Stoddard, of Plymouth; secretary, Wm. M. Danforth, of Plymouth; treasurer, Charles R. Stoddard, of Plymouth.

Mother and Four Children Found Dead.

HARLAN, Ia., May 26.—About a week ago the husband of Mrs. Christian Pederson was taken to the insane asylum. His wife and four children were found dead, hanging in the cellar of their home yesterday. The family lived about three miles northeast of this town. It is believed that the woman was also insane, and that after hanging her children she committed suicide by the same means.

Severe Blow for the Mormons.

SALT LAKE CITY, May 26.—The Salt Lake Herald comes out flying the Christian colors, owing to a change in the proprietorship. It has been the leading exponent in the Mormon Church, and its loss breaks the back of that church as a factor in Utah politics.

Yale and Harvard May Play.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 26.—Yale and Harvard will probably play a series of baseball games after all. It is stated by a person in the confidence of the Yale Athletic Association that three games are to be played between the two university teams.

Gold Going Abroad.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Gold coin to the amount of $500,000 has been taken for shipment to Europe to-morrow by steamship City of Paris.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

Knights of Labor Attack General Ordway.

THEY MAKE SEVERAL CHARGES.

His Lecture to the Militia Denounced as Treasonable and Incendiary.

Probing the Pension Office Troubles—Major Barker Exonerated and a Clerk Blamed—General Regret Over the Sudden Death of Congressman Houk—The President to Visit Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—A committee, composed of Messrs. Paul T. Bowen, I. P. Wild and E. W. Hambleton, representing District Assembly No. 66, Knights of Labor, called upon the Secretary of War and presented to him charges against Brig.-Gen. Albert Ordway, commanding the National Guard of the District of Columbia.

The charges are in effect that Gen. Ordway in a lecture to the officers on the guard used language which was treasonable and incendiary; calculated to create in the minds of the militia officers a sense of their superiority to the law, excessive fear of the dangers to be encountered in the line of their duty and a bitter hatred and bloodthirsty vindictiveness toward such people as they may be called upon to restrain in the interest of peace and good order.

Also, that when he abandoned the field of instructions in the proper military tactics to be used in the suppression of civil disorder, to elucidate, compare and condemn social, political and economic doctrines, he exceeded his proper function.

The Secretary promised the committee that the charges shall have proper consideration.

PENSION BUREAU TROUBLES.

The Charges Preferred Against Major Barker Investigated.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Assistant Secretary Bussey and Commissioner of Pensions Raum instituted an investigation at the Pension Office into the charges preferred against Major Barker, Chief of the Record Division, for appropriating to his personal use money which was raised for the widow of a clerk, recently deceased, and also against J. M. Donahue, who endorsed notes and represented a money-lender not employed in the office.

Twenty witnesses were examined, the bulk of the testimony showing conclusively that Barker never had the money belonging to the widow in his possession.

The conclusion of the evidence will, it is thought, exonerate Barker; but the charges against Donahue were fully substantiated by the evidence adduced. The Assistant Secretary said that he was satisfied that Donahue was using his position for personal gain and would recommend his dismissal.

JUDGE HOUK'S DEATH.

The Tennessee Congressman Drank Poison by Mistake.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—There is general regret here over the sudden death of Congressman Leonidas C. Houk at Knoxville, Tenn.

He died at 6 a. m. The previous evening Judge Houk went into a drug store in Knoxville and asked the clerk for a glass of ice water. It was placed on the counter next to a glass of dissolved arsenic and Mr. Houk picked up the latter and drank it.

After Mr. Houk had been informed of what he had drank, he did not appear excited or frightened, but told the clerk to send as speedily as possible for a physician and mix him up at once whatever he considered the best emetic. The clerk immediately summoned physicians, who worked with their patient all night, but Mr. Houk grew worse and died at 6 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Houk suffered terribly before relieved by death and although every known antidote available was applied the physicians in attendance said from the start that the case was hopeless.

Judge Houk represented the Second Tennessee District in the House of Representatives for 12 years and was re-elected to the 52d Congress. The district has the largest Republican majority of any in the South. He entered the Union army as a private August 9, 1861, and was promoted to colonel. Since the war he has held many prominent offices, including that of circuit court judge.

Departments to Close on Saturday.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The President has issued the following executive order: "It is hereby ordered that the several executive departments and the Government Printing Office be closed on Saturday, the 30th instant, to enable the employes to participate in the decoration of the graves of the soldiers and sailors who fell in the defense of the Union during the war of the rebellion."

The President Going to Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The President will take part in the Memorial day exercises at Philadelphia next Saturday. He will leave Washington early in the morning and return late the same evening.

The Baptist Missionary Union.

CINCINNATI, May 26.—The American Baptist Missionary Union was in session at the Pike Opera House to-day. The morning session was occupied by the reading of the annual reports, which told of the thriving condition of the work of conversion. The increase over last year summarized is 47 missionaries, 87 preachers, 54 churches and 14,349 members.

O'Malley Wants a Change of Venue.

NEW ORLEANS, May 26.—Counsel for Detective O'Malley, charged with jury bribing, has given notice that he would apply for a change of venue. It is claimed that the defendant cannot have a fair and impartial trial in New Orleans, where the indictment is pending.

DEFENDS MRS. SURRATT.

Her Confessor Declares His Belief that She Was Innocent.

NEW YORK, May 26.—At a meeting of the Catholic Historical Society last night papers written by Cardinal Gibbons and Rev. J. C. Walter, of Washington, D. C., were read.

There was much interest manifested over Father Walter's reply to the Century article, as it was expected to be somewhat caustic, if not sensational. Father Walter relates how he became involved in the unfortunate Surratt affair, and declares his belief that Mrs. Surratt was an innocent woman.

"At the time of Lincoln's assassination," says Father Walter, "I was pastor of St. Patrick's Church in Washington, and among my parishioners was Mrs. Surratt. I was her confessor. When she was arrested she sent for me, and I attended to her spiritual wants until she went to the scaffold. I cannot, of course, violate my vows to the Church and tell the secrets of the confessional, but I will say that from what I know Mrs. Surratt was innocent of any complicity in that great crime.

"I tried my best to save her life, and if she had been given a reprieve for 10 days I believe I would have succeeded in doing so. I called twice upon President Johnston and was by him sent to Judge Holt. The judge in turn sent me back to the President, and I got no satisfaction. Even on the morning of the woman's execution I attempted to obtain a reprieve for her, but I was unsuccessful, and she died, I believe, as innocent of that crime as a babe unborn."

Many Changes in Belgrade.

BELGRADE, May 26.—The Minister of Finance has left the city on a long leave of absence and the government has placed the Prefect of Belgrade and an Inspector attached to the Ministry of the Interior upon the retired list, owing to its disapproval of the manner in which the expulsion of ex-Queen Natalie was carried out.

Italy Singles Out American Petroleum.

ROME, May 26.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs is reported to have gone to Milan to obtain the signature of the King to a decree advancing the duty on petroleum. This step, it is said, is being taken because of the large quantities of petroleum which are now on the way to Italy from the United States.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Senator George B. Sloan of Oswego, N. Y., has decided to withdraw from politics.

The Supreme Court of the United States has adjourned until the second Monday in October.

Wm. H. Hurlburt, who was defendant in a breach of promise suit in London, has arrived in New York.

Mrs. Laura Kendrick of New York city has been granted an absolute divorce from Greene Kendrick, ex-mayor of Waterbury, Conn.

Rachel A. Hooper and Calvin Gore, comprising the firm of Hooper & Gore, hat manufacturers, New York and Brooklyn, have assigned.

The two-year-old child of Mrs. Elizabeth Myers, of Brooklyn, N. Y., fell into a boiler of water while her mother was hanging out clothes and was drowned.

Jennie Louise Snedeker, five years old, of Plainfield, N. J., fell from a cherry tree, and her head struck an iron rod which fractured her skull. She will probably die.

Francis A. Wilber, professor of analytical chemistry in Rutger's college, New Brunswick, N. J., died yesterday of pneumonia, aged 40 years. He was a native of Michigan.

Augustus A. Eldridge, colored, who attempted to murder R. M. Beebe, a white painter of Asbury Park, N. J., was convicted at Freehold. He will be sentenced on Thursday.

The alleged "Jack the Ripper," arrested after murderously assaulting Officer Sullivan in Long Island City, is now believed to be Charles Conraddy, 58 years old, of Madison, N. J.

By order of the Czar a medal has been struck at St. Petersburg in honor of the courage displayed by young Prince George of Greece, in defending the Czarewitch from the Japanese fanatic who wounded him.

Mrs. Green Secures a Divorce.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Mrs. Laura Green has obtained an absolute divorce from Douglas Green, late of the broker firm of Green & Bateman, who deserted her and went to Europe with Mrs. Alice Snell McCrea of Chicago. Mr. Green did not defend the suit.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Emancipation Day committee will meet to-night.

—The bowling section of the Y. M. C. A., will meet at the Olympia alleys to-night.

—People on Arlington avenue wonder when they are going to get those electric street lights which they say were promised to them long ago.

—The Grand Jury was discharged at Elizabeth today without considering any additional complaints. All the unfinished cases will go over to the next jury.

—Rogers, the bicycle man, 42 Central avenue, has just the wheel for the boys. It is the "Nonpareil", all ball bearings, and fully guaranteed. The price is $40.

—Study carefully the important advertisement of the United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association. They claim that it is the biggest inducement yet offered by them.

—The meeting in the W. C. T. U. rooms, to-morrow afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, will be in charge of Mrs. Fernald. There will be some interesting readings. All are welcome.

—Mrs. John Gable, who has been deserted by her husband, lies sick abed at 47 Cottage place without any means of support and with three children besides to clothe and feed.

—Bill Brown is proving himself the champion fisherman of this city. Saturday he caught a big basket chock full of cat-fish and perch, and yesterday among another lot he captured was a cat-fish weighing 2½ pounds.

—The red appearance of the sun and moon last week was, it is said, caused by the smoke from the huge forest fires which were raging in the mountains of Pennsylvania. In the Wyoming Valley the smoke was so dense that objects fifty feet distant could not be discerned.

—Those few who have read in the crazy sheet that the local coal yards are not to be closed Saturdays until 12 p. m., need not be misled. The correct hour of closing, 12 m., has been announced through THE PRESS. The midnight closing is n't so, because you saw it elsewhere.

—Jeptha Wagner dropped in THE PRESS office yesterday and displayed a "twig" off one of his peach trees. The twig was not more than three feet long, yet it bore over fifty peaches, each about the size of a hazel nut. Jeptha has 1,200 trees in his grove near Stirling, all loaded just as heavily. He says there will be as many peaches this year as the trees can hold long enough to ripen.

—C. M. Giles, Secretary of the Paterson Y. M. C. A., says of the Rev. C. L. Merriam who is to give his "Chalk and Talk", at the Congregational church, Thursday evening: "His artistic genius, when aided by a fertile imagination, and spiced with an inexhaustible fund of refined humor, enables him to easily entertain an audience, and always leaves them to wonder how the time flew by so quickly." The evening promises to be a pleasant one.

—Ministers, doctors and other professional men, besides everybody else who has had teeth extracted by Dr. Van Yorx at Dr. Thiers' dental rooms, 48 Somerset street, speak in the highest praise of him as a courteous gentleman and a delicate operator, and of his method of treatment as free from pain. Dr. Van Yorx has consented to remain a few days longer at the earnest solicitation of a number of people who desire to avail themselves of the rare opportunity of having their teeth extracted without pain.

The Crescent League and Base-Ball.

Representatives of the Plainfield Crescent League say that they have made their decision concerning the price of admission to their base-ball games, and are going to stick all summer to the charge of 25 cents to enter through the gate, with 10 cents extra for seats. Their Field Committee is said to be 8 to 1 in favor of the high prices, and that's the way the matter's going to stand. They say they cannot support the team at lower prices.

THE PRESS may be wrong in thinking this a mistake. Certainly THE PRESS hopes it is wrong, for after working so successfully all last season to make base-ball popular in Plainfield, THE PRESS would have the greatest cause to regret a loss of interest this season.

Another member of the Field Committee denies that that committee have anything to do with the prices, and adds that no vote has been taken among the committee in regard to reducing the price. No one has asked for his opinion, he says.

Broke a Leg at Base-ball.

David Gray, a lad living at 5 Spooner avenue, met with a singular and serious accident in a game of ball on the Potter Press Works grounds, yesterday. He was covering the home plate when a comrade slid from third for home. The base runner's head struck Gray's leg, and the bone was fractured near the ankle. The other fellow's head was badly bruised. Some men from the Potter shops carried him to his home, and Dr. Gaston attended him.

Gray is a favorite member of the Boys' Club and of the Edwards Zouaves.

During the heated term the human system requires a gentle, cooling stimulant. What a blessing then to be able to make five gallons of a delicious temperance drink from a 25-cent package of Hires's Root Beer.

THE "JOURNALIST" ARRESTED.

His Villifications of President Smith to Receive Attention in the Court for Criminals.

Thomas W. Morrison, a resident of North Plainfield who took his oath at Somerville that he was "a journalist", was arrested by Police Captain Geo. W. Grant last evening on two warrants issued by Justice V. W. Nash, charging him with criminal libel against Seymour G. Smith, President of the Plainfield Common Council.

Though Mr. Smith has been repeatedly libeled in Morrison's paper, for months past, he cites, in his complaints, only two articles, both of recent date, and both charging him, and reiterating the charges, with being a projector of fraudulent insurance societies, whose bogus charities were alleged to be the means of robbing families of the hard-earned wages of their bread-winners and of driving fleeced families to the pawnbrokers, while enriching the pockets of the promoters of the scheme. In these articles Morris on further sought to give the public to understand that Mr. Smith was a man unworthy of trust and belief, and because the publication of such articles tends "to bring him into scandal and disgrace", "to injure and aggrieve him", and "to villify and defame his character", and because such articles are "a false, scandalous, malicious, defamatory libel", Mr. Smith prayed for the arrest of Morrison as their author and publisher.

Elias R. Pope became surety for Morrison's appearance in court, and furnished bail in the sum of $200 on each complaint.

Morrison is quoted as having said last night that he expected to be indicted, which is considered equivalent to a confession of guilt. Upon indictment the court for the trial of all such criminal matters will be called on to pass judgment.

Funeral of Carmon Parse.

At the funeral of Carmon Parse yesterday there was one of the largest attendances of business men ever seen at a similar service in this city. A prayer of comfort was offered by the Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, and an impressive sermon was preached by the Rev. Cornelius Schenck. The preacher remarked that the faith and trust of the deceased at the last were firm and substantial. It was not "I think Jesus is my Saviour", but "I trust Jesus Christ, my Saviour." He would enter into no elaborate eulogy of the departed. Were Mr. Parse living his unobtrusive, modest nature would resent words of praise. His life, lived among this people, needed no comment. He had left behind him a glowing example as an honest, reliable, faithful business man, always at his post of duty. The pastor spoke further of his submissiveness to suffering and pain; through all his illness, he had not a murmur of complaint. His life, and his faith and trust in his Saviour, especially during the latter part of his illness, was a fit example for the living.

The features of the deceased, as he lay at rest forever within his coffin, looked very natural, but emaciated by his long illness. On the casket were a large bunch of lilies and a profusion of pink roses. The pall-bearers were A. B. Darby, Wm. Rockwell, A. D. Cook, S. A. Mundy of New Brunswick, S. H. Whitney, and A. D. Thompson.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

George Kirkner leaves for California, on Saturday, where he will join his wife.

Miss Emma Birdsell, of White Plains, N. Y., is visiting Miss Henrietta Bonnell, of Manning avenue.

Frederick Harrison, son of ex-Judge Harrison of Newark, and Walter Love, also of Essex county, are visiting Mathew Walker.

The board of directors of the Music Hall Association have appointed F. W. Runyon, owner and editor of The Central Times, and J. A. Demarest, as managers for next season in place of C. A. Marsh, resigned.

Bishop John Heyl Vincent, formerly of this city, will deliver an oration to the Chautauqua Literary Circle and Sunday-school Assembly graduates at the Ocean Grove Camp-meeting, Wednesday, July 22, at 11 a. m., and will lecture on "Tom and His Sister" in the evening at 7:30.

The many friends of Miss Ella Y. Laing, formerly of this city, but late of Denver, Colorado, will be pleased to hear of her marriage to George M. Fletcher of New York city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles H. Marshall in Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, Denver, on the 19th inst. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher will reside in New York.

The rehearsal of the Melopois, last evening, was the last informal gathering for the season of the members, and the occasion was seized upon to present conductor Chapman with a token of the society's esteem and appretiation. Vice President Mason W. Tyler made the speech, which was a good one and mostly true. The "token" was elegant and costly candelabra of solid silver.

The marriage of Miss Esther L. Gavett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Gavett, of Sandford avenue, to Henry W. Rankin, took place this afternoon at 12:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Richards of the Crescent Avenue church. The interior of the house was a mass of cut flowers gathered and arranged by the members of the "Ladies 9." The bride was the recipient of many handsome gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Rankin have gone to Maine, on their wedding trip.

SHE'S AGIN THE GOVERNMENT.

The "Big 6" to the "Central Times" is Like the Red Rag to the Bull.

That scolding old woman, the Central Times, is not only a crying example of that class ex-Mayor Randolph points out, which opposes a thing merely because the "Big 6" is in favor of it, but the Central Times will go further and stoop to misrepresentation in her shrewishness.

For instance: the ordinance granting the Plainfield Street Railway company a franchise to construct and maintain a trolley system of street car service in this city, was approved by the Mayor after receiving the unanimous vote of the Common Council excepting Mr. Ginna, who, however, openly stated that he was opposed only on personal grounds—which were, in fact, because the "Big 6" favored it. Yet in spite of these facts the old woman speaks ever and always of the project as being "forced on" the people by the "Big 6". That is an example of what is meant when it is said that she will stoop to misrepresentation.

The charge is further shown to be just, by many such references to the street railway matter as the following:

A little more evidence that an attempt was made to secure only the best, would make the people of Plainfield feel more kindly toward those who forced through our municipal legislature this measure that is acknowledged to be a menace to life, property and limb.

Nothing of the sort is acknowledged. It is only so asserted by the New York Times, whose owners are financially interested in the impracticable storage-battery system, and by our scolding old friend on Front street, who has never even seen the system proposed for Plainfield, does n't know what she is talking about, and merely cherishes the same sentiments as the Irishman just landed who was asked his politics—said he, "I'm agin the Government!" As to evidence being "wanted" that an attempt is made to secure only the best, the Times is fully aware that there is a clause in the franchise compelling the company to take down the trolley as soon as a better system is perfected.

But let's stop our own scolding and wind up with a laugh, instead, at the gullibility of the Times. She has discovered perpetual motion, and hastens to endorse it as "successful" and to recommend it at once for street railway purposes in Plainfield. She says:

Now that the writ of certiorari in the railway matter granted by the Supreme Court gives the "Big Six" an opportunity for much needed reflection, suppose they turn their attention to the merits of the Waddell-Entz storage-battery for street cars as shown by successful experiments in Philadelphia. This mental effort will not hurt them in the least.

The joke of this is right here. This Waddell-Entz storage-battery has been "written up" by a very clever press agent employed by the owners who are trying to float the company's stock. According to his glowing story the car when running down hill generates the electricity that is used to run the car up the hill again or along the levels. This story the Times reprints in real seriousness. But it will take a "mental effort" that will hurt, for the Times to tell how to provide the hills in Plainfield to do the generating. Maybe she proposes to take all the cars up on the Watchung mountains every morning at four o'clock, run them down the grade thirty or forty times until they are chock full of electricity, and then start them off on the day's business.

But supposing some car having an unusually heavy load unexpectedly put upon it because of a sudden shower driving pedestrians to its shelter, should run out of electricity at the corner of Seventh street and Grant avenue, for instance. The passengers would have to get out and wait in the rain until horses were procurred and the car was dragged over the fields to the hills again and tobogganed down the grade.

The same day the Times published this self-feeding-battery story, she headed her editorial page (just like Elliot Shepard) with this text:

"Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad."

We hope not! There must be yet some equity left in the Times. Come now, ye Gods! You've made her mad, do n't go any further. It's only about the "Big 6" —at present—that she is delirious.

Did n't Have the "Sand".

The feeling existing between members of the gun clubs of this city and South Plainfield is not so agreeable or fraternal as it used to be. For reasons not yet explained the South Plainfield team that was to have shot a match with selected men from the home club did not put in an appearance, and the match was declared off. Several sweeps occupied the afternoon. The Plainfield crack shots are evidently afraid to tackle our boys. Now they should forever hold their peace about superior marksmanship. — Perth Amboy Herald.

Death of Mrs. Vincent L. Frazee.

Annie R., wife of Vincent L. Frazee, died at half-past two o'clock this morning, after a brief illness. Saturday morning she was well enough to prepare her husband's breakfast. She was 30 years of age the 26th of April. She leaves no children.

Oh, What a Cough

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

CLAIRVOYANT!

Mrs. Dr. EDWARDS,

Being in such great demand in Plainfield, she has consented to remain until next

Wednesday Morning, May 27,

As a favor to her many kind patrons. She will then leave for Easton, positively never to return to this city for business again, as she is compelled to go to Europe in August for a few months.

Mrs. DR. EDWARDS,

Known in this country from Maine to Mexico. She was born with the wonderful gift of second sight, and with a veil. She is the seventh daughter of the seventh daughter. She reveals every mystery; tells you if the one you love is true or false. She removes every grief, settles lovers' troubles, and causes speedy love marriages. She gives reliable information to gentlemen in all business transactions, and informs them how to make profitable investments and acquire speedy riches. She tells lucky lottery numbers. She has an OSIRIS EGYPTIAN TALISMAN, which is noted all the world over, as a specific charm for the unlucky. All who are in trouble or sick, should call without delay.

HARRISON'S

"Town and Country"

READY MIXED PAINTS,

Are unsurpassed (if equalled) in the following particulars:

They are painters' paints.
They are perfectly pure.
They may be used by an old-line painter, just as he would use White Lead mixed by himself.
They will save money to painters.
They are uniform.
They are as bright as the best tinting colors can make them.
They are permanent.
They are good for many years wear when properly applied.
They will stand unlimited brushing out.
They are cheaper than any similar color mixed by hand.
They will cover on a good surface 400 squar feet, two coats, per gallon.
They will cover on a poor surface 300 square feet, two coats, per gallon.
When freely thinned out with pure, raw Linseed Oil, their spreading capacity is still greater

CHEAPER GAS FOR PLAINFIELD.

Opposition Promised Against the Present Monopoly, by a Rival Company.

One very important matter, and one that interests and concerns every householder in the city, was brought to the attention of the Plainfield Common Council last evening. This was the presentation of the following petition:

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Plainfield:

GENTLEMEN:

Your petitioners respectfully request that your honorable body will grant unto them, a franchise and privilege for as long a time as may be legal, to construct, install and operate Gas Works, with proper and usual pipes and appliances, in, upon and along the streets, avenues and public ways of your city, for the purpose of manufacturing and supplying to the residents of Plainfield, gas for illumination and fuel.

Your petitioners represent: that upon the granting of such franchise, they will cause to be duly organized a Company to build, install and operate such gas works; that the gas to be furnished the consumer shall be a carburetted water gas of as pure quality as is supplied in any city of the United States, and of not less than twenty-two candle power; that the price to the consumer shall be fixed at the beginning at $1.80 per 1,000 cubic feet.

When the daily consumption shall reach 75,000 feet, $1.65.

When the daily consumption shall reach 100,000 feet, $1.50.

When the daily consumption shall reach 125,000 feet, $1.40.

When the daily consumption shall reach 150,000 feet, $1.30.

When the daily consumption shall reach 200,000 feet, $1.25.

In case of favorable consideration of this petition, the company to be organized will employ the "MacKenzie System" of gas production, which embodies the most recent improvements and advances in the manufacture of gas.

Plants under this system are now operating at Danielsonville, Connecticut, Lakewood, New York, Garden City, Long Island and elsewhere.

The Company will agree to be bound, by ordinance, to the above schedule of prices.

RODERICK ROBERTSON,
FRAND D. HARMON,
J. A. DEMAREST.

Dated New York, May 25, 1891.

The petition was referred to the committee on public lights, who will probably report at the next meeting of the Council, in favor of granting the privilege asked for; and the necessary ordinance will doubtless then be introduced, so that within a reasonable time the people may be served with a cheaper and better illuminating gas than they have ever yet had in their homes.

By a unanimous vote the Council passed on its second reading the ordinance for the establishment of a grade on North avenue.

Authority was given to sell the old road-roller for $125. It cost $140 six years ago.

Steps were taken for the greatly needed repairing of Seventh street, between Grant and Plainfield avenues.

Decoration Day at Waverley.

The arrangements for the twelfth annual trotting meeting at Waverly on Decoration day are concluded. The two great pacers, Windsor H. and Bald Chief, will go a match for $300 a side. Reinhardt, who controls Bald Chief, was in Philadelphia last week, where he drove in the Point Breeze races. He was telegraphed to with regard to the match on Wednesday and replied that he would make it. Fifty dollars were then deposited with the Morrison Brothers to bind the agreement.

The 2:30 class filled with the following excellent field of horses: W. H. Evans, Newark, s. g. Frosty; Hiram G. Smith, Flemington, gr. m. Nancy; H. T. Reinhardt, Newark, br. g. Michael O'Hara; Isaac Hully, East Orange, br. s. Czarowich; J. Plimley, Parkville, br. f. Lady Alymar; P. Manee, New York, br. g. Craig Head or b. m. Moxie.

2:24 class—W. Spence, Elizabeth, b. m. Electra; H. G. Smith, Flemington, br. g. Harry Strideway; J. Plimley, b. g. Rex. These three races will be as much as can be conveniently trotted in one afternoon. The classes are more than usually interesting this year, and if the weather is favorable a large attendance will witness the races. The first race will be called promptly at 2 p. m.

Woman's Work in Missions Near at Home.

As has already been announced in THE PRESS, the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Elizabeth District will hold its annual district meeting in Vincent chapel this week Thursday. Delegates from all the auxiliaries of the district will be present. Able speakers will address the convention. Meetings will be held morning and afternoon. Luncheon will be served in the chapel by the ladies, and such royal welcome will be given the visitors as characterizes the people of this hospitable city. Mrs. Mathews of Castle Garden will be present and tell of the mission work done among immigrants.

Who Does This Mean?

Those Plainfield wheelmen who were racing the fast-stepping horse in the sulky on Rahway avenue yesterday afternoon, one of them, as his gold shoulder straps showed, being an officer of the club, need not have used quite so much bad language as they pursued their course.—Elizabeth Herald.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for six weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am nearly cured, and yet it seems too good to be true. Have no doubt but that much of the sleeplessness people complain of is caused by indigestion. —

FREE FROM HER FETTERS.

Douglas Green's Wife at Last Granted a Divorce.

Another chapter in the sensational elopement of Banker Douglas Green, formerly of this city, with Mrs. Alice Snell McCrea was ended yesterday in the Supreme Court by the granting of an absolute divorce by Judge O'Brien to Mrs. Laura Green. This will be welcome news to Mrs. Green's friends in Plainfield. During Mr. and Mrs. Green's residence here, a few years ago, on Sixth street near Franklin place, she gained many warm friends by her admirable traits of character and kindly disposition.

Her application was made four or five weeks ago. Green, who, ever since his elopement, has been a resident of Europe, put in no answer. The story of the elopement and subsequent bigamous marriage dates back over a year, and was published in THE PRESS at the time. Green was the senior member of the firm of Green & Bateman, well-known bankers in New York.

It was early in 1890 that Green, while on a visit to Fortress Monroe, Va., met Mrs. McCrea at the Hygeia Hotel. Aside from her personal charms and beauty, she was well known as the daughter of the murdered millionaire, Snell, of Chicago. Previous to visiting Virginia Mrs. McCrea had obtained a divorce from her husband in Chicago. She was accompanied by a Mrs. Brandt, of New York. It was on Sunday morning, Feb. 2, that Green arrived at the Hygeia. From that moment on he was the constant companion of Mrs. McCrea. While out driving one day in search of a minister who would marry them, the Rev. Mr. Short, a colored clergyman, happened along, and upon being told what was wanted got up on the carriage and had the party driven to the parsonage. There the marriage ceremony was performed. At its conclusion the party returned to the hotel. In the afternoon Green and Mrs. McCrea left for Washington.

Green and his bigamous wife arrived in New York Feb. 11. He went to his apartments in the Barcelona and she took rooms in the St. James Hotel. The day following the couple hurriedly departed for Europe. There they have lived ever since as man and wife.

When Green took his sudden departure his partners sent word to the Stock Exchange that he was no longer a member of the firm. None could explain his action. It was rumored, though, that he had been considered of unsound mind, and that Gen. Roger A. Pryor had been retained to take steps to have him committed to an asylum. Dr. H. Holbrook Curtis, who had examined him, gave it as his opinion that Green was a subject for treatment in an insane asylum.

Mrs. Douglas Green was in Savannah when the news of her husband's bigamous marriage reached her. An attempt was made at the time to have Green return to this country and have his marriage with Mrs. McCrea annulled on the ground of insanity. This would have caused his incarceration for a time in an asylum so as to keep him out of jail for bigamy. Green refused to do such a thing and announced that he would never again visit this country, nor would he oppose any steps his wife took to obtain a divorce.

Is the Elephant in "Wang" a Real One?

One of the greatest features of DeWolf Hopper's latest success "Wang", presented nightly to crowded houses at the Broadway Theatre, New York City, is a huge elephant. The part he plays in Goodwin & Morse's sprightly burletta is a most important one, and his lively antics and life-like movements, have caused considerable comment. Managers Sanger & Stevens have received many letters in which the writers request information relative to the mammoth pachyderm, who drinks beer with the apparent ease and relish of an old toper, and who reels and staggers about the stage with the precision of a drunkard; while others desire information for the purpose of deciding bets, which the wonderful evolutions of Hopper's elephant have brought about. One gentleman writes: "To decide a bet will you kindly inform me by return mail, whether the big elephant in "Wang" is a real live animal, or a made-up one".

Another one writes: "A friend of mine, resident of Philadelphia, and myself, witnessed a performance of 'Wang' at the Broadway Theatre a few evenings ago, and were delighted with Mr. Hopper and his admirable company. My friend from the 'City of Brotherly Love' was firmly convinced that the elephant is really a live one, and is of the opinion that he is one of the performing quadrupeds belonging to Forepaugh's Circus. A wager is the outcome of a very spirited controversy. Kindly answer, and by doing so, decide which of us wins the bet."

A letter was received recently from a suburban brewer, that caused hearty laughter. The enterprising malster volunteered to furnish "Wang's" elephant with all the beer he could drink, and suggested as a recompense, that his brand be mentioned in a modest line at the bottom of the house programme.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed. —Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

They Are Anti-Sunday Flyers.

The Central New Jersey Flying Club met and organized, last evening, at the residence of W. A. Kiggins, Elizabeth. The members from this city are Captain Benjamin Doane, Charles Faber, J. Hervey Doane, James Ingram, F. R. Stevens, J. A. Demarest, S. P. Craig, Frank Pope, C. Gallup and Walter Place. Officers were elected as follows:

President—Captain Benj. Doane.
1st Vice President—Charles Faber.
2nd Vice President—W. A. Kiggins.
Secretary and Treasurer—W. B. Garrabrants.
Race Committee—F. R. Stevens, Plainfield; E. K. Tucker, Elizabeth; C. Mahr, Newark.

The club is composed of members of the Philadelphia Federation, who have become so numerous in central New Jersey that they have been given a dispensation to form a federation among themselves. They will have their own races—under the Federation rules of course, but under their own management. The first fly will be from Manassas, 200 miles, on Tuesday of next week. A gold medal will be given the owner of the bird making the best average speed in the 450 mile race.

The members of the new club are entirely opposed to the flying of their birds in races on Sundays. That is one reason in particular, why they left the Federation.

Boys Club Notes.

A "full dress inspection" of the Edwards Zouaves, will take place this evening at 8:30.

The ball team will play the Amateur base-ball club of Elizabeth, here on Saturday, June 6, at 9 a. m. All members of the club must come and cheer for the team.

Hefferan and Fred Winn have been elected members of the base-ball team.

The Edwards Zouaves are requested to meet at 1 p. m. on Decoration Day to parade in the general parade.

To-morrow evening occurs the entertainment given by the Holy Cross choir, in the school building. An original farce by George Taggart will be given, a Kinder Symphony by the boys, and a few select solos by members of the choir. The entertainment begins at eight. Admission, 50 cents.

The following games have been arranged for the month of June. Amateur B.B.C., of Elizabeth, June 6; Young Cuban Giants, June 13; Young Richmonds, June 20; Unions, June 27.

The membership of the club to date, is 370.

W. H. MINER, Superintendent.

Locusts Stop a Train of Cars.

A Plainfielder who has always been skeptical in receiving reports of insects stopping trains, has had his unbelief shaken by the receipt of a copy of The Egyptian Gazette of April 23, containing the following: "The neighborhood of Wasta was visited by an enormous number of locusts on Thursday afternoon at about 5:30 o'clock which went later in the evening as far as Bedreshayn, afterwards returning to Wasta.

"A goods train was also delayed on the Boolak Dacroor line between Menasheh and Werdan by the numbers of locusts on the railway line some of which got into the working parts of the locomotive which was thus brought to a standstill."

The Steel Rod Killed Her.

Jennie Louise Snedeker, the four-year-old daughter of A. H. Snedeker of West Fourth street, died at eight o'clock last evening of the injuries received by the puncturing of her skull and penetrating of her brain by the steel rod of a door spring, particulars of which were related in yesterday's PRESS. During the afternoon she had convulsions and marked symptoms of tetanus or lockjaw, which had been predicted by the doctor the day before. Then she became unconscious, and in a short time died without evidence of any pain.

"Meet me by moonlight alone"! "I can't"—she said, "mother says I'll catch my death of cold". "Tell her I've got a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup". "All right! she says I may go".

—Charley Woolston's base-ball nine defeated Vic. Feytel's team Monday afternoon, by the score of 14 to 3.

BABY'S MISSION.

Everybody has a mission,
Missions great and missions small,
But I think the baby's mission
Is the sweetest one of all.

To us he comes a missionary
From the land where Jesus went,
To gently teach the truth of loving,
In the homes where he is sent.

How very sad and lonely, dreary,
Would be each high and lowly home,
If for years and years no baby
To this world would ever come.

Yet he comes and takes the homage
Loving hearts and hands do give;
And while loving him we're learning
What it is for love to live.

We would grow so cold and selfish
If no prattling voice we'd hear,
And no chubby face would greet us,
Month after month, year after year.

Then thank Heaven for the babies,
Even if they're not your own,
For this world is much the better
For the seeds of love they've sown.

QUEER ILLUSIONS.

Something of Interest Concerning a Peculiar Malady.

Startling and Singular Forms of Insanity Developed in People Otherwise Apparently Sane—It Is Hard to Detect and Difficult to Cure.

Not long ago an old man, looking like a rich, retired merchant or banker, walked into the office of one of the foremost publishing houses of New York and asked to see the head of the firm. That gentleman recognized his caller as a man who twenty years ago had been the junior member of a great Wall street firm. He also remembered that the senior member had been one of Lincoln's most trusted advisers in financial matters. The ex-banker said: "You will remember that my partner, who died about six months ago, was very prominent during the civil war. Everyone in New York knows that Lincoln many times followed his counsel. Now, I have in my possession papers and memoranda showing how very much Lincoln was indebted to him. This information is of a deeply interesting, and, I might say, of a startling character. I thought, perhaps, we might make some arrangement to write a memoir. I feel certain that it would pay, besides being a fair tribute to my friend and throwing much light on history."

The ex-banker went on to tell that he had proof that his partner drew the original draft of the emancipation proclamation, besides doing many other things of vital importance. The publisher was delighted, and made arrangements for a writer to call at the ex-banker's house on a certain day and begin work. The publisher talked with the ex-banker for an hour or more, and they separated, equally well pleased. At the appointed time the writer called and began to discuss the forthcoming book. After some time the ex-banker said:

"There is one thing I have not yet told you, and it is the most important of all." His voice sank to a mysterious whisper: "My partner assassinated Mr. Lincoln."

"No," said the writer, drawing back and looking at the ex-banker in an astonished way.

"Yes," said the ex-banker, "he killed him." And then he proceeded to relate a wild and rambling story. The writer questioned him, and was soon satisfied that he was stark mad. On all other subjects he was perfectly sane. On this one of his partner's connection with the Lincoln administration he was insane.

Instances of this kind are not uncommon, and yet it is a form of insanity that is almost incurable, and is liable to become dangerous at any time. It was this form of mania that possessed Dougherty, who murdered Dr. Lloyd. Generally, however, it is content with manufacturing a great hoax and stirring up an excitement.

A few years ago the police of Newark had an experience of this kind, about which they decline to talk even yet. One day a man of respectable appearance walked into police headquarters at Newark and said: "I am a dry goods merchant from Chicago. I was passing through here and stopped off at the station. I had a valise with twenty-seven thousand dollars in bills in it. I left the valise on a seat in the waiting room while I stepped out for a moment. When I came back it was gone. I am fortunately not entirely without money, as I happened to have a few hundred dollars in my pocket."

The police were at first inclined to doubt, but when the man told of two men who had followed him from Chicago and acted suspiciously, the chief was interested. He ordered diligent search for the robbers. Circumstances came up which verified the man's story, and the result was a great hue and cry. The man went to a hotel to await developments. He spent his own money freely, and encouraged the police in every way. Several days passed. The story and the descriptions of the supposed robbers were telegraphed all over the country. Would-be detectives in small towns made arrests. The newspapers were full of it and the mystery grew each day. Finally the man from Chicago took one of the detectives aside and said to him:

"Perhaps I should have explained one feature of this case sooner. It may have an important bearing. The fact is I am Jesus Christ. I think these robbers may have been the devil in disguise."

The detectives stared at him and then called in other detectives, who put the man under arrest. At first it was thought that the loss of the money had turned his head. But it at last came out that aside from the fact that he was a Chicago merchant the story was false in every particular. The police were enraged, and locked the hoaxer in an asylum as soon as possible. They still remember the great laugh that arose all over the country.

Inspector Byrnes tells a story of the same nature. A merchant who lives here and is reputed as sane as anyone could be came to him one day and said that his wife was being annoyed by anonymous letters from a woman who was trying to blackmail him. He went on to tell all about the contents of the letters, and the inspector began to feel greatly interested in the case, which he realized was difficult. At length he said:

"I can see only one way. We must bring this woman face to face with your wife."

"No, no," said the merchant, "that would never do. You see my wife is a wonderful woman. She can read people's thoughts. She can look right into my mind and see what is going on there. All she has to do is to take hold of my great toe. Then she reads my thoughts."

The inspector caught on at once and remarked that this was a strong objection. He got rid of the man as soon as possible and never saw him again. As he is still doing business, it is supposed that he keeps his craze to himself and carefully guards his feet from his wife.

One day a man rushed into police headquarters much excited. He was deaf and dumb. He seemed almost prostrated with terror. After they had calmed him a little, he explained that he had been robbed of four thousand dollars by some men, who had thrown him down and nearly choked him to death. The inspector had a searching examination made, and after a day or two proved conclusively by the man's friends that he had not been robbed, and that he was not even deaf and dumb. The inspector was not pleased at having this sort of a trick played upon him. So he sat the man down in a chair and engaged him in conversation. One of the detective sergeants slipped up behind him and jabbed a pin into his back about two inches. The deaf and dumb man rose straight up and yelled:

"Great God, inspector, what was that?"

"That," said the inspector, "is my cure for dumbness. Git!"

He was gone, and seems to have been permanently cured.

Captain Reilly tells of a man who called on him a short time ago with an odd complaint. He was a quiet, gentlemanly person, well advanced in years. He said: "I am much troubled with large steamboats plowing up and down near my house at night. They make a great whistling and blowing, and I cannot sleep for them."

Captain Reilly supposed the man lived near the water front, and said:

"Where is your home?"

"I live on Seventeenth street, tween Seventh and Eighth avenues," said he. "The steamboats go up and down Seventeenth street. It is very annoying."

"It must be," said Captain Reilly. "I'll have it stopped."

The next day he sent around and told the man that he had had the steamboats stopped. A few days afterward the man called and thanked him. "They have stopped entirely," said he, "and I can never repay you."

"That's all right," said the police officer. "Seventeenth street is not a water thoroughfare and we never could allow it. You will not be disturbed any more."

Dr. Douglas, of the insane board at the Bellevue hospital, says that these cases are generally difficult to detect. A few days ago a young German woman was brought to the asylum to be examined as to her sanity. They watched her night and day for five days, and she neither said nor did anything out of the way. The sixth day she told the nurse confidentially that God had appeared to her in a vision, and had told her to go and marry a certain white-haired old man who would meet her in a certain place. She complained bitterly of the hardness of a lot which would compel her to waste her youthful charms, but she said she must do as the Lord bade her. —N. Y. Sun.

THE ART OF SPINNING.

Beginning of One of the Most Important Industries of To-Day.

A traveler gives an interesting account, in the latter part of the seventeenth century, of German schools for spinning for little maids of six and over, where they were taught to make a fine thread that they could never make if the learning were delayed, the teacher sitting in the center of the room, a long white wand in hand, with which she tapped the idlers, and a seach child could spin a fine and finer thread she was raised to a higher form, spinning being the education, and all the promotions and chastisements of schools in general being observed. It was at about the same date that the laird's daughter of Barganan—Christian Shaw—herself commenced the spinning of fine linen thread in Dundee, selling it to the lace makers, and so brought about what with subsequent improvements proved to be a great industry, for which good work we may forgive her for having been the cause of the burning of five witches. It was not long afterward that the wife of Fletcher of Saltoun took a journey over seas with two experts disguised as servants, and brought back to her parish the secrets connected with the weaving of hollands, "to the great enrichment of the inhabitants." It was a woman, too, who in 1725 brought into Scotland from Holland, where almost all such ideas seem to have been in a very forward state, the art of spinning white sewing thread, and we can picture to ourselves the need she had of it before she went a fearsome journey, and watched and waited, like a spy, among foreign people, in order to bring it into use—a great business now, giving support to thousands, giving comfort to millions. —Harper's Bazar.

In Sharp Demand.

Capitalist—I understand you have just returned from a western trip. They say here money is in sharp demand all through that section. How did you find it?

Wagleigh—In sharp demand? Well, rather. Why, the train we came through on was held up twice in one day.—Light.

—"Just think of it," communed the anarchist with himself. "I find a nickel in the street and two seconds afterwards I find a saloon. Some men are born lucky."—Fliegende Blatter.

A Definition.

"What is the meaning of 'meantime,' Johnny?" asked the teacher.

"School-time," answered Johnny, promptly.—Harper's Young People.

Not Quite Clear.

"I can't see," said Jimmieboy, "why fish have to be cleaned. They're in bathing all the time."—Harper's Young People.

THIS MAY MEAN YOU.

At Least It Is Worth Your While to Read and Ponder Over It.

What is the matter with our young and middle-aged men?

Many a man who had formerly supposed himself possessed of a powerful physique and strong and steady nerves, wonders at his feeling of exhaustion, lassitude and lack of inclination for physical

WEAK AND NERVOUS, and mental exertions. Where before he had a feeling of strong and vigorous physical and nerve power, he now has only a sense of weakness, languor, dullness and exhaustion. This is often especially noticeable in the morning.

The night's sleep, which should refresh the system and restore strength and vigor to the nerves and muscles, often leaves the person in the morning more tired and exhausted than on retiring.

Business men and clerks, whose prosperity depends upon their clearness of brains and mind, find their mental strength impaired and their endurance and power to work, read or study, diminished.

Professional men students and merchants often find their power of thought decreased; where formerly they could endure many consecutive hours of close application of the mind, they now find that the thoughts wander and there is liability to fix the mind for any length of time upon one subject; with this there is an extremely nervous and irritable condition, a dull, cloudy sensation, often accompanied by disagreeable feelings in the head and eyes.

As these symptoms increase there is usually a derangement of the digestive organs, with a gradual failing of strength and weakness and pain in the back. There is often a bad taste in the mouth in the morning, the vision becomes dim, the memory is impaired and there is frequent dizziness. Persons thus affected are often despondent and suffer from gloom and depression of the mind. The nerves become so weakened after a time that the least excitement or shock will flush the face or bring on a tremor or trembling, often attended by more or less palpitation of the heart.

DISCOURAGED SUFFERER FROM NERVOUS DEBILITY.

The patient having these symptoms, or a portion of them, is suffering from nervous debility, caused by exhausted nervous vitality from those excesses and abuses which must inevitably gradually break down the nervous and physical system, unless a proper strengthening and invigorating remedy is used to overcome the weakness and re establish health and strength.

Luckily, there is a great and wonderful restorative which will give back to the weakened and exhausted system the strength it has lost; a marvellous remedy which imparts strength and vigor to the brain and nerves, vitalizes and invigorates all the physical powers, dispels, as if by magic, the despondency and gloom of mind, and restores us again to that grand degree of lusty strength, of bounding pulse and strong physical and nerve power which in ignorance or folly we have exhausted.

This wonderful discovery is Dr. Greene's Nervura, the great brain, nerve and strength restorer. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, and can be procured at any druggists for $1 per bottle. It is an absolute specific for nervous and physical debility. Persons with weakened nerves and exhausted vitality can regain perfect and complete strength by its use. It restores lost energy and invigorates the weakened vital forces in old and young. Try it and you will never regret it.

STRONG NERVE—PERFECT VIGOR.

Positive Proof.

I was afflicted for five years with nervous debility, and last winter I was down sick with it. I had a good doctor, but got only temporary relief; I then took six bottles of Dr. Greene's Nervura and it cured me. W. W. CORNELL,

1,024 Ward St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth St., New York, its discoverer, is the famous specialist in the cure of nervous and chronic diseases. The doctor has devoted special attention to the treatment of all forms of chronic diseases through letter correspondence, and will give by mail his opinion and advice in any case free of charge. The perfection of this system renders a complete cure almost assured, as his success in treatment by correspondence is wonderful and unequalled.

N. B. Send for symptom blank to fill out, or write Dr. Greene about your case, and a carefully considered letter, fully explaining your disease and giving you a perfect understanding of all its symptoms will be returned, free of charge.

Lost Health Restored.

Starkey, Yates Co., N. Y., June, 1890.

I was suffering from general debility fifteen months, had eight doctors treat me, took all sorts of medicine, slept hardly more than one hour, nights, sweat a good deal, got so weak that it seemed the last of my life, my heart troubled me so that I couldn't sit up nor walk. After I took the second bottle of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic my appetite returned, slept nearly all night, the sweats and heart trouble disappeared, and now am happy to say that I can work again and enjoy good health.

SUSPECT FOUL PLAY

Four Men Thought to Have Been Killed by Fishermen.

THEIR BODIES BADLY BRUISED.

They May Have Been Drowned, but the Newark Police Are Investigating.

They Have Discovered that There Was a Fight on the Fishing Gounds—The Coroner to Disinter the Bodies and Hold an Autopsy—The Suspected Fishermen Refuse to Talk About the Case.

NEWARK, N. J., May 27.—The police are disturbed over the new and startling developments in the recent drowning of four men off the dike half a mile south of Newark Bay on the Hackensack River. It is supposed that the boat in which the men were fishing accidentally upset, and the darkness and fog prevented them from seeing the shore, but now a relative of one them claims that they were attacked by fishermen, on whose grounds their boat had floated, and lost their lives in the fight which ensued.

The victims were Harry Gasser, his brother Jacob, Charles Harenberg, a brother-in-law of the Gassers, and Joseph Fuss. The quartet got a boat at Kroll's boathouse, intending to spend the night fishing in the Hackensack. They were all sober.

The next morning their boat was found bottom side up floating down stream, and when a fisherman pulled up his nets in the morning the body of one of the men was found fast in the meshes. It proved to be that of Harry Gasser. Fuss' body was washed ashore near the same place. Then the search began for Harenberg and Jacob Gasser. Their bodies were fished up in big nets, with hundreds of fish wriggling around them.

When the relatives of the men were notified, George Wagner and William Harenberg went to Bayonne to make arrangements for the removal of the bodies. They noticed that the bodies of Gasser and Harenberg were considerably bruised about the head. The contusions appeared to have been made with pike-poles or some sharp-pointed instrument, and the gashes looked as if they might have been made with a club.

Rumors of a Battle.

The fishermen argued that all these marks were made while the bodies lay in the water, or in falling out of the boats their heads might have come in contact with the side of it. At first the heart-broken relatives took this view of the situation, but when they heard rumors of a fierce battle which the fishermen who owned the nets in that quarter had a week previous with some trespassers, they were inclined to be suspicious. After the funeral the families talked the matter over and decided to make known their suspicion of foul play to the authorities. An investigation was begun at once, which thus far has revealed enough to satisfy the police that there was a fight that night on the fishing grounds, but which of the numerous fishermen were concerned in it they have not yet discovered.

The Bodies to be Disinterred.

William Harrenberg, representing the relatives, is fully convinced that there are good grounds for suspecting foul play, and in order to proceed in an intelligent manner the coroner will have the bodies disinterred and hold an autopsy which will probably throw some light on the manner in which the wounds were received.

The fishermen around the fishing grounds were noticeably scarce and those present refused to talk about the case. One of them admitted that they were very much troubled with parties who insisted upon fishing upon their grounds, and boldly stated that there was "no law in the land that would interfere with a man for protecting his property."

The sudden taking off of the four excursionists leaves four widows and 17 children without means of support. The men all worked in the Domestic Sewing Machine factory, and the other employes are taking up a fund for the temporary maintenance of the bereaved families. Harenberg was a Mason, and the lodge to which he belonged will do all they can to assist the police in discovering the cause of his death.

A Vanderbilt Will Contest.

NEW YORK, May 27.—An action has begun in the Supreme Court in which Henry Allen, a nephew of Commodore Vanderbilt, seeks a half a million slice of the estate left by the latter. Allen states that by his uncle's will $4,500,000 was given to the commodore's young widow and the ten children by his first wife which he left, but the rest of his estate of $125,000,000 went to William H. Vanderbilt. The mother of the plaintiff began a contest of the will, and plaintiff claims that the contest was dropped on a compromise, William H. Vanderbilt agreeing to pay Mrs. Allen $600,000 more than the bequest. The suit is brought to recover this promised money which was never paid.

Queen Liliuokalani is Popular.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—The steamship Zealandia, just arrived here from Honolulu, reports that Queen Liliuokalani had been received enthusiastically everywhere by her subjects during her tour of the islands. The appointment of Walter Hill, an ex-journalist, as Postmaster-General of Hawaii, is said to be contemplated.

A Dangerous Lunatic at Large.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 27.—William McLaughlin, an inmate of the Monroe County Insane Asylum, has escaped from that institution. Dr. Howard considers him a dangerous lunatic. McLaughlin is an old police court character. He was sent to Auburn prison seven years ago and was then discovered to be insane.

Serious Trouble Over Appointing a City Treasurer in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—The County Commissioners claim that they have the right to appoint a City Treasurer, and accordingly elected Richard G. Oelbrecht of the Record office City and County Treasurer.

The City Councils also claim the right to elect the City Treasurer.

Private dispatches from Harrisburg state that the Senate will refuse to confirm the Governor's nomination of Mr. Wright and the matter will probably have to be decided by the Supreme Court.

Bardsley is still sick in bed at his home in Germantown, but the physician in charge says he will probably be able to appear in court Friday. It is now said that he will have to secure bail in the sum of $80,000, $50,000 to satisfy the State and $30,000 for the city, or go to jail just as soon as he is able to leave the house, or if his illness shows signs of continuing the court may not wait his recovery, but order him locked up at any time.

NOT THE TOBIN MURDERER.

The Father of Frank Videto Says His Son Was Never in Franklin.

ERIE, Pa., May 27.—Mr. Guy Videto, father of Frank Videto, who was arrested in Chicago on suspicion of being implicated in the Tobin murder case at Franklin, Pa., made a statement here regarding his son's departure from this county. Mr. Videto lives at Harborcreek and is a highly respected farmer.

He says his son Frank had trouble with his wife. She placed their child in a home and began suit for divorce. Frank obtained the release of the child and with it left Erie on March 3 last. Mr. Videto has heard from him at regular intervals until the past week. He says Frank was never in Franklin and was in the West when Tobin's murder occurred on March 21.

IN A TRANCE.

Mrs. Pancoast's Case Bothering the Physicians at May's Landing.

MAY'S LANDING, N. J., May 27.—Mrs. Iola Pancoast has been in a trance for the past four days, despite the efforts of physicians.

Mrs. Pancoast left her home in Millville last Friday evening to visit her parents in this place apparently in good health. When the train arrived in Richland she fell in a dead faint.

She was cared for as well as possible until the train arrived here, when she was taken to her father's house.

She showed no signs of life. Physicians could do nothing. She has since revived twice, but only for a few hours.

Jewish Settlement in New Jersey.

NEW YORK, May 27.—A. S. Solomon, general agent of the Baron de Hirsch fund, says that the trustees of the fund had decided upon purchasing a large tract of land at Harrison, N. J., whereon it is contemplated to build 300 cottages for the use of the recently arrived Jewish immigrants. Each home will have a small parcel of land attached to allow the raising of vegetables, etc., for the actual consumption of the occupants.

Mrs. Hall Escaped With a Fine.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 27.—Mrs. Lillian M. Hall of Ellington pleaded guilty in the United States Supreme Court to the charges of devising and operating a scheme whereby she received various articles from charitable people. Many persons of Ellington signed a petition asking for a light sentence for the woman, and this the judge complied with, fining her $300 and costs.

Big Mortgage on a China Plant.

TRENTON, N. J., May 27.—The Trenton China Company, managed by the same officers as the Star Rubber Company, is in a bad way. At an early hour mortgages to the amount of $850,000 were filed by the company. The mortgages are given to Jonathan Stewart, president, and Thomas Ball, secretary.

Drowned Herself and Babe.

GALETON, Pa., May 27.—Mrs. Philip Licet drowned her baby and herself near R. W. Clinton & Sons' saw-mill. The bodies were found at about 2 p. m. Her mother had her child clasped in her arms when found. It is supposed that the woman's mind was deranged.

Poor Outlook for Depositors.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 27.—The schedules of Charles W. Scranton, of the wrecked banking house of Bunnell & Scranton, have been filed in the Probate Court. They show individual liabilities $31,553, and assets of less than $5,000.

Robbed and Burned the Building.

COATESVILLE, Pa., May 27.—The post-office and store of J. L. Leech & Son at Pomeroy, near here, were robbed last night, after which the thieves set fire to building, which was burned. Loss about $5,000. There is no clue to the robbers.

Gave a Million to the Fair.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 27.—The World's Fair bill, giving $1,000,000, passed the Senate by a vote of 26 to 11.

BASEBALL BATTLES

The Giants Win the First Game from the Leaders.

ANSON WAS SURE OF VICTORY

The New Yorks Made All Their Runs in the Eighth Inning.

Boston Badly Beaten by the Smoky City Team—Cleveland Defeats the Brooklyns—Kelly's Team Win by an Old-Fashioned Score—An Eastern League Game Postponed on Account of Cold Weather.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Anson's crack players were beaten in a most remarkable game here, when the Giants snatched victory from what seemed to be certain defeat. So sure were Anson and the others of victory that they got a trifle careless, and, being caught unawares and napping, were an easy prey for the wily Giants from the metropolis. At the end of the game, when he saw that he had been really and truly beaten out, after having been certain of winning, Anson was fairly beside himself.

The home team started the game and made three large sized runs in the first inning. After Ryan went out Cooney took first on balls, Dahlen then surprised Rusie with a three-bagger. A sacrifice by Anson, a base on balls to Carroll, and a hit by Wilmot did the business. This fusilade startled Rusie and not another hit was made off him. A base on balls to Ryan a steal and two sacrifices gave the Chicagos their last run in the fifth.

The Giants could not score until the eighth inning. Buckley got in a safe hunt. Rusie followed with a single. Gore filled the bases on Cooney's error. Richardson went out. Buckley spoiled on Pfeffer's error. Tiernan sent Rusie home. Connor sent in Gore and Tiernan with a corking two-bagger and scored himself on a vivid throw Staley Will Pitch for the Bostons.

PITTSBURG, May 27.—Harry Staley, the well-known pitcher of the Pittsburg club, has been signed by Manager Selee to play with the Boston League team.

GOV. LADD INAUGURATED.

The Newly-Elected State Officers of Rhode Island Sworn In.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 27.—A large assemblage witnessed the organization of the new Legislature. The members of the Senate were administered the oath of office by Secretary of State McGinness. Eugene F. Warner, Republican, of Coventry, was elected Clerk without opposition. In the House the members were also sworn in by Secretary McGinness, and Adin B. Capron, of Smithfield, Republican, was elected Speaker over James L. Brown of Woonsocket, Democrat, by a vote of 52 to 14.

The State officers were then sworn in and the usual proclamation was made in ancient form from the balcony of the State House to the waiting crowds below, while cannon boomed in salute.

Governor Davis, in a few appropriate remarks, resigned his office to the Governor-elect, who replied briefly. The Grand Committee then arose, and the two bodies separated.

Governor Ladd announced to the Senate the appointment of his personal staff and also an executive secretary. Both Houses then adjourned, and a procession was formed of waiting military, which escorted the newly-elected State officers about the city to the Governor's headquarters at the Aquidneck House.

JESSE POMEROY FAILS AGAIN.

The Young Murderer Makes Another Effort to Escape from Prison.

BOSTON, May 27.—It was discovered yesterday that Jesse Pomeroy had drilled and sawed off the lock from the door of his cell in the "Arch," where the worst prisoners are confined, at the State prison.

He had sawed his iron bed in two and taken off an iron leg, with which he had pushed back the bolt. The drill and saw were found in his cell, but how Pomeroy got them is a mystery. At noon one of the convicts was missing from his cell, where a well-made-up dummy was found. It failed to deceive the officer, who found the man stowed away in one of the lofts, and he proved to be Daniel Mullin, who is serving five years for robbing a jewelry store.

Pomeroy and Mullin were at once placed in solitary confinement.

COOKED HER CHILD'S BODY.

The Horrible Feast Given by a Negro Woman in Georgia.

WASHINGTON, Ga., May 27.—A negro woman in this county killed her little daughter, cooked the body like veal, gave a hot supper, and realized $15 on the feast. After the supper there was a dance. Some one asked what kind of meat it was, and another child of the woman said it was her little sister's body.

A negro carried a bone to a doctor, who pronounced it that of a human being. The woman had declined to eat of the meat. The negroes are much aroused and swear vengeance. An official investigation will be made.

Withdraw from the National Union.

PITTSBURG, May 27.—Twenty-one delegates from the Pittsburg District of the United Mine Workers of America met here and decided to withdraw from the national organization. The convention represented about 1,500 miners, there being about 10,000 in the district. The cause for the withdrawal lies in the stand taken by the national officers in refusing to precipitate a general eight-hour battle on May 1 last.

For the Double-Scull Championship.

TORONTO, Ont., May 27.—Hanlan and O'Connor last evening met Richard Dissette, representing Jake Gaudaur and McKay, and drew up articles for a race for the double-scull championship of the world, to take place about the middle of July, for $1,000 a side. One hundred dollars a side was deposited by each party, and David Ward, of Toronto, was agreed upon as stakeholder.

The Parnell Trouble in New York.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The action of Eugene Kelly in transmitting $15,000 to Justin McCarthy, for distribution among the evicted tenants in Ireland, is to be reviewed in court. Counsel for R. O'Neill and others has made application to Judge Pratt, in Brooklyn, to enjoin Eugene Kelly from paying any more money, whatever, to McCarthy. The matter comes up for a hearing on Friday.

The Japanese Women Released.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 27.—The nine Japanese women, who were brought to this country on the steamship Pemptos, and who were refused a landing by the customs officials of San Francisco on the ground that they had been brought to the country for immoral purposes, were brought before United States Judge Dealy on a writ of habeas corpus. The judge ordered the women set at liberty.

Butchers in Convention.

PITTSBURG, May 27.—The sixth annual convention of the Butchers' National Protective Association of the United States is in session at Carnegie Hall, Allegheny City. Delegates from all parts of the country to the number of 200 are present. The convention will last four days.

A Professional Singer Arrested.

BOSTON, May 27.—John P. Moxon is under arrest, charged with having stolen a quantity of jewelry and some money from the dressing rooms of the actors connected with a troupe with whom he sang in the Bijou. Moxon is a professional singer.

Fishermen Lost.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., May 27.—Two seamen, named respectively Daniel and James McPhee, belonging to the schooner John G. Whittier, were lost off Scatterie while attending trawls. Nothing has been heard of either of the men or their boat.

Ballot Reform Bill Passed.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 27.—The Senate passed the Baker Ballot Reform bill by a vote of 34 to 14.

WILL RAUM RETIRE?

The Matter Discussed at a Cabinet Meeting.

DAVIDSON MAY GET THE PLACE.

The President and Secretary Noble to Confer Before Action is Taken.

The Behring Sea Question Considered by the Cabinet—Great Reticence in Official Circles About the Matter—A Belief that the Canadian Government is Urging England to Delay Matters.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—A New Yorker may again become Commissioner of Pensions. Since the advent here of the Empire State leaders the question as to who shall succeed Commissioner Raum, should he retire, has been earnestly discussed.

It is reported that at the Cabinet meeting, Pension Office matters were under advisement. The discussion is said to have drifted into one as to who would be the most available man to select as Raum's successor in case he should resign.

The President is reported to have expressed an objection to taking a new man, and asked how First Deputy Pension Commissioner Davidson would do. It is said that no objection whatever was offered. The President and Secretary Noble are to have another conference before decisive action is taken.

Gen. Raum's friends say that he intends to stick if he can.

A CABINET SECRET.

The Behring Sea Question Discussed but No Decisive Action Taken.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The Behring Sea question was considered at the Cabinet meeting, but if a conclusion was reached it was not made public.

Secretary Foster declined to say whether or not a conclusion had been reached. He admitted that the matter was almost the sole subject of consideration at the Cabinet meeting. Prior to the meeting of the Cabinet the subject was discussed by the President and a number of government officials.

Ex-Minister John W. Foster, Acting-Secretary of State Adee, Secretary Tracy, Secretary Foster, Capt. Shephard of the revenue marine service, who is familiar with Behring Sea affairs, having commanded the Rush when she made so many captures two years ago, and Mr. Tingle, supervising special agent of the Treasury Department, met as if by concert with the President in his library, and discussed for two hours the Behring Sea question. The discussion was continued at the Cabinet meeting, which lasted two hours and a half.

A Cabinet officer informed the representative of the North American Commercial Company, which has the contract for killing seals at the Seal Islands, that the Cabinet reached no conclusion in the matter. So far as could be learned no orders have been sent to the Rush at San Francisco to sail to the Seal Islands, and this would appear to confirm the report that the Cabinet reached no decision.

The greatest reticence is shown in official circles about the matter. The idea is advanced that the Canadian government is urging the English government to delay matters, in order that Canadian poachers now in the Behring Sea, of which there are nearly 60, can have time to catch seals as they proceed from the north to the Seal Islands. This is the time that they emigrate in great numbers.

Smugglers Clear $1,200,000.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—A dispatch from San Francisco says it is stated that a cargo of 100,000 pounds of opium, brought from China on the yacht Halcyon has been smuggled into this country. The opium was transferred from the yacht to a small steamer, which in turn loaded the drug on a lumber schooner in Puget Sound. With the duty on opium at $12 a pound, the opium ring made a profit of $1,200,000 by the transaction.

A Painting of Ex-President Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—A life-size oil painting of ex-President Cleveland, by E. K. Johnson, a New York artist, has been hung up in the vestibule of the Executive Mansion. It attracted considerable attention from visitors. After hanging in its present position for several months it will be placed among the portraits of other ex-Presidents in the private parlor of the White House.

To Attend Judge Houk's Funeral.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The following members of the House of Representatives have been appointed a committee to attend the funeral of the late Representative Leonidas C. Houk, of the Third District of Tennessee: Taylor, Enloe and McMillan, of Tennessee; Crisp, of Georgia; Wilson, of Kentucky, and Dalzell, of Pennsylvania.

The Parnell-O'Shea Marriage.

LONDON, May 27.—It is possible that the marriage of Mr. Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea may be delayed for a time, owing to the death of Lady Wood, wife of Gen. Evelyn Wood, brother of Mrs. O'Shea. This, however, is by no means certain, as Gen. and Lady Wood have for some months past, chiefly owing to property matters, and partly also to the Parnell scandal, not been on speaking terms with Mrs. O'Shea.

Leap Frog Caused His Death.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., May 27.—Bert Howlett, aged 15, died last evening from injuries received while playing leap frog at school here. He was a son of Thomas Howlitt of New York.

Donnelly Found Guilty.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Henry Donnelly was found guilty of murder in the second degree in the Court of Sessions, for the killing of his wife Bridget, last December.

SENATOR CALL ELECTED.

Great Excitement Over the Breaking of the Florida Deadlock.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 27.—The motion in the Democratic Senatorial caucus to adjourn without day was carried early in the morning, after an exciting all-night debate.

The anti-Call men played their last card a few hours later, leaving the city in a body, so that they thought no quorum would be present and a joint session would be rendered impossible.

The president of the Senate issued orders to the Sergeant-at-Arms, and, with a posse, this officer started out on the track of the filibusters.

At 12:30 all the members of the two Houses present in the city assembled in the hall. A roll-call showed 54 present, which was a quorum.

Several anti-Calls were present, but they refused to answer to their names and appealed from the decision of the chair.

Voting began at once for United States Senator. Fifty-one votes were cast for Wilkinson Call and one for Mays.

The president then declared Call re-elected for the six years, amid tumultuous applause, members cheering and yelling their joy over the breaking of the deadlock. Call made a brief address.

FATAL KNOCK-OUT BLOW.

Pugilist Burns Dead and Harry Tracy Arrested for Manslaughter.

LYNN, Mass, May 27.—Another case of a prize fight ending fatally has been added to the list. James Burns, a local pugilist, died yesterday in the hospital here. Harry Tracy, of Cambridge, knocked him out on Monday evening in eight rounds in the rooms of the Lynn Athletic Club. The blow that knocked him out ruptured a blood vessel in his brain, and he was in an unconscious condition until his death.

Tracy was arrested and charged with manslaughter. The referee and others who assisted in the fight will also be arrested.

Burns once fought and killed Nicholas McGlone of Natick, the latter dying from congestion caused by blows upon the body next the heart.

THE DAILY PRESS.

W. L. & A. L. FORCE, Publishers and Proprietors.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - Managing Editor.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Great bargains in fast-black hose, at Peck's.

—J. W. VanSickle, the North avenue meat merchant, has two handsome new delivery wagons.

—The "Toast Cigar" is N. H. Guttman's latest. Read his "toast to the public", and take a smoke on't.

—A regular business meeting of the Woman's Temperance Aid Society will be held in Reform Hall Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

—The new line of the Lehigh Valley railway, from Newark to South Plainfield, is said to be one of the heaviest and best constructed roads in America.

—The Unmates played the Merts a game of base-ball, yesterday, and won by the score of 13 to 9. The battery for the Unmates was Chargois and Carney; for the Merts, J. Keefe and J. Cook.

—The closing exercises of the year, of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the Trinity Reformed church, will be held in the lecture room of the church to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Friends of the society are invited.

—The brave capture by Charles Runyon of a runaway horse on Park avenue, yesterday morning, was witnessed and applauded by a number of men who realized that they would not have cared to take the risk themselves.

—A reader asks: "What is our national anthem?" Just now it seems to be "Comrades, Comrades, Ever Since We Were Boys"; a little while ago it was "That Is Love"; and just previous to that "Annie Rooney" seemed to be in the lead.

—Members of Gazelle Engine Co. No. 1 are requested to meet in their parlors to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, to attend the funeral services of Mrs. Vincent L. Frazee, at No. 20 Orchard place, at 3:30. By order foreman. T. A. SOFIELD, Secretary.

—The Pierson Hardware Co. are closing out their goods at 42 West Front street at greatly reduced prices. Their ranges, screen doors and window screens are being sold at a great reduction. They are open every evening until 8:30 o'clock.

—The Young Senators will play any base-ball nine whose members are under thirteen years of age. Address Felix Chargois, 7 West Second street. The nine are: F. Chargois, p.; D. Carney, c.; L. Doyle, ss.; P. Fleming, 1b.; G. Hewitt, rf.; T. Hewitt, 2b.; C. Viner, cf.; J. Cook, lf.; J. Conway, 3b.

—It will not do to miss the interesting "Chalk and Talk" at the Congregational church Thursday evening, for the entertainment promises to be pleasing, to say the least. Mr. Merriam is recommended very highly, and the strawberries and cream which may be had after the "Talk" cannot be surpassed.

—The First Baptist people have consummated arrangements for a choice organ recital to be given in the church the evening of June 9. Among the noted talent that has been secured will appear Dr. S. N. Penfield of New York, ex-president of the New York State association, who will preside at the organ, and Mrs. Emma Watson Doty, late soloist of St. Mark's church, New York, who will sing.

—Edsall announces in another column that he will close his store at 12 o'clock noon on Decoration Day and remain closed until Monday morning. It is hoped that all the dealers will do the same and make a general afternoon holiday. The shoe dealers are talking about keeping open until 10 o'clock in the morning and then closing till 6 o'clock in the evening. This does not fill the bill, and it is hoped that they may change the order and close at 12 noon, and keep closed all day. Honor the dead heroes, and give the clerks a rest!

—On Friday evening of this week, at the Warren Union Mission chapel, under the auspices of the Young People's Society for the benefit of the organ fund, the Hotchkin Sisters, who were here about two years ago at Music Hall under the auspices of the Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union, will give one of their excellent entertainments, consisting of instrumental and vocal music and bell ringing. These people are classed among the first, and come very highly spoken of throughout the country where they have appeared. The general admission is twenty-five cents.

—The Elizabeth Daily Journal says: "J. E. Pucci, the well-known tenor soloist of the Amphion Society of this city, has taken the management of the Postal Telegraph Company at Plainfield. Mr. Pucci was formerly sub-manager of the B. and O. Telegraph Company of New York, and was later in the Auditing Department of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Mr. Pucci was well-known in musical circles, and his many friends unite in wishing him good luck and prosperity in his new home." He has already made noticeable improvements in the Plainfield Postal Telegraph office, which now gives superior service.

Decoration Day With the Seventh-Day Baptists.

Special Decoration Day services will be held at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, at 10:30 a. m., Saturday. Fuller notice will be published Friday.

Going to the country? Take a bottle of Knapp's Root Beer Extract. Yes, a half dozen of them.

A LOCOMOTIVE ON FIRE.

Trainmen Rip Off Its Iron Jacket and Play on It with a Hose.

When the Royal Blue Line train drawn by locomotive 146 reached Plainfield, shortly after ten o'clock this morning, she was enveloped in a cloud of smoke, and a halt was made at the North avenue station to have the fire extinguished that was burning underneath the sheet iron jacket of the boiler. Between the sheet-iron and the boiler plates themselves, on each locomotive, is a coat of wood-work. Experienced railroad men say that this cannot catch fire from the heat of the boiler itself, because of a wisely-provided air-space, else locomotives would be burning every day. It is thought, therefore, that a spark from the smokestack got through some crevice of the sheet-iron, and that the fierce wind caused by the whizzing of the train generated the fire that was smouldering in the wood when the trainmen at the North avenue station ripped off the iron jacket. The station master at once ran out a length of garden hose, and for fifteen minutes a steady stream of water was kept flooding the blazing wood-work. When the last spark was extinguished the disfigured locomotive proceeded on to Jersey City with its train, twenty minutes late. The entire wooden jacket, the boards of which are an inch thick, from cab to smokestack, was badly charred, and the spectators carried away bits of the black coals as souvenirs of the singular and unusual accident.

Plainfield's Dr. Hurlbut Tells How to Run a Sunday-school.

The meeting of the Sunday-school Superintendents' Association at Newark, Monday evening, was a decided success. A large company of superintendents and their assistants, including many ladies, were in attendance. The Rev. Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut's address, on "The True Aim of the Sabbath-school", was full of practical hints, and was listened to with great interest. The speaker said that three things should be aimed at in Sabbath-school work: First, the school should be made so attractive that scholars will take delight in coming to it; second, the Bible and not the lesson-leaf must be the textbook; third, the scholar's salvation should be kept in view always, as the all-important aim of Sabbath-school work. These points were enlarged upon, and then Dr. Hurlbut closed his address with an argument for the grading of schools by promotions at stated intervals. Questions were asked by those present, and the answers by Dr. Hurlbut formed an important feature of the evening. After a brief business meeting, refreshments were served, and the remaining time was spent in social intercourse. The next meeting of the association will take place about the 1st of December.

Emancipation Day Officials.

The General Committee of Arrangements for the proposed celebration of Emancipation Day met last night and appointed the following officers and sub-committees:

President—Wm. E. Johnson.
Vice President—Benjamin Sutton.
Recording Secretary—Wm. Kline.
Financial Secretary—A. W. Brown.
Corresponding Secretary—Wm. J. Douglass.
Treasurer—James A. Saunders.
Finance Committee—Peter Anderson, Peter Wyckoff, Benjamin Sutton.
Reception Committee—Israel Jones, Alonzo Hill, Wm. Manning.
Printing Committee—Israel Jones, Peter Anderson, Wm. Kline.

The committees will begin active work at once, and get everything ready for a big celebration, in accordance with the plans already published in THE PRESS.

Affectionate Veneration for His Noble Qualities.

At a special meeting of the Medical Staff of Muhlenberg Hospital, held May 14, to take action in reference to the death of the late Dr. Abraham Coles, the following tribute was offered:

We, the Medical Staff of Muhlenberg Hospital, bow in profound sorrow and humble submission to the Divine Will in removing from our number Dr. Abraham Coles, who for years has occupied the position of consulting physician on our board.

We desire to record our appreciation of his skill as a physician; also our affectionate veneration for his noble qualities of heart and and mind, as exemplified by his Christian character and ability as an author and linguist. We also respectfully tender to the family our sympathy in their affliction.

T. H. TOMLINSON,
G. W. ENDICOTT,
Committee.

A Missionary's Return.

The Rev. Dr. Thomas H. Stockton, of the Newark M. E. Conference, of which the Plainfield church is a member, and who has had charge of First Methodist Episcopal church in Buenos Ayres, South America, for eight years, has returned to the United States for a few months' vacation and on business connected with the South American mission. His family remain in Buenos Ayres, and he expects to return in three or four months. Dr. Stockton's address while in this country will be 150 Fifth avenue, New York.

It's Engineer Grannatt Now.

The members of Gazelle Engine Company have done themselves credit in expelling from office and membership wife-deserter John B. Gable, for conduct unbecoming a fireman and citizen. Wm. B Grannatt was unanimously elected engineer in Gable's place, and his appointment was promptly confirmed by the Board of Engineers.

During the heated term the human system requires a gentle, cooling stimulant. What a blessing then to be able to make five gallons of a delicious temperance drink from a 25-cent package of Hires's Root Beer.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Tiemann Newell Horn, of this city, will be graduated from the United States Military Academy, at West Point, June 12.

Felix Marx, of East Front street, will sail for Europe, Saturday, by the "Britannic". He goes particularly to be present at the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of his mother, who is still living at Remiremont, Vosges, France, near the borders of Alsace. It will be a joyful family gathering, as all her children, four in number, are alive and will be there. Mr. Marx will be absent about four months. He takes with him the two children of his son, Ernest Marx, who will be given a course in French and German, abroad.

How Many Will Plainfield Send?

The World's Students' Conference will, at Mr. Moody's invitation, be held at Northfield, Mass., June 27 to July 10. The following is a description of the attractions of the place:

"It is incomparable for beauty, commanding as it does one of the greatest views in New England. The Connecticut river flows close by, and the mountains are on every side. Opportunity is afforded for nearly every species of recreation except skating. The athletic attractions include tennis, swimming, base-ball, the 'field day', and jovial Fourth of July celebration.

"To be at Northfield is to have a unique experience anyhow; to some it goes further—it is a revelation of what is possible in the line of pure fun, unalloyed with anything low; to the majority it is yet more.

"There will be this year a larger foreign delegation than ever before, and one representing more student centres abroad."

Mr. Moody, who presides at all sessions of the Conference, expects the following, among others, to be present as speakers: The Rev. Dr. Smith of Edinburgh, the Rev. John McNeill, the Rev. Dr. Moorhead, Prof. W. R. Harper, and Prof. W. W. Moore of Hampden.

Eight representatives of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. occupied two tents there last year, and it is hoped that a larger party will be in attendance this summer. The entire cost, including traveling expenses, need not exceed twenty dollars. Information will be furnished by W. D. Murray and J. A. Robinson, and at the Association rooms.

Oscar Teale Elected a Member of the Council.

The American Photographic Conference, consisting of delegates from thirty-three clubs in the different States of the Union, convened at the rooms of the Society of Amateur Photographers of New York, at 113 West 38th street, yesterday morning. Dr. Ely Van De Warker of Syracuse occupied the chair. The Photo-American Review was adopted as the conference organ, and all papers read before the conference were ordered turned over to T. J. Burton, its editor, for publication. The following officers were re-elected: President—Dr. Ely Van De Warker of the Syracuse Camera Club; First Vice President—George Bullock of the Cincinnati Camera Club; Second Vice President—Dr. George L. Parmele of the Camera Club of Hartford; Secretary—T. J. Burton of the Society of Amateur Photographers of New York; Treasurer—W. H. Drew of the Boston Camera Club and the Lynn Camera Club. Miss Frances B. Johnston of the Washington Camera Club was chosen a member of the Council in place of R. Dickinson Jewett of the same club, and Oscar S. Teale, president of the Plainfield Camera Club, in place of Frank C. Beach, of the Society of Amateur Photographers of New York.

Vicissitudes of Mr. Balcom's Fortune.

Clark Balcom, the Fulton Market merchant who was bankrupted last summer by an unsuccessful though very energetic endeavor to found a new borough, to be called Aguan Park, on the Lehigh Valley road, between Plainfield and Metuchen, is now apparently in a fair way to renewed financial prosperity. His wife has recovered possession of her real estate hereabouts, and Mr. Balcom is organizing a company to furnish hotels and steamships with all sorts of provisions, to be called the European and American Supply Company, and doing business at the corner of Chambers and Washington streets, New York. When his exchequer was in good condition Mr. Balcom "cut a big swath" in Metuchen, with his "four-in-hand", drag or landau, liveried driver, etc. During a series of union revival meetings last winter he publicly gave notice that he should "turn over a new leaf", and in a few days will be received into the Baptist church of Stelton.

Running a Jersey Railroad.

The Morris & Essex road will soon put on an express train from Bernardsville, one of Somerset county's pleasant mountain villages just back of North Plainfield, to New York. The New Yorkers think it should make no stops between Bernardsville and the big city; Newarkers think, of course, it should stop there; Summit people suggest that a stop there is demanded by business interests; Basking Ridge is quite certain that no train should pass that place without stopping; Short Hills is of like opinion, and there are just seventeen other stations on the line that feel the same way. This is the sort of thing that makes running a railroad so interesting.

"Eat what is set before you for conscience sake, asking no questions"—but if you're got a real stubborn cold, buy a small bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and cure it quickly.

The Merchants of Plainfield,

And other friends, we thank for their kind and substantial endorsement of our new enterprise.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Rockford, Conn.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed.—Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

A VARIED PROGRAMME.

The Melopoia's Season Closes With an Enjoyable Concert of Song, Harp and Vocalion.

The final concert of the Melopoia Society, which was given at The Casino, last evening, was as enthusiastically received as any which preceded it. The hall, which was tastefully decorated with flowers, was filled with some of the best of Plainfield's music lovers. The programme was varied and as exclusively published in THE PRESS of Monday, except that Miss Stoddard and Mr. Dressler were absent. Madame Vogrich's was a warm reception, and an encore for both her selections was given her. Her charm lies not so much in the quality of the tone of her voice (for there she lacks), as in her artistic singing, expression and delicacy of modulation.

Andreas Dippel is naturally gifted with a remarkably robust tenor voice, upon which his reputation is based. He sings with wretched method and occasionally false intonation. He took a liberty last evening which seems to be quite the fashion, that of changing the programme. He sang his second selection first. As the character of the song was taken away, so far as an American audience was concerned, by his singing German words, those of the hearers who were familiar with neither the song nor the German language knew not what they were hearing. He also spoils it for those who are most familiar with it by insisting upon singing a minor phrase, in the major. He received an encore, however, giving "Schubert's Serenade".

Miss Inez Carusi is a harpist of ability, showing herself mistress of her instrument. She gave as encores "The Last Rose of Summer" and a Spanish dance. It may be noted, in passing, that the harp she played on cost $2,000.

The chorus, augmented by members of the Rubinstein Club and a few tenors and basses, did excellent work. Of the ladies' choruses, the "Old German Shepherd's Song" received an encore. "The Lost Chord" was finely rendered with the exception of a slight deviation from the pitch in one part. The chorus of Israelitish Women from "The Captivity", with harp and piano accompaniment, was very sweet, as was also "Taking the Veil", accompanied by the organ and chimes in imitation of the convent bells. The last part was repeated softly behind the scene by Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Hanchett and Miss Lawler. In the absence of Mr. Dressler, who was to have played the vocalion, the position was ably filled by Miss Utter. Charles J. Fisk acquitted himself admirably in handling the chimes.

In the concerted work, "The Magic of Spring" was exceedingly well sung, with abandon and in good rhythm. Gon's "Sanctus", with Mrs. Chapman and Miss Lawler as soloists, and Flotow's "Serenade" with tenor obligato by Herr Dippel, and solos by Miss Lawler and Arthur Freeman, were also well rendered. In the final number, Rossini's "Inflammatus", with obligato by Mme. Vogrich, the chorus did excellent work.

After the audience had dispersed, supper was served to the active members of the Society and the visiting vocalists, in the gallery of The Casino. Then Monday evening's presentation ceremonies to Mr. Chapman were done all over again as described in THE PRESS. Mr. Tyler made the same speech of appreciation, and Mr. Chapman was again overwhelmed with surprise and gratification. He called on Mrs. Chapman to help him out, which that clever woman ably and successfully did.

PLAINFIELD MEN JOIN IN THE FIGHT.

The Suppression of Race-Track Gambling the Sole Object of the League.

A meeting of the Citizens' League of New Jersey, formed in Trenton in May of last year to oppose race-track legislation, was held at Elizabeth yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Dr. Kempshall, of Elizabeth, presided. Among the delegates were the Rev. J. H. Knowles, Secretary of the New Jersey Sabbath Union; the Rev Dr. E. M. Hodman, rector of Grace church, Plainfield; the Rev. Dr. Abbott, of Fort Lee; Mayor Place, of North Plainfield, and the Rev. Dr. Gowan, of Union Hill.

The object of the meeting was to formulate a plan to establish county leagues for prospective work, and a resolution to that effect was adopted. A league is to be formed in every county in the State. Each league is to have an executive committee of four members selected from the different political parties, and each league is to endeavor to secure as many members as possible, irrespective of religious faith or party affiliations.

A resolution amending the constitution of the State League by limiting its action exclusively to opposition to race-track legislation was the subject of much discussion, but was finally adopted. Heretofore Sunday liquor selling and the lowering of saloon licenses were matters to be opposed.

The League declares in its constitution that while the members, as moral and religious citizens, would rejoice to see all vice and immorality abolished, they believe they shall accomplish more immediate and more definite results for good by essaying one thing at a time and limiting their efforts for the present to the single object, the suppression of race-track gambling.

AT JUST HALF THE PRICE.

The Plainfield People to be Rescued From a Monopoly, at Last.

(From The Newark Evening News.)

Competition in gas for purposes of illuminating and fuel is promised in Plainfield for the first time in the history of the city. An application for a franchise to build and operate a gas-producing plant was made Monday night to the Common Council by R. Robertson, a New York capitalist, and James A. Demarest, editor of the Plainfield Press. The company offers to furnish gas in quantities of 200,000 feet per day at $1.25 per 1,000. Local consumers pay $2.50 per 1,000 now.

A Borough Pastor Assists at a Dedication.

Several hundred persons, clergy and laity of the Protestant Episcopal church, among them the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, of the Church of the Holy Cross, North Plainfield, journeyed by special train to Inwood-on-Hudson yesterday to take part in the services attending the blessing of the House of Mercy, St. Agnes's House, and St. Saviour's Sanitarium, and the consecration of St. Saviour's chapel by Bishop Henry C. Potter. Following the ceremonies the visitors inspected the institution, which is one of the most completely appointed of its kind in the country.

The new House of Mercy has been erected on a plateau, one of the highest points at the northerly end of New York Island, a half mile north of Inwood station, on the Hudson, and within 400 feet of the river, equal in area to eighty city lots. The building consists of a main structure 204 feet in length, facing the west and river front, with wings at each and running at right angles to the rear, and 104 and 128 feet respectively in depth.

The building is so arranged as to provide three distinct divisions of the institution work—the House of Mercy proper, St. Agnes's House, and a division for penitents. Each division has everything necessary for its proper and systematic working, and the inmates of one division are not brought in contact with those of the others.

The dedicatory and consecration ceremonies were according to the beautiful ritual of the Episcopal church appointed for such occasions. The procession, headed by the vested choir of the Church of the Transfiguration, traversed the broad corridors of the house to the strains of "Onward, Christian Soldiers", and at the entrance to each division of the building Bishop Potter pronounced the prescribed blessing.

The procession comprised, first, a crucifer, followed by the choristers, to whom succeeded the architect, Henry M. Congdon, and the lay members of the Board of Trustees of the House of Mercy, together with the Rev. Mr. Murphy and his brother clergymen, escorting the presiding Bishop.

The House of Mercy is open to visitors every day in the week.

Funeral of Dr. Coles.

A letter from Miss Coles, of Scotch Plains, who is still in the west, where her father died, announces that the funeral of the late Dr. Abraham Coles will probably take place in the Peddie Memorial church, Newark, this week Saturday.

Oh, What a Cough

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

The Suburban Fever.

Coming off a Jersey Central ferryboat on the New York side one morning recently, a well-known commuter was observed to pass his hand carefully and anxiously over his coat, making an especially rigorous examination of the hem of his garment.

"What the deuce are you looking for?" inquired a friend.

"Am I all right?"—asked the commuter, nervously. The friend answered him that he was.

"It's this cussed real estate business"—said the commuter.—"I'm interested in real estate myself, but there's such a thing, in my opinion, as carrying real estate too far. Now, there's a fellow up the road here who's so enthusiastic over the business that he pins his circulars to our coat tails. It's all right, of course, and I respect attention to business as much as the next man, but I'm derned if I'm going to make a real estate bulletin of my back for any man."

Plainfield's Diocese Voted to Confirm.

The following is the vote of the Standing Committees of the various Episcopal Dioceses—compiled by a Plainfield churchman—up to the present time, on the confirmation and rejection of the Rev. Phillips Brooks, D. D., to the office of Bishop of Massachusetts.

Those in favor of his confirmation vote yes; those against, no.

Those voting yes are as follows:

Albany, Central Pennsylvania, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey (of which Plainfield's churches are members), New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Tennessee, West Missouri, West Virginia, Rhode Island, Connecticut.

No—Newark, Iowa, Milwaukee, Ohio. Divided — Chicago. Tabled — Western New York, Virginia, Long Island. Nine more votes in favor will confirm him. It is expected that he will win.

Harvard and Yale Cannot Agree.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 27.—Harvard and Yale graduates held a long conference in this city last evening. The Harvard men submitted a proposition to arrange a schedule of ball games between Yale and Harvard without regard to the other colleges. The Yale men insisted that the schedule, which included Princeton, should not be set aside. It is certain, therefore, that there will be no ball games between the Harvard and Yale University teams this year.

Three Deaths in a Mine.

BRECKINRIDGE, Col., May 27.—A terrible accident occurred about 9 a. m. at the Little Corporal mines, near this place, by which three men, William Barklie, John Dierks and E. Benson, lost their lives. Their deaths resulted from foul air.

Connecticut Votes for Dr. Brooks.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for six weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am nearly cured, and yet it seems too good to be true. Have no doubt but that much of the sleeplessness people complain of is caused by indigestion.

WHEN TWO TOGETHER WALK.

Any long and winding way
Lonely is to one;
But when two together walk
Toward the setting sun,
Swift of wing will pass the day,
And full short will seem the way,
For they two are company—
Each to the other one.

When two at a burden lift,
Each is twice as strong;
When two can together sing,
Blither is the song.
Here a tear, and there a smile,
This is life a little while;
But when two together walk,
Light the heart and strong.

NATHAN'S BEAR HUNT.

How He and His Wife Went After the Turnip Eater.

The Cunning Old Man Relates His Experience as a Solemn Warning to Long Jake, and Then Goes After the Bear Himself.

It was early in the morning, and, as usual, old man Nathan was hard at work in his garden. He had finished weeding his lettuce, and was just in the act of doing a little chopping to onions when Long Jake stepped over the garden fence and stood in front of him.

"Mornin', old man."

"Howdy, Jake."

"Old man," said Jake, thrusting his hands down deep in his pockets and dropping down on the bean arbor, "bein' as I have been workin' so steady of late I knocked off for to-day—thought I'd like a little rest, you know; every fellow does mostly. S'pose 'you take a holiday, too, an' we'll go for a hunt. Simmins says b'ar tracks was seen down by the Pint. P'raps we might tumble crost a b'ar."

"Mebby so, Jake," replied Nathan, as he took the quid of tobacco from his mouth, stuck it on his hoe-handle and seatedh imself on a head of cabbage—"mebby so; but more 'an likely the b'ar'd tumble 'ross us. Look here, man, did you ever kill a b'ar?"

"No, sir."

"Did you ever see one?"

"No, 'cept in circuses," answered Jake, slowly.

"Then you better not tackle b'ars. You don't know nothin' 'bout 'em. There's as much difference 'tween a show b'ar an' one in the woods as there is 'tween me an' a mule. Them in circuses is made to order, has to be drawed up, you know, to fit the cage. If they won't, why no tent in the country could hold two of 'em. Great day in the mornin' man, if you want to see what a outlandish thing a b'ar is, you mus' see him in the woods; then he's in his element, an' sure's my name's Nathan you'd think he was an elephant.

"Let me tell you something 'bout these creeters, and when I get through if you are still struck on huntin' b'ar I'll not say a word agin it. When we was livin' in Miss'sippi I gardened for a livin', just as I do now, an' there wan't a man roun' who made as fine turnups as I did. I remember that in partic'lar. I hed one bed 'bout eighty foot squar', chuck full of milky-white turnups pretty nigh as big as your head. Well, that bed was the pride of my heart. They was a sight! At first one was 'nough to last us all day, an' after while we just took half of one an' sent other half to Miss Jones, our neighbor, who was an old maid an' not very good at raisin' things.

"Well, one day Cinda came in puffin' an' blowin' like some old steam engine. She drap down in a chair, an' rollin' her eyes 'bout like somethin' was mighty wrong. She said: 'Lord, Nathan, every last turnup's gone. There a'n't a leaf left of none of 'em. I'm tired of that kind of business. Last week that old po' calf of Miss Hannons broke off a picket an d stole a turnup fo' I could catch him. Bet 'taint nothin' but him. Git your gun, Nathan, an' I'll take the broom. We'll just go down to that old brier patch, where that beast stays, an' fix him so he won't pester our crops no more!'

"I was mad as a wildcat. So, while Cinda was puttin' on her sun-bonnet an' lookin' for the broom, I loaded up my gun. When both of us was ready we started down the road that led to that brier-patch, an' if you had seen us you'd a thought we was out for a week's camp in a woods filled with wolves, for that's just what we looked like. It was right smart of a walk, so long 'fore we got there Cinda got so tired that she had to take her sun-bonnet off.

"We was 'bout an hour gettin' there, an' when we did we didn't see nothin' but ourselves. I looked at Cinda an' began to cuss. I was so mad 'cause there wan't nothin' for me to shoot. Cinda looked at me and said: 'You needn't be oneasy; he's in thar; he has to stay out of sight to keep folks from laughin' at him. He an't only po', but thar an't much hair left on him, so he's sorter shamed, you know. There's a place to go in that thicket somewhere; find it first, then you'll be all right. Have your gun ready.' We went roun' and roun' that place, but blessed if we found where the door was. We was rather tired at first, but now we was tired all over again. Cinda says: 'Never mind, old man; I'll fix him. You git on that side and I'll stay here, and when I call him out you shoot—I can give him a whack with the broom afterward.' 'All right,' says I, 'go ahead.'

"Cinda begun, and said 'Suke, Suke,' till I was sick of hearin' it an' she sick of sayin' it. Then she walked up close to the briers, took hold of a vine that was runnin' through it, an' commenced pullin' an' shakin' for all she was worth. There was an awful crackin', an' twice I thought I heard a curus noise. D'reckly Cinda said: 'I see him, the ugly, hateful thing. He don't look like the same go' old brown calf; them turnups is becomin' to him, sure. He's got life in him, too, standin' up there on his hind legs an' grinnin' at me like I was funny lookin'. I'll show him how to grin.'

"With that she gived him a mighty hard punch with the broom, hollered: 'Lord have mussy, look out, Nathan,' an' took to her heels, leavin' the broom an' her sunbonnet in the brier patch.

When I looked up the road to see where she was goin' to all I saw was her lef' leg as it flew roun' the corner. I was just on the p'int of gettin' 'stonished at her when I heard a noise right in front of me like somethin' was in a bad humor. Lord, I will never forgit that time! Right by me, standin' on his hind legs an' showin' every tooth he had, was a b'ar nigh onto big as a horse.

"For once in my life I was skeered, an' skeered bad. My hair walked about over my head, 'twas so brissly, an' I felt mighty creepy all down my back. No wonder Cinda had run; but what in the name of goodness did she punch a b'ar with a broom for? That's what got me. But nobody knows what a woman is goin' to do; they has curus idees sometimes. That they has, an' you don't have to be married long to find 'em out, neither. That punchin' had done the work; he was mad, bad mad, an' I thought he'd eat me sure. I lifted up my gun an' fired, but didn't hit him. I shot again, but was lookin' so hard at him that I didn't aim straight. If he was mad before he was ravin' now. He dropped down on all fours, riz up tall an' dreadful lookin', then come down an' went for me. Both barrels of my gun was empty; there wan't no time to load; so there wasn't but one thing to do, an' that was fight like man to man for life. I went at him an' hit him so hard that my gun fell in two, an' then I thought I was done for. Didn't have a minit to pick up nothin'. I was just standin' there, big-eyed as a mule, puffin', blowin', dodgin', bowin' and scrapin', tryin' to keep out of that fellow's claws.

"He was gittin' closer an' closer, seemed to me, every minit, but I still fit an' fit. First thing I knowed his paw struck my pants-leg, an' open it went clear down to the bottom. Them was close quarters, let me tell you—so close that I took to my heels, too. I went roun' an' roun' that brier patch till I was drunk, an' he after me like a whirlwin'. Lordy, Lordy! My breath was all gone, an' I was, too. Not far off was a tree. It wan't much higher'n me, an' had limbs close to the groun'; but that wa'nt nothin'. I was 'bliged to git somewhere where I could rest, for I was plum wored out. I watched my chance an' made a break. Up that tree I went, hand over hand an' feet over feet.

"But up come the b'ar just like he was a race horse. I went higher, up to a little twig, an' off it broke, sottin' me flat down on the groun'. I thought sure I was in purgatory, an' was just goin' to say my prayers when I seen the b'ar couldn't see me on account of the brush, an' I cut down the road for home. But no use to think I could get away from that fellow; he was after me in a second; and such a race! There was a big ditch that I had forgot about, so down I went to the very bottom, an' he on top of me. Well, sir, he fell like he weighed seven thousand pounds, though I don't know as he did. He nearly smothered me 'fore he begun to stir 'roun'. He struck me on my head an' pulled off half my scalp, then he chewed off these two fingers, an' by the time he had bit a hole clear through my leg I scrambled out of the ditch with him close on behind. We was both so full of mud that if it hadn't been for the stingin' of them bites I wouldn't have known the b'ar from me.

"I had a good half mile to go yet, and didn't have much idee of gettin' there, for I was 'bout as weak as a baby. I put my best foot front an' started, an' didn't make such bad time after all. I just got over my yard fence in time to keep him from takin' off the other side of my scalp, as his havin' to climb kind of stopped him. I thought my race was over then; but Cinda had all the doors an' winders shet so tight I couldn't get in to save my soul. I didn't have a minit to spar, so I flew 'roun' to the back of the house, hopin' to find somethin' was open 'roun' thar; but no, everything was tight. I sure was in a fix. There was a ladder not far from the back door, an' I went for it. It was hard to climb, an' 'fore I was four feet from the groun' the b'ar caught holt of my ragged pants an' pulled me down again.

"Well, sir, I flew 'roun' that ladder like a kite an' yellin' to Cinda at the top of my voice to open the back door for me. After I'd been callin' an' flyin' for it seems to me half a day, tho' 'twan't mor'n ten minits, Cinda opened the door a crack an' I bounced in, fell on the floor in a fit an' didn't come to till next day.

"Tom Biers an' seven other men managed to kill the b'ar that night, but couldn't find nothin' big 'nough to weigh him. I couldn't talk for a week, couldn't walk for six an' my leg is shakin' yet. The whole neighborhood pulled up stakes an' left, an' now that place ain't nothin' but pines an' b'ars. Look here, young un, you's too fresh. Next time you git such a notion you go fishin'. Is you b'ar struck yit?"

"Nope," answered Long Jake, pulling up a bunch of shallots and stepping back over the fence. "I'm goin' back to work."

"'A riglar soft he is," said Nathan to himself. "I've saf-soaped him good. He's off, way off, if he thinks he's goin' to git that b'ar; he's my meat. I has killed dozens an' dozens of 'em an' never got a scratch from none of 'em. I'll git that un to-night, an' lay off to-morry, so I can eat b'ar meat all day. Dinged if I don't."

Nathan "riz up" from the head of cabbage, picked up his hoe, took his chew from the handle, put it back in his mouth and proceeded to work his onions.—Philadelphia Times.

Head Hunters.

Visitor—What is your work?

Editor—I put heads on the articles that appear in the paper.

Visitor—And what does that stout fellow over there do?

Editor—He puts heads on the men who want to write articles for us.—Munsey's Weekly.

—It Stood.—A dying reporter in Providence wrote his last will on a paper collar with a lead pencil, and it stood to be admitted to probate. Perhaps the reason of it, however, was because he had only a pair of boots to will away.

"YOU ARE SO YOUNG TO SUFFER!"

This occurrence is frequent. Young girls in public schools where great rivalry exists, often try to accomplish too much, and soon discover that their delicate organizations are unequal to the mental strain. Then the ambitious child is taken from school—"to rest"—in disappointment.

This is wrong. The ambitions of a child should be aided, not blasted. Thoughtful, intelligent mothers know what to do. Thousands of bright eyed, rosy cheeked, energetic and lovable school girls regard Mrs. Pinkham as their mainstay. They are right.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Is the only Positive Cure and Legitimate Remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women.

It cures the worst forms of Female Complaints, that Bearing-down Feeling, Weak Back, Falling and Displacement of the Womb, Inflammation, Ovarian Troubles, and all Organic Diseases of the Uterus or Womb, and is invaluable to the Change of Life. Dissolves and expels Tumors from the Uterus at an early stage, and checks any tendency to Cancerous Humor. Subdues Faintness, Excitability, Nervous Prostration, Exhaustion, and strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, etc., and invigorates the whole system. For the cure of Kidney Complaints of either sex, the Compound has no rival.

All Druggists sell it as a standard article, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00.

AFRICAN HAIR-DRESSING.

It Is Often Very Elaborate, Involving Much Time in the Work.

A limited wardrobe, such as befits the climate, may in a brief manner be stated as the general characteristic of African dress, says Peoples of the World. What little they wear is, however, in many cases peculiar enough to merit a few words, and is sometimes combined with an extraordinary furor for improving on nature by disturbing their otherwise not particularly handsome countenances. Among the Manganjas, for example, it is the head upon which the greatest elaboration is bestowed. The most favorite form of dressing the hair is to take a couple of pieces of wet, pliable hide, and shape them into the form of ox or buffalo horns, after which they are allowed to dry. They are then fastened to each side of the forehead and the hair trained over them and plastered into position by means of grease and clay. Two horns are the favorite ornament, but sometimes only one is used; in the latter case the wearer looks like a black bipedal unicorn.

Others vary this style of hair-dressing by twisting up a number of locks all over the head into the shape of miniature horns, so as to cause a porcupine-like appearance in the practicer of this extraordinary style of head dress. Pigtails, so far as their short "wool" will allow, are also in vogue among some of this tribe. The women, as might be expected, are also by no means without fastidiousness in dressing and ornamenting their hair, but this is quite overshadowed by another effort at beautifying in which they excel, namely, in wearing the "pelele" or ring of ivory, metal, or bamboo, which is of considerable size, in their upper lip, the orifice for its reception being gradually enlarged from early girlhood until it can receive the full-sized ring, which, among the Mangania belles, constitutes the acme of female loveliness made perfect.

The wearing of this hideous ornament alters the whole appearance of the face and renders it impossible for the women to pronounce the labial letters. Hence a woman in this tribe speaks differently from the men. Some of the women even tattoo, but owing to the darkness of their skin this mode of decoration cannot get shown to advantage and is not very popular. It is not pleasant to record of a nation so fond of dress that they seemed to be entirely unconscious that in civilized eyes cleanliness is a virtue which ranks even higher than tattooing. They are filthy in the extreme. One old man denied that it was true that he had ever washed himself; he had really done so once, but it was so long ago that he could not trust his memory to say how many years had elapsed since that notable event. It is almost superfluous to add that skin diseases are, in consequence common among them and exhibit most persistent and virulent forms.

WHERE IS THE ITATA

The Charleston Has Arrived at Callao.

DID NOT SEE THE PRIVATEER.

She Will Now Join the Squadron in Chilian Waters.

Conflicting Reports About the Esmeralda—It is Rumored that the Vessel Has Obtained Coal—Paris Confirms the Report—A Denial that the Mexican Authorities Are Aiding the Insurgents.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The cruiser Charleston reports to the Navy Department that she has arrived at Callao and has seen nothing of the Itata.

The Charleston will join the squadron under Admiral McCann in Chilian waters, and it is surmised that a report will soon come thence announcing the peaceful surrender by the insurgents of the elusive craft, which the United States Government will libel and perhaps forfeit for violation of our neutrality laws.

The report published in New York of advices by private letter from the City of Mexico that the Mexican authorities are giving aid to the Chilian insurgents, is not borne out by any information in possession of the Chilian Legation at Washington.

On the contrary, telegrams just received report as follows: "Chilian rebel cruiser Esmeralda still at Acapulco; her officers have been trying in vain to buy provisions, merchants refusing to accept the drafts offered in payment on credits which are not considered good."

It is also stated that President Diaz, of Mexico, refuses to entertain any propositions from the Chilian rebels or in their interest. This policy disconcerts the insurgents as much as that of the Governments of the United States, France, Germany and England has.

The Esmeralda Receives Coal.

CITY OF MEXICO, via Galveston, May 28.—The Anglo-American publishes a statement to the effect that the government has allowed the cruiser Esmeralda to coal.

Confirmation from Paris.

PARIS, May 28.—Communications received here from Mexico by the officials of the Mexican Legation in this city explain that the coaling of the Chilian insurgent warship Esmeralda at Acapulco does not imply that the Mexican government has recognized the Congressional party as belligerents.

DEFEAT FOR DR. BRIGGS.

He is Condemned by the Committee on Theological Seminaries.

DETROIT, May 28.—The Presbyterian General Assembly has fired off its first gun in the Briggs fight.

The Committee on Theological Seminaries condemns Dr. Briggs and strongly advises that his appointment to the chair of biblical theology in Union Theological Seminary be disapproved.

The recommendation was coupled with another to appoint a committee of 15 to confer with the seminary as to the relations of the institution with the general assembly. What this second recommendation means no one seems to know. The Rev. Dr. Roberts, Chairman of the Westminster Catechism Revision Committee, said frankly that he had not the least idea what it meant. The Rev. Dr. Ormiston said: "It was the sugar coating over the quinine pill." But he could not explain his explanation.

It is expected that the case will be finally disposed of this afternoon.

The Rev. De. Parkhurst of New York, a strong defender of Dr. Briggs, says: "If the General Assembly condemns Dr. Briggs it is simply going to drive some of our brightest and best men out of the Presbyterian church, for, as I said in my sermon last Sunday, the question that is on the lips of thousands of young men who are on the threshold of the ministry is: 'Can I entertain my intellectual self respect?' My own idea is that there is plenty of room for cerebration within the limits of Presbyterian principles.

"The great trouble is that Dr. Briggs's critics have fired at him from long range, and in many instances without understanding the facts in the matter at all. One distinguished minister wrote a three-column article attacking Dr. Briggs, and afterward admitted that he had not read Briggs's inaugural or even seen it.

"There is this thing about it all: They may crush Briggs, but they cannot crush the spirit he represents."

Commissioner Raum's Successor.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—First Assistant Commissioner of Pensions Davidson emphatically denies any knowledge of the published statement that the President was considering his fitness for the Commissionership. He said he knew nothing about it until he read it in the newspapers, and denies that he ever had an interview with the President on the subject. Notwithstanding this denial, it was learned from another source that the President had sent for several members of the New York delegation to Congress to ascertain Mr. Davidson's political standing, as well as his military record.

Maryland Unanimous for Dr. Brooks.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 28.—The convention of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Maryland met at noon for the 107th annual session, and unanimously voted in favor of endorsing the election of the Rev. Dr. Phillips Brooks as Bishop of Massachusetts.

PETER HART'S AWFUL FATE.

He Dropped a Can of Glycerine and Was Blown to Atoms.

BRADFORD, Pa., May 28.—Peter Hart, a torpedo shooter, was instantly killed last evening, three miles north of this city, by an explosion of glycerine.

He had exploded a 40-quart shot of glycerine in an oil well at Rew City and had returned to his magazine. Instead of depositing the remainder of the load where he had his wagon he secreted several cans of it in a hollow stump 200 feet from the magazine. Why he did this is unknown. While so doing it is supposed that he accidentally dropped a can in the stump and the explosion followed.

The report was heard for miles around and when persons in the neighborhood reached the scene all that could be seen was a deep hole in the ground and a few fragments of human flesh scattered about to tell the story of the man's awful fate. Hart's remains were gathered up and filled a grape basket. His team was found a few rods away, uninjured, but quite deaf. Hart was known all through the oil country as an expert shooter.

EXCITING SCENE IN COURT.

The Young Italian Girl Declared Guiltless of Shooting Her Lover.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The jury in the case of Pasquelina Robertiello, charged with the murder of her faithless lover, Nicolo Pierro, brought in a verdict of not guilty, after a deliberation of over five hours.

Deafening cheers from the 500 spectators in the court room greeted the verdict, but the judge expressed his displeasure at this proceeding by ordering several of the more enthusiastic placed under arrest. They were, however, subsequently released.

As soon as the verdict was explained to the pretty little Italian girl, she burst into a violent fit of weeping. Later she left the court room with her mother, and the crowd followed, cheering at intervals.

THE TOBIN MYSTERY.

An Ex-Convict Suspected of Complicity in the Murder.

ERIE, Pa., May 28.—The photograph of a man named Daniel O'Brien, a prisoner in the Erie jail, has been identified by three persons at Franklin, Pa., as that of a man who is suspected of complicity in the Tobin murder mystery at that place on the night of March 21.

O'Brien comes from Syracuse, N. Y., and is an ex-convict. His pal, another well-known crook, was killed by falling from the third story of a hotel window in this city a couple of weeks ago. Both were going under assumed names, and O'Brien was arrested on suspicion of having caused his partner's death.

He will be taken to Franklin for more positive identification in the Tobin affair.

Conservatives Elect the Moderator.

PITTSBURG, May 28.—The Rev. R. C. Wiley, of Ray, Ind., was elected Moderator of the Reformed Protestant Synod last night by a vote of 94 out of 150. His election is a victory for the conservatives. The vote was a test of the strength of the two factions. The Rev. J. M. Armour, of Philadelphia, the candidate of the liberals, received but 39 votes. The Rev. T. C. Sproull, of Cedarville, O., received 28 votes.

A Strike for a Nine-Hour Day.

NYACK, N. Y., May 28.—All the iron workers and machinists at the yacht-building establishment of A. L. Seabury & Co. have struck for nine hours. The strikers have been receiving good wages, but as the carpenters and joiners employed by the company work but nine hours, they are inclined to the belief that they should be served the same way. The firm say they cannot allow them the nine-hour day.

Princeton Money Missing.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 28.—Thomas H. Warren, the last treasurer of the township of Princeton, and a prominent candidate for re-election to that office, has been sued by the township for $12,000, the amount of his bonds. It is alleged that several irregularities have been found in his books, and it is thought that some moneys which had been intrusted to his care are missing.

A Railroad Employe Sued for $7,000.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 28.—John Griffin, an employe of the New York & New Haven Railroad, has been sued by George McQueeny, another employe of the road, for $7,000. The latter claims that while at work Griffin intentionally turned on the water in a hot water escape, thereby burning McQueeny's body in a very painful manner.

Fruit Damaged by Frost.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 28.—There was a heavy frost last night in this section and the damage done to early vegetables and fruits is reported to be more serious than any that has occurred through the same cause this spring. It has seriously damaged grapes beyond a doubt.

Fourth-Class Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Fourth-class postmasters were appointed in New York State as follows: E. C. Grant, at Farmer Village, Seneca County; D. W. Carlough, Hopewell, Ontario County, and M. C. Bachman, Kandaia, Seneca County.

THEY WANT JUSTICE

New Orleans Is Restless Over the Bribery Cases.

SERIOUS TROUBLE EXPECTED.

The Newspapers Say the People Will Not Be Trifled With.

They Deplore a Re-Enactment of the Scenes of March 14—Rudini and Porter Have an Important Interview—The Lynching Question Has Assumed a Fresh Phase—Mayor Shakespeare's Views.

NEW ORLEANS, May 28.—The situation as regards the jury bribing cases in connection with the Hennessey assassination case creates much public comment and no little excitement here.

Yesterday it was discovered that a material State witness in two of the cases had disappeared, and the cases in question have been continued until the witness could be brought back to the city.

The testimony required is that of a young man named Leonce Burthe, a member of a well known family. Burthe has been located in St. Louis, where he has relatives. He was a tales juror in the Hennessey case, and it was upon his testimony before the grand jury to the effect that he had been corruptly approached by Ferdinand Armant, a criminal lawyer, that the latter was indicted for attempting to bribe a juror.

Mutterings of Another Storm.

There are many mutterings of discontent. The apparent spiriting away of one of the principal witnesses and the assertion that the law cannot punish bribers of tales jurors have made a bad impression on the public mind and may lead to serious trouble.

The newspapers are loud in their warnings that the temper of the people will not longer permit the delay in the purification of the fountains of justice. The New Delta says: "New Orleans is not in a mood to be trifled with. We would greatly deplore a re-enactment of the scenes of March 14, but on that day the people were destroying not individuals, but a system, and they are determined that that system in all its offshoots and ramifications shall be destroyed by legal and judicial methods if possible, but destroyed."

Rudini and Porter Talk.

ROME, May 28.—The Marquis di Rudini has had an important interview with Mr. Porter, the United States Minister, and the New Orleans question has assumed a fresh phase.

THE MAFIA SUBDUED.

They Are Getting Out of New Orleans as Fast as They Can.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 28.—Mayor Joseph A. Shakespeare, of New Orleans, is in this city. He was asked: "What is the position of the Mafia at New Orleans at the present time?"

"They are quiet, quieter than they have been for years," he replied. "The lesson taught them at the parish prison has had a most excellent effect, and I do not anticipate that we will have any further trouble with them. I do not think that there are more than 300 Mafia in New Orleans at present, and the number is rapidly diminishing, as they are getting out of town as fast as they can."

"Is Blaine's management of the controversy with the Italian government popular in New Orleans?" he was asked.

"It is, indeed, and I intend to make it more popular. In fact, I intend to become Jim Blaine No. 2. The rascals now know what they have to expect if they indulge in their peculiar line of business and can be relied upon to keep very quiet in the future. They know that there is plenty of the same kind of medicine ready as was administered to Hennessey's murderers, and one dose will be enough."

Mayor Shakespeare believes that Consul Corte was in sympathy with the criminal element among the Italians of New Orleans.

SUITS ARE THREATENED.

The Bunnell & Scranton Suspension—Creditors Angry at the Outlook.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 28.—The hearing on the appointment of a trustee to take charge of the affairs of the recently suspended firm of Bunnell & Scranton was well attended by the creditors of the firm.

The hearing was in the Probate Court. E. G. Stoddard, President of the New Haven County Bank was appointed trustee for the individual estate of Mr. Scranton. His bond was fixed at $10,000, and of the firm's estate with a bond of $150,000.

Herbert C. Warren and Wilbur F. Day were appointed appraisers of both estates.

The poor showing made in the schedules has aroused the ire of some of the creditors, and a number of law suits are threatened.

Some of the more outspoken creditors demand the arrest of Mr. Scranton.

A BATCH OF OFFICIALS

Rhode Island's Legislature Elects Several Court Judges.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 28.—Both branches of the Legislature met in Grand Committee during the afternoon to elect State officials. Charles Matteson was re-elected Chief Justice of the Supreme Court without opposition.

For Associate Justice to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Judge Matteson, Horatio Rogers, of Providence, Rep., was elected.

For the new Associate Justice, provided for by the law adopted during the morning, William W. Douglass, of Providence, Rep., was elected, but the vote was close, as many Republicans joined with the Democrats on the theory that the Democrats were entitled to one representative on the bench.

Albert C. Landers, of Newport, Rep., was elected State Auditor and Elisha H. Rhodes was chosen Brigadier-General of the State militia for five years. Many minor offices were filled, after which the grand committee adjourned.

BARDSLEY'S CONDITION.

Likely to be Able to Appear at the Hearing To-morrow.

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—A report to Chief of Detectives Wood by Detectives Miller and Tate and Special Ritchie, who last night watched over Treasurer Bardsley, was a very favorable one. It was stated that Mr. Bardsley passed a very easy night, sleeping from 10 o'clock until 6 this morning, when he awoke feeling very much improved.

If Mr. Bardsley keeps on improving, there is but little doubt but that he will be able to be present before Magistrate Pole at noon to-morrow.

District-Attorney Graham has issued another warrant for Bardsley's arrest on a charge of perjury in violating his oath of office in using the public moneys for his own gain.

AN UNCLE'S BRUTAL CRIME.

A Village Excited Over an Outrage Committed by an Old Man.

RONDOUT, N. Y., May 28.—The village of Tivoli is in a state of great excitement over an outrage committed by John Cole, aged 60, on his 13-year-old niece, who is in a critical condition, with the chances against her recovery.

Cole fled before the expose, leaving his wife penniless, having quietly sold and mortgaged all his property.

The victim of the atrocious assault, who is small for her age, says her uncle threatened to kill her if she exposed him. It was not until the child became ill that the facts were brought to light.

DISCUSSED BY WORKMEN.

The Federation of Labor Not Satisfied With the Pope's Encyclical.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 28.—At a largely attended meeting of the Federation of Labor last night the Pope's recent encyclical was severely criticised. President Duncan said the letter contained nothing pertaining to the labor question but that which they already knew; that the Pope told them to do certain things, but did not tell them how they could possibly be accomplished.

Mr. Duncan and a majority of the members agreed that the Pope's allusion to the necessities of life were not satisfactory, and, further, that they were entirely satisfied with the position taken by American ministers on the labor problem, and that the advice coming from them was of vastly more value than any yet received from abroad.

Triple Murder and Suicide.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 28.—A small frame residence at the corner of Buchanan avenue and Gordon street burned during the morning. In the ruins were found the charred remains of Mrs. W. A. Augtegron, aged 25 years, and her three children, all girls, aged from 15 months to 15 years. All the surrounding circumstances point to a deliberate and carefully planned triple murder and suicide. The father is a teamster and left home early to look for work.

Connecticut's Political Contest.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 28.—Political circles are excited over a report from Hartford that the Connecticut Supreme Court, in a Bradford contested election case, has decided that certain so-called "for ballots," similar to those which played so prominent a part in the recent election, are irregular and illegal. The decision will not be filed until next week. If the report be correct, the decision practically decides the State election dispute in favor of the Democrats.

Farmers Make Demands.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 28.—The legislative committee of the Farmers' Alliance of Maryland met here and adopted a resolution recommending that the county associations demand recognition in the nominating conventions, irrespective of party, and insist upon nominating the candidates for the legislative portion of the tickets. Nothing transpired in regard to the third party movement.

Died of Hydrophobia.

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—Max Cleaber, aged 14, died last night of hydrophobia. He was bitten by a dog about three months ago, but the wound was cauterized and healed and no danger was apprehended. Last Monday the wound opened and the boy at once displayed symptoms of hydrophobia. He was so violent at times that it required the combined strength of four men to hold him in bed.

Preparing for War.

PARIS, May 28.—The Chamber of Deputies has passed a bill to stock every fortified town in France with food enough to keep all the inhabitants for two months in time of war.

The Best Time on Record.

SOUTHAMPTON, May 28.—The steamer Fuerst Bismarck from New York passed Sicilly at 4:30. The time of her passage, 6 days 14 hours and 30 minutes, being the best time on record.

THE GIANTS WINNING

They Secure Another Game from the Leaders.

GREAT PITCHING BY SHARROTT.

The Brooklyns Lost at Cleveland and Are Now Last in the Race.

Cincinnati and Boston Add a Few Points to Their Record—The Washington Club Whitewashed by St. Louis—Kelly's Team Secure a Big Score—Eastern Association Games—Standing of the Clubs.

CHICAGO, May 28.—The Giants have won another game from the leaders in the pennant race. Anson's colts seemed paralyzed from the beginning and could do nothing to stay the rapid onward progress of the visitors. The cranks were wild, and, after repeated efforts to put courage into their pets had proved fruitless, they spent their time in guying them.

Jimmy Ryan, generally one of the safest hitters in the League, went down into the dust before young Sharrott. Five times he went to the bat. When he struck out the first time the crowd laughed good naturedly. When he duplicated the fanning process everybody yelled, and when he cut the air into shreds the third time the uproar sounded like wind under a circus tent.

The visitors outplayed the Chicagos at every point. They batted opportunely, stole bases under Nagle's nose, and might as well have made 20 runs. Pfeffer played a miserable game at second. Nagle was unable to pump the ball to second, and five men took advantage of his weakness. Chicago accidentally got a run in the second on Carroll's hit past Sharrott, Tiernan's inglorious muff of Pfeffer's fly, and sacrifices by Wilmot and Luby.

Sharrott's curves and outshoots dazzled the colts, and they were as helpless as a lot of schoolboys. When men were on bases no hits came. The game was so one-sided that it was uninteresting. Ryan's strike-outs were the funny features of the contest.

Gen. Butler's Client to Have a Hearing.

BOSTON, May 28.—Judge Nelson, in the United States District Court, will give a hearing to-morrow at 10 o'clock in the case of Clarette Johnston. Her counsel, Gen. Butler, asked to have the prisoner released on her own recognizance pending the hearing, but Judge Nelson refused to allow this; the court also refused to allow her to give bail with surety.

To Aid Canadian Sugar Refinery.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 28.—It is understood that the Government has decided to grant a rebate on all sugars manufactured in Canada for export, which will place the Canadian refiner in the same position as the American refiner to trade in foreign markets. The Canadian refiners are also pressing for a rebate on sugar manufactured for domestic purposes.

THE BACCARAT CARD CASE.

To be Tried Next Monday and the Prince of Wales to Testify.

LONDON, May 28.—The baccarat card cheating case, in which Sir W. Gordon Cumming is implicated, will come up for trial next Monday before the Lord Chief Justice and a special jury. Applications for seats are pouring in on all sides from people of the highest social position.

The court room, although the largest in the great Palace of Justice, cannot accommodate a tenth part of the applicants for admission. The Prince of Wales has been informed by the solicitors on both sides that his presence is requested. He has in his possession a document signed by Sir W. Go don Cumming after the allegations had been made against him at Tranby Croft.

The Prince will be accommodated with a seat on the bench, and it is expected that both sides will agree that his examination shall be taken as early as possible in the proceedings.

THE FORESTS DOOMED.

A Big Gang of Men Now Building the New Adirondack Railroad.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., May 28.—This place is filled with engineers and surveyors, who are cutting from here through the woods the new Adirondack Railroad.

Twenty-five miles have already been built, and, with all the men that are working now, the road will be finished by August 1. The contract calls for July 15. The cars, rails and all necessary materials have been contracted for and the whole line is located. The men are working day and night, and those best informed state that the forests are doomed.

The opinion is expressed here that the road is being built jointly by the Canadian Pacific and New York Central Railroads, although Dr. Seward Webb poses as the sole projector. Of course, the hotel keepers favor the road, but all the residents express the strongest kind of adverse opinion.

SIR JOHN IS DYING.

The Dominion Premier Attacked With Congestion of the Lungs.

MONTREAL, Que., May 28.—A private dispatch received from an authentic source at Ottawa, says that Sir John Macdonald, the Canadian Premier, is dying.

He was attacked with congestion of the lungs last night, and the dispatch says the doctors have very little hope. Sir John is 76.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The body of William Miller was found under the depot platform at New Milford, Conn., cut in two. It is supposed that he was struck by a train.

The senior class of Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., started for Albany, N. Y., to hold this evening its final class supper. The graduating class this year includes 62 members.

A Berlin dispatch says that Prof. Koch is preparing a statement for publication as to the results of a chemical analysis of the substances composing his remedy for tuberculosis.

Owing to the prevalence of diphtheria among the pupils of the Washington street public school in Montclair, N. J., the trustees decided to close the school for an indefinite period.

Harry Tracey, of Cambridge, Mass., charged with causing the death of John Burns in a glove fight at Lynn on Monday evening, was held in $3,000 for the Superior Court in October.

Dr. James W. White, of Philadelphia, Pa., late President of the Board of Charities and who was removed from office by ex-Mayor Fitler, dropped dead at his residence during the morning.

Two boys named Stillson and Coats, were struck by an express train near Union Village, N. Y., and Stillson was instantly killed. Coates sustained injuries that will probably result in his death.

Frank McCormick, of New York city, who was convicted last week of manslaughter in the first degree in killing Edward Gillespie on November 23, has been sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment at hard labor.

Parnell Will Come.

LONDON, May 28.—Mr. Parnell, it is confidently stated, will pay a visit to the United States as soon as Parliament adjourns.

People's Party State Convention.

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 28.—The People's party will hold a State convention in this city August 5.

THE DAILY PRESS.

W. L. & A. L. FORCE, Publishers and Proprietors.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - - Managing Editor.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Pinkeye is epidemic among horses.

—Saturday being a legal holiday, no issue of THE PRESS will be published.

—The store of Rogers Bros., will be open Friday night until 11 o'clock, but will not be open Saturday until 6 p. m.

—Religious service will be held in the Monroe Avenue chapel Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be led by Mr. Oldham.

—William D. Thickstun will conduct the young men's meeting at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, Sunday afternoon at 4:15.

—A tramp yesterday actually volunteered to split quite a pile of hard wood after he had been fed. What is more, he did it, honestly and conscientiously.

—How did they do it? is the mystery that puzzles whist players when confronted by the score of last night's game between Bergen Point and Westfield.

—The citizens of Evona feel very grateful to Capt. Grant and officer McCue for their vigilance in ridding that vicinity of tramps who have infested the neighborhood for many days.

—The Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will hold its regular meeting at the church to-morrow afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock. All young ladies are welcome.

—A pleasant entertainment was given to the Monroe Avenue chapel Sunday-school Tuesday evening, consisting of stereopticon views exhibited by A. A. Taft. Afterwards there were refreshments.

—Plainfield's Pin Knights and Westfield's Union League (each five-men teams) won a game apiece on the Westfield Athletic Club alleys last night. Plainfield won by 771 to 730, and Westfield by 769 to 735.

—An entertainment will be given in Hope chapel this evening for the benefit of the Sunday-school building fund. Those who are to take part are the children of the school and some talented vocalists from New York.

—Speaking of the proposed base-ball game between the legal lights of Elizabeth and those of Plainfield, the facetious man of the Central New Jersey Times inquires: "Will Judge Nodyne catch Charlie VanWinkle's curves?"

—It is now announced that the funeral of Dr. Abraham Coles will take place at the Peddie Memorial church, Newark, Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. The arrangements are not yet completed, but there will be one or more addresses.

—Since there will be no paper issued from this office Saturday (Memorial Day), pastors who wish their church notices to be published this week must have them in the editor's hands by 11 o'clock to-morrow morning, in time for the issue of Friday afternoon.

—The United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association says: "Although our establishment is purely business, we like to do honor to whom honor is due. Therefore our store will be closed from noon of Saturday (Decoration Day), till 6 a. m. of Monday, June 1."

—A fifteen-year-old girl whose home is a very squalid shanty in New York city stayed precisely one hour in a service place. Her mother had told her she must not remain in any situation where she had not a cherry suit in her bedroom! She is still looking for that essential.

—Contributions of flowers for memorial services will be thankfully received by the joint memorial detail. The flowers left at the schools by the children will be called for by some one authorized by the detail. All other flowers should be left at the office of Terrill & Cole, East Front street.

—One of the fifteen subjects on which the High School pupils are deeply engaged in writing competitive essays is "Ancient Time-Keepers". Now we are going to learn the historic truth about that recently-resurrected relic of prehistoric days, the Plainfield town clock whose tongue was still so many ages.

—A smart young man in the High School is engaged on a composition on "Forest Trees". When he gets through with his poetic description of the various noble growths to be found in the woodland, his father is going to give him a series of lessons on "How to Distinguish Woods and How to Separate Them", with practical illustrations at the sawbuck.

—The New Brunswick Home News inquires: "Has it not occurred to our lady friends that the 'poke bonnet' the Salvation Army girl wears is very becoming, and, besides improving the appearance of the wearer, makes her look much younger? What is more unbecoming to a lady of about forty than a snip of a hat or bonnet? The above is suggested by an old bachelor at our elbow."

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Peter Wooden, the borough's oldest inhabitant, celebrated the ninety-first anniversary of his birth last Sunday, the same day that Timothy H. Morse, Plainfield's oldest citizen, celebrated his ninetieth.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Vail was celebrated at the old Vail homestead, Greenbrook, yesterday afternoon. The happy couple received many congratulations and tokens of affection on the completion of their half-century of wedded happiness. Their children are: George Vail, of Dunellen; William Vail, of North Branch; Randolph Vail, of Greenbrook; and Charles and Albert Vail, of Plainfield. Their grandchildren number fifteen. Their entire lives have been spent in the vicinity of their present home. Mr. Vail was born on the farm adjoining, and Mrs. Vail on the farm opposite. Mrs. Vail's maiden name was Miss Sidney Vail. Her father was Jonah Vail.

MIRTH AND MUSIC.

Romeo and Juliet Given a Modern Murdering by Amateur Actors of the Borough.

The Holy Cross church choir entertained a large and appreciative audience last evening, in the Sunday-school rooms of the church, Holy Rood place, North Plainfield. A neat and complete stage had been erected, with curtains, footlights, and all other necessary histrionic appurtenances, and tasteful floral decorations had been made, so that the various productions of the evening had a very satisfactory setting.

First on the programme was a chorus by the entire choir; the selection was Barnby's "Sweet and Low", and very well was it rendered.

Next came a violin solo by Master Edward Waring, whose rendition of Ernst's beautiful "Serenade" was so pleasing to his hearers that an encore was demanded.

Master Schutt followed, with a vocal solo, "Farewell, Marguerite", by Boardman, which he gave with much tender expression.

A "romantic fairy tale", Romeo and Juliet, (the name by W. Shakespeare; the rest by George Taggart"), was the fourth number, and as everybody anticipated it made a great hit. The part of "Juliet", "a dear girl", was very cleverly impersonated by Will Spencer; "Col. J. Fauntleroy Capulet", "Juliet's" pa, was Howard Spencer in disguise; the "Comte de Paris Green", to whose fortune (a purely mythical one) "Capulet" would fain have wedded "Juliet", might have been recognized as Tiffany Spencer had the "Paris Green" been washed off; "Saltpeter", the "deckhand" in "Capulet's" house, who assisted "Romeo" in carrying out his various intrigues, was William Holmes; "Romeo G McFly" was the author himself, George Taggart. The sketch was a highly amusing one, and the bright sayings and doings of the actors kept the audience in continuous laughter. Incidentally Mr. Taggart gave some very funny character-sketches, reciting various poetic selections in Delsarte style as interpreted by members of McFinnigan's class in "de Fourt' Ward". His verses on "Delsarte" were received with much relish. "Romeo" and "Juliet" also read passages from Shakespeare, in burlesque, very cleverly, while Howard Spencer attempted more serious work in difficult but admirably-executed imitations of Booth and Irving. When the wholesome and enjoyable fun of the one-act "fairy tale" was at an end, Master Charles Turrill, one of the smallest singers in the choir—and one of the "cutest", the ladies said—came modestly to the front and sang in a sweet and tiny voice that catchy little song, "Over in the Barn Yard". His imitation of the rooster's crowing was so daintily mirthful that the audience made him come out and do it all over again.

The familiar and ever-pleasant "Stars of the Summer Night" was sung by a semi-chorus of male voices, and a kinder symphony, "A Jolly Sleighing Party", was given. The musicians were: Sleigh, Will Jeffery; whip, Edward Waring; bells, Arthur Murphy; trumpet, Chas. Barlow; drum, Herbert Schutt; clappers, Arthur Ford and Frank Deutz; triangle, Orville Waring. The Misses Hasbrouck accompanied very ably on the piano. The music was of the descriptive order, and the different parts were very clearly defined. There was first "the signal to start", then "the start", then "on the ride", "at the inn", "at supper", "the dance"; the "signal for departure", the "start for home", the "arrival home", and "good night".

The sleigh ride over, the audience listened to the beautiful strains of Sullivan's "Lost Chord", beautifully sung by Will Holmes, who was given a storm of deserved applause.

"Two Roses", a composition by Werner, was sung by the semi-chorus, to whose voices it was admirably suited. The chorus was a very fine one, and one of the best numbers on the programme.

Pinsuti's "Spring Song", by the full chorus, ended the entertainment, which was in every way a delightful one.

To those who patronized the affair further enjoyment was added in the fact that they were helping to swell the fund for the first annual outing of the choir, to be held at Merwin's Point, ten miles from Bridgeport, Conn., from August 3 to August 10.

Plainfield Druggists at the State Meet.

H. P. Reynolds, R. J. Shaw and Howard J. Leggett are in attendance at the twenty-first annual meeting of the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association at Masonic Temple, Trenton, Messrs. Reynolds and Shaw taking most prominent part in the deliberations of that body. The association will make an effort to have an experienced druggist placed on the State Board of Pharmacy, so that the unregistered drug clerks who are employed at the seaside resorts may be arrested and fined. The formation of a State laboratory to detect druggists who sell adulterated compounds will also be discussed.

Solving a Society Mystery.

The first evening reception of the "M. G. W. M. C. W", at St. Mary's Hall, last evening, was a great success. The attendance was the largest ever in the hall. The efficient committee of arrangements were: F. Minor, J. J. Gallagher, Thos. L. Walsh, M. J. Whalen, T. Carty, M. Mack. The gentlemanly floor manager was Thomas L. Walsh, ably assisted by J. J. Gallagher and M. J. Mack. O'Reilly furnished the music.

THE PRESS has been asked to solve the mystery of the society's initials. It's very easy. Each of the six letters stands for the last name of one of the six committee-men.

PLAINFIELD LOSES.

At the Eleventh Hour Bergen Point Rolls a Marvelous Score and Wrests the Whist Championship from the Crescent League.

The New Jersey Athletic Club, much to the surprise of the other contestants, have won the championship of Central New Jersey in the whist tournament that has been in progress since March 25. When the Plainfield Crescent League played their last game they had such a lead over the other clubs that the only team they feared seriously was the Fanwoods, and to the Plainfield's total of 2,237 Fanwood had 313 points to make. Bergen Point was 337 points behind, and since the highest score that had been made in the tournament was 325, by Plainfield, nothing was apprehended from the New Jersey Athletics. Yet by last night's game the Bergen Points made the most phenomenal score of 377, and this extraordinary figure raises them from 271 3-7 to 284 5-8 in the average number of points per game, brings their total 40 points ahead of Plainfield, and gives them the first prize of $50 cash, which the Plainfield team seemed so nearly grasping.

Crescent League players are at a loss to understand how in the three hours allotted to them the Bergen Points and the Westfields could run up such a tremendous number of points as 693, yet that is just what was done. Westfield's score was 316, and increases from 253 3-7 to 261 1-4 that club's average number of points per game.

At Elizabeth the Elizabeth Athletic Club defeated the Fanwoods by the score of 282 to 249. By this Elizabeth's average is raised from 263 4-7 to 265 7-8, while Fanwood's is lowered from 274 6-7 to 271 5-8.

The complete record is as follows:

	Games Played	Total Points Scored	Average
N.J.A.C., Bergen Point.	8	2277	284 5-8
Crescent League	8	2237	279 5-8
Fanwood Club	8	2173	271 5-8

WILL THE CRESCENTS WIN?

Next Saturday They Play Two Games With the Champions of the Semi-Professional League.

Betting will be anxious work, next Saturday. On the Crescent League's ball grounds there will be two games against the Ridgewoods, the champions of the semi-professional League. They have not lost a game yet—but neither have the Crescents. The record of the visitors in the League is as follows:

CLUBS.	WON.	LOST.	PER CT.
Ridgewoods	4	0	1000
Cuban Giants	3	0	1000
Allertons	3	1	.667
Metropolitans	2	2	.500
Senators	1	3	.250
Monroes	1	3	.250
Gorhams	1	3	.250
Flushings	0	3	.000

Last season's games between the Crescents and the Ridgewoods resulted thus:

Aug. 2—Ridgewoods, 8; Crescents, 3.
Sept. 1—Crescents, 4; Ridgewoods, 3.
Oct. 11—Crescents, 6; Ridgewoods, 3.

Saturday's games will begin at 10 a. m. and 3:45 p. m.

Morrison's Case Was Not Considered.

When the Grand Jury adjourned last week to Tuesday of this week, the members agreed that they would take up no more cases under any consideration. Consequently the papers in the libel suit of President Smith against T. W. Morrison were not even submitted. The complaint and the arrest in this city were not made until Monday, and when the Jury met at Elizabeth Tuesday morning it adjourned at once. The Morrison case and some others are left to await the action of the next Grand Jury.

'Twill Be a Good Game.

Those who are going to Somerville Decoration Day to see the ball game between the Plainfield Bicycle Club team and the amateur team of the West End Athletic Club will leave here on the 9:42 a. m. train. The team representing Plainfield will be: Cadmus, pitcher; Dawe, catcher; Walz, first base; McCutcheon, second base; Dilts, third base; Sanford, short stop; Murray, left field; Tilney, centre field; Shepard, right field.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgia S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

Elizabeth Expects a New Station.

It is reported that the Jersey Central and Pennsylvania railroad companies are to erect a magnificent union station in Elizabeth, and that negotiations have been closed with the heirs of the late John Norris estate by which the railroad companies will acquire all that triangular tract of land for a union station that lies between both railroads, Union street, and West Grand street, and which is now occupied by the Elizabeth Athletic Club-house and several other buildings. This would make a most desirable site for a new station, such as Elizabeth badly needs at present.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for six weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am nearly cured, and yet it seems too good to be true. Have no doubt but that much of the sleeplessness people complain of is caused by indigestion.

A good shoe is like a good friend—it will not disappoint you when you call upon it for real service. You know a good friend by trying him, and that's the way you can test a shoe; but the trouble in the case of the shoe is that, when you've tried it, you must keep it, whether it's good or not. You won't complain about having to keep our shoes, because we know what they are when we sell them, and what we know we let you know before you buy. There is nothing in the market which will give you a better return for your money than our $3 00 Shoe.

A MAMMOTH PRESERVE.

156,000 Acres That Certain Plainfield Sportsmen Shoot and Fish In.

Ex-Councilman E. N. Erickson, Dr. Frank S. Wells and A. V. Nolen, of this city, were recently elected into the Megantic Fish and Game Association, of which William B. Wadsworth, ex-Senator Robert L. Livingston, William H. Brower, Hon. Jacob Kirkner and Counselor William K. McClure, are already members.

The Industrial Journal, of Bangor, Me., says that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Association was held at the Falmouth House, Portland, last week, Vice President Morris presided, and there were represented in person and by proxy seventy-eight shares of stock. The records of the last meeting were read and approved. The following directors were elected for the ensuing year: J. O. Woodruff, New York; D. Heber Bishop, F. L. Brown, A. W. Robinson, E. A. Shaw, M. A. Morris, C. A. Kelham, Frank Hopewell, Walter C. Prescott, Simon Davis, Boston; H. M. Thompson, Lowell; J. Russell Reed, H. W. Sanborn, Bangor; Dr. E. W. Brannigan, Boston; W. K. McClure, Plainfield, N. J. Arthur W. Robinson of Boston was elected clerk of the corporation, and Harry Butler, assistant clerk of the corporation.

The report of the treasurer, Mr. Brown, showed the finances to be in excellent condition, showing the receipts to be $5,064.23, and the expenditure $3,379.83. There is a cash balance in the treasury of $1,684.40. The assets of the corporation are $9,491.50. Their liabilities are: Contingent, $890.76; bonded indebtedness, $4,000; total liabilities, $4,890.76; surplus, $4 600 74. By vote the stockholders instructed the directors to issue no more stock for membership from treasury after June 15, 1891, for less than $100 per share, and after the membership reached 300 to advance the price of stock to $500 per share. The corporation has recently leased Seven Ponds Township and now have a preserve of over 156,000 acres. The membership is rapidly increasing and the affairs were never in a more prosperous condition.

Lake Hopatcong.

In selecting the locality in which you will spend your Summer vacation, please bear in mind the "Woodport House", Thomas Bright, proprietor, situated more favorably, as regards access to water, than any other house on Lake Hopatcong.

A new building has been completed, with all modern conveniences, capable of accommodating 150 guests. The rooms are large and airy and all newly furnished with hard wood furniture. There are some 400 feet of broad piazza extending around the House which affords an excellent shade and an entire view of this portion of the Lake.

The angler will find this the best bass ground, as the past season fully demonstrated. For the accommodation of the angling fraternity the proprietor has made special arrangements for their welfare in the way of an entire new fleet of the famous "Horn" fishing and St. Lawrence pleasure boats. This department will be under the personal management of Ans. B. Decker, whose skill as an angler is so well and favorably known to the habitues of Hopatcong. Mr. Decker will be happy to meet all his old friends and hopes to make the acquaintance of many new ones. Bait and tackle will be supplied, and guides furnished, as announced in the advertisement in another column.

Dr. Rodman's Argument on Public Evils.

The Rev. E. M. Rodman, of this city, is one of the members of the New Jersey Citizens' League who were opposed to the league's fighting only the one evil of race-track gambling. He thought it best to include the liquor question also, saying that the people in Plainfield, failing to appreciate the race-track question properly, took but little interest in it, while the liquor question was fully understood. To call a meeting of the league at Elizabeth, with only the race-track question as its object, would undoubtedly draw a large house, but if a league meeting were called at Plainfield and the question of temperance were left out, he doubted whether a corporal's guard would be induced to come together. Besides, there were other parts of the State where nothing whatever was known of race-track gambling, while other evils raged exceedingly and needed just such opposition as the league could give.

But in spite of such able argument, it was decided that at least for the present race-track gambling should be the only public wrong against which the league should battle.

Fine Monuments at Hillside.

From the quarries of the Smith Granite Company, at Westerly, R. I., many fine monuments have been shipped to Plainfield. The company have placed in Hillside Cemetery monuments for Chas. Potter, Jr., J. M. Titsworth, Wm. G. Anderson, Dr. Frank Wells, Dr. W. E. Stelle, the Rev. Dr. Robert Lowry, J. L. Van Neste, and J. M. Rittenhouse. The Potter and Titsworth monuments are of the highest grade of workmanship, and are the finest in the cemetery, both being surmounted by statues. A unique feature of Dr. Lowry's stone is that the first line of his famous hymn "Shall We Gather at the River?" is cut on the base, the notes and lines of the staff being represented by polished work.

The company has arranged for work with other Plainfield parties, and hope to have some more fine monuments for Hillside before the season is over.

The Melopoia Viewed From the Metropolis.

(From The New York Times.)

The members of the Melopoia Society of Plainfield, are exceedingly gratified with the brilliant success that has attended their concerts, and concede to Mr. Chapman, who has trained the chorus, unstinted praise for all he has achieved. Plainfield has shown that it possesses abundant musical talent, which only needed the services of an expert teacher to develop it. The work of the chorus Tuesday night was a surprise to those accustomed to the professional talent of the metropolitan opera. In appreciation of what Mr. Chapman has done the members of the chorus presented him with a handsome pair of candelabra.

Public Opinion on Base-ball Matters.

That THE PRESS is not alone in its desire that Plainfield may have good base-ball, at popular prices, this summer, as it had last season, is evidenced by the following, from this week's Central New Jersey Times, indorsing very emphatically the plain and pointed remarks published in these columns Monday. The Times insists with THE PRESS that the Crescents are too superior a nine to have their light hidden under the bushel of bad management. It goes on to say:

"About one hundred and fifty thoroughly disgusted base-ball enthusiasts wasted two hours Saturday afternoon watching what was alleged to be a game of base-ball between the Crescents and a nine who played under the name of the 'Greenpoint Athletics'. There was not at any point in the progress of the game a brilliant play, nor in fact anything to interest those who huddled on the cold grand-stand. The Crescents won the game in the third inning, when with a dozen or so of base hits every man was allowed to walk around the bases and score at the new rubber home-plate without opposition.

"Add to an unpopular price of admission, games with clubs which have no standing as ball players, and the financial condition of the Crescent League's treasury is not likely to be materially improved as the result of the series of games to be played this season. The management of the local team have come in for much condemnation on account of the game of last Saturday. They were first put on their guard when they received from the manager of the Greenpoints a telegram saying that the club was detained because it was unable to collect its players. And when the nine did arrive, how many base-ball players were there among the lot? Five men of the nine who were scheduled to play failed to put in an appearance. The names of the others remained unchanged, but the men who played under those names may or may not have have owned them: who knows? McIndoe, who has been playing ball since he was knee-high to a grasshopper, said that he had never seen one of the players. The Greenpoints knew last year that they could not palm off a scrub nine on the Crescent League base-ball committee of 1890. Why were they emboldened to try that little game on the present management, and why were they allowed to carry out their plan?

"This matter is interesting to the public, inasmuch as the public is expected to patronize the games and thereby make the sport profitable in Plainfield. It ought to prove interesting to the management. At none of the games played thus far this season has the public failed to give notice of its disapprobation of the advance in the price of admission. The grand stand has not been filled, the two smokers' stands have had empty seats by the score, while the 'bleachers' have been bleaching right along for want of people to cover them. Can the management read nothing in these facts? Is it possible that they expect a paying season after the public have so emphatically expressed an opinion regarding this subject? Can they expect to arouse enthusiasm when they allow such a game as that of last Saturday?"

How a Jersey Central Engine Breathes.

Those who have ever engaged in the fascinating pastime of watching the rings of smoke curl in huge wreaths from the smokestacks of passing locomotives, while waiting for a train at the North avenue station, will be interested to learn that the "breathing" of a locomotive—that is to say, the number of puffs given by a railway engine during its journey—depends on the circumference of its driving-wheels and their speed. No matter what the rate of speed may be, for every one round of the driving-wheels a locomotive will give four puffs—two out of each cylinder, the cylinder being double. Taking the average circumference of the driving-wheel to be twenty feet, and the speed per hour fifty miles, a locomotive will give, going at express speed, 880 puffs per minute, or 52,800 puffs per hour, the wheel revolving 13,200 times in sixty minutes, and the engine giving 1,056 puffs per mile.

Nature a Great Teacher, as Well as Books.

At the recent annual spring meeting of the Somerset county teachers, Miss M. H. Adair, who had brought with her a class from the Westfield school, gave an illustration of her method of teaching primary reading. The lesson and the discussion which followed showed on the part of the teachers great interest in this important subject. Miss Adair is unusually successful in securing good results from her pupils, and ranks very high as a primary teacher.

The Misses Mair, Bainbridge and Purdue, representing the North Plainfield school, gave three good papers on general observation work. The papers treated of the importance of teaching children to read nature as well as books.

Big Sums for Borough Property.

Recent real-estate transfers in Somerset county include the following of property in North Plainfield:

James McGee to Henry A. McGee, $7,000.
Henry A. McGee and others to Elizabeth A. McGee, $7,000.
George Orlemann and others to Frank Wolfe, $2,500.
William H. Shotwell to John Vetterlein, $2,500.
Sarah A. Young to Augustus A. Winkler, $1,400.
Margaret E. McLaughlin to William O. Baldwin, $860.
Fred N. Vail to Jasper H. Wilson, $300.

Forged His Employer's Name.

A man by the name of Vreeland, who worked for Mrs. Perrine of North Plainfield township, forged her signature on a money order and secured about $80 from the Bound Brook post-office some weeks ago. He was arrested last week by Officer Sebring of Somerville and taken to jail. He was given a hearing before Justice Hampton, Monday, and was held to appear before the United States Court at Trenton.

A Beautiful Specimen.

A few months ago, Abram B. Dunlap, while on a pleasure trip south, was so fortunate as to capture, with rod and line, a beautiful specimen of tarpon, or silver king fish, weighing 62 pounds. Mr. Dunlap has had the fish mounted, and it now adorns a side wall in the office of Force's Hotel, North avenue, where it is greatly admired by guests and visitors.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed. —Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

PLAYING BAD BALL PURPOSELY.

Somerville's Champion Team Prove Easy Victims Again for the Bergen Pointers.

Somerville is mad—and so she should be. Her base-ball aggregation of what the New York World calls "broken-down professionals", is putting up the very worst kind of a game and purposely disgracing the name of the "West Ends" before the eyes of the people everywhere.

Last year the same players defeated the New Jersey Athletic Club's team six straight games. This season, so far, the latter have defeated the Somervilles by scores of 20 to 1 and 12 to 2. The first game was played at Somerville and the N. J. A. C. nine of silk stocking amateurs banged Harkins all over the county of Somerset. Besides the N. J. A. C.'s batting that day, the very bad playing of the West Ends helped the result. Williams seemingly dropped an easy fly on purpose, and the whole infield threw over first baseman Bergen's head whenever it would give life to an opponent.

Yesterday at Bergen Point, a like scene was repeated. Farrell dropped a fly intentionally, Williams stepped aside and let a ball pass that was thrown to him, and Bowes turned his back to let a runner in. The New York Recorder said this morning:

The West End Athletic Club team of Somerville, N. J., and the New Jersey Athletic Club nine of Bergen Point, same State, played a game yesterday afternoon at the grounds of the latter club. The New Jersey A. C. boys played base-ball. Just what the West Ends were trying to play nobody could make out. The West Ends appeared to be either amateurs with a holy horror of a base-ball or broken-down professionals.

The New York World said:

The New Jersey Athletic Club's crack team played the last game previous to the opening of the regular championship season yesterday afternoon. They had the West Ends, of Somerville, as opponents. Among the West Ends are a number of broken-down professionals, who played as if they were victims of the ossifying process. They made any amount of mossback errors and did poorly at the bat. The New Jerseys made runs when they pleased, ran the bases with safety at the most inopportune times and generally toyed with the countrymen as they would with so many schoolboys.

In yesterday's game at the opening, the West Ends put Lady of the Pond Works team of this city, in the box. The other members of the Somerville nine refused to support him decently, and Harkins was substituted. It is rumored that after the game, Bowes was at once released and a meeting was held at Somerville for the purpose of reorganizing the entire team. Yesterday's score was:

Resolutions of Respect.

At a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank of Plainfield, New Jersey, held on the morning of May 26, 1891, it was resolved as follows:

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from us by death our respected cashier, Carmon Parse, who for over twenty-five years so honestly and faithfully served this Bank,

Resolved, That we have learned of the death of Mr. Parse with unfeigned sorrow, and we hereby tender to his afflicted widow and relatives our sincere and heart felt sympathy in this their great bereavement.

Resolved, That in the death of Carmon Parse we realize that this Bank has lost an energetic and faithful officer, and this community one of its most valued and trusted citizens, whose place in these different walks of life it will be most difficult to fill.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered at length upon the minutes, and a copy thereof forwarded to his widow and also published in the local papers.

A Freak of Jersey Lightning.

During a thunder shower one day last week, the house of Henry Britton, Jr., near Copper Hill, Hunterdon county, was struck by lightning. The lightning entered a room in which stood a tall eight day clock, and completely shattered the wooden enclosure thereof. The works did not appear to have been touched at all, and the time piece was ticking off the minutes as merrily and correctly as ever. A small hole burned in the carpet was the only other damage done in this room or anywhere about the house. None of the family were in the least affected by the shock, nor did they know that the house had been struck until their attention was attracted to the clock.

Good Samaritans to Meet in Plainfield.

The twentieth annual session of the Grand Lodge, No. 4, Independent Order of Good Samaritains and Daughters of Samaria, of New Jersey, will be held in Manning's Hall, West Front street, Wednesday, June 3, beginning at 10 a. m. Mt. Olive Lodge, No. 36, and Celestial Crescent Lodge, No. 51, will entertain the delegates.

Oh, What a Cough

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

During the heated term the human system requires a gentle, cooling stimulant. What a blessing then to be able to make five gallons of a delicious temperance drink from a 25-cent package of Hires's Root Beer.

OUR COTTAGE HOMES.

A Splendid House That Can Be Built for About Four Thousand Dollars.

In this issue we present a design of a unique cottage containing eight rooms and a bathroom. As will be seen, the arrangement of the different apartments is modern and is especially adapted to economical construction. Retain the estimates and specifications given below, as they are complete and will prove valuable in securing bids, should you build from working plans mentioned at the conclusion of this article. The prices given here will vary slightly, according to locality.

SPECIFICATIONS.

In preparing an estimate showing the cost of erecting a building, according to design in this issue, we have based our calculations on a class of work somewhat above the average employed in medium dwellings.

The doors, casings, base and general finish to be of pine, excepting the hall, which is estimated on a basis of oak.

All doors to be four paneled 1¾ inches thick; sash, 1¾ inches thick, hung with weights, cords, etc.

The hardware to be of good quality.

The hall, parlor and other principal rooms to have hardware of bronze.

The front stairway is estimated all of oak.

The plumbing contemplates a tank in attic, force pump, etc., with hot and cold water to all fixtures, with good and sufficient sewerage.

Glass to be of best quality American or French, with some stained glass.

The brick in cellar and chimneys to be good common, laid in cement.

The sills, joists, studs, rafters and framing lumber, all of sufficient size to make a strong and substantial house.

The mantels to be of hardwood or marble.

The stone may be good quarry or field stone, laid in cement.

Cellar floor of broken stone, cement, etc., finished with Portland cement.

The plastering contemplates cornices and centers in principal rooms.

The painting is on a basis of three-coat work, in parti-colors.

Bathroom and kitchen to have maple floors.

The exterior finish, as cornices, porches, steps, belts, etc., to be executed in clear white pine.

FIRST FLOOR. SECOND FLOOR.

Exterior surfaces to be finished with 4-inch clear O. G. siding.

Shingles to be pine, A No. 1, four inches to the weather.

How Various Nations Sleep.

In the tropics men sleep in hammocks or upon mats of grass. The East Indian unrolls his light portable charpoy or mattress, which in the morning is again rolled together and carried away by him. The Japanese lie upon matting with a stiff, uncomfortable wooden neck-rest. The Chinese use low bedsteads, often elaborately carved, and supporting only mats or coverlids. A peculiarity of the German bed is its shortness; besides that it frequently consists in part of a large down pillow or upper mattress, which spreads over the person, and usually answers the purpose of all the other ordinary bed clothing combined. In England the old four-posted bedstead is still the pride of the nation, but the iron or brass bedstead is fast becoming universal. The English beds are the largest beds in the world. The ancient Greeks and Romans had their beds supported on frames, but not flat like ours. The Egyptians had a couch of a peculiar shape, more like an old-fashioned easy chair with hollow back and seat.

ABOUT SLOT MACHINES.

Invention in Our Day Versus Invention in Pharaonic Times.

At the railway stations, ferry houses and even upon the street corners, there may be found in almost every city and village in the United States automatic vending machines, which, for a nickel, or more or less, will deliver the various goods which they are adapted to sell. The purchaser may procure a newspaper and a cigar to smoke, or, if adverse to the use of the weed, he may secure a tablet of chewing gum or a package of sweets. If entertainment is desired, it may be found in the "nickel in the slot" phonograph.

In Europe and America, machines of this class are provided for dealing out portable liquors: bouquets are also furnished in a similar way; and if you desire to know how much you have increased in weight since yesterday, all that need be done is to mount the platform of the nickel in the slot scales and drop in your coin and the thing is done. One of the latest achievements in this line is the automatic photographic apparatus, which takes your picture for a nickel, while you wait.

These various devices and many others which we might mention are regarded as very clever inventions, and have certainly proved successful in many cases in a pecuniary sense.

The last automatic vending machine alluded to is shown in Fig. 2. The perfume reservoir is located in the upper portion of the vase; the tube communicating with the lower part of the reservoir extends through the side of the vase and is closed at its upper end by a valve attached to one end of the lever, O. The other end of the lever, O, is connected by a rod with the lever, E, the longer arm of this lever being provided with a pan, R, for receiving coin, while the shorter arm of the lever is furnished with a weight for counterbalancing the pan and closing the valve. A curved piece of metal is arranged concentric with the path of the pan, R, and serves to retain the coin dropped into it through the slot in the top of the vase until the pan, R, is carried down beyond the end of the curved plate, when the coin is discharged into the lower part of the vase; the counterweight on the short arm of the lever then returns the lever to the point of starting and closes the valve, thus stopping the flow of the perfume.

This very clever device was patented November 19, 1889. Our illustration is prepared directly from the patent drawings. This and other machines for analogous purposes are regarded as the peculiar product of our inventive age, but in turning back the pages of history we find that in Egypt, something more than two thousand years ago, when a worshiper was about to enter the temple, he sprinkled himself with lustral water, taken from a vase near the entrance. The priests made the distribution of holy water a source of revenue by the employment of the automatic vending machine which is illustrated in Fig. 1. This apparatus would not release a single drop of the purifying liquid until coin to the amount required had been deposited in the vase.

A comparison of the ancient lustral water vase and the modern perfumery vending machine will show that they are substantially alike. The ancient machine has a lever, O, fulcrumed in the standard, N, and connected with the valve in the reservoir, H. The lever is furnished with the pan, R, for receiving the coins dropped through the slot, A, at the top of the vase. An enlarged view of the valve belonging to the vase is shown at the left of the engraving.

The mechanism is almost identical with that shown in the modern device, illustrated in Fig. 2; in fact, this ancient vase described by Heron, more than two thousand years ago, is the prototype of all modern automatic vending machines, and simply serves as another proof of the truth of the saying: "There is nothing new under the sun."—Scientific American.

Aluminium Engines.

It is proposed making engines of aluminium to develop thirty-four horse-power and to be used for directing the movements of a French war balloon of 3,000 cubic meters capacity, experiments with which are to be made in April next.

PROGRESS IN SCIENCE.

Foreign powers are about to adopt the electrical welding method of making shells for their artillery.

The "henry" has recently been quite generally adopted in this country and abroad as the practical electrical unit of self-induction.

The acreage of the zoological gardens in Europe ranges from about half a dozen to half a hundred acres, but hardly one of them has room enough for its animals.

In the Wheatstone automatic method of telegraphy, when transmitting at the rate of 600 words a minute, there are 55,500 currents per minute sent out, each having a duration not exceeding .002 of a second.

The "manna" which fell from the sky in Asia Minor last August and was baked into bread has recently been examined by men of science, and is identified as a lichen belonging to the family Lecanora esculenta.

Experiment has proved that, if a delicate piece of lace be placed between an iron plate and a disk of gunpowder and the latter be detonated, the lace will be annihilated, but its impression will be clearly stamped on the iron.

THIS MAY MEAN YOU.

At Least It Is Worth Your While to Read and Ponder Over It.

What is the matter with our young and middle-aged men? Many a man who had formerly supposed himself possessed of a powerful physique and strong and steady nerves, wonders at his feeling of exhaustion, lassitude and lack of inclination for physical and mental exertions. WEAK AND NERVOUS. Where before he had a feeling of strong and vigorous physical and nerve power, he now has only a sense of weakness, languor, dullness and exhaustion. This is often especially noticeable in the morning.

The night's sleep, which should refresh the system and restore strength and vigor to the nerves and muscles, often leaves the person in the morning more tired and exhausted than on retiring.

Business men and clerks, whose prosperity depends upon their clearness of brains and mind, find their mental strength impaired and their endurance and power to work, read or study, diminished.

Professional men, students and merchants often find their power of thought decreased; where formerly they could endure many consecutive hours of close application of the mind, they now find that the thoughts wander and there is liability to fix the mind for any length of time upon one subject; with this there is an extremely nervous and irritable condition, a dull, cloudy sensation, often accompanied by disagreeable feelings in the head and eyes.

As these symptoms increase there is usually a derangement of the digestive organs, with a gradual failing of strength and weakness and pain in the back. There is often a bad taste in the mouth in the morning, the vision becomes dim, the memory is impaired and there is frequent dizziness. Persons thus affected are often despondent and suffer from gloom and depression of the mind. The nerves become so weakened after a time that the least excitement or shock will flush the face or bring on a tremor or trembling, often attended by more or less palpitation of the heart.

DISCOURAGED SUFFERER FROM NERVOUS DEBILITY.

The patient having these symptoms, or a portion of them, is suffering from nervous debility, caused by exhausted nervous vitality from those excesses and abuses which must inevitably gradually break down the nervous and physical system, unless a proper strengthening and invigorating remedy is used to overcome the weakness and re-establish health and strength.

Luckily, there is a great and wonderful restorative which will give back to the weakened and exhausted system the strength it has lost; a marvelous remedy which imparts strength and vigor to the brain and nerves, vitalizes and invigorates all the physical powers, dispels, as if by magic, the despondency and gloom of mind, and restores us again to that grand degree of lusty strength, of bounding pulse and strong physical and nerve power which in ignorance or folly we have exhausted.

This wonderful discovery is Dr. Greene's Nervura, the great brain, nerve and strength restorer. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, and can be procured at any druggists for $1 per bottle. It is an absolute specific for nervous and physical debility. Persons with weakened nerves and exhausted vitality can regain perfect and complete strength by its use. It restores lost energy and invigorates the weakened vital forces in old and young. Try it and you will never regret it.

STRONG NERVE—PERFECT VIGOR.

Positive Proof.

I was afflicted for five years with nervous debility, and last winter I was down sick with it. I had a good doctor, but got only temporary relief; I then took six bottles of Dr. Greene's Nervura and it cured me. W. W. CORNELL, 1,024 Ward St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth St., New York, its discoverer, is the famous specialist in the cure of nervous and chronic diseases. The doctor has devoted special attention to the treatment of all forms of chronic diseases through letter correspondence, and will give by mail his opinion and advice in any case free of charge. The perfection of this system renders a complete cure almost assured, as his success in treatment by correspondence is wonderful and unequalled.

N. B. Send for symptom blank to fill out, or write Dr. Greene about your case, and a carefully considered letter, fully explaining your disease and giving you a perfect understanding of all its symptoms will be returned, free of charge.

Lost Health Restored.

Starkey, Yates Co., N. Y., June, 1890.

I was suffering from general debility fifteen months, had eight doctors treat me, took all sorts of medicine, slept hardly more than one hour, nights, sweat a good deal, got so weak that it seemed the last of my life, my heart troubled me so that I couldn't get up nor walk. After I took the second bottle of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic my appetite returned, slept nearly all night, the sweats and heart trouble disappeared, and now am happy to say that I can work again and enjoy good health. THE FIGHT GOES ON

An Address to Organized Wage-Workers of America.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR ARRAIGNED.

They Are Blamed for the Failure of the Eight-Hour Movement.

Held Up as Traitors by the Federation of Labor Council—The Officials of the Knights Charged With Conducting a Secret Agitation to Frighten the Miners. A Blow to Socialists in the Coke Region.

NEW YORK, May 29.—An address has just been sent out by the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor directed to the organized wage-workers of America.

The address opens with the official information that the United Mine Workers have receded from their position and declared the eight-hour movement off.

It goes on to say that the miners were selected to make the fight at their own request, they stating that they had assurance of help from the Knights of Labor. The General Executive Board of the Kights failed to attend a conference with the Executive Council of the Federation and miners' officials as requested by the last named, nor did they give any reason for their failure to appear, though the miners belonged to the K. of L.

Very reluctantly and by request the coke strike was endorsed. The mine workers were allowed to advance $2,500 to the coke workers, and the sum was guaranteed on the condition that the miners made the demand for the enforcement of the eight-hour work-day. The condition was made to maintain good faith with those who contributed for the miners' strike, and because information had been received that the Knights' officials were conducting a secret agitation to work upon the fears of the miners, predicting certain defeat, discouraging them in every way, and urging them not to make the move. On May 1 the council received official notice that the eight-hour movement was declared off.

The address concludes by saying that the wage workers will know where to place the blame and hold the traitors to the cause of labor responsible.

NO USE FOR ANARCHISTS.

The Coke Companies Determined to Get Rid of the Socialistic Strikers.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., May 29.—The 2,000 Socialists in the Connellsville coke region who took an active part in the late strike must go. Instructions have been received by the superintendents of the coke companies to dispense with their services.

When any of them apply for work they are told: "This company has no use for Anarchists." Some of them have changed their names in the vain hope of obtaining employment.

VESSEL AND CREW LOST.

The Schooner Thomas Hume Undoubtedly Wrecked on Lake Michigan.

MUSKEGON, Mich., May 29.—The schooner Thomas Hume, owned by Hackley & Hume of this city, has undoubtedly been wrecked and gone to the bottom of Lake Michigan, together with her crew of seven men.

One week ago Thursday the Hume and the Rouse Simmons cleared from Chicago for Muskegon. A stiff gale was blowing. They slipped along pretty lively and encountered a heavy sea. The Simmons labored in the storm for several hours and finally put back into Chicago, arriving here last night. The last seen of the Hume she was encountering the storm, and pursuing her course to Muskegon.

The Simmons remained in Chicago until the storm subsided and then made her way to Muskegon. Upon arriving here the captain was much surprised to learn that the Hume had not been heard of. At first it was expected that she had run into some convenient port for shelter. But days passed and, no tidings being received of her, inquiries were made of other boats, but no one had seen the Hume.

The Thomas Hume was formerly the H. C. Albright. She was in charge of Capt. Harry Albright's son. Besides the captain, she had a crew of six men, all of Chicago.

Brilliant Society Event.

WALWORTH, N. Y., May 29.—This village will be the scene on June 10 of a very brilliant society event in the marriage of two nieces of ex-President Grover Cleveland. At noon on that day the double wedding will take place, the contracting parties being Charles W. Hamilton, of Denver, Col., and Miss Ellen L. Yeomans, and Joseph A. Reed, of Beatrice, Neb., and Miss Anna G. Yeomans. The brides are daughters of Hon. L. T. Yeomans, whose wife is ex-President Cleveland's sister. Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland are expected to be present on the happy occasion.

The Rubber Trust Dissolved.

TRENTON, N. J., May 29.—A secret meeting of the Central Rubber Trust was held here and, while the business transacted was not made known, it is generally understood in rubber circles that the trust has dissolved. The Star and Hamilton Rubber Companies, which failed, were members of the trust. It was dissolved so that the other rubber companies would not be held accountable for the debts of the failing concerns.

Accident to a Funeral Party.

DUBLIN, May 29.—A serious affair occurred in Newry while 500 troops and a crowd of civilians were returning from a military funeral. A horse was frightened by the music of the band and dashed among the troops, scattering them pell-mell on all sides, and knocking a number down. Eight persons were injured more or less severely.

THEY DIED TOGETHER

An Aged Couple Commit Suicide When About to be Driven from Their Home.

NEW YORK, May 29.—A distressing double suicide has just come to light in the tenement house portion of the city, where an aged couple, bowed down with years and poverty, gave up the struggle, when about to be driven from their miserable home, by taking their own lives.

They were William Breitkoff and his wife Mary, aged 66 and 71 years.

The couple occupied two rooms on the top floor of the tenement, No. 57 First avenue, and have had a hard struggle to support themselves, but still they managed to exist, the woman doing housework and the old man making mechanics' banners. Recently, however, the husband had been sick and unable to earn anything, and poverty had pressed them very hard.

Yesterday they were served with a dispossess notice by their landlord, and they were to have been ejected from their home to-day. They could not stand the disgrace and preferred to die together, so each of them swallowed a quantity of oxalic acid during the night.

When the sheriff's assistants called to put the old couple with their effects upon the sidewalk, they found them lying side by side, cold in death.

JOHN L. PULLED HIS COAT.

The Champion Came Near Having a Bare Knuckle Fight With Jackson.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—Peter Jackson and John L. Sullivan came near having a fight with bare knuckles in Jackson's saloon last night. Sullivan visited the place after his show was over, and, in talking with the barkeeper, gave his ideas why Corbett should have licked the negro. He indulged in more uncomplimentary talk, when Jackson, who was in a rear room, stepped out briskly, and, looking Sullivan squarely in the face, said:

"See here, young man, you don't know what you're talking about. You're talking through your hat."

Sullivan had never met Jackson, and when he turned around and saw that the man who was talking to him was a negro he snorted with rage, and roared:

"Who are you talking to? I don't stand such language from your kind of people."

Jackson didn't take water, but repeated his former remark in a defiant tone.

Sullivan whipped off his coat and Jackson began to strip when friends interfered, and hauled the enraged men apart.

In Sullivan's present condition he would probably have got the worst of the tussel.

THINK HE WAS MARSH.

This Time the Fugitive Banker is Seen in Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Del., May 29.—A special from Smyrna says: The much-sought-for fugitive from justice, Gideon W. Marsh, president of the Keystone Bank of Philadelphia, it is thought, passed through this town yesterday morning on his way up from Woodland Beach.

He bought a ticket for Easton, Md., and while going out to Clayton, in conversation with a gentleman, stated that he was from New York. He looked much fatigued from travel, and seemed constantly on the lookout while waiting at Clayton for his train. He bought a Baltimore paper. It is firmly believed by all who saw him that he is the man.

Detective O'Malley's Bribery Case.

NEW ORLEANS, May 29.—A motion for a change of venue in the O'Malley bribery case was suddenly withdrawn to day, and the defense asked that the case be set for trial June 10. The State Attorney objected. O'Malley's counsel then gave notice that they would enter a demurrer similar to that sustained by the court in the case against Granger, in which the information was quashed on the ground that the allegations set forth were not sufficiently specific. The demurrer will be passed on to-morrow by the court.

The Myra Clark Gaines Will Contest.

NEW YORK, May 29.—A decision in the Myra Clark Gaines will contest, in which over $1,000,000 is involved, has just been handed down by Surrogate Abbott in Brooklyn. He declares that the will of January, 8, 1885, made in New Orleans on the day before Mrs. Gaines died, and which named Marie P. Evans as sole executrix, is a forgery, and that the will made in January, 1885, which names William A. Wilder and James T. Christmas as executors is legal and admissible to probate.

Fourth Murder in a Year.

ELMIRA, N. Y., May 29.—Tony Bymanowish died last night from the effects of being kicked in the abdomen Tuesday night by Washington Buck, colored. Buck is in jail. Five witnesses are also locked up. It is the fourth murder here in less than a year.

The American University.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The organization of the American University was effected at a meeting in the parlors of the Arlington Hotel. An appeal will be made for $5,000,000.

STOPPED BY DEATH

Tragic Interruption in the Briggs Case at Detroit.

JUDGE BRECKENRIDGE EXPIRES.

Stricken Down by Heart Disease at the Close of a Speech.

The General Assembly Greatly Excited. The Session at Once Adjourned—The Dead Jurist's Remains Sent to St. Louis in General Alger's Private Car—Dr. Patton's Remarks Create a Sensation.

DETROIT, May 29.—Judge S. M. Breckenridge fell dead while addressing the Presbyterian General Assembly here during the afternoon.

Anything more terribly dramatic it would be difficult to imagine. The great body of intellectual churchmen was at fever heat over the Briggs matter. Friends and opponents had alike been under great excitement discussing the famous case.

Sarcasm Made a Sensation.

Dr. Patton had stirred up the delegates by a brilliant and sarcastic address against the transfer busine- He first hit the committee, then he castigated the Godly brethren who could condemn a brother without the most minute investigation. Every word he uttered seemed like a bullet fired into the Assembly.

"Think of it," he exclaimed, "by your very resolve you infer that Dr. Briggs is guilty of offence. You cast reproach upon his good name and cripple a great school, already sufficiently afflicted.

"If Dr. Briggs can historically justify his views he has a right to hold them. I do not know what he could do in that line. Then is it not true that the Bible was sometimes put at the threshold of houses to keep ont spooks?"

Here the doctor was interrupted for several seconds by his auditors, who did not care to hear his harangue. Excitement increased every moment. But the doctor went right on and made his sledge-hammer blows right and left.

Judge Breckenridge's Speech.

Judge Breckenridge followed and his speech was not unworthy of a good man about to meet his God. It was calm, dispassionate, evidently sincere, and its closing words were a tribute to the sense of duty of the assembly. He stated the legal points in the Briggs case. Years ago, he said, Union Seminary was inde endent, but in 1871 became Presbyterian, and, of course, the assembly from that time controlled the appointments. "If we don't vote now," he said, "we never can. Dr. Logan's amendment for deferring action is impracticable. We view transfer from one chair to another the same as an appointment. We can do nothing wisely except disapprove. I think it is wise not to assign reasons. A judge sometimes cannot give all the reasons for his decisions on the bench. But, without assigning other reasons, it does seem to me that the mind of the Church for some months has been anxious and that we should relieve it."

His closing words were: "Now, gentlemen, I feel that I have discharged my duty, and wish to be excused from further speaking."

Just as Judge Breckenridge finished his remarks, he turned partly toward the temporary clerk's desk, gasped and fell to the floor insensible. He was carried to the ante-room and Dr. Yemans attended him, but in a few minutes he was dead. The cause of death was pronounced to be heart disease.

The shock to the assembly when Judge Breckenridge's death was announced was a perceptible one. The debate was discontinued at once.

A committee was appointed to take charge of the remains and prepare a minute to be presented to the assembly. The funeral committee accepted Gen. Alger's tender of his private car to take the body home, and the remains were shipped to St. Louis.

ORDERED TO LEAVE.

The Esmeralda Sent Away from Acapulco by the Mexican Government.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Dr. A. M. Soteldo, long the Venezuelan Minister here, says that dispatches received from the most reliable sources in Mexico state that the Mexican government ordered the insurgent Chilian cruiser Esmeralda to leave the harbor of Acapulco.

The commander of the vessel said he was willing to leave, but his ship had no sails and he could not depart without steam power.

The government then allowed the Esmeralda to take coal enough to carry the order into effect and she received 250 tons, her ordinary consumption being 50 tons per day.

The Esmeralda sailed immediately after receiving her coal allowance.

The Czar's Trip to Moscow.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 29.—The Czar's trip to Moscow will be made secretly. The railway line is well guarded on all sides by strong detachments of troops, as are the approaches to the stations along the route. All arrangements are complete to assure the Czar a safe and rapid journey.

NO END TO THE TROUBLE.

Philadelphia Bank Officers Arrested for Making False Entries.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—Francis W. Kennedy, president of the suspended Spring Garden National Bank, is under arrest again on a warrant sworn out by Bank Examiner Drew, charging him with making false entries in the books, false returns to the Comptroller of the Currency and the embezzlement of $100,000 and upwards of the bank's funds.

Harry H. Kennedy, cashier of the bank, and brother of the president, was also arrested and charged with conspiracy with Francis W. Kennedy to make false entries and false returns.

The hearing in the Bardsley case will probably take place this afternoon. From what the law officers say he will not be shown any mercy.

It is said that the acceptance of the Treasurer's office by Mr. Wright, who was appointed by Governor Pattison, will quickly bring the question before the Supreme Court, of who is the authorized party to fill the vacancy.

THE LUTHERAN SYNOD.

Children's Day Changed to the Second Sunday in June.

LEBANON, Pa., May 29.—At the morning's session of the Central Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, Prof. Bridgenbargh reported for the standings of Sunday schools. It was resolved to change the children's day to the second Sunday in June. There are 180,000 persons in the Sunday schools of the General Synod and over 1,000,000 in those of the Lutheran Church in the United States.

Rev. Dr. Firey of Ohio reported on the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies. There are 584 societies, and they have raised in two years $46,887.

Rev. W. H. Dunbar of Lebanon, president of the Orphans' Home at Loysville, Pa., reported for the home. There are now 200 ophans cared for at the home. Great improvements have been made and the home is in a prosperous condition. The churches are asked to give at least $10,000 a year.

Burglar Luddington Sentenced.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 29.—The notorious burglar, Henry Luddington, who was arrested several weeks ago charged with a score of burglaries in various sections of Fairfield County, pleaded guilty to four counts and was sentenced to State prison for eight years by Judge Sanford.

The Twentieth Victim.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., May 29.—After suffering nearly two weeks Edward Finnigan, who was injured in the dynamite explosion here May 19, died at the Provident Home Hospital at 8:30 a. m. His death makes the twentieth on the roll of that awful Tuesday.

AN ASSASSIN CAUGHT

The Arrest of Degaieff Unearths a Nihilist Plot.

A DETECTIVE'S CLEVER SCHEME.

Disguised as a Chimney Sweep He Discovers a Widespread Conspiracy.

Three Hundred Russian Students Arrested —The Czar More Frightened Than Ever —King Oscar Believed to be Dying— England to Take Action on the Seal Question—London Drivers to Strike.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 29.—News comes from Kostroma of the arrest of Degaieff, the Nihilist assassin of Col. Soudaikin, whose capture has been reported a dozen times since the murder took place in St. Petersburg eight years ago. Degaieff was believed by many to have sought refuge in the United States, but that does not seem likely to have been the case, judging from the following events. A lively agitation has been carried on by the revolutionists all over South Russia, and a man called Ivanoff was suspected of being the leader. This Ivanoff has been secretary to the Governor of Kostroma for five years.

A detective being set to watch him, was struck with the extraordinary resemblance of Ivanoff to Degaieff, upon whose head a large reward was placed, but, not having sufficient proof to warrant his arrest, the detective resorted to stratagem.

Disguising himself as a chimney sweep, he climbed the roof of the house in which Ivanhoff lodged and descending into his room late at night, suddenly emerged from the stove and presented himself before the astonished inmate, quietly saying: "How do you do, Degaieff," at the same time presenting a revolver at the secretary, who lost his presence of mind and became pale with terror.

He was quickly handcuffed and upon searching his papers the whole of the conspiracy was discovered.

Many people in Kostroma, students of the various universities, veterinary colleges, agricultural academies and students in other schools in Moscow, Odessa and Kharkoff to the number of 300 were arrested.

The Nihilist conspiracy now seems to be more active than ever, extending even to the army, of which 46 officers were arrested. The Czar is more frightened than he ever was before.

KING CHARLES VERY ILL.

In Case of Death the Crown Will Pass to His Nephew.

LONDON, May 29.—A Stuttgart dispatch says that the condition of King Charles of Wurtemburg excites great anxiety and fears are entertained that he may not recover.

Queen Olga, between whom and the King there has been for years an estrangement, owing to his devotion to other women, is now unremitting in attention to him. The King has, it is said, shown signs of contrition for his misconduct.

As he has no legitimate children, the crown will pass to his nephew, Prince William, who is closely connected by marriage with the German Kaiser. Notwithstanding his notorious follies King Charles is popular, and the people of Stuttgart evince the deepest grief for his illness. King Charles is now about 68 years of age.

The Templars Will Meet Next in Iowa.

LONDON, May 29.—The Templars have resolved to celebrate the 17th of March yearly, in memory of I. B. Finch. A ballot for the place of meeting for the Congress of 1893 was decided in favor of Des Moines, Iowa, by 86 votes against all others. The American delegates expressed satisfaction that the capital of a prohibition State had been selected.

LONDON, May 29.—The stage drivers of this city, encouraged by the success of their fellows in Paris, are preparing for a similar strike here.

Gladstone's Quite Walks.

LONDON, May 29.—Mr. Gladstone is now well enough to take quiet walks in the parks at Hawarden.

MORPHINE KILLED HIM.

Judge Houk's Death Blamed on the Physician Who Attended Him.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 29.—The sensational death of Judge Houk does not end the sensations in connection therewith. It is said here now that his death was caused by a dose of morphine administered by the attendant physician after the arsenic had been removed.

The story goes that Judge Houk had completely recovered from the effects of the poison, except that he was weak and excited.

He seemed unable to sleep, and the question was broached of giving a dose of morphine. It is said that the family physician advised against it, saying that Judge Houk had heart disease, and that it would be very dangerous to give him the powerful drug.

The morphine was not given the Judge then, but later the physician who had advocated it decided to administer the drug when the other was gone. This he did by injection during the night. The Judge went off to sleep, a sleep from which he never woke, as the sequel shows.

A son of Judge Houk said that his father would be alive now but for the dose of morphine. The physician who opposed the administration said that Houk's death is directly attributed to the morphine.

This may lead to a hot debate between the doctors. None of Houk's family has said anything about the matter publicly and the son made the remark to a friend.

The funeral of Judge Houk took place shortly after noon, and was attended by an immense crowd. Congressman Enloe was here, Senator Harris of Memphis, and Cullen of Illinois, and a number of other Congressmen came, including Crisp of Georgia. Bishop Joyce conducted the funeral exercises.

MURDER TRIAL SENSATION.

One of the Jurors Writes His Sentiment on a Paper Box.

COLUMBUS, O., May 29.—A decided sensation was created in the court room during the morning in the Elliott trial. It developed that one of the jurors had written on a paper box in which he kept his collars a sentiment to the effect that "Bill Elliott ought to be hanged until he is dead, dead, dead."

The defense at once attempted to have the whole jury discharged. It was shown, however, that but three men had seen the writing. These men were discharged, and Juror Beam, who did the writing, was held for further disposition.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Cardinal Gibbons is seriously ill.

Secretary Blaine has decided to leave New York on Monday next for Bar Harbor.

Heavy frost greatly damaged the cranberry bogs in the vicinity of Sandwich, Mass.

Freddie Kane, 12 years old, was struck and killed by a train at New Milford, Conn.

O. O. Bowman has been appointed receiver of the Star Rubber Works at Trenton, N. J.

The President appointed Wilfred A. Robbins postmaster at Mexico, N. Y., and Wallace E. Woodworth, at Lake Village, N. H.

Matthew McCann, referee, and Andrew J. Gardine, one of the managers of the fatal Burns-Tracy fight at Lynn, Mass., have been arrested.

The Sixth District school house at Putnam, Conn., was burned during the afternoon. Insurance, $5,000. The fire was of incendiary origin.

Thomas Cogswell, the Governor's nominee for Railroad Commissioner of New Hampshire, was for the second time rejected by the Executive Council.

The situation in the lumber lockout in New York is unchanged. It is claimed that on Monday morning the long looked for break in the dealers' ranks will occur. The framers and housesmiths still hold out.

Charles W. Dellrymple, 22 years old, is charged at Kingston, N. Y., with being a bigamist and the husband of four living wives. The complainant is Mrs. Ella Dellrymple of Rome, N. Y., who is Dellrymple's senior by 28 years.

Pasqualina Not to Wed or Act.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The fact that a young Italian called at the City Hall and said he intended to marry Pasqualina Robertiello, who was acquitted of murdering her lover, gave rise to the rumor that she was about to wed. She denied the truth of the story, and also that she was going on the stage. She said, through an interpreter, "I no marry; I live now always with my father."

SAVED BY A PETITION.

Judge Bartine Suspends Sentence on John Schorb and Elias McCready, Because Somebody Asked Him to.

In court at Somerville, this morning, before Judge Bartine, in the case of Chas. Barry against John M. Schorb and Elias McCready for atrocious assault, T. Logan Murphy testified that he was disturbed on the night of the assault by cries for help, and running out of the house saw a man lying on the ground and one running away. He did not know either of the parties, but the men on the ground said that Schorb and McCready had assaulted him.

Judge Bartine, in addressing Schorb and McCready, said that they had committed a serious offence and had wilfully broken the law twice, and if it was not for the petition which he must regard, their sentence would have been a heavy one. The court was of the opinion that Schorb and McCready were the ones to blame, but as the signers of the petition thought differently, he would do as they asked, and suspend sentence with costs of prosecution. If ever they came before him again, he said, for such an offence, he would not deal so leniently with them.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

It is stated that the Rev. W. R. Richards will spend Sunday with his brother, at Orange, and preach there.

L. E. Hart, one of Plainfield's successful builders, left town today for a week's rest at Ocean Grove. He is accompanied by Mrs. Hart.

Mr. Angleman received honorable mention in the award of a $100 prize for the best written examination.

The heirs of Job Male are gathering here. The first two to arrive, James Martin and W. W. Miller, are from Rochester. They say a lot more are on the way. These heirs are against the probate of the unsigned will that would give some of the late ex-Mayor's money to the Plainfield library and the Plainfield Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. Ruth W. Vaughn died yesterday at the home of her granddaughter, Miss E. F. Vaughn, 25 Franklin place, in the 100th year of her age. She lacked less than five months of completing a century of life. Funeral services will be held at 5:30 this afternoon. Interment will be made at Rutland, Vt.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, pastor of the Plainfield Seventh-Day Baptist church, will take a three months' vacation this summer, and will devote the time to the completion and revision, preparatory to publication, of a work on ancient Baal, Phallic, sun and water worship. In the preparation of this work Dr. Lewis has spent much time, study and research, and it cannot but be an interesting and valuable addition to modern publications. During his vacation his pulpit will be occupied by his son, Prof. Edwin Lewis, and Prof. Rogers, both of Alfred University, Alfred Centre, N. Y. Prof. Rogers, who is father of Charles Potter Rogers of this city, will preach his first sermon here July 4.

Physicians and Pharmacists Not Yet Wedded.

H. P. Reynolds, of this city, reported to his fellow-members of the New Jersey State Pharmaceutical Association, at Wednesday afternoon's session, his experience as a visitor to the American Medical Society Convention held at Washington. He said: "The meetings there were well attended and enthusiastic, but so far as friendly relations between the pharmacists and physicians was concerned the convention was a failure; members of the State Pharmaceutical societies were in no case recognized as delegates to that society."

Plainfielders Perfecting the Plan.

Through a committee consisting of George H. Babcock, the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, L. E. Livermore, J. P. Hubbard and Stephen Babcock, the Board of the American Sabbath Tract Society is arranging for the establishment of a permanent working fund, which will make it no longer necessary to collect funds yearly by special agents.

Druggists' New Leaders.

The State Pharmaceutical Association have elected new officers as follows:

President—F. R. Danis, Morristown.

First Vice President—E. B. Jones, Mount Holly.

Second Vice President—W. S. Taylor, Trenton.

Secretary—Charles F. Dare, Bridgeton.

Treasurer—W. M. Townley, Newark.

PRIZES FROM THE PASTOR.

Little People of the Junior Endeavor Society Acquit Themselves Admirably.

The closing exercises of the year, of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the Trinity Reformed church, yesterday, were highly interesting. The children formed upstairs, with Mrs. Schenck, wife of the pastor, in charge; they marched down and around through the aisles several times, accompanied by a march played on the piano. The President, Josie Runyon, presided with grace and dignity worthy of older years. The exercises were opened with the singing of the hymn, "Marching to Zion", followed by prayer by the Rev. Mr. Schenck. After the hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers", the report of the secretary was read, and for a boy of his years it was something wonderful, it was so good. The report of the treasurer showed a snug balance on hand. The hymn, "Work Till Jesus Comes", was sung, and a review was then conducted, by Mr. Schenck, of the lessons taught since organizing. A solo, by Lily Zeisz, was rendered in a pleasing manner, as was also a recitation, by Emma Bolsterle. These were followed by refreshments, which had been bountifully provided by the committee in charge, after which Mr. Schenck called the members to order and in a very beautiful manner presented to those members who had committed the lessons thoroughly, each with a copy of the "Daily Readings" of that most estimable writer, Frances Ridley Havergal. Then, what was wholly unexpected, he presented to Miss Alice Smith, the faithful Superintendent, a beautifully bound copy of "Attractive Truths in Lesson and Story for Junior Christian Endeavor Societies", by Mrs. A. M. Scudder. After the singing of hymn, "God Be With You", the benediction was pronounced. This closed the programme, and the children marched out, in perfect order, to meet again the first Thursday in October.

The success of this society is largely due to Mr. Schenck's untiring efforts and inspiring influence. Everything yesterday went off beautifully. Every one was in excellent humor, the children had a royal good time, and the visitors, numbering about fifty, enjoyed it as well.

The committee in charge of refreshments were: Laura Emmons, Emma Cutter, Ada Miller, Olive Wikoff, Lucy Clawson, Jennie Smith, Minnie Wyman, Maude VanDyke. The ushers were: Chauncey Colthar and Clarence Bittenhouse.

The faithful young people who recited correctly the catechism entitled "First Lessons in Christian Truth", and to each of whom a copy of Miss Havergal's "Daily Readings" was given, were:

Elmer Wheeler,	Charlie Dolliver,
Robert Meeker,	Theodore Hazell,
Edgar Sheppard,	George Reynolds,
Anna Hazell,	Achsah Holmes,
Sadie Holmes,	Kittie Nevius,
Edith Clark,	Maude VanDyke,
Eva Lance,	Olive Wikoff,
Ada Miller,	May Williams,
Laura Wikoff,	Mamie Schaefer,
Bertha Mellman,	Eva Runavan,
Minnie Wyman,	Jennie Smith.

OVER $50 FOR THE BUILDING FUND.

Hope Chapel Boys and Girls Present a Creditable Entertainment.

Hope chapel was crowded to overflowing last evening, with people eager to enjoy the entertainment given by the boys and girls of the Sunday-school in behalf of the building fund of the chapel.

The programme included flag drills by the boys, a medley by Messrs. Smith, Freeman, Scuddef, and Newman, songs by Miss Ufford of New York, and "The Peak Sisters", under the direction of Miss Petrie.

Miss Ufford's singing, accompanied by the banjo, was heartily received. Her whistling also was thoroughly enjoyed, and called for an encore.

The medley was so good that the gentlemen were called back, and were listened to a second time with much pleasure.

The boys surprised their friends by their good marching. Many of the evolutions elicited hearty applause.

The wonderful "Peak" family afforded much merriment. They were like other families: one sister was late, and one so full of mischief and giggle as to be irrepressible. Their singing and recitations were very good. A duet, by the incorrigible "Melinda" and of her quieter sisters, with a comb accompaniment by the rest of the family, was particularly good.

The programme was closed with a song by the girls. This pleased the enthusiastic audience very much, for the singing was very sweet.

The success of the evening was complete. The boys and girls are to be congratulated that they have raised over $50 for the building fund.

In Somerset County's Court.

By order of the Court at Somerville, this morning, the name of the town of Bloomington was changed to South Bound Brook—with two B's.

John Walker and Francis Cook, the torturers of old man Toms, were called to the bar in answer to two indictments found against them by the April Grand Jury—one for assault with intent to murder, and the other for robbery. To the first one they pleaded "not guilty", and to the second "guilty." They were remanded by Judge Bartine.

During the heated term the human system requires a gentle, cooling stimulant. What a blessing then to be able to make five gallons of a delicious temperance drink from a 25-cent package of Hires's Root Beer.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for six weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am nearly cured, and yet it seems too good to be true. Have no doubt but that much of the sleeplessness people complain of is caused by indigestion.

A Plainfield Pastor Lends a Hand.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis of this city, who is deeply interested in social purity work both in this country and abroad, has received from missionary Velthuysen of Holland a letter descriptive of the deplorable condition of things in that country. The missionary finds cause for great congratulation in even such slight advancement as the prohibition, in three towns, of the erection of public houses of disorder, which are very common in most places in that country. The missionary and his co-laborer, Mr. Vander Scheur, have for some months been at Harderwizk, the depot where the colonial troops are recruited. At that place disorderly houses thrive greatly. Their chief source of revenue is from the soldiers, who squander in riotous living the money paid to them on enlistment. Yet even here the hopeful and energetic missionaries anticipate speedy closing of the infamous places.

The faithful workers report to the Plainfield clergyman that in India the moral condition of the soldiers is most sad. "They have no conversation with the European civilians, nor with the natives. They are permitted only temporary marriages with the native women, in the barracks, but they are not permitted to marry them legally. This is, of course, a source of great misery, a horror in God's sight, and a mighty obstacle for the prosperity of the gospel in our colonies. Strong drink everywhere, imported by the government, together with the scandalous condition of affairs socially, brutalize and destroy the souls and bodies of most of these men; though not of all. They live almost everywhere deprived of all spiritual care. Garrisons of more than a thousand men are without a single preacher or missionary, and the few ministers of the Reformed church in India are most of them rationalists."

Dr. Lewis is creating a sentiment among his own denomination in this country that may result in material aid to the men who are laboring for the right under such discouraging conditions.

May Manufacture Their Own Patent Drugs.

At the meeting of the State Pharmaceutical Association at Trenton this week it was recommended to have a State laboratory built for the manufacture of such patent medicines as New Jersey druggists need, and for the detection of druggists who sell adulterated compounds. The manufacturers and jobbers were said to be against the retailers and the race was an uneven one. One man said: "You cannot abolish the devil by a resolution, and you cannot do away with this business by a resolution either."

Scott Taylor said that his idea was to have a large laboratory, to be built and supported by stockholders, who should have any preparation at the cost of manufacture. Mr. Taylor said he would save $1,000 a year by this plan, and have better products. $100,000 would be sufficient to start it; then a board of sixteen directors could manage the business. As the State of New Jersey was the first to have a Pharmaceutical Association it should be proud to take the first step in this direction. A committee consisting of Mr. Taylor, Mr. Aikers, Mr. Avery, A. M. Linnet, and Charles Holzhauer, was appointed to formulate a plan for a laboratory and to make it known as soon as possible by circular letters to the members of the association.

Great Sport at the Driving Track.

No one need go out of town to-morrow to see good sport. At the grounds of the Gentlemen's Driving Park Association the local racing season will be opened, and all who want to spend a pleasant afternoon are invited to be spectators. Racing will begin at 3 o'clock sharp. The following events have been planned for:

Race No. 1.—Trotting between M. Quinn's "Kitty Pilot", Fosher's "Missouri Boy", and J. W. Johnson's "Colonel".

Race No. 2.—Chandeler's "John C.", Hayes's "Andy", and Fosher's "Look Up".

Race No. 3.—Road-wagon race between Nate Robbins's "Doctor", John Osborn's "Marksanier," Andrew Lutkins's Lady", and Ellis Campbell's "Idlewild".

Other events will follow, if there be time for them.

Memorial Day at Westfield.

Winfield Scott and Major Anderson Posts of Plainfield, accompanied by a band, will arrive in Westfield at about 9:30 a. m., and will march through the town to Fairview Cemetery, where, at the soldiers' monument, the usual ceremonies will take place.

By request of the joint memorial detail, the Rev. Mr. Patton will deliver an address.

The soldiers' plot will be suitably decorated for the occasion, and more permanent improvements will be made later on.

Treasurer S. W. Reese has received contributions of $16.75 for Decoration Day purposes.

To-Morrow's Parade.

Wm. C. Smith, marshal of the Memorial Day parades, announces that the line will form on Front street, right resting on Peace, in the following order: Marshal, Memorial Committee, Band, Grand Army Post No. 73, Plainfield and North Plainfield Common Councils, Edwards Zouaves, surviving soldiers and sailors, Grand Army Post 109, and carriages for disabled comrades. The line will move at 2 p. m. The route will be: From Front to Peace, to Crescent avenue, to Park avenue, to Seventh street, to Central avenue, to Front, to Grove, to Emily, to Somerset, to Front, to Music Hall, where Memorial Day services will be held.

Root Beer in five minutes; cool, delicious and refreshing. Knapp's Root Beer Extract makes it.

A Question of Quaker Discipline Settled.

A story comes to this city by way of Dover, that "the Plainfield Society of Friends, which owns the Quaker church at Millbrook, has had a strange question referred to it for solution. The late Edward Dell, of Kenvil, near Dover, by his will charged the executors of his estate to expend the sum of $1,000, 'no more and no less', for the erection of a monument in the Quaker burying ground at Millbrook, to contain the names of four persons—his father, mother, himself and another—and for a fence to enclose a plot of ground containing four graves. He also devised $500, to be placed at interest, and of the interest $25 per year is to be devoted annually to the care of the burying ground and $5 for the care of his own lot. In connection with his first bequest a curious question arises.

"Some thirty years ago", says the story, "the Society of Friends adopted and required the enforcement of a rule against the erection of expensive monuments in their burying grounds, such not being in accordance with their ideas of simplicity, and unless this rule has been modified in recent years it is still in force and will militate against this proposed monument."

As far as the reference of the matter to the Plainfield Society, the above story is correct. But nothing was said about a "monument", in the communication from the Millbrook Society. Permission was asked simply to place a grave-stone in the burying ground, "four feet high and three feet wide". The Plainfield Society at once granted the request. The discipline of the Quaker church does not permit of any display in their grave-yards, but "a stone four feet high and three feet wide" is hardly a "monument".

Somerville Disgusted.

(From The Unionist-Gazette.)

The game Wednesday with the New Jersey Athletic Club on their grounds at Bergen Point was a disappointment in every sense of the word to all of the West Ends' supporters. The whole nine innings were but a repetition of the game three weeks ago, when the West Ends were beaten by just twice the score as that of Wednesday. The only redeeming features of the game were two running catches each by Carbonell and Davenport, and a circus catch and long throw in, which held the runner at second on what ought to have been a three bagger, by the new man Lisdy. He is a hard, earnest worker and played a good game. The management desire to state that when the players showed what they were by putting up the game they did three weeks ago, it was decided by the Board of Governors to make a change in the team, but being lenient they thought they would try the men for two more games. But they have not proved satisfactory, and the change has been made. Bergen, Bowes and Williams have been released, and men will be hired for Saturday's game who will play ball all the time and who will prove acceptable to the patrons of base-ball.

A Fine Concert This Evening.

The Boston Evening Traveler says: "The Hotchkin Family of musicians from Rochester, N. Y., has just given a popular concert here, while on the way from a tour through Northwestern New York and Vermont. The family consists of four young ladies, who travel under the direction of their father. They are all attractive in appearance, and show remarkable talent and skill for their years. They are expert bell-ringers, and play upon flutes, cornets, and a whole list of stringed instruments, with suitable vocal parts interspersed. Their performances and their personal manners are absolutely free from all objectionable features, and all who desire a chaste and pleasing entertainment can safely patronize them. The audience here was of the best quality, and everyone was pleased."

This family is to appear at the Warren Union Mission chapel this evening at 8 o'clock. General admission, 25 cents.

No Man Better Than H. P. Reynolds.

The standing committee of the State Pharmaceutical Association have decided that the druggists best fitted to serve on the State Board of Pharmacy are W. R. Laird, H. P. Reynolds of Plainfield, A. L. Avery, A. S. Cook, and W. Scott Taylor. From this list Governor Abbett is to select two to serve on the State Board.

As was stated in THE PRESS yesterday, the object in placing an experienced druggist on the State Board is especially to detect, arrest and fine unregistered drug clerks who are illegally employed to fill prescriptions at seaside resorts or elsewhere.

Loving Women and Children. Will Hold Services

Garfield League, No. 22, of the Loyal Ladies League, having been requested to hold a service in one of the cemeteries of this city, will on the morning of "Memorial Day" decorate the graves of the soldiers of the war for the Union, in the Presbyterian Cemetery. The services will begin at 9.30 and will consist of singing by Houghton Division, No. 1, of the Children's Loyal Legion, a chorus of girls, relatives of Union soldiers, and an address by Hon. Charles Place, Mayor of North Plainfield.

Will Visit Plainfield Next Year.

Plainfield has been chosen by the New Jersey State Pharmaceutical Association as the place of next year's meeting. An appropriation was made to cover expenses. The meeting will be made a notable event by the local committee.

The Benediction Was in Chinese.

The Plainfield Woman's Christian Temperance Union celebrated the World's W. C. T. U. anniversary last Sunday, in the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

The exercises, which were of special interest to "White Ribboners", were very attractive and educational throughout.

Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson—whom the members were rejoiced to welcome again in their midst after her protracted illness—presided, and Dr. Lewis conducted the devotions.

Interspersed with music were readings from the pens of the gifted leader of the World's Union and other National officers. Miss Willard's "Plea for the protection of the home in every land" was read by Mrs. Fernald. Miss Yates gave interesting accounts of temperance work done in Norway; and Miss Green, President of the "Y's", read an article on Y. work by the National Superintendent of that department.

The Rev. Mr. Davis gave briefly a very interesting account of the progress of Christian and mission work done in China.

A "Congress of Nations", represented by the "Y's" of this city, was rendered in a most pleasing way, and the church choir sang very sweetly "White Ribbon Vibrations". After an earnest appeal from the president of the local union for continued and increased exertions on the part of all temperance advocates and workers, the Rev. Mr. Davis pronounced the benediction in the Chinese language.

A Silver Cup for the Best Batter.

The Westfield base-ball team will to-morrow play two games against the crack St. Louis College team, at Drake Park, Westfield. The morning game will be called at 10:30, and the afternoon game at 4. Both games are expected to be close and exciting, and a large crowd will undoubtedly turn out to greet the boys after their game of last Saturday. An interesting feature will be the contest for the silver cup which the management offers to the Westfield player making the highest batting average in the two games. A number of small wagers have been laid as to who will get the prize, the favorite candidates being Connell, McManus, Diven, Howe and O'Neill.

What Makes Jeptha's Peach Trees Grow.

Jeptha Wagner says that the reason his peach trees are so marvelously productive is because they are built up and nourished by the famous fertilizer which he invented and of which his company manufactures and sells so many tons each year. He exhibits samples of trees that have grown up without his fertilizer, on land adjoining the orchards which have been treated with the compound, and the unfertilized trees are puny and barren, while the others are hardy and strong and heavily laden with fruit. Everyone who has used Wagner's fertilizer knows that it is a good thing for the entire vegetable kingdom.

Cloaks Almost Given Away.

You will need a jacket or wrap these cool summer evenings and for fall wear. A large line of them at great bargains will be offered you next week. Hedenberg & Co., who have in Newark the largest cloak store in the State, have rented 23 Somerset street near Front, for a few days, and will there hold a grand sale of spring jackets and wraps, styles of 1891, for ladies, misses and children, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, of next week, June 1, 2 and 3. The store will be open until 9 p. m. There will also be on sale a large stock of children's Winter cloaks at big reductions!

Pitcher O'Neill Gets a New Pair of Shoes.

At the conclusion of the recent base-ball game between Westfield and Bergen Point, which Westfield's pets won by their admirable team playing, Cy. Wilcox, with his customary habit of always doing the right thing, passed around the hat among the lovers of the game, and in a short time raised money enough to present O'Neill, Westfield's favorite pitcher, with a pair of handsome kangaroo base-ball shoes and spikes complete. John O's habitual smile widened preceptibly when he learned of this handsome present.

Druggist Shaw Tells a Funny Story.

The proprietor of the Trenton House, at Trenton, gave a banquet to a select party of Pharmaceutical Association members and their feminine friends, Wednesday evening. One of the after-dinner speakers was R. J. Shaw of this city, who, among other things, which brought down the house, told how, when the committee on the Pharmacy Bill went to the Legislature at one time, the presiding officer, supposing that pharmacy must of course relate to the farm, referred it to the Committee on Agriculture.

A Revolt in Sicily.

ROME, May 29.—The population of the commune of Misterbianco, in Sicily, rose in revolt against a local tax, and, invading the town, set fire to the buildings. Troops were dispatched to the scene and the revolt was quickly suppressed and the leaders have been arrested. A judicial inquiry into the trouble has been opened.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Brief notices will be inserted under this head free of expense, but must be delivered at this office not later than eleven o'clock on Saturday morning to insure publication.

The Rev. C. L. Goodrich will preach at the Mt. Pleasant school-house Sunday evening.

The services in St. Mary's church next Sunday will be held as follows: Masses will be celebrated at 7:30, 8:30, 9:45 and 10:45 a. m. Vespers at eight o'clock p. m. Sunday-school will meet at 3:00 p. m.

First Church of Christ meets next Sunday at Vanderbeek's hall. 11 a. m., Lord's Supper; 3:30 p. m., Sunday-school; 7:30, preaching; Young People's League meets every Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

The meeting at the Memorial chapel at Washingtonville Sunday evening will be conducted by Evangelist George Watts. He will be assisted by P. W. Cannon, who will read from the Bible in the blind language.

Svenck Predikning. The Scandinavian Bible class will have preaching in Svenska on Sunday next at 2:45 p. m., by Pastor Eckman of New York. Singing from Nya Pilgrims Sanger. Class meets at Park Avenue church, corner Ninth street.

The services at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, on Clinton avenue, next Sunday, will be: Morning prayer and sermon at eleven o'clock, and Sunday-school at 9:45 a. m. The rector, the Rev. Dr. Taylor, will officiate.

William D. Thickstun will conduct the young men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms Sunday at 4:15 p. m. There will be hearty singing, with cornet accompaniment. Seventeen different persons took part in the meeting last Sunday. All men are invited.

In the Trinity Reformed church Sunday, May 31, services will be held as follows: At 10:30 the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated. Sabbath-school at 2:30. Preaching at 7:45 by the pastor, the Rev. Cornelius Schenck. Subject—"The Chorus". All welcome.

Special Decoration Day services at the Seventh-day Baptist church, at 10:30 a. m., to-morrow. Dr. Lewis will discuss the causes which led to the war, the extent and cost of the war, the results of the war, and the Nation's duty in the future. All veterans and their friends will be welcome.

Services in the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday will include preaching at 10:30 a. m. and 7:45 p. m., by the pastor, the Rev. Asa Reed Dilts. Morning theme, "The New Birth". The evening sermon will be appropriate to this memorial season. Sunday-school at 2:30 p. m. All are welcome and seats are free.

Next Sunday's services in the First Baptist church, corner of Front and Grove streets, will be as follows: 9:30 a. m., prayer meeting; 10:30 a. m., preaching by the Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, followed by the emersion of candidates; 2:30 p. m., Sunday-school for the young and old; 7:45, evening service for one hour. An invitation is extended to all friends and strangers.

Her Marriage Complicated Matters.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The President reappointed Miss Emma C. Noble, or rather Mrs. Emma C. McPherson, postmaster at Raton, N. M. Since her appointment some years ago Miss Noble has been married and, while she has been reappointed to the position, it is necessary on account of the change of name that she be given a new commission, which also involves a new bond and confirmation by the Senate. This is said to be the first case of its kind on the records of the Postoffice Department.

Reciprocity With the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—A dispatch from Ottawa says the following resolution will be debated in the Senate next week: "That in the opinion of this House no treaty of reciprocity with the United States should contain any provision obliging Canada, directly or indirectly, to impose a duty on any article included in such treaty which would discriminate against its importation from the United Kingdom or any other country."

Secretary Foster Very Busy.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Secretary Foster hopes that he will be able to get to New York this evening, but the prospects are not favorable. The 4 1-2 per cent. bond circular necessary for redemption and the proposed funding of 2 per cents will have to be issued on June 2 under the law, and this gives the Secretary but little time for outside consultation.

Taft for a Circuit Judgeship.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—There is apparently strong ground for the belief that Solicitor-General Taft will be appointed as the new Circuit Judge for the circuit including Ohio.

Minister Hirsch Coming Home.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 29.—Hon. Solomon Hirsch, the United States Minister to Turkey, has obtained a leave of absence from the State Department at Washington, and will return to the United States for a visit during the summer.

SIMPLE RAIN GAUGE.

It Is Reliable and Can Easily Be Made at Home.

Let the tinsmith make a funnel with a small—say one-quarter-inch—opening at bottom, and having a two-inch band soldered round the top, as shown in sketch, to prevent the rain that falls within it splashing out again. The upper edge of this band must measure an exact eight inches in diameter. Take a good, large bottle—an ordinary wine bottle will serve, but in localities where the rainfall is heavy something larger is preferable—into this bottle measure three and one-half fluid ounces, and mark the bottle at the water level; so on till the bottle is filled, marking the water level of each added measure of three and one-half ounces.

Each of these graduations shows one-eighth inch of rainfall. For convenient references the graduations may be marked on a strip of paper and gummed outside the bottle.

Wherein Spiders Are Peculiar.

Spiders differ from insects in five minute particulars: Their eyes are simple instead of compound; they have eight legs instead of six; they do not pass through the metamorphoses which are characteristic of insects; they have no antennæ, and their breathing is accomplished by means of organs which combine the functions of lungs and gills, instead of by tubes prevading their bodies.

The destructive effects upon the forests of the present demand for timber for making railway ties is shown by the fact that this material is now largely cut from trees that will make only one tie, or at least only one tie from a cut.

At Rawil-Pindie, India, there was recently a "locust block" on the railway line which lasted several hours, and so lubricated the track that for two or three days afterward extra engines were required to draw the trains over the sections affected.

The Electrical Engineer holds that the problem of obtaining light without heat is now one of such immediate moment, and the pecuniary reward consequent upon a successful solution of the problem is so great that the energies of inventors can be bent in no better direction than this.

"YOU ARE SO YOUNG TO SUFFER!"

This occurrence is frequent. Young girls in public schools where great rivalry exists, often try to accomplish too much, and soon discover that their delicate organizations are unequal to the mental strain. Then the ambitious child is taken from school — "to rest" — in disappointment.

This is wrong. The ambitions of a child should be aided, not blasted. Thoughtful, intelligent mothers know what to do. Thousands of bright eyed, rosy cheeked, energetic and lovable school girls regard Mrs. Pinkham as their mainstay. They are right.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. B. COWARD, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., May 25, 1891.

AN ORDINANCE

To establish the grade on North avenue from Richmond street to Terrill road.

The inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the grade on North avenue, from Richmond street to the Terrill road, be established as follows:

Beginning at the established curb grade at the northeasterly curb line of Richmond street, elevation above the city base at the northerly curb corner 44.47 feet, and at the easterly curb corner 44.25 feet above the city base; thence with an ascending grade to a point distant three hundred and twelve feet in a northeasterly direction from the northeasterly curb line of Richmond street, elevation 47.21 feet; thence with an ascending grade of 0.486 foot, per one hundred feet to a point distant eleven hundred and twelve feet in a northeasterly direction from the northeasterly curb line of Richmond street, elevation 51.10 feet; thence with a descending grade of 0.61 feet per one hundred feet to Cedar brook, elevation 47.55 feet; thence with a level grade, for a distance of one hundred and eighteen (118) feet; thence with an ascending grade of 0.267 foot per one hundred feet to a point distant fifty-seven (57) feet in a southwesterly direction from the southwesterly curb line of Leland avenue, elevation 57.45 feet; thence with an ascending grade of 0.91 foot per one hundred feet to a point distant four hundred and three (403) feet in a northeasterly direction from the northeasterly curb line of Leland avenue, elevation 62.99 feet; thence with an ascending grade of 0.59 foot per one hundred (100) feet to a point distant sixteen hundred and three (1603) feet in a northeasterly direction from the northeasterly curb line of Leland avenue, elevation 69.08 feet; thence with an ascending grade of 1.192 feet per one hundred (100) feet to a point distant two thousand two hundred and fifty-three (2253) feet in a northeasterly direction from the northeasterly curb line of Leland avenue, elevation 76.85 feet; thence with an ascending grade to a point distant sixty-three feet in a southwesterly direction from the southwesterly curb line of Terrill road, elevation on the northwesterly curb line 80.75 feet, and on the southeasterly curb line 80.35 feet; thence with an ascending grade to the southwesterly curb line of Terrill road, elevation on the westerly curb corner to be 80.85 feet, and on the southerly curb corner 80.65 feet above the city base, the centre grade to be 0.5 of a foot higher than the above described curb grade.

Section 2. That all ordinances so far as they conflict with this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 3. That the Street Committee is hereby authorized to have the above described grade drawn upon the city grade maps.

FIGHTING THE FAIR

Chicago Workmen Begin an Attack on the Exposition.

THEY WILL FOMENT STRIKES.

Trying to Induce the City Council to Hold Back the $5,000,000 Voted.

The War Will be Bitterly Waged Unless Organized Labor Get Some Sort of Satisfaction—The Unions Meet and Adopt a Fighting Programme—All Workingmen Will be Called Upon to Take Part.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Organized labor, failing to obtain any satisfaction from the World's Fair people regarding the minimum wage question, has begun an attack upon the enterprise and will endeavor to induce the city council to hold back the $5,000,000 recently voted by the city for exposition purposes.

A meeting was held yesterday by representatives of the Central Labor unions and a fighting programme laid out. These unions propose to do everything in their power to hurt the fair unless they get some sort of satisfaction, and the probabilities seem to be that a series of strikes will result as soon as work is begun upon the fair buildings, which will be in a few weeks.

The war will be bitterly waged, and strikes will not only be fomented among the men employed in the work of construction upon the grounds, but those who work in the mills and foundries that are to furnish materials for the buildings.

Nothing will be left undone to injure the fair, and workingmen in all departments of labor and in all grades will be called upon to withhold their patronage.

TO LEAVE THE CABINET.

A Rumor that Secretary Noble Will Go to St. Petersburg or London.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—It is generally believed in official circles that while Secretary Noble is not going to leave the public service they would not be surprised if in a very short time he would retire from the Interior Department to accept a prominent place in the Diplomatic Service.

One story is to the effect that he will take Minister Smith's place at St. Petersburg. Another and more probable story is that if Secretary Proctor should be selected to succeed Senator Edmunds, which now seems certain, Minister Lincoln will be made Secretary of War and Secretary Noble will be sent to the Court of St. James.

Secretary Noble is still absent, but there are those in his department who believe that he will not much longer occupy his present position.

Mrs. Harrison's Plans.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Mrs. Harrison has been giving much of her time lately to settling upon the plans of the redecoration and various other changes which will be made in the White House during the summer. The decoration of the vestibule and corridor, the green parlor and state dining room are what the public will see the most of, but the necessary changes and repairs in the plumbing and other work of that character is giving her as much concern. If the weather is favorable for the change, she now expects to go to Cape May Point about June 15 and spend the entire summer there. The White House will scarcely be habitable after July 1.

Died While Undergoing an Operation.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Willis P. Canda, aged 13, residing in Brooklyn, died at his home last evening while under the influence of chloroform during the performance of an operation. His upper lip had grown to abnormal size through his habit of continually sucking it. An operation was decided upon by physicians to remove some of the excess growth. Chloroform was administered, and while in an unconscious state the boy showed signs of heart failure. The doctors made every effort to save his life, but he gradually grew weaker and in an hour's time was dead.

West Point Examinations.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 1.—The annual "June examinations," at West Point, begin to-day and will terminate on June 12, with the graduation of the first class. The class numbers 66, and as there are 100 vacant second lieutenancies in the army to be filled there will be no waiting for promotion or gazetting to regiments. All of which is very pleasing to the cadets.

No Money for Prosecutors.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 1.—The State Treasurer has notified the various States' attorneys that on account of the legislative deadlock the appropriation for prosecuting officers has run out. Unless the States' attorneys choose to act for nothing there can be no criminal session for the criminal court until an appropriation bill is passed.

Commissioner Mitchell to Retire.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—There is what seems a well-grounded rumor afloat to the effect that Charles E. Mitchell, Commissioner of Patents, has tendered his resignation of the office to the President. The cause of the resignation is said to be the desire of Mr. Mitchell to resume his practice of patent law, in which he was very successful.

Russians Wanted in Brazil.

BERLIN, June 1.—Forty Russian colonists have been sent back to Russia by the Brazilian Government at its own expense to encourage their relations and friends to emigrate to Brazil. This is done to counteract the opposition of the Czar's Government to the emigration of his subjects to Brazil.

Revolution in Port-au-Prince.

PARIS, June 1.—A cable message has been received at the Haytien Legation here announcing that a revolution has broken out at Port-au-Prince and a state of siege has been proclaimed. A French [illegible] has been sent.

BIG CHURCH SCANDAL.

One Clergyman Accuses Another of Improper Conduct.

SOMERS, Conn., June 1.—One of the most sensational scandals that has ever agitated Tolland county has been precipitated by Rev. C. H. Gleason, for many years pastor of the Congregational Church. Mr. Gleason has brought suit against his wife, Nettie, for divorce, which will be tried in the Superior Court this week. He charges her with misconduct on several occasions with a young Boston minister.

The plaintiff is on the downhill side of life, having been pastor of the Somers church for nearly 30 years. His first wife lies in the little churchyard here, and it was after her death that his troubles began. The present Mrs. Gleason was a gay young Boston girl, half of the minister's age, who spent a summer here. He wooed and won her. The evidence of her improper conduct with the young Boston minister promises to be very sensational, as the junior lover has recently married a society belle at the Hub. Mrs. Gleason will contest the case stubbornly. She charges her husband with improper conduct with several of the women in his parish. Lawyers are hunting for evidence for both.

THE NEW JUDGES.

Appointments by the President Looked for this Week.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—President Harrison has finally determined not to appoint the nine new circuit court judges until next December. He says no member has yet been selected. Political belief, it is understood, will not be the dominant requisite for appointment to these positions.

It is the intention of the President to select men for these places of the very highest legal ability, and with the view of obtaining such talent, the legal work of candidates will be carefully scrutinized, and wherever it is possible their briefs and printed arguments before their respective Supreme Courts will be secured and subjected to examination. The ability and legal acumen expressed in these documents will therefore have much weight in assisting the President in reaching his conclusions. This is taken as an indication that perhaps there may be a Democrat appointed in one of the Southern States.

The appointment of five land court judges is looked for confidently this week.

SEEKING FOREIGN LABOR.

A New Jersey Manufacturer Offers Employment to Exiled Russian Jews.

LONDON, June 1.—A Hamburg dispatch says that word has been received in that city from a prominent manufacturer in New Jersey, U. S. A., that he can find employment for several hundred of the exiled Russian Jews.

The manufacturer stated in his message, which is addressed to a Jewish house in Hamburg, that, owing to the American emigration law, he cannot engage these people in advance, but that he will give them work upon their arrival.

Married Women May Teach School.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 1.—The women teachers in a Jersey City public schools were formerly subject to discharge in the event of their marriage. The Board of Education has changed this rule, and now a teacher can get married without being obliged to tender her resignation. Director Reid was the only member of the Board who objected to the change. He said he was opposed to married women teaching school. He thought they ought to attend to their household duties and give the single women a chance.

New England Tennis Tournament.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 1.—The annual New England tennis tournament will be held at the grounds of the New Haven Lawn Club for four days, beginning June 16. The entries will be gentlemen's singles and doubles. The challenge cup, which was won last year by R. P. Huntington, jr., will be defended by him against all comers. The cup becomes the property of the person who wins it three consecutive years.

Confessed She Killed Her Husband.

MACON, Ga., June 1.—At an early hour the body of Tom Long was found lying naked near his house. He had been murdered with an axe. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that Long came to his death at the hands of unknown persons. Later in the day Long's wife confessed that she killed her husband at 4 o'clock by striking him on the head with an axe. The woman is in custody, and fears are expressed that she may be lynched.

Committed Suicide by Hanging.

UTICA, N. Y., June 1.—Mrs. John R. Davies, of Bardwell Town, about 20 miles from this city, committed suicide by hanging. She had made previous attempts to kill herself. Mrs. Davies was a woman of great intellect and was highly connected in this city.

Now a Free Promenade.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Exactly at midnight last night the promenade of the Brooklyn Bridge was opened to the public free of charge. This is in accordance with a recent act of the Legislature.

SENSATIONAL TRIAL

All London Excited Over the Baccarat Case.

OVER 18,000 APPLY FOR SEATS.

The Scene When Court Opened This Morning an Interesting One.

The Prince of Wales Will Be Called Upon to Testify—His Testimony Will Have a Great Bearing On the Result—It Is Rumored that the Defence Will Plead Justification.

LONDON, June 1.—Beginning with the baccarat scandal trial to-day, the British public will be regaled with a series of sensations, including eight cases of breach of promise of marriage, and a new trial of the notorious Wolpole-Wiedeman case, which has thrown such a lurid light upon the state of English society in the East.

So great is the interest taken in the Sir W. Gordon Cumming trial by the public that there have been over 18,000 applications for seats, and the court has accomodation for only 250 in that portion reserved for the public.

In order to meet this unparallelled demand, extra seats have been placed in the body of the court and a row upon the bench itself, but these latter are reserved for the most distinguished applicants. In order, too, to prevent any possible confusion, Lord Coleridge himself has signed every ticket for admission.

The scene, therefore, when the court assembled this morning was an interesting one, not only by reason of the fact of the importance and gravity of the case, or the circumstance that the Prince of Wales will be called as one of the chief witnesses, but also because of the position and social consequence of the audience which is in attendance to watch the proceedings.

The great event of the day will naturally be the calling of the Prince of Wales and it is expected that His Royal Highness will follow Sir William in the witness box. Much will depend on the Prince's evidence, so that apart from the consideration of his rank, his testimony will have a great bearing on the case.

Nothing is definitely known as to the nature of the defense to be brought forward, but it is rumored in legal circles that justification will be pleaded.

BARNUM'S BODY.

Friends of the Dead Showman May Decide on Cremation.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 1.—Benjamin Fish, treasurer of the Barnum & Bailey show and cousin of Mrs. Barnum, is quoted as saying: "I have just left Mrs. Barnum and we have decided that the best thing that we can do is to have Mr. Barnum's body exhumed and cremated."

MORE BARNABY MYSTERY.

An Illegitimate Child Now Brought Into the Famous Case.

DENVER, Col., June 1.—Developments in the Barnaby case continue to interest the public, but are at present mostly confined to the experiences of witnesses.

A story has come to Denver that might show up motives in a startling manner.

For some time the detectives in the East have been working steadily on a clew and attempting to find a certain mysterious individual.

This person is said to have been the great and primal cause for the disruption in the Barnaby family, which eventually led to Mr. Barnaby cutting off his widow with $2,500 a year.

The individual who could account for so many things has not, so far as is at present known, even by word or action, placed himself or herself in in a position to cause fear or trouble.

This person, who is likely to become one of the most important personages in the case, is said to be an illegitimate child of the late Mrs. Josephine B. Barnaby.

The latest piece of information comes as a thunderbolt in the pervading dullness in the unraveling of the great poisoning mystery.

Little is known at present beyond the bare fact that such a complication exists.

What its full significance may be cannot be fully determined until the day when the jury shall be hearing the evidence which is to pronounce Dr. Graves either an innocent and much persecuted man or a criminal who planned and carried into fatal execution the most diabolical murder ever perpetrated in the West.

Shot His Brother-in-Law.

NORFOLK, Va., June 1.—John Kelly, last evening shot and fatally wounded his brother-in-law, Otto Cayton. Kelly is in custody. Cayton persuaded Kelly's wife to leave him.

The First Canadian Peer.

MONTREAL, Can., June 1.—Sir George Stephen has been created a peer by Her Majesty. This is the first instance of a peerage having been conferred on a Canadian.

Mexican Minister of Finance Dead.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 1.—Minister of Finance Dunlan died at midnight.

FIFTEEN SKINNED.

A Novel Grafting Process Performed on an Injured Miner.

PLYMOUTH, Pa., June 1.—A successful case of skin grafting was performed by Dr. Frank McKee, of this place. About one month ago John Watt, a miner, sustained an injury in the mines whereby he lost all the skin and flesh of his thigh and leg, necessitating the removal of several muscles.

Watt is a member of the Plymouth Lodge of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and 15 of his brethren in the lodge volunteered to present him with portions of their skin when the operation was decided on.

It was a novel spectacle to see these 15 strong, healthy and cheery miners entering the operating room literally for the purpose of being skinned. They were prepared antiseptically before the knife was applied.

Ten grafts were secured from each man, making 150 grafts in all. These were placed on the raw sore near the edges of the healthy flesh and over the injured muscles. The men from whom the skin was removed did not complain of any serious pain, and the physician said they would be perfectly well in a very few days.

The operation consumed four hours. Dr. McKee expects that the grafted skin will at once unite with the living flesh, making the member as sound as ever.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

A Remarkable Case in Connection With the Tobin Tragedy.

ERIE, Pa., June 1.—One of the most remarkable cases of mistaken identity on record has come to light here in connection with the Tobin murder at Franklin, Pa., on the night of March, 21, 1891.

Daniel O'Brien, a prisoner in the Erie jail, was suspected of complicity in the crime, and two witnesses positively identified him as a tramp who had been seen in Franklin on the day of the murder. They unhesitatingly pointed out O'Brien from a crowd of 11 prisoners who had been ranged in line. The police of Oil City likewise identified the prisoner's photograph as that of a man who sought lodging in the lock-up the night before the murder.

The fact had already been established that O'Brien was a crook from Syracuse, and a telegram was received last night from the chief of police of that city saying that O'Brien was in that city in the penitentiary from March 13 to May 15, thus proving an alibi.

BEATEN BY A BRUTE.

A Drunken New York Husband Kicks His Babe and Wife.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Daniel McCarthy, aged 28, has been arrested for a most brutal crime. On Saturday night McCarthy went to his home, 221 East 21st street, beastly drunk. His wife asked him for his wages, and a quarrel ensued. The woman had her 6-weeks'-old babe in her arms at the time.

Suddenly McCarthy felled her to the floor and then aimed a vicious kick at the prostrate woman. The little, weak child received the full force of the brute's foot in the groin, which so injured it that it will die. The woman was also dragged around the room, after which McCarthy left the house.

The woman, covered with blood and bruises, took the dying child to Bellevue Hospital, close by, the authorities of which reported the matter to the police. McCarthy was arrested to-day.

She Sees the Dead Face of Moore.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Minnie Winterling, 22, was locked up last night to prevent her from drowning herself. She was the main witness in the Moore murder trial at Ottawa, Ill., which resulted in the hanging of Charles Ford on May 9 and the incarceration in the State's Prison of William O'Brien for life and Kate Ford for 14 years. The girl says whenever she thinks of the past she can see the dead face of Moore, and it almost drives her to distraction.

Grip Communicated After Death.

LONDON, June 1.—Sir Morrell Mackenzie has made some startling statements with regard to influenza. Sir Morrell believes the disease can be communicated by dead bodies. In support of this opinion, he quotes a case from the American newspapers, in which a gentleman of that nationality, having died with influenza in Paris, his body was embalmed and sent to Philadelphia, where it was exposed to the view of the family, all of whom were immediately attacked by the disease. Sir Morrell does not doubt that the influenza was introduced into the House of Commons by the witnesses from Sheffield, where the disease was at its worst, who gave their evidence in one of the committee rooms.

Subscription for Nellie Baskett.

LONDON, June 1.—A subscription is being taken for Miss Nellie Baskett, the young woman whose evidence served to bring Captain Verney and his fellow conspirator, Madame Bouiller, to justice. The young woman is dependent entirely upon her own resources. She could have received thousands of pounds had she consented not to appear against Verney, whose family is very wealthy, but the authorities found her a steadfast witness. The subscription already amounts to a handsome sum.

Belgium Labor Troubles.

LONDON, June 1.—Belgium seems to be getting deeper into the trouble with strikers instead of out of its difficulties. Financial aid for the strikers is offered from France, Germany and England, and the council of the workingmen's party have voted to continue the strike. It is expected that a strike of gasworkers will soon be commenced, which will throw Brussels into total darkness.

Doctors in Trouble.

OMAHA, Neb., June 1.—The three doctors arrested for criminal malpractice are still in jail. The remains of two infants have been exhumed in the yard of the Medical Institute. Dr. Hugoson, another member of the staff of the institute, has disappeared. The institute has been closed, all the employes and patients being dismissed.

THE DYING PREMIER

Sir John Macdonald Still Fighting Off Death.

THE END MUST BE VERY NEAR.

The Attending Physicians Astounded at the Marvelous Vitality Displayed.

A Crisis in Political Circles in the Dominion Imminent—Speculation as to Sir John's Successor—The Cabinet Held a Six-Hour Session—Parliament Will Adjourn To-day for Three Weeks.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 1.—Sir John Macdonald is still living, but it is only a slender cord that binds him to earth, still the attending physicians are astounded at the marvellous vitality he displays.

The old premier is fighting with characteristic tenacity, but the fight cannot be much longer maintained. Since Friday afternoon, though deprived of the power of speech, he has maintained the cheerfulness for which he was so noted while in health. Not the appearance of regret or disappointment has been expressed. He realizes that the end is approaching, and seems to be prepared for the final call.

A Political Crisis Imminent.

A crisis in political circles is imminent. The Cabinet sat six hours Saturday, but, as if by arrangement, the lips of all the Cabinet Ministers are sealed as to what was done. In the event of Sir John's death, Sir Henry Langevin, the Privy Councillor, will be summoned by the Governor-General to assume control of public affairs, but with grave charges of malfeasance in office hanging over him. The Minister of public Works will naturally refuse to do so, leaving the question of leadership between Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice, and Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner for Canada in England.

The government has already held an informal conference with the Minister of Justice, but indications are that a large wing of the Conservative party will insist on the sanction of Sir Charles Tupper as the new Premier, Sir John Thompson being a Roman Catholic.

A caucus of the party will be held at an early date, and Parliament to-day will be asked to adjourn for three weeks.

SIR JOHN'S CAREER.

For Years He Has Been a Prominent Figure in the Affairs of Canada.

Sir John Macdonald was born in Sutherlandshire, Scotland, January 11, 1815. He was brought to Canada in 1820, when his father, Hugh Macdonald, settled in Kingston, Ont. He was educated at Kingston, and when 16 years old began to study law. He was admitted to the bar in 1835, and in 1836 became counsel, and achieved distinction by his defense of Schultz, who made a raid into Canada in 1836.

Macdonald entered public life in 1844, as the representative of the city of Kingston in the House of Assembly and continued to sit for this constituency until the Union of 1878 when he was defeated. Several other constituencies then elected him and he sat for Lennox County. In May, 1847, he was first appointed to office, becoming Receiver-General and subsequently Commissioner of Crown lands. Early in 1848 the government was defeated, and Macdonald remained in opposition until 1854. In September, 1854, the government was defeated on the question of secularization of the clergy reserves, and he entered the coalition cabinet which was formed, becoming attorney-general, and under his advice the clergy reserves were secularized on what was considered a fair basis.

In 1856, on the death of Sir Allan McNab, Macdonald became the leader of the Conservatives, which position he has held ver since, exercising great influence on Canadian history.

In 1858 the Macdonald ministry was defeated on the question of the location of the seat of government, but the new ministry was defeated on the first day in the

In 1864 Macdonald and his associates succeeded in convincing the people that a confederation of all the British North American provinces was desirable. In bringing about the confederation Macdonald was an active factor and it may be claimed that he was the creator of the Dominion of Canada.

The new constitution went into force July 1, 1867. Macdonald was sworn in as a privy counsellor and appointed Minister of Justice and Attorney-General. In recognition of his services he was created a Knight Commander of the Bath by Queen Victoria and in 1884 he received the grand cross of the same order. He remained Prime Minister until 1873 when he was defeated on what was known as the Canadian Pacific scandal. He remained in opposition until 1878 when his party were successful in the tariff issue and he resumed his office pledged to protection. In 1882 and again in 1887 he carried the country. His success at the recent Dominion elections is known.

Sir John was one of the Alabama Claims Commissioners, and for his success on that Commission was made a Privy Councellor of Great Britain. He married twice. His first wife, Isabella, daughter of Alexander Clark, of Delinavert, Scotland, died in 1856. His second wife was Susan Agnes, daughter of T. J. Barnard, a member of the Privy Council of the Island of Jamaica.

Ex-Lieut.-Gov. Littlefield Dead.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 1.—Ex-Lieut.-Gov. Daniel M. Littlefield died in Pawtucket yesterday, aged 70. He was a well known manufacturer of hair cloth, and also filled many positions of trust in public life. He was a Whig and a Republican.

Opening the Museum of Art.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The Metropolitan Museum of Art was opened for the first time on Sunday yesterday. The new privilege seemed to be thoroughly appreciated by the large crowd that attended.

THEY ARE TOO POWERFUL.

A Movement Against Mercantile Agencies in Massachusetts.

BOSTON, June 1.—The contest over the Mercantile Agency bill is one of the most important matters before the Legislature, and its whole course has been attended with much public interest. The history of the movement this year is well known. An order was introduced authorizing the Committee on Mercantile Affairs to consider the expediency of enacting a law making mercantile agencies amendable to the libel and kindred laws.

The committee reported that such legislation was inexpedient. Representative Mellon, of Worcester, dissented from the other members of the committee, and offered a substitute bill.

The bill at present before the Legislature is not a radical one. Its provisions are that mercantile agencies shall be liable for injuries inflicted by false reports on the same basis as newspapers and private individuals, and that their reports be not regarded as privileged communications.

The whole movement is the result of the unique position which the mercantile agencies hold in business circles. A New York man who testified made some sworn charges against agencies in general.

The whole question, as viewed by the promoters of the bill now before the Legislature, is whether the mercantile agencies shall be allowed to proceed in their business entirely free from legal restraint, as is now the case. It is claimed that they are now possessed of far too much power. Their whole work is done in secret, and a man may be injured without being able to defend himself or know from what source the blow was struck.

A YOUNG GIRL'S CRIMES.

She Says She Cannot Resist the Temptation to Steal.

CARROLL, Ia., June 1.—Many crimes are charged to a pretty 16-year-old girl, who is locked up in the county jail. She calls herself Katie Faulkner, but says she is concealing her real name to shield relatives from disgrace. She says she was left an orphan when only a year old, and went to live with an uncle.

Her great passion was for money, and, seeing a circular advertising counterfeit money, she answered it and placed quite an order. When it came it was sent by express with $35 charges, and, not having the money to get the package out of the office, she ran away and went to another uncle, where she stole $60.

After securing the money she went to Council Bluffs and put up at the best hotel in the city. In a short time she left without paying her board bill, and on arriving at Panama she robbed a store, secured a suit of men's clothes, and in this disguise started for Defiance, where she was arrested, but was released on condition that she would reform.

She says she tried hard to keep from stealing, but she could not resist the temptation. She says she failed to secure the money and jewelry of Mr. and Mrs. Yates because they would not lie still long enough, but if she had had a revolver they would have lain still long enough for her.

Cornet Geary's Bones Found.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., June 1.—The Hunterdon County Historical Society is in high feather. Its members have found the grave and exhumed the bones of Cornet Geary, an officer in the British army, who was shot and killed and buried here in 1778. He was shot while making a raid on an American house with a detachment of English soldiers. It was maintained that his body had been taken to England, but the historical society has proved this an error. With the bones found were several British army uniform buttons with the initials "Q. L. D., 16" on them, signifying "Queen's Light Dragoons, Sixteenth regiment," the command to which Geary belonged.

Accused of Tampering With the Mails.

BOSTON, June 1.—A dispatch from Antrim, N. H., says that Henry A. Hurlen, a partner of ex-Gov. Goodell, has been accused of tampering with the mails. The charge is made by C. E. Kelsea, who deals in the same line of goods as the Goodell Cutlery Company. Mr. Kelsea says he wrote several decoy letters asking for prices on certain goods. The replies all came from the Goodell Company and were marked, "Dictated by H. A. H." The postal authorities have been notified and will investigate the matter.

Tansey Knocked Out by Baker.

CHICAGO, June 1.—After some lively fighting, Henry Baker knocked Joe Tansey out in the fifth round early in the morning at the Bridge works on 57th street. The fight was for a purse subscribed by the 40 spectators. Both are Chicago heavy-weights.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Bids for building cruiser No. 13 will be opened to-day at the Navy Department.

A cable dispatch from Rome announces the death of Cardinal Alimonda, Archbishop of Turin.

The official trial of the United States steamer Newark's engines and guns at sea was very satisfactory.

Mrs. Jennie Hennison, of Newburg, N. Y., is suing Mrs. Ettie Kelly, of that city, for $10,000 damages for alleged slander.

The 72d birthday of Walt Whitman, "the good gray poet," was celebrated at his home in Camden, N. J., last evening.

A swarm of insects on a railroad track near Syracuse, N. Y., stopped a train and gave forth a loud crackling sound when the wheels passed over them.

Dr. Greaves, of Boston, who a year ago went West to convert the Indians, has returned disgusted. He says they are not so innocent, ignorant or ill treated as he imagined.

Grain Destroyed by a Hail Storm.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 1.—A heavy hail and rain storm passed to the north and west of this city last evening, doing great damage to the growing grain. The hail beat down the standing wheat. Thousands of dollars' worth of damage has been done. A rain storm which almost amounted to a water spout followed, washing out many bridges.

—Wetumpka Lodge, No. 3,401, Knights of Honor, will meet Thursday evening of this week and hold an election of officers.

—The new drink, "Belmar", at Randolph's City Pharmacy, is delightful and as refreshing as a bath in old ocean at Belmar could be.

—At the Mount Bethel ball, last Friday night, which was attended by a large party of Plainfielders, the prize ring for the best dancer was won by Miss Mary Cassmer.

—There will be a special meeting of the Plainfield Camera Club, to-morrow evening, to consider the revised constitution and transact other business of importance.

—Easter Lodge, Knights of Honor, meets to-night at 8 o'clock in their lodge room, Hand's building, and will initiate some new members. A full attendance is desired.

—There were eight persons admitted to the membership of the Trinity Reformed church, at the Communion services, yesterday morning, four being by letter and four on confession of faith.

—The regular monthly meeting of the McAll Auxiliary, will be held at the public library, to-morrow morning, at eleven o'clock. It being the last meeting until autumn, a full attendance is desired.

—Remember the dates of the Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters, strawberry and iced cream festival, Thursday and Friday afternoons and evenings, this week, 59 North avenue, opposite Railroad station.

—The Moy Pharmacy Company has ceased to exist. G. W. V. Moy is now the sole owner, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally, at his pharmacy, corner of Fourth street and Park avenue.

—The Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will hold a strawberry festival in the lecture room of the church to-morrow evening. A programme consisting of tableaux illustrating poems, and music, will be given at 8 o'clock. Tickets will be 25 cents.

—There will be a grand organ concert at the First Baptist church, Tuesday evening of next week. Among the prominent artists who will take part, are Dr. S. N. Penfield, the celebrated organist of the Broadway Tabernacle, New York, and Mrs. Emma Watson Doty, the noted soprano, also of New York. Further particulars will be announced in a few days.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Belle Schroeter, of Roselle, spent Sunday with friends in this city.

Miss Minnie Wilson is visiting Miss Arnold, daughter of Judge Arnold of Philadelphia.

Ex-Governor Joseph D. Bedle dined with Corporation Counsel and Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, Saturday.

Miss Emma Birdsall of White Plains, N. Y., is the guest of Miss Henrietta Bonnell of Manning avenue.

The executive board of The Melopois at a recent meeting, decided unanimously to continue the Society and to re-engage W. R. Chapman as conductor for another season.

In THE PRESS of to-morrow will be published a very complete synopsis of Dr. Lewis's sermon of last Sabbath Day on the causes which led to the war, the extent and cost of the war, the results of the war, and the Nation's duty in the future.

McCutchen Made a Home Run.

That was a lively game of ball at Somerville, Saturday morning, between the Plainfield Bi Club nine and the West End amateurs. Old reliable McCutchen, Plainfield's favorite short stop of ye olden time, made a home run, yet the Bi club was defeated by a score of 20 to 11.

W. Cadmus pitched and McMurray caught for Plainfield, and proved a strong battery. But McFarland, who pitched for Somerville, made three home runs in succession, and Decker, who caught, made one.

A Shocking Sight.

Passengers on the train from New York that reached this city at 8:07 this morning, were witnesses of a terrible accident at the Union street crossing, Elizabeth, where excavations are being made to pass under the railroad track. They saw one of the workmen who was tending the hoisting derrick, get caught by the rope, whirled around the steam windlass and almost torn to pieces before their eyes.

Not only delicious for the palate, but an exceedingly health-giving beverage is Hires's Root Beer. It is the thirst quencher. Not intoxicating, and yet gently stimulating in its effects. Cheap enough for anybody.

IT WAS GIVE AND TAKE.

The Crescents Spend Decoration Day Morning in Knocking the Ball all Over Their Grounds, and Spend the Afternoon in Chasing It.

It would be impossible to explain to the satisfaction of everybody, why two games between the two same nines on the same day, should both be so one-sided yet in favor of opposite sides. The Crescent League base-ball nine defeated the Ridgewoods—champions of the New York semi-professional league—on Saturday morning by a score of 11 to 2, and the Ridgewoods defeated the Crescents in the afternoon by a score of 12 to 4.

Some base-ball cranks say it was arranged between the managers of the two teams that each should be given a victory. But that is nonsense. The Crescents won in the morning because the visitors could not hit Hammill, and because the home nine gave Livingston what he said was "The worst pounding I ever had." The Crescents lost in the afternoon because Gregg's pitching days are past, and because they played the yellowest sort of an infield game and were so rocky at the bat that when Landman good-humoredly presented McIndoe, Martin and some others of his personal and professional friends with easy straight ones, they could not place them safe.

The weather in the morning was very threatening, which was some reason for the lack of attendance. But there were many who missed one of the most satisfactory games of the season merely because they could not afford to go twice. It was a beautiful game from start to finish, although the total of runs may not point that way. There were only two errors on the visitors' side, and the Crescents' four were not costly. The score was the result of the clean hitting and sharp fielding of the victors.

In the very first inning McIndoe made his holiday hit over the fence bringing in himself and Lee. These two runs were tied in the Ridgewoods' fourth inning by Livingston who got his first by being hit with the pitched ball, stole second and third, and came home on a wild pitch. But in the Crescents' fourth, with two men out, and two on bases, Lee hit into centre field and sacrificed himself between first and second bases while he afforded Gregg and Jones a chance to get home.

The Ridgewoods never made another run, while the Crescents continued their hard batting and the bunching of their hits throughout the game. Ryman made a phenomenal catch in the eighth inning of a long hit of Lufbery's which the Ridgewoods' centre fielder got with one hand while running in the direction of the ball. The score was:

Miss Bowers and Other Artists at The Casino.

The recital given by Miss Maude Agnes Bowers on Saturday evening, was as satisfactory in all respects as could be desired. Seminary Hall being too small to to accomodate all who desired tickets, the entertainment was held in The Casino, although it was first advertised for the former place.

The "programme" was varied—the first part consisting of recitations and vocal music, and the second part of two comedilettas and instrumental music.

Miss Bowers recited to the gratification of all, Lines to a Chatelaine Watch; In the Window Seat, by C. W. Coleman, Jr.; De Convenance; The Widow Cummisky; and The Chariot Race, from Ben Hur, by Col. Lew Wallace. She divided the honors of her talent with her classmate of the Boston School of Oratory, Miss Gertrude Marchand, who gave equal pleasure in reciting Lines, by F. Deprez, and a selection by T. B. Aldrich.

Miss Alice Holmes sang in her usual acceptable manner, Fleur des Alpes, by Wekerlin; Absence, by A. H. Pease, and in response to repeated recall, Mariquita, by Eduardo Marzo, her former teacher.

Both comedilettas were very enjoyable. The first, A Narrow Escape, was played by Miss Bowers and Miss Marchand. The second, A Fair Encounter, was by Miss Bowers and Mrs. L. E. Howard. In her part as Mrs. George Grenville, Mrs. Howard was irresistible and afforded great amusement. She was the bright particular success of the evening.

Though mentioned last, the duet for two pianos, a concerto of Mendelssohn's, by Miss Wotherspoon and Mr. Venino, was by no means the least enjoyable. No one could fail to appreciate the refinement and delicacy of the playing of these artists. Everybody present agreed in regretting that the public are accorded so few opportunities of hearing Miss Wotherspoon.

Mr. Reynolds Explains the Case.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Permit me to correct some inaccuracies in your account—under date of May 29—of my report to the recent meeting of the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association.

I attended the late meeting of the American Medical Association, in Washington, as a delegate from the American Pharmaceutical Association, and I read a paper before the section of pharmacy.

It had been erroneously reported that the medical Association had invited delegations from State Pharmaceutical Associations, and I was therefore called upon at the Trenton meeting for a report. It was necessary to explain the true situation, and I took occasion to give an informal account of the Washington meeting, in the course of which I noted that the section of pharmacy received but meagre attention because of the greater interest in other sections, and I concluded that no great advance had been made at that meeting toward establishing more cordial relations between physicians and pharmacists in general. But I urged that our State associations should strive for friendly relations between the two professions, and I hoped New Jersey might continue to lead along this line, etc.

You will perceive that my account differs from that which THE PRESS quoted from, and, inasmuch as I have ever striven for an honorable confidence between physicians and pharmacists—as indeed is due from a druggist whose father and brother were physicians—I wish not to be misunderstood in this connection. H. P. REYNOLDS.

Shiloh's Cough Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for six weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am nearly cured, and yet it seems too good to be true. Have no doubt but that much of the sleeplessness people complain of is caused by indigestion.

TREATMENT for CONSUMPTION.

To the Physicians of Plainfield and Vicinity.

I would respectfully announce that I am prepared to supply the Solution of Koch-Chloride of Gold and Manganese, lately suggested by Surg. Shurly and Gibbes, for the treatment of Consumption.

Recent experiments seem to promise better results from the use of this remedy than have been attained by any other treatment, not excepting that of Dr. Koch. Absolute purity of materials and careful manipulation are required for the successful preparation of the Solution which, after repeated trials, we have attained.

FEATURES OF MEMORIAL DAY.

How it was Celebrated in This City—A Parade and Impressive Exercises at Music Hall.

The ceremonies of Decoration Day as announced in recent issues of THE PRESS, were carried out on Saturday, impressively, enthusiastically and successfully. In the morning different details of the Plainfield G. A. R. posts visited the graves of the dead heroes in the several cemeteries, and decorated the mounds above them. The veterans of this city also went to Westfield, where at 9:30 o'clock in the morning they held the usual services and ceremonies of the day beside the soldiers' monument in Fairview cemetery. The Rev. Dr. Patton delivered an address upon the occasion.

At the Presbyterian cemetery in this city, in the morning, the Garfield league, No. 22, of the Loyal Ladies' League, decorated the graves of the soldiers buried there and held some beautiful services. There was singing by Houghton Division, No 1, of the Children's Loyal Legion, a chorus of girls, relatives of Union soldiers, and an address by Hon. Charles Place, Mayor of North Plainfield.

The parade in the afternoon was marshaled by Comrade William C. Smith of Post 73. It was in the following order: Memorial Committee, Band, Grand Army Post No. 73, Plainfield and North Plainfield Common Councils, Edwards Zouaves, surviving soldiers and sailors, Grand Army Post 109, and carriages for disabled comrades. The route was: From Front to Peace, to Crescent avenue, to Park avenue, to Seventh street, to Central avenue, to Front, to Grove, to Emily, to Somerset, to Front, to Music Hall, where Memorial Day services were held.

The hall was packed. Over a thousand men, women and children, besides the two hundred on the stage, gathered there. The services were in charge of Captain Smith and the Memorial Detail consisting of, I. McVoy, chairman; John E. Stewart, treasurer; J. R. Dunn, secretary; and comrades C. Stevens, J. Mackey, John Emmons, Samuel Reese, A. Titsworth and Charles Randolph.

The programme was opened by the ceremony of "Decorating the Army Nurses' Grave", by Arthur E. Smith. This was followed by a chorus led by T. E. Hazell. T. S. Roberts, of Dunellen then addressed the assemblage. The stage was filled with children who represented the States in the ceremonies of decorating the cenotaph and guarding the flag. They were in charge of Mrs. Charles Westphal, Mrs. H. C. Drake and Mrs. E. C. Morse of Winfield Scott Relief Corps.

The "Veterans Guarding the Flag" were: First veteran, E. C. Morse; second veteran, John Goodwin; third veteran, John Finley; fourth veteran, Charles Stevens; fifth veteran, R. Mattox. The first son was, Raymond McVoy; second son, Elmer Vail; third son, Edward Smith; fourth son, B. L. McVoy; fifth, son, Joseph Keller. The first daughter was, Maggie Coddington; second daughter, Sadie Smith; third daughter, Jennie Day; fourth daughter, May Shultz; fifth daughter, Lucy Westphal.

Miss Ward and Lucy Westphal presided at the piano throughout the exercises. A feature of the affair was the address of little Ethel Clum, who although only five years of age spoke in behalf of all the States. She was a great success and highly appreciated. The States were represented by the following little Misses:

Louy Rickert,	Carrie Hoffman,
Lilly Myarx,	Millie Pearson,
Carrie Kister,	Ella Pearson,
Carrie Howard,	Eva Perry,
Ethel Clum,	Laura Krewson,

An Auspicious Opening at the Driving Park.

There was a large crowd at the opening of the Driving Park, Saturday, and the enthusiasm shown promises a successful season. There were tandem rigs and other stylish equipages in profusion. The track was too heavy for fast time but the races were very interesting, nevertheless. Besides the events published, Mr. Monks drove A. C. Vail's "Frank C." some speedy quarters, and Mr. Vail's "Betsy Bobbitt" was also given some fast spurts. O. T. Waring's "Copeland", too, was put through a number of very fast halfs, in pregaration for the coming season.

The events resulted as below. Considering the slow track and that it was the horses first go, the time is all good:

FIRST EVENT.

N. Robins, "Doctor"	1 1
A. D. Thompson, "George"	2 3
John Osborne, "Marcanier"	3 2

Time—2:56¼; 2:54¼.

SECOND EVENT.

John Osborne, "Colonel"	1 1
M. Quinn, "Kitty Pilot"	2 2
J. H. Fosher, "Missouri Boy"	3 3

Time—2:48¼; 2:49¾.

THIRD EVENT.

John Chandler, "John C"	3 1
J. H. Fosher, "Look Up"	1 0
Henry Hayes, "Andy"	2 2

Time—2:45½; 2:46¾.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed. —Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

A Year's Work at Muhlenberg.

The tenth annual meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, was held May 25. The reports presented showed that during the year 105 in-door, and 38 clinical patients, have been treated at the Hospital, a number larger than ever before, and including, moreover, an unusual proportion of serious cases of illness and of accident.

The following is a summary of the Treasurer's report:

Balance in bank May 26, 1890 ..... $ 326.29

RECEIPTS.

Cash donations	1,911.09
Hospital Sunday collections	516.16
Ladies' Auxiliary Board	650.00
Patients pay account	976.00
Total	$4,379.26

EXPENDITURES.

Provisions	$1,235.23
Medicine	202.50
Fuel	244.50
Salaries and wages	1,338.00
Interest on mortgage on land	90.00
General expenses	231.36
Fencing	128.55
Total	$4,020.23
Balance in bank May 25, 1891	359.13
Grand total	$4,379.36

The Ladies' Auxiliary Board, in addition to the $650 which they paid into the treasury of the Hospital, have expended for repairs, furniture and supplies of different kinds about $800. Many and liberal donations of old and new clothing, provisions, books and miscellaneous supplies, have also been received at the Hospital.

Mrs. Walrod, the efficient matron, and her assistants have had a year full of hard work, but they, as well as the physicians of the Hospital staff, have the satisfaction of looking back upon a year of the greatest success and usefulness.

The following officers were elected:

President—Rufus K. Case.
Secretary—W. R. Cock.
Treasurer—G. H. Goddard.
Managing Committee—E. B. Clark, the Rev. C. L. Goodrich, W. R. Cock, E. N. Erickson and Francis Wood.

The annual report of the Hospital is being prepared and will soon be issued for general distribution.

A Literary Evening.

At the last meeting of the Congregational C. L. S. C., held in the church parlors, Friday evening, the following programme was carried out:

Roll Call. Short extract from any French author.
Questions on lesson in French Literature, Rev. Mr. Goodrich.

ROSES WITH THORNS.

Roses, roses red and white
By each member shall be drawn,
But keep this maxim well in mind
With every rose, there is a thorn.

Reading, Miss Tickle-toby's lecture on English history, Mrs. Craft.
Questions on lesson in geology, Rev. Mr. Goodrich.
Two minute papers on geological ages, by the class.
Calling the violets, Miss Maude Lowrie.
Music. Song by Mr. Barnes.
Chautauqua Salute, Class.

The "Roses with thorns" were favors of artificial roses to the stem of each of which was attached a difficult question in French literature, which was to be correctly answered by the person drawing it. "Miss Tickle-toby's Lecture," a selection from Thackeray's burlesque, was most effectively read and added much to the merriment of the occasion.

The "Young Alerts" Defeat the "Young Songsters".

A very interesting and exciting game of base-ball was played on Saturday between the "Young Alerts" and the "Young Songsters", which the former won, after a hard struggle, by the close score of 16 to 15. The ball used was presented at the close of the game to F. Dodge, of the Alerts, for making the best record. The players were:

YOUNG ALERTS.	YOUNG SONGSTERS.
J. Dumont, s.s	W. Bartindale, r.f
T. Smith, 1b	C. Rice, c
E. Hardingham, 2b	W. McClure, 3b
S. Perrin, p	C. Davis, l.f
M. Dumont, c.f	C. Mumford, p
B. Fish, 3b	T. Rice, c.f
F. Dodge, c	A. Baker, s.s
O. Dodge, l.f	W. Langdon, 1b
	J. Bartindale, 2b

One Won and One Lost.

The "Unions," of Grant avenue, played two games of base-ball Decoration Day. In the morning they were defeated by the "Giants" of the Pond Tool Works, by a score of 19 to 12. The battery for the "Giants" was Ayres and Malcom, and for the "Unions" Young and Shattle. The umpire was Con. Guinee.

In the afternoon the "Unions" defeated the team of the Morille Athletic Club by a score of 14 to 13. The battery for the Morilles was Scott and Schattle; for the "Unions" Guinee and Sutphen. Umpires Smith and Galbert.

The "Giants" have played three games with the "Unions," and have won two out of three.

He Made His Call Before the Safe Arrived

A thief broke into Mallinson's pharmacy, Saturday night, pried Mr. Mallinson's money-drawer open with Mr. Mallinson's poker, and stole about five dollars in cash. Nothing else was touched, although cigars and many other tempting things were handy. The thief was an amateur without tools. He broke the glass in the back door and reached through and unlocked it. Mr. Mallinson bought a safe Saturday, but it had not yet arrived.

Annual Election of Holy Cross Guild.

The annual meeting of Holy Cross Choir Guild was held last Friday evening at which time the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—William H. Hardy.
Vice President—Henry P. Williams.
Secretary—George P. Taggart.
Treasurer—Charles J. Mackey.
Musical Director—William H. Miner.

A Plainfield Rider's Hard Luck.

Joseph P. Pike, of this city, whose short but brilliant career as a speedy bicycler has been recorded in these columns, was one of the sixty-seven riders who started in the twenty-five mile road race at Milburn, Saturday.

At the end of twenty miles Pike was with the leaders and riding easily and well. Suddenly his machine, a "Warwick", broke down under him. The road was perfectly smooth and the accident is unaccountable. The backbone gave way, Pike was thrown on his stomach across the handle bar, and of course had to withdraw from the race.

It Cost Four Dollars to Call "Hansom Henry" a Liar.

Lemuel Williams got in an argument with Hackman Henry Hanson at the railroad station, last evening, and called the latter a liar. Henry told Sergeant Lynch and Lemuel was taken before City Judge Codington this morning. He plead guilty and was fined $4.

Hackman William Henry Vanderveer, colored, was arraigned for being intoxicated. He also "owned up", and was fined five dollars.

Whew, how hot! Never mind, a glass of Root Beer made with Knapp's Root Beer Extract will cool you off.

Final Report of the Grand Jury.

NEW ORLEANS, June 1.—The Grand Jury made their final report. Referring to the irregular proceedings about the court building, the fact is mentioned that the list of tales jurors in the Hennessey case was delivered to the defence nearly 24 hours before it was given to the State's attorneys. The Grand Jury suggest that the court officials investigate the matter and place the responsibility where it belongs.

His Beard Grown After Death.

NORTHFIELD, Minn., June 1.—The body of E. H. Haskell, who has been dead for over 20 years, was yesterday removed from his grave, it being purposed to put the body in another lot. When his body was exposed it was found that he had a beard over 23 inches long. His wife said that before he died he had been shaven and all his hair must have grown after his burial.

Corn Salve Poisoned Him.

BANGOR, Me., June 1.—Capt. Robert Hichborn, of Stockton, died of blood poisoning, caused by the application of some new patent corn salve, a remedy he had used for corns, from which he was a great sufferer.

Sporting Resort Burned.

WATERTOWN, Mass., June 1.—The Glen House, formerly a famous sporting resort, was burned yesterday. Loss, $10,000; partly insured. The Kilrain-Lannon fight occurred at this hostelry.

Another Diocese for Dr. Brooks.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 1.—The Standing Committee of the Episcopal Diocese of Kentucky decided to vote in favor of ratifying the elevation of Philip Brooks to the Bishopric of Massachusetts.

Mr. Blaine Leaves for Bar Harbor To-day.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Mr. Blaine was reported to-day as slowly improving in health. It has not yet been fully decided at what time to-day he will leave for Bar Harbor.

Oarsmen Arrive at New London.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 1.—The Columbia 'Varsity and freshmen crews have arrived here and taken up quarters with Captain Kit Brown at Gales Ferry. There are 23 in all in the party. The Columbia boys arrived much earlier than usual in order to make up for their poor condition.

They Leave for Europe To-Day.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Russell Harrison sail for Europe today. In England they will be the guests of Minister Lincoln. In Paris they will be the guests of Minister Reid, and in Germany they will probably be the guests of Minister Phelps.

No Mercy for Hebrews.

VIENNA, June 1.—The police of Astrachan, Russia, are vigorously expelling Jews on only a week's notice. Similar action is being taken elsewhere, with more or less vigor. It is estimated that 250,000 will be driven out.

Dropped Dead While Excited.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1.—Mrs. A. Cohen, while listening to the details of a child-birth, was overcome and dropped dead. Another neighbor who was near by fainted and was carried home unconscious.

BRAIN WORK AT NIGHT.

Unless It Is Imperative It Should Be Avoided.

To the imaginative young writer there is a fascination about the quietude of uninterrupted night work until much of its mischief has been done. If he has a fixed daily occupation, or is popular among his friends, the night offers the best chance for continued application by its quietness and peace. This very cessation of life's turmoil and the resulting feeling of ease should be accepted as nature's preparation for rest. Unless it is imperative night work should be avoided, says a writer in the Herald of Health. It must be imperative to the staff of morning papers, and the question thus assumes importance—of accomplishing the work with the least possible expenditure of vital force. While by working during the day persistently and deliberately an enormous amount of copy can be thrown off, that produced after midnight absorbs the best part of the writer's vitality.

When he should be in the prime of his faculties he is nervous, suffers from insomnia, and his overtaxed nervous system cannot rest, even in artificial slumber. The natural temptation is to apply the whip of stimulation to the jaded brain; but this is dangerous, and at the best only a transient and uncertain remedy. The imagination answers fitfully to this kind of forcing, the next day's critical judgment of the results almost certainly will be unfavorable, and the mental excitement thus induced will probably be extravagant. Try to sustain the brain under such stress rather than to excite it.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

A DEADLY TRAP.

Catching a Thief with a Pocket Lined with Fishhooks.

They were discussing the best way to bring a prisoner from the place of his arrest to headquarters at the central office not long ago, says the New York Times, and the collar, cuff, and armgrips were instanced as manual expedients, and handcuffs, nippers and pocket bludgeon thongs as mechanical aids.

"I know," said a detective who had been to Europe and passed some time in the society of London detectives, "how a pickpocket was once arrested without his captor seeing his prisoner's face before he got to the lockup, and without anyone putting a hand on him. It happened this way: A detective who was often detailed to gatherings, weddings, the houses of parliament, Westminster abbey, and other public places, often ran across a wiry little man who he discovered had no business where he was seen, and did nothing for a living.

"Coincidental with the man's visits to crowded places were complaints of larcenies of articles that were carried in the pockets of tails of coats, and especially silk handkerchiefs. The detectives suspected the little wiry man, but he evidently had more than one confederate to pass what was stolen so as to be 'clean,' for the officer who was watching him, and who was nettled at reproof from his superiors for his negligence in not discovering the pickpocket, had him arrested twice by other officers and 'shaken down' without finding any stolen goods in his possession.

"Strange officers were used to make the arrests in order that the suspected man might not become familiar with the principal detective's face, as he determined to get him 'by hook or by crook.' Now I don't mean this for a pun, but it came out that way. The detective belonged to one of the many fishing clubs that abound in London, and was familiar with tackle.

"Procuring four dozen unsnelled hooks of the size and strength used here for blackfish, some flax thread and a needle, he passed an afternoon in turning the tail-pockets of an old-fashioned frock coat into a thief-trap. The hooks were ringed and with the needle were sewed bent out just inside the pocket, permitting a hand to enter, but preventing its withdrawal. He knew of a book sale that would be largely attended at the east end of the Strand and made up carefully for it, so that when he left home he was a pleasant-faced old gobemouche.

"At the book sale he took care to be as vacuous and unmindful of his surroundings as possible, but noted the presence of the suspect and waited calmly for a bite. It came. There was a tug at his coat and a bitter oath, and he knew that his man's hand was seized by the hooks, and that he would not venture to risk the agony that tearing away forcibly would inflict. So he said quietly: 'If you follow me our surgeon will relieve you,' and attempted to walk to Scotland Yard, half a mile away, the trapped thief following with his hand in the detective's pocket.

"But such a large crowd gathered that the detective had to take a cab and he landed the man safely in the detective's office. He was held by four of the hooks and the barbs had to be cut off before they were extracted. The thief confessed and went to prison for a short term, but the Scotland Yard authorities frowned on the detective's method and prohibited any further experiments of the sort for fear the newspapers would denounce the expedient as cruel. But a deadlier trap could not be baited for a 'clyfaker.'"

NAMES WITH PRESCRIPTIONS

Druggists Might Save Lives by Insisting on This Simple Precaution.

Said a St. Louis druggist to a Globe-Democrat reporter: "You ask me why I inquired your address when writing out the prescription for your cough. The reason will at once commend itself to every sensible mind, and is simply this: There have been cases innumerable where lives might have been saved had the number of the residence of the party for whom the prescription was put up been known to the druggist. For, as we all know, mistakes are made even in the most reliable drug stores through the carelessness of clerks. Not long ago a druggist found, on returning from supper, that a bottle of strychnine was on the counter and asked the reason why. The clerk replied that he had just been putting up a prescription and was horrified when he found that he had made use of strychnine instead of some less harmful drug mentioned in the prescription. The frightened young fellow did not even know the name of the person who had come in for it or for whom it was intended, and after hours of search on the part of the distracted druggist the unfortunate victim was traced to his home, but too late, for the first dose had killed him. That is why I place the name of the patient both on the prescription for the druggist and on the stub left in my prescription book."

MAKING CLAY PIPES.

How and Where They Are Manufactured —An Interesting Process.

Charles W. Maxwell of Strawbridge, Miss., in conversation with a St. Louis Star-Sayings reporter said:

"It is popularly believed that all clay pipes are either made in Europe or from clay brought from the other hemisphere, but such is not the case, as a very large share of the clay pipes made in America are from clay found at and near Woodbridge, N. J. The clay comes by the carload and the first step toward preparing it for molding is to sufficiently dampen it with water to make it pliable. This is done by placing it in a tank, where it soaks for about twenty-four hours. It is then hammered with iron bars, thus ridding it of any lumps or dry chunks. Then the molding begins. The workman takes a lump of clay in each hand and by squeezing and rolling it molds the pieces into a rough stem about three times as large as the finished pipe stem, having a rough ball at its end. These rolls, as they are called, are piled on wooden trays, sixteen to each tray, after which they are dried, either by the sun or by artificial means, according to the weather. After having been dried, not to hardness but sufficiently to dispose of all superfluous dampness, the rolls are ready to have the stem drilled and the bowl formed. To drill the stem the workman holds a small iron rod the size of the stem holes, and with his left hand pulls the clay roll over the rod instead of shoving the rod through the stem. To do this the workman is guided solely by the sense of touch in his finger tips, and that sense is so accurate that the hole is invariably made correctly. The ball at the end of the roll is turned up, and then roll and rod are placed in an iron matrix which presses the pliable clay into the desired outside pattern. The matrix and its contents are placed in a hand press, and the workman, by pulling a lever, forms the hole of the pipe bowl. The molded pipe, still soft and pliable, then passes to the hands of the trimmer girls, who scrape off the superfluous clay, making the joints of the matrix. Then the pipes are placed in fire-proof clay saggers and the loaded saggers are placed in a large furnace. This furnace has eight flues at the bottom, and the six sheets of flame at the bottom concentrate at the top, thus making the heat even throughout. Until the pipes go into the furnace they are blue in color, but when they come out they are pure white."

WORN OUT—EXHAUSTED.

Some Important Advice to Our Readers, Particularly for Women.

You, lady reader, are nervous, weak, run down, worn out, exhausted.

You have tried physicians without avail, and used medicines without help.

And now you wonder why you have not been cured.

YOU HAVE NOT HAD THE RIGHT TREATMENT.

You have used the wrong medicine.

THE TROUBLE WITH YOU IS PROSTRATION OF NERVE POWER.

The symptoms all prove this, for you are extremely nervous, you feel weak and languid most of the time, wake as tired as when you go to bed, you lack ambition and energy, have strange faint feelings and trembling sensations, cry easily and at trifles, have lost some of your interest in society and friends; in fact, you feel dispirited, dragged out, and miserable generally. Often your head feels badly, sometimes you have backache, for nervous diseases is generally attended by other diseases peculiar to females. In Spring these symptoms are always worse, and more dangerous if neglected.

Do you have those symptoms?

If so you are suffering from nerve disease, nerve weakness, nerve exhaustion, and just so surely as you neglect yourself, just so surely will utter and complete nervous prostration follow.

EXHAUSTED.

What shall you do?

You have tried doctors and wrong medicines without number. Now take the remedy which will give you a new nerve—a nerve power, a nerve strength, a nerve vigor—Dr. Greene's Nervura, the greatest of all nerve and vital restoratives, the boon and friend of weak, nervous and suffering womankind.

If you suffer from these nervous complaints suffer no longer. Go to your druggist's and procure for $1 a bottle of this wonderful remedy, Dr. Greene's Nervura. You need not fear to use it, for it is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, and it will bring back strength to your nerves, freshness to your complexion, brightness to your eyes, the bloom of health to your cheeks, elasticity and spring to your step, and that happiness and enjoyment of life which you have missed so long.

A PRIVATE WORD TO WOMEN.

I have been a sufferer from nervous weakness, for seven or eight years. I used Dr. Greene's Nervura. It acted like magic. Why do women suffer when Dr. Greene's Nervura will surely cure them? I think it is splendid.

MISS PAULINE REISER,
407 West 23d St., New York City.

Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth St., New York, its discoverer, is the famous specialist in the cure of nervous and chronic diseases. The doctor has devoted special attention to the treatment of all forms of chronic diseases through letter correspondence, and will give by mail his opinion and advice in any case free of charge. The perfection of this system renders a complete cure almost assured, as his success in treatment by correspondence is wonderful and unequalled.

H. B. Send for symptom blank to fill out, or write Dr. Greene about your case, and a carefully considered letter, fully explaining your disease and giving you a perfect understanding of all its symptoms will be returned, free of charge.

A SAVIOR OF HER SEX.

When pain becomes a constant companion; when there is no repose for the sufferer, by day or night; when life itself seems to be a calamity; and when all this is reversed by a woman, whose only ambition is to do good to others, has she not won the above title?

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S Vegetable Compound cures all those peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women, all organic diseases of the Uterus or Womb, and Ovarian Troubles, Bearing-down Sensations, Weak Back, Debility, Nervous Prostration, etc. Every Druggist sells it as a standard article, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. B. COWARD, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., May 26, 1891.

AN ORDINANCE

To establish the grade on North avenue from Richmond street to Terrill road.

The inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the grade on North avenue, from Richmond street to the Terrill road, be established as follows:

Beginning at the established curb grade at the northeasterly curb line of Richmond street, elevation above the city base at the northerly curb corner 44.47 feet, and at the easterly curb corner 44.25 feet above the city base; thence with an ascending grade to a point distant three hundred and twelve feet in a northeasterly direction from the northeasterly curb line of Richmond street, elevation 47.21 feet; thence with an ascending grade of 0.486 foot, per one hundred feet to a point distant eleven hundred and twelve feet in a northeasterly direction from the northeasterly curb line of Richmond street, elevation 51.10 feet; thence with a descending grade of 0.61 foot per one hundred feet to Cedar brook, elevation 47.55 feet; thence with a level grade, for a distance of one hundred and eighteen (118) feet; thence with an ascending grade of 0.597 foot per one hundred feet to a point distant fifty-seven (57) feet in a southwesterly direction from the southwesterly curb line of Leland avenue, elevation 57.45 feet; thence with an ascending grade of 0.91 foot per one hundred feet to a point distant four hundred and three (403) feet in a northeasterly direction from the northeasterly curb line of Leland avenue, elevation 62.00 feet; thence with an ascending grade of 0.59 foot per one hundred (100) feet to a point distant sixteen hundred and three (1603) feet in a northeasterly direction from the northeasterly curb line of Leland avenue, elevation 69.08 feet; thence with an ascending grade of 1.192 feet per one hundred (100) feet to a point distant two thousand two hundred and fifty-three (2253) feet in a northeasterly direction from the northeasterly curb line of Leland avenue, elevation 76.83 feet; thence with an ascending grade to a point distant sixty-three feet in a southwesterly direction from the southwesterly curb line of Terrill road, elevation on the northwesterly curb line 92.75 feet, and on the southeasterly curb line 90.15 feet; thence with an ascending grade to the southwesterly curb line of Terrill road, elevation on the westerly curb corner to be 90.85 feet, and on the southerly curb corner (91.55) feet above the city base, the centre grade to be 0.5 of a foot higher than the above described curb grade.

Section 2. That all ordinances so far as they conflict with this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 3. That the Street Committee is hereby authorized to have the above described grade drawn upon the city grade maps.

$1.00 A BOTTLE, SIX FOR $5. TRY IT TO-DAY

DELICATE women need not be told how much they would give to get and stay well. If their blood is free from the poisonous ferments of the Kidneys and Liver, they will never know what "weakness" is. The blood is the source and sustainer of health; it cannot be kept pure except the Kidneys and Liver do their work naturally, and to aid them nothing equals the herbal, guaranteed

A Connecticut Belle Unconscious for Sixteen Days.

SHE DREAMED SHE WAS DEAD.

On Regaining Consciousness She Tells a Remarkable Story of Her Wanderings.

She Met Several of Her Dead Friends and Relatives—Visited Heaven and Purgatory—Told About the Deaths of Two of Her Companions Who Died During Her Illness.

WATERBURY, Conn., June 2.—One of the most remarkable cases of la grippe has just come to light in Plymouth Centone and a half miles from Thomaston.

The victim, Miss Cora Mattoon, 19 years of age, is the belle of the village and is a teacher in the Sunday-school of the Episcopal church. Miss Mattoon was taken ill three weeks ago with la grippe, which finally developed pleurisy and pneumonia. In the afternoon of the third day of her illness the nurse left her for a minute, when she was found walking about the house in a dazed condition. She was led back to bed, but she remained in that unconscious dazed state for 16 days, her relatives all the time expecting her death.

On regaining consciousness yesterday she told a remarkable story of her wanderings during the time she was unconscious. She met several of her dead friends and relatives, and visited Heaven and purgatory. She told of the deaths of two of her schoolgirl friends, whom it was afterward learned had died during her illness. Her experiences have had a great effect on Miss Cora, and it will be a long time before she recovers.

She is the daughter of D. E. Mattoon of Plymouth Centre, a prominent citizen and father of an eminently respectable family.

BOTHERED THE BEASTS.

Yale Students Cause Women and Children to Be Trampled On.

NEW HAVEN, June 2.—Yale students had a big circus of their own when the Barnum parade occurred here at noon. They nearly precipitated a serious panic with loss of life, as it nearly frightened to death a score of people.

When the parade passed the campus about 500 students had gathered there with cannon crackers, torpedoes and other implements of deviltry. The cages in which were the tigers, lions and other wild animals were open, and keepers rode inside with the animals.

As the beasts came by, the students recklessly threw the exploding cannon crackers under their feet and pelted torpedoes at the elephants. The huge creatures began to roar and wave their trunks furiously. In the cages the leopards and tigers jumped about angrily. There was nobody who would have changed places with the keepers. Many expected to see them torn to pieces.

One of the biggest elephants made a bold break, lunging to one side and starting a stampede on the crowded sidewalk. Women fainted and children were trampled under foot. The driver of the elephant was powerless to hold him in, and the colored men on his back, who represented a jubilee singers, slid to the ground like eels.

A reign of terror ensued for some minutes, but several of the brave men connected with the show attacked the elephant with sharp irons and he was at last subdued and driven back into line. The students escaped during the panic.

An Interesting Lawsuit.

PITTSBURG, June 2.—A dispatch from Dubois, Pa., says that an interesting lawsuit is to come up there this week. Last week, while the forest fires were raging in that vicinity, Sheriff McClosky sold some lumber in the eastern part of the county at sheriff's sale. It was bought by Mr. Marsh of Lock Haven for $10,000. Twelve hours later every foot of the lumber was destroyed by fire. The creditors for whom the sale was made are clamoring for their money, while Marsh says no property was delivered to him.

Result of the Rubber Failure.

TRENTON, N. J., June 2.—Phillip P. Dunn, treasurer of the Star Rubber Company, resigned his position as president of the First National Bank and shortly afterward made an assignment of his large clothing establishment to George S. Grosvenor. Jonathan Steward, who was president of the Star Rubber Company, which failed recently, has advertised his large wholesale grocery for sale.

Dr. Fordyce Barker Buried To-Day.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The funeral of Ds. Fordyce Barker, one of the oldest and best known physicians in this city, who died Saturday afternoon at his home, 24 East 38th street, will take place this afternoon from St. Thomas's Episcopal Church, Fifth avenue and 53d street. Burial will be at Norwich, Conn. Dr. Barker was born at Milton, Me., May 2, 1818.

The Public Debt Statement.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The Treasury Department monthly debt statement just issued shows an increase in the public debt during May, amounting to $622,915. The surplus in the Treasury to-day amounts to $53,721,320, and includes $23,303,727 deposited in National banks, $20,379,120 fractional silver and a net cash balance in the Treasury of $10,138,473.

Pastor Young Committed to Jail.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 2.—Rev. OFF FOR BAR HARBOR.

Secretary Blaine Left Boston This Morning for the Seashore.

BOSTON, June 2.—Secretary of State Blaine left here for Bar Harbor this morning. He was accompanied by Mrs. Blaine and his daughter, Mrs. Walter Damrosch, in a special car which General Manager Furber of the Boston and Maine Railroad placed at his disposal. The apperance of Mr. Blaine was more that of a tired than a sick person. He looked rather pale, but walked briskly to his carriage.

Mrs. Damrosch, just before the train left, said that her father had entirely recovered from his illness. All that he needed, she added, was a little rest and plenty of fresh air. A few weeks at Bar Harbor, she thought, would completely restore the Secretary's health.

It is quite probable that the Secretary will remain at Bar Harbor until September, and perhaps October. Should affairs of state require his immediate attention he will attend to them as he did last summer while seeking recreation.

HIS END NEAR.

Sir John Macdonald Said to Be Rapidly Sinking.

OTTAWA, Can., June 2.—Sir John Macdonald is sinking rapidly.

Sir John's hours, apparently are numbered. Since 10 o'clock he has exhibited increasing weakness, and as a precautionary measure he is awakened by the attendants every two hours. The heart action is becoming feeble, indicating that life's fires are burning very low.

To-day saw no cessation of the rush toward Earnscliffe. At the approaches on Sussex street a long line of vehicles blocked the roadway. A curious throng, including many ladies, pressed up to the very gates in their anxiety to learn the latest intelligence.

The question of the leadership of the Conservative party is being discussed. The general opinion is that Sir John Thompson will be the next Premier, although the majority of Western members favor Sir Charles Tupper. The French Conservatives are almost a unit for Thompson, and may insist upon his appointment.

The Fire a Severe Blow to the Town.

LISBON, N. H., June 2.—The Parker & Young Manufacturing Company's saw mill, together with a large stock of manufactured lumber, was burned during the day. The fire spread to adjacent dwelling houses and a number of these were also destroyed. At one time it looked as if the entire village would be wiped out, but assistance from neighboring towns arriving the fire was gotten under control after two hours of hard work. The loss is estimated at $100,000; partially insured. The destruction of the mill is a severe blow to the town, as it was leading the industry of the place and employed 100 men.

Governor Hill Will Not Run Again.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 2.—In an interview ex-Secretary of State Cook, who has spent the last several days in Albany, says, concerning the report that Governor Hill will be a candidate for Governor and will accept the nomination from the next Democratic State Convention: "While I do not assume to speak authoritatively for Governor Hill, I am free to say for myself, from my knowledge of the political situation in this State and of the Governor, that he will not under any circumstances be a candidate for or receive and accept the nomination."

Killed Himself in a Gun Store.

NEW YORK, June 2.—An unknown man, apparently 55 years old, walked into a Ninth avenue gun store shortly after noon and asked to be shown some revolvers. He selected one and asked to have it loaded. A cartridge was fitted into the weapon by the salesman. The stranger took the weapon and, stepping to the middle of the store, placed the muzzle of the weapon in his mouth and shot himself dead. The dead man's name is believed to be Jones, but his residence is unknown.

An Independent Pugilist.

BOSTON, June 2.—O'Rourke, the manager and trainer of George Dixon, has received a telegram from President Fulda of the California Club, that if Dixon is defeated in any contest on his way to San Francisco the club will declare the match with Abe Williams off. O'Rourke declines to notice the message, saying the California Club has no right to dictate to Dixon.

To Celebrate the Glorious Fourth.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 2.—A movement is on foot among the citizens of this city for the elaborate and appropriate celebration of the coming Independence day. It will be the first public demonstration of the kind in 15 years.

Dixon and McCarthy Indicted.

TROY, N. Y., June 2.—Dixon and McCarthy, the prize fighters, have been indicted by the Grand Jury here. The members of the Cribb Club, who arranged the affair, escaped.

Woolen Manufacturers Assign.

BOSTON, June 2.—Talbot, Wilmarth & Co., manufacturers of woolens, have assigned. No statement of their affairs has yet been issued.

More Correspondence on the Behring Sea Question.

THE PRESIDENT'S PROPOSALS.

His Determination to Bring About a Closed Season Has the Desired Effect.

The Bill in the House of Commons Passes a Second Reading—The British Government's Reply to the United States Expected to Restore Harmony—Hon. W. H. Smith's Views.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The President has made public the latest correspondence touching the Behring Sea question.

The hearing of the new instalment of Behring Sea correspondence can only be properly understood by going back to what occurred a year ago. Then the President, acting upon his view of American rights in Behring Sea and the uniform construction placed by this Government upon the acts of Congress for the protection of the fur seal, undertook to exclude Canadian sealing vessels from Behring Sea by force. Thereupon Lord Salisbury, failing to change the purpose of the President, caused this Government to be advised that until some mutually chosen arbitrator should decide that Behring Sea belongs to the United States, the right of British vessels to take seals in that sea would be defended by such means as Her Majesty's government possessed.

Upon this notification the President sought to induce Lord Salisbury to prohibit sealing by British vessels till could be determined whether the United States was right or wrong in claiming to control the seal fishery. Lord Salisbury offered to do so provided the President would agree to an immediate arbitration of the disputed question of jurisdiction and to pay damages if defeated in the arbitration.

The President would not consent to this, but ordered the revenue cruisers not to molest the British sealers. At the late session of Congress the President laid the whole matter before that body, which took no action upon it. The President, not desiring a repetition of last year's futile proceedings, accordingly determined to bring about a closed season this year.

The result of this action was that a bill was immediately introduced in Parliament on the subject.

THE BEHRING SEA BILL.

It Passes the Second Reading in the House of Commons.

LONDON, June 2.—In the House of Commons the Hon. W. H. Smith moved the second reading of the bill for a close season on Behring Sea.

He said that the government was endeavoring to arrive at friendly conclusions with a kindred power, and no order in council would issue under the bill unless assurances were obtained that the conditions of arbitration were satisfactory, and that sealing would be prevented, except as to the 7,500 seals necessary for the natives. The arrangement appeared the best that could be obtained.

Sir John Ferguson said he believed the reply about to be addressed to the United States government would bring them so closely together that harmony would soon be obtained.

The bill then passed a second reading.

A LARGE CONVENTION.

Nearly 300 Delegates of the Amalgamated Convention in Pittsburg To-day.

PITTSBURG, June 2.—There are 284 delegates at the convention of the Amalgamated Association, which opened in Turner Hall this morning. The convention is the largest ever held by the organization.

Nothing official about the scale has yet been given out and will not be until the convention acts upon the matter. It is more than likely that the present officers will be re-elected.

Dunkards Call on the President.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—A delegation of several hundred Dunkards, on their way to the Hagerstown, Md., convention, called on the President and Secretary Foster.

Barron's Body Found.

HAVERHILL, Mass., June 2.—The body of James E. Barron, who has been missing since March 1, was found floating in the Merrimac, opposite Peck's Village, at noon. The body was badly decomposed.

Result of the Election in Norwich.

NORWICH, Conn., June 2.—The city election, with one exception, resulted in a victory for the Republican ticket by about 300 majority. The Democrats elected their candidate for city collector.

Boot and Shoe Workers in Convention.

BOSTON, June 2.—The Boot and Shoe Workers' International Union of America are holding their third annual convention in Wells' Memorial Hall.

WRANGLING IN THE SYNOD.

The Reformed Presbyterian Ministers Create an Exciting Scene.

PITTSBURG, June 2.—Contrary to expectations the trial of the accused ministers was not commenced at this morning's session of the Reformed Presbyterian Synod. This fact, however, did not prevent the Synod once more engaging in a wrangle that, if possible, surpassed in violence of language and actions the wild scenes enacted during last week. The church was crowded to the limit.

During the early hours of the session the scene was most exciting. The mere mention of the disturbance created by Dr. McAllister last week was again the cause of all the trouble.

Ministers noted for their dignity and spirits of Christianity went at each other in the most scathing language and were not a bit backward in characterizing each others as perverters of the truth. During the debate the vast audience was worked up to a state of highest excitement. The moderator was powerless to control the warring clergymen; his appeals and commands went for naught.

The trouble grew out of Dr. McAllister's effort to revise the records in order that they might show the action taken by him in his effort to introduce extracts from a private letter. A motion to grant Dr. McAllister's request resulted in a split, and the matter was laid on the table. It was during the discussion of this motion that the wild scenes were enacted. Several times ministers and audience joined in hearty applause, and at other times almost every person present would be in sympathetic tearfulness.

The report of the committee on discipline was submitted and sustained the action of the Pittsburg Presbytery in having suspended the ministers at the recent trial. The committee recommended that the suspended ministers and those against whom Dr. McAllister had preferred charges should be granted a full and impartial hearing by the Synod. The report was received and laid on the table for the present.

Jackson and Corbett Talk Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Peter Jackson has issued a challenge in which he offers to fight Jim Corbett in the California Club, or any fair club, New Orleans barred, for a purse of $10,000. As a guarantee of good faith Jackson will put up a forfeit. Corbett says he is willing to fight Jackson, but will make no arrangements until after the Slavin-Kilrain mill.

A Merchant Guilty of Counterfeiting.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Nathan Marcus, of Marcus Brothers, merchants at 97 Canal street, who was indicted for passing a counterfeit $5 treasury note upon one of his employes and pleaded not guilty, changed his plea to that of guilty. He was remanded for sentence.

Minister Romero to Leave Washington.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 2.—It is reported, upon authority which should be reliable, that President Diaz has telegraphed to Minister Romero at Washington, ordering him to return to Mexico and assume the office of Secretary of the Treasury, vice Senor Dublanx, deceased. Senor Romero was once before Secretary of the Treasury under President Lerdo.

THE BACCARAT CASE

England's Heir-Apparent is the Real Defendant.

THE PUBLIC'S EYES OPENED.

It Was the Prince of Wales' Money that Was Won by Foul Means.

He Got the Paper Signed Which the Defence Rely Upon as an Acknowledgment of Guilt—The Prince Determined to Face the Whole Exposure—The Case Adjourned Until To-Morrow.

LONDON, June 2.—The hearing in the baccarat case has thrown a flood of light on the affair, and opened the public eyes to the fact that the Prince of Wales is the real defendant in the case.

It was the Prince's money that Sir William Gordon Cumming is said to have been winning by foul means, it was the Prince who got the paper signed, which the defence rely upon as an acknowledgment of guilt, and it is the Prince who steadfastly upheld Mr. and Mrs. Wilson ever since the beginning of the suit.

The behavior of Sir William in court left no doubt as to the feeling between himself and the Prince, and it was noticed that when their eyes met once, as Cumming was taking the witness stand, the Prince had that haughty, distant look for which he is noted on occasions. He has evidently determined to face the whole exposure, and show that he, at least, gambled like a gentleman.

Lord Coleridge was peculiarly subservient in his manner towards the Prince, a fact which did not impress the spectators favorably.

The court adjourned until to-morrow. The Prince of Wales remained until the end. He smiled and bowed to acquaintances, and seemed to feel merry over the circumstances. Sir William Gordon-Cumming testified with great coolness.

BRIGANDS MAKE A HAUL.

They Derail an Express Train and Capture Several Tourists.

VIENNA, June 2.—Brigands derailed the Eastern express near Tcherkesskoi, Turkey.

Several German and English tourists, including a Berlin banker, were captured. The brigands demanded a ransom of $40,000 for the prisoners.

The latter sent word to the German Ambassador at Constantinople, De Radowitz. Chancellor Caprivi, on being communicated with, authorized Radowitz to advance the amount, and the prisoners were released.

The other passengers, not the tourists, were plundered, but were not carried off.

EMERY'S BUSINESS AFFAIRS.

Rported Failure of a Boston Merchant, but No Confirmation of It.

BOSTON, June 2.—Francis F. Emery, boots and shoes, 100 Pearl street, is reported to have assigned. The liabilities are estimated at $300,000.

The factory at Plymouth, Mass., which is said to have cost $40,000, only stood on the books at $10,000.

Mr. Emery's sons are with him in the business, but not as partners. When he started in business Mr. Emery claimed to be worth $300,000. His credit has been very high, and his capital has been given out as between $300,000 and $400,000.

Mr. Emery is president of the Boston Boot and Shoe Club, and he is also a director in the National Exchange Bank of Boston.

Two Miners Stabbed.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., June 2.—William Louden and Snyder Leighdy, two miners from Robertsdal, were stabbed by Anton Beichtol, a Frenchman, and fatally injured, at a ball game at Orbisonia. A large number of miners from Robertsdal attended the game and engaged in riot with the citizens, with the above result. The miners were mostly all under the influence of liquor. Beichtol is in jail here.

Contributions Will Be Returned.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 2.—The large number of charitable persons in New England who were victimized into sending clothing, money, etc., to Clementine St. George Ray of Rockville, will have their contributions returned to them through the Dead Letter office at Washington, where several sacks of detained matter will be forwarded.

A Chinese Swindler Condemned to Death

LONDON, June 2.—Tohenkitong, formerly Chinese Secretary of Legation in Paris and London, has been tried and condemned to death in China. He was recalled by his government in April, the discovery having been made that he was guilty of extensive swindling.

Hastily Summoned to Ottawa.

ST. JOHNS, N. B., June 2.—Lieutenant Governor of the Province, Sir Leonard Tilley, has been hastily summoned to Ottawa, and left on the midnight train. The object of his mission cannot be definitely ascertained.

Directors of the Memorial Battlefield.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 2.—Gen. Daniel E. Sickles of New York City has been elected a director of the Battlefield Memorial Association. All the old directors were re-elected. Gen. Sickles' names is an addition to the list.

Mrs. Duncan Has a Relapse.

LONDON, June 2.—Mrs. Duncan, whose husband recently made a murderous assault upon her in Wales, has suffered a relapse, and her physicians pronounce her condition precarious.

Penal Servitude for Life.

LONDON, June 2.—The would-be assassin of the Czarewitch has been sentenced to penal servitude for life.

Fresh To-Day

AND

Dry To-Morrow.

A complaint often made about cakes and breads. This "peculiar dryness" is caused by the ammonia or alum in the baking powder.

The leavening power of Cleveland's Baking Powder is produced by cream of tartar and soda only, and food raised with it keeps moist and fresh for days.

Cleveland's is the only baking powder having this quality.

YOUNG WAS POISONED.

An Autopsy Showed that His Stomach Contained Arsenic.

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—The many rumors afloat about the suspicious death of J. Norris Young, a miller who died recently at Marshallton, Pa., caused the county officials to have the body exhumed. An autopsy has been made, and the stomach was found to contain a large quantity of arsenic. The organs were turned over to the coroner for a microscopical examination.

At the time of Young's death it was stated that it was due to cholera morbus. Suspicion attaches to the wife of the dead man and an agent for a piano firm named David M. Link, who boarded with the Youngs.

The latter was subsequently taken to Bellevue Hospital, New York, violently insane. During his wanderings of mind he repeatedly muttered: "People accuse me of killing him."

Mrs. Young denies all connection with the death of her husband. She claims that their relations were pleasant, and she had no cause to desire to get rid of him.

She left on Saturday last for Westchester with the intention of making public a letter refuting the stories afloat connecting her with the death of her husband but upon the advise of a lawyer, whom she consulted, she concluded not to.

It is known that a member of the Young family purchased a quantity of "Rough on Rats."

Sistare Pleads Not Guilty.

NEW YORK, June 2.—William W. M. Sistare of the defunct firm of George B. Sistare's sons, brokers, pleaded not guilty to the eight indictments charging him with larceny of a large sum of money from a broker named Heckaber of Philadelphia in a stock transaction.

Burnett's clothing store was burned at Montreal, during the night. The loss on building and stock will reach $70,000.

There is practically no change in the situation of the New York locked out lumberman and the striking framers and housesmiths.

The case of Frenchy No. 1, New York's alleged "Jack the Ripper," for the murder of Carrie Brown, has been set for trial Monday, June 15.

The first issue of the "Boston News" made its appearance yesterday. Its politics are Republican, and the price of the paper one cent.

A contractor and builder named Blanchard, a native of Canada, was killed by an express train at Congers, N. Y., on the West Shore railroad, early in the morning.

Harry Simpson of Mount Vernon, while cleaning windows on the seventh floor of the building at 97 Bowery, New York, fell to the sidewalk and was instantly killed.

The Steam Railroad Men's Protective Union has been organized at Manchester, N. H. It is a local branch of the association bearing that name. About seventy-five railroad men in all are members.

Under the law regulating the employment of minors, the Union Mill Corporation of Fall River, Mass., has been subjected to two fines in the District Court, on two charges of having violated the same.

Henry W. Miller, the oldest merchant in Worcester, Mass., is dead, aged 91 years. He kept a hard ware store there for 65 years. He leaves two daughters, one the wife of Senator George F. Hoar and the other the wife of ex-Congressman W. W. Rice.

Melvina Jane Hearne is under arrest at Cobourg, Ont., charged with the murder of her illegitimate child. Her brother, George, a married man, has been arrested, charged with being the father of the child.

George S. Jenks, counsel for the Delamaters, of Meadville, Pa., has applied in the Supreme Court at Harrisburg for a continuance of the hearing for a change of venue until the October Term. The depositors gave notice that they would contest the application.

Closing the Flint Glass Factories.

PITTSBURG, June 2.—Secretary W. J. Dillon of the American Flint Glass Workers' Association denies the statement telegraphed from this city to the effect that 24 of the 57 flint glass factories in the country would close down for the summer. Mr. Dillon says that none of the flint glass factories would close before July 1, the usual time.

THE DAILY PRESS.

W. L. & A. L. FORCE, Publishers and Proprietors.

J. A. DUNCANSON, Managing Editor.

EACH DAY'S RECORD.

The last issue of THE PRESS contained 19 1-4 columns of live advertising. The last issue of the "news" had 13 columns, mostly dead.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—No doubt your thoughts turn to summer raiment to-day. Then visit Peck's —Ladies, go see the bargains in trimmed hats at the Emporium, 73 Park avenue.

—Yesterday's PRESS contained 27 advertisements of wants and offers, in that interesting "cent a-word" column. Yesterday's score had 13.

—Sherwin is selling the nicest ladies' oxfords in town. His dongola hand-sewed at $2.75, and patent leather at $3, all widths, A to E, are just such shoes as you generally pay $3.50 for.

—The work of changing the grade of North avenue near the Netherwood station and perfecting its condition so as to make it a fine driveway instead of a water-covered thoroughfare, is being pushed vigorously.

—A runaway horse on East Fifth street last evening caused considerable excitement. The young man driving got the animal under control after it had run from Washington street to Central avenue. There was no damage.

—Frank Moncton abused John Clark and made a general nuisance of himself at the corner of Front and Somerset streets yesterday afternoon, and policeman Lynch made him a prisoner and took him before Judge Codington this afternoon for sentence. He paid a fine of $5 gladly.

—The members of the Woman's Relief Corps, auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, and the veterans of the G. A. R. in this city, desire to publicly express through the columns of this paper, their earnest appreciation of, and deep thankfulness for, the assistance accorded by the people, in making the ceremonies and services of Decoration Day, so successful.

—A special meeting will be held by the Salvation Army at Reform Hall at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening. It will be conducted by Colonel Evans, Major Evans, Mrs. Evans, and Ensign Dunham. The main object of this meeting will be swearing in of recruits, most of them Plainfielders. Everybody is invited to attend. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged.

—In view of reports to the effect that articles in THE PRESS disagreeing with the policy of the Crescent League baseball management in their dealings with the public, were inspired by members of the League, it is proper to emphatically state right here that the views expressed in this paper on any subject are solely the opinions of THE PRESS—no more and no less.

—Saturday morning when it was time to begin the game on the Crescent baseball grounds, the Ridgewoods found themselves short a man. They asked for a recruit and Charles O. Pierson, son of Counselor Pierson, was at once recommended. While he was dressing the absent Ridgewood player arrived, and the audience thus lost an opportunity of witnessing what a clever amateur player young Pierson is. However, he'll be heard from yet.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Dr. Probasco is expected home from Europe this week.

Hannah A. Dunham, wife of William V. Dunham, of New Market, died yesterday.

Miss Annie Holstein, Miss Minnie Holstein, Miss Louisa Melling, and Richard Meissner, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Holstein, of Grandview avenue, North Plainfield, over Sunday.

The Board of Directors of the First National Bank of Plainfield this morning rewarded the faithful services of two of the bank's most trusted officials by promoting Frank S. Runyon to the position of cashier and David M. Runyon to the position of assistant cashier.

Alexander D. Button, who was formerly a member of the editorial staff of the New York World, and a close companion, intimate friend, and stanch compatriot of the late Samuel J. Tilden, died at his home on LaGrande avenue this morning, after a brief illness, at the age of 78. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon, with interment at Elizabeth.

The Misses Sarah and Harriet Manning, of this city, sisters of City Physician Manning, have recently been offered $3,000 and all expenses, to sing as soprano and contralto soloists in a series of concerts in several of the largest cities of the West, including Chicago and San Francisco. They have also been engaged to give concerts in Maine during the latter part of July. The patronesses include some of the wealthiest people of that State.

Smashed Both Bicycles.

A man from North Plainfield tried to drive between two bicycles which were on the right side of the roadway on Park avenue, near Fourth street, last evening, and upset both wheelmen and damaged their machines. After much loud and profane talking the man was threatened with arrest, and subsided, promising to repair all injury. He was said to be intoxicated.

MISS SHEPARD'S WEDDING.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. HARRISON SEND A FLORAL OFFERING TO JACK MILLER'S BRIDE.

She Was the Most Beautiful, the Scene the Most Sublime, the Ceremony the Most Perfect, and the Event the Most Fashionable, Plainfield Had Ever Witnessed.

WITHOUT the slightest shade of excessive color in the statement it may be said that never a wedding in this city, and few in any other, has been so original, brilliant and imposing as that of last evening in the First Presbyterian church, when Miss Elinor Matilda Shepard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus D. Shepard, of "The Gables", East Front street, became the wife of John Doull Miller, a son of William Miller, of Lancaster Gate, Hyde Park, London. The bride is a niece of Col. Elliott F. Shepard, whose wife is a daughter of William H. Vanderbilt, and also a niece of Mrs. William Dean Howells, and of the Messrs. Mead, the renowned sculptor and the celebrated architect.

Although the Shepard family are members and constant attendants of the Crescent avenue church, the wedding took place at Dr. Ketcham's church, probably because better available for the ceremony as arranged. It is rumored, however, that an English superstition precludes the passing of either bride or groom beneath anything but the blue canopy of heaven, and the arched door of the kirk, while going to and from the wedding. Consequently, as overhanging railway bridges crossed the road from the bride's home to her church, she gracefully yielded to the customs of her intended husband's country and chose another place for the wedding.

The ceremony was fixed at seven o'clock, but guests began to arrive an hour before. No one was admitted, however, without a card of invitation, and therefore there was no overcrowding of the church. The arrangements for the accommodation of all were perfect. One of the galleries was reserved for the members of the Ladies' Mission Band of the Presbyterian churches, in whose work the bride is deeply interested. The floral decorations and the flowers of the bridal party, furnished by Brower, were the subjects of universal admiration. Just before the wedding, an elegant floral offering from President and Mrs. Harrison, arrived at the house. Clarence L. Eick presided at the organ.

The officiating clergymen—the Rev. Wm. R. Richards, the bride's present pastor, and the Rev. Dr. John C. Bliss, of Washington Heights, New York, the bride's former pastor—came in from one side of the pulpit and stood within a floral altar built for the occasion. This was the signal for the nuptial march from "Lohengrin", and the bridal party entered.

From each side of the broad pulpit and massive organ, came the bridemaids and groomsmen in couples. They crossed in front of the altar and stood on opposite sides from where they entered. The maids were Miss Elizabeth Stewart, Miss Maud Ayres, Miss Sadie Hayes and three cousins of the bride's, Miss Katherine Mead, Miss Mildred Howells and Miss Edith Shepard. They wore frocks of pink chiffon trimmed with Valenciennes lace, and carried bouquets of pink sweet-pea blossoms and lilies of the valley. Their escorts were A. D. Shepard, Jr., and Bert Hamilton Shepard, brothers of the bride's, and Capt. R. W. F. Montieth, of England, Richard Irvin, Harry L. Salstonstall and Frederick Wendt.

The groom also came in from one side of the pulpit, and with his best man, Capt. M. R. P. Andain, of the Royal Fusileers of England, awaited his bride at the altar steps. Miss Shepard passed down the aisle on the arm of her father, preceded by little Wilhelmina Patton, daughter of Mrs. William L. Patton of East Ninth street, who is a sister of the groom's mother. Miss Patton's frock was blue and she carried a basket of flowers. With her walked Master Fred. Shepard in a page's costume of black velvet and white lace. The maid of honor, Miss Daisy Shepard, followed alone just in front of the bride. She was dressed in cream faille. The bride's gown was of white faille and point-lace, with a point-lace veil worth a king's ransom. She wore a magnificent necklace of pearls and diamonds, the gift of her aunt, Mrs. Col. Elliott F. Shepard, and the costly bracelet of diamonds which was the groom's present. Her bouquet was of white sweet-pea blossoms and rare orchids.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Richards. The Rev. Dr. Bliss offered the prayer and asked the benediction. In passing out the bridemaids grouped together and the groomsmen likewise. A reception followed at "The Gables", with a banquet by Sherry. A special train brought the guests from New York. Among those present was the groom's sister, Miss Margaret Miller, the only one of his family who could attend. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will first reside in Halifax, where one of the branches of the groom's father's business, is established.

The display of presents at the house was remarkable because of the quantities of massive and solid silver of all descriptions. A list of the guests would be but a recapitulation of the members of all the higher circles of Plainfield's society. Among them were Mayor Alexander Gilbert and Mrs. Gilbert, Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh and Mrs. Marsh, Colonel and Mrs. Mason W. Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Waring, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Herring, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. William Palmer Smith, Major and Mrs. R. L. Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. William Bloodgood, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Patton, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Kaufman, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Joy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Timpson, Mr. and Mrs Foster Milliken, Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey W. Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beals, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Boome, Mr. and Mrs. Roger F. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, Mr. and Mrs. R. Pendleton-Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coe (nee Johnston).

BRAND-NEW GARMENTS FOR THE NEEDY.

Plainfield Women Organize for a Most Worthy and Useful Charity.

The Plainfield Branch of the Needlework Guild of America has just been organized, and has started out on a career of great usefulness, in this city. The officers are;

President—Mrs. VanNest Talmage.
Secretary—Mrs. J. Parker Mason.
Treasurer—Mrs. F. A. Pike.

The parent guild was organized in Philadelphia in 1885, by Mrs. J. W. Stewart, of Glen Ridge, N. J., the plan of work having been borrowed from that of a society founded in London by Lady Wolverton.

The object of the guild is to collect and distribute new plain garments, suitable for hospitals, homes and other charities, and for the relief of the deserving poor. There are no dues, no admittance fees, no collections. The guild receives all workers gladly. Any one may become a subscriber who will provide two new garments annually, and any subscriber who will agree to procure ten more subscribers and thus provide twenty-two new garments, becomes a director, and has a vote, as to the distribution of the clothing.

This was an English idea, and has been nobly carried out, and although England is first in the field America has not been far behind. In England the society was founded in 1882, in America in 1885.

Lady Wolverton's plan, as it could not be made better, was adopted unchanged, and although the work is being carried on along the lines set by her, we are not yet doing a tithe of the work that she and her associates are accomplishing. There are many other charities all doing a great work, but we all cannot join them because they either take too much time, or too much money, and so many who would be glad to help cannot afford one or the other in large measure. The Needlework Guild asks for little of either. It is a work that can be done by grandmothers, or even children. Invalids could shorten many lonely hours, and in so doing help many charities.

Garments for infants, children, men and women, made plainly, of strong materials; merino, unbleached muslin, Canton flannel underwear, skirts of heavy gray, red or blue flannel; sacques and wrappers for the sick; nightshirts and nightgowns, sheets, towels and shoes, are especially needed. The poor have clothes sent to them at times which are almost past service, and not always appropriate in material; but these new, strong, and well-made garments are a delight to those who receive them, and of substantial service.

Again, how many poor patients go from our hospitals, thinly and poorly clad, after some long or severe sickness, only the more easy prey for some new trouble! What a pleasure to be able to clothe them in an entire set of new, warm garments!

The annual meeting of the guild is held in October. All garments are sent to the president by October 7. Each vice president and director must write the names of her ten associates, and where they desire to send the clothing, on a slip attached to the bundle.

We hope to rouse in others interest in this work, and to ask them to help us make our branch here a success and next winter know because of us there will be less suffering among the destitute.

Will you join this guild? Very little is asked of you—only two garments a year—but the result of these "united littles" will be a great power for good.

MRS. J. PARKER MASON,
Secretary of the Plainfield Branch.

The Ladies are Cordially Invited.

On the Crescent League's alleys, tomorrow evening, the Y. M. C. A. team, under Captain C. C. Dilts, which defeated the Crescents May 19, will roll a return match. The Crescent team will consist of Haven, Arnold, Vail, King, Hetfield, Doane, Keller, Davis, Teal and Emerson. A cordial invitation to be present is extended to all of the friends of both teams, especially the ladies.

—The Plainfield Water Supply Company keeps on with its work of distributing carloads of pipes for water mains about the city streets, and in Netherwood the work of laying them progresses rapidly.

Doings of the Boys' Club.

The average attendance at the Boys' Club last week was 44 each evening. The largest in any one evening was 64, and the smallest 28. The monthly average is 43.

All the members are expected to turn out to see the base-ball game next Saturday between the boys from Elizabeth and the nine of the local club. The battery for the home team will be Bolsterie and Adams. Games for July are now being arranged, and the club would like to receive challenges for games on Wednesday afternoons, from other teams whose members are under the age of seventeen.

The Edwards Zouaves made a very fine appearance in the Memorial Day parade, and marched exceedingly well for their first appearance. After the exercises at Music Hall the members marched to the residence of George Wharton Edwards on Madison avenue, where they were entertained by the ladies with refreshments. An exhibition drill was given, and the boys marched back to the club rooms.

Poor at Spelling, But a Master of Vituperation.

Mary Luke, a town charge who is so little of a speller that she can't spell her own name, was intoxicated and very disorderly on West Third street, yesterday afternoon, and swore at people and called them harsh names. Policeman McCue arrested her, and this afternoon she was taken before Judge Codington.

She pleaded that as it was her first offense in 5 years she ought to be forgiven. She promised never to be guilty again. For the protection of the public against being assailed with vile language, the court sent her to the county jail for 20 days.

Borrowed the Wrong Cab in the Owner's Absence.

Three young men about town appropriated Henry Hanson's horse and cab, from the street curb where it was standing, two or three evenings ago, and used it an hour or two, thinking that it belonged to a particular friend of theirs who would n't care. Hanson, however, was n't a friend, and he did care. So he had the three gay fellows arrested, by policeman Cooney. Elias Pope furnished bonds for their appearance for trial before Justice Wadsworth.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for six weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am nearly cured, and yet it seems too good to be true. Have no doubt but that much of the sleeplessness people complain of is caused by indigestion.

A good shoe is like a good friend—it will not disappoint you when you call upon it for real service. You know a good friend by trying him, and that's the way you can test a shoe; but the trouble in the case of the shoe is that, when you've tried it, you must keep it, whether it's good or not. You won't complain about having to keep our shoes, because we know what they are when we sell them, and what we know we let you know before you buy. There is nothing in the market which will give you a better return for your money than our $3.00 Shoe.

IS IT A CONSPIRACY?

Mr. Anthony Says that the Electric Light Company Does Unfair Things.

James L. Anthony, a well-known resident of Netherwood, appeared before the Plainfield Common Council last evening as the champion of the interests of the people, and said some sharp things against that local monopoly, the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company. Mr. Anthony's story is that because he had a house wired for electric lighting by some one other than the electric wiring man whom the gas and electric light company are said especially to favor, to the alleged shutting out and injury of all other wiring men, the company refused to attach the current from their works and light the house. By making inquiries among neighbors and submitting the question to electricians of high repute, he had ascertained that the wiring in the house was efficiently and thoroughly done, and was in condition to receive the current in perfect safety. In fact—it was asserted—the wiring was exactly the same as had been done in other houses by the company's own man. Yet the company refused to turn on the current for that house till the wiring had all been torn out and replaced by the work of their own favored man. As Mr. Anthony talked, his auditors became convinced that the stories they had heard whispered about must be true; that the gas and electric light company were engaged in a selfish boycott against all competitors, and that a householder could not have electric light unless he had the wiring done by the company's pet wiring man and paid exorbitant prices for work that the boycotted competitors would do just as well for far less money. Mr. Anthony characterized the thing as a conspiracy, and wanted to know if the Council were going to permit a company to act so selfishly, so arbitrarily, under a franchise whose possession had been secured from the Council only under promises of faithful service to all the people. The matter was referred to the committee on public lights, who will very speedily settle the question whether or not the company can refuse to light one house and yet light another that is wired in exactly the same way, just because different electricians did the work.

In defense of the company it was stated that they are obliged to accept wiring only from men holding certificates from the Board of Fire Underwriters, who will not, it is said, take insurance risks on houses wired by other men than those favored, thus shutting out men who seem in every way competent but who decline to charge the high prices that men in the alleged "ring" keep up.

That the scheme to give the public better gas light at reasonable and popular prices is to be pushed to consummation was evidenced by the report of Councilman Spangenberg, who said that as chairman of the committee on public lights he had met the projectors of the enterprise and had found their plans such as would be satisfactory to the people in every way. He presented a resolution, which was adopted, that the Council meet next week Monday evening, June 8, to confer with the petitioners and citizens regarding the matter. An advertisement inviting all citizens to attend was ordered published in the official papers, THE PRESS and The Times.

The ordinance concerning the muzzling of dogs was adopted on its third and final reading.

The liquor license application of James O'Neill, which had been referred back to the applicant for correction, was again presented to the Council and referred to the committee on licenses.

Judge W. R. Codington reported that 89 prisoners had been before him the past 3 months. Of these 44 had been fined, paying an aggregate of $292.50; 16 had been jailed; on 16 sentence had been suspended, and 13 had been acquitted.

J. Oakley Nodyne, overseer of the poor, reported that during the quarter just ended 49 families had been assisted; 42 were still on the roll. $685.45 had been expended for rent, fuel, milk, food and clothing. There had been one burial, costing $15.

Councilman Ackerman said a good word for the delinquent tax collector, Vincent W. Nash, who has been very active in getting the public's money out of close-fisted people. So far for 1891 there had been collected $7,997.18, against the record of $5,757.12 of 1890.

The sum of $1,800 was borrowed from the general fund for use on the fire department fund. Of this $1,000 will be used in taking up a fire bond.

The application of J. T. Vail to build a conservatory at the rear of his place on North avenue was refused, since the Council had no right to grant it.

By resolution of Councilman Ginna the committee on laws and ordinances were authorized to direct a survey of Peace street from the railroad to Green brook, with a view to estimating the cost of the proposed widening and extension.

At the suggestion of the Board of Fire Engineers the customary extra precautions were ordered taken for the Fourth of July. Three men will be kept on duty at each engine house from the evening of July 3 to the morning of July 5.

The Council adjourned until to-night, when action will be taken on the application of J. M. Low & Co. for a water-works and sewerage franchise.

A Memorial Day Sermon by Dr. Lewis.

As promised in THE PRESS of yesterday, following is a digest of a sermon preached on Decoration Day morning by the Rev. A. H. Lewis, D. D., in the Seventh-Day Baptist church: The service opened with the "Soldier's Requiem", commencing:

Let them rest, let them rest, where we tenderly laid them,
The war drum is silent, the battle is o'er.

In the further order of the services came Mrs. Howe's "Battle Hymn of the Republic", and "My Country, 'tis of Thee". These, with the organ accompaniments, were rendered with great appropriateness, and with telling effect.

The sermon (Text, Dan. 4:17.—Theme, God's hand in the History of Nations.) reviewed the "Causes, the cost and extent, the results, and the duties yet consequent upon the war". It was full of facts and figures relative to Human Slavery, Grecian, Roman and European, the rise of the modern African Slave Trade in 1442, and its development in Europe and America down to 1861. Among the multitude of facts presented, are the following:

The British government controlled the larger half of the slave trade during the 18th century. Georgia was the only American colony which was not slave-holding from the beginning. It legalized slavery in 1743. The merchants of Boston and Salem, in Mass., Bristol and Newport, R. I., and of New York, led in importing slaves. The first invoice came to Jamestown, Va., in 1620, and the first in the North came into the Massachusetts Bay colony in 1637, by a Colonial act 300,000 were imported before 1776. The census of 1790 showed 40,000 in the Northern, and 657,527 in the Southern colonies. Slavery was abolished in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont about 1780. In New York, in 1827, and in New Jersey in 1846. Strenuous efforts were made to provide for the early destruction of slavery, when the Federal government was formed. Georgia and the Carolinas refused to come into the compact on such terms, and the effort was abandoned. The agitation increased rapidly, after the opening of the present century. After the admission of Missouri as a slave state, in 1820, a compromise was effected by making 33 degrees and 30 minutes the line between free and slave territory. Nothing could allay the agitation. The era of "Anti-Slavery" publications began in 1828: of petitions to congress in favor of the abolition of slavery by National law, in 1835. By 1845 there were 200,000 members of "Abolition Societies" in the Northern states. The agitation was hastened by the abolition of the slave trade in England under the leadership of the Quakers, in 1808; the abolition of slavery in the British W. I., in 1834, and in Hayti, by its independence, in 1825. Acts of violence by the slave-holders, including murder, broke out along the border states as early as 1836. Then came the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, the Fugitive-slave Law, the demand for Kansas and Nebraska as slave territory, the cruel domination of the slave-holding party in all National affairs, all of which swept the fires of agitation into a resistless conflation of feeling, pro and con. From 1840 slavery was a direct issue in the National elections. The "Free Soil" party championed the cause of freedom, and the Democratic party the cause of slavery. The party of freedom was born with the motto: "Free Soil, Free Speech, Free Labor and Free Men". The election of 1856 was a close one. It gave the victory to the slavery party, with Buchanan in the chair. He was weak, truculent and traitorous to the Nation over which he presided. His administration gave strength and advancement to the cause of secession. It was the vestibule to the cavern of "Rebellion". In 1860 the man and the times came into conjunction, and Abraham Lincoln, noblest of the illustrious defenders of the "Old Flag" commissioned of God, led the party of freedom—now known as "Republican", to victory. Then the South rushed more wildly towards the vortex of open rebellion. Southern congressmen and cabinet officers began to resign as soon as Congress met in December, 1860. South Carolina seceded during the same month, and seized the National supplies and fortifications within her borders, as far as possible. The Southern Confederacy was formed about the close of February, and when President Lincoln came to Washington to be inaugurated, the threats of assassination were so loud that he left his family and the special train at Harrisburg, Pa., and came to Washington in disguise. Through careful military precautions he was inducted into the Presidential chair, without open disturbance. The rebels opened fire on Fort Sumpter on the 12th of April, 1861. The echoes of that shot did not cease until Lee laid down his sword four years later at Appomattox.

Some idea of the rapidity with which the North, the loyal part of the Nation sprang to arms, may be gained by the following figures. Sumpter fell on the 14th of March. On the next day the President called for 75,000 troops for 90 days. 91,000 men responded to the call. On the 1st of Jan., 1861, the National army consisted of 16,367 men. July 1st of the same year it numbered 186,761. January 1st, 1862, it numbered 575,917. January 1st, 1863, it numbered 918,191. January 1st, 1864, it numbered 959,460. May 1st, 1865, it numbered more than one million. Averaged by the three years' standard, the North placed in the field 2,320,272 men. There were 272 regiments of cavalry, 78 of artillery and 1,696 of infantry. In 1862, 80,000 men were raised and placed in the field in less than one month; 60,000 were raised and placed in the field in four weeks, at several different times. At one time 90,000 were furnished from five States, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin, in 20 days. When the final surrender came, thousands were discharged at the various recruiting stations.

The losses were as follows: Killed in battle, 61,362; died from wounds, 34,773; from disease, 183,287; accidentally killed, 306; executed on sentence, 7; missing in action, 6,749. Honorably discharged, 174,577; dishonorably, 2,693; for disability, 224,306. Cashiered, 274. Resigned, 22,281. Deserted, 199,045. Total casualties—officers, 47,574; enlisted men, 864,509. Total, 912,083.

Killed in action one out of 42; died of wounds one out of 38; of disease one out of 13; died in prison one out of 7; died in service one out of 9. It is said that for every man killed in action, one hundred pounds of lead were fired. 3,000,000 men are buried in our National cemeteries. About 140,000 of these are "unknown." The 5th N. H., the 83rd Pa., and the 7th Wis., suffered most severely in battle. The cost of the war in money is placed at $6,189,929,908.58.

RESULTS.

1. We have vindicated our right to spell Nation with a capital N.

2. The Nation is purged from a great sin, and the contradiction of saying "All men are free and equal" when they were not.

3. The South is saved from a vampire which was steadily sucking out its life blood.

4. The stability of our Republic has been tested and proven.

5. The Negro race in America has entered the road to elevation and higher manhood.

6. The Old World has been more fully taught to respect our flag.

7. We have learned through tears, blood and ashes, that God rules, and that righteousness alone exalts a Nation.

FUTURE DUTIES.

1. To enshrine social and political purity, and political and commercial honesty in the heart of the United Nation.

2. To maintain the great principle of National Unity for which these veterans fought and for which their comrades died. We must forgive the misguided ones who rebelled; but we must not forget that treason was treason.

3. We must create a Christian Patriotism as our safeguard in the future.

Rear monuments. (Let the eagle on the proposed one for our city be displaced by a full figure of the Private Soldier.) Strew flowers year by year. Cherish the memory of the brave dead and care for the living who stood between the country and its foes; but most of all so live and do that when all the sad scenes of the war have become a distant memory to our childrens' children, the World looking upon the United States shall behold a Nation fearing God and working righteousness. A Nation worthy of the price we have paid for its purification and redemption. May God's richest blessings abide with the veterans and Our Country which they saved.

EXPERT WHIST PLAY.

Only One Point Difference Between Plainfield's Cracks, and Delegates from the Pomfret Club, of Easton, at the Rooms of the Crescent League.

There was an interesting convention of whist players at the parlors of the Crescent League Club, on Saturday afternoon, when a number of most enjoyable games were played. The visitors were Messrs. Hamilton, Boutcher, Nightingale and Green, of the Pomfret Club, of Easton, who had come all the way from Easton to have a friendly contest with four picked players here. The members representing the Crescent Club, were E. C. Kieb and George Bates, seconded by Messrs. Comstock and Bender. All of the contestants are known as fine whist players and Messrs. Hamilton and Boutcher were delegates to the Milwaukee Congress where the former had the honor of being one of the three who made the highest possible score at the test for individual whist skill.

The session on Saturday was most interesting and exciting and some fine play was developed. At the end of a four hours' session of duplicate whist, it was found that twelve games had been played in all, with one point in favor of the visitors. By invitation the same players met again in the evening at the residence of Mr. Kieb, when twenty more games were played resulting in a tie.

This was regarded by all the participants as indicating exceptionally fine play and the general sentiment was that they had a most enjoyable session. The visitors extended a cordial invitation to their opponents to make a trip to Easton and promised that if they did so they would have a royal good time and get all the whist they wanted.

A word in explanation of what "duplicate whist" is, may be a matter of information to many. Each player lays the card he plays in front of him, and it is turned face down and left there after it is seen who takes the trick. The side taking the trick draws a counter instead of making a book of the cards. After the entire hand is played the players change tables, sit down and play the hands before them—the Easton players, however, playing the Plainfield players' hands, and vice versa.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed.—Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

Damage Done by Recent Frosts.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., June 2.—Reports from Western New York show that the damage done by May frosts has been large and widely extended, but has not been really disastrous anywhere except in the deep valleys of the south towns of Erie county. From that region the complaints are serious and the outlook somewhat discouraging. The region is largely devoted to dairying, and suffers by the shortened hay and pasturage caused by the drouth and frosts.

The great grape-growing region on the South shore of Lake Erie reports a full crop in sight, and the peach-growing region along the Niagara river makes an equally favorable report.

The drouth and frosts came too soon to injure Wyoming county's staple, the bean, and the most recent agricultural experiment, the tobacco plantations in Southern Erie, escaped the general devastation in that region.

Apples and other fruits suffered severely.

$500,000 Fire in Brooklyn This Morning.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 2.—Fire destroyed the four-story brick building at Kent and White avenues, occupied by the Brooklyn Cooperage Company, at 1 o'clock this morning. The fire spread to the bagging factory adjoining, which was also destroyed. The loss is estimated at $500,000.

Murderers to Be Resentenced To-Day.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Harris A. Smiler, James J. Slocum and Joseph Wood, all under conviction and sentence for murder, but whose cases have been appealed, will be brought down from Sing Sing Prison to-day to be resentenced by the Supreme Court, General Term.

$5,000 Reward for Marsh.

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—City Councils unanimously passed a resolution offering a reward of $5,000 for the apprehension and delivery of Gideon W. Marsh, president of the Keystone National Bank, to the proper authorities.

Minister Lincoln Smiled.

LONDON, June 2.—In an interview Minister Lincoln smiled at the rumor that he was going to be succeeded in the Ministry by Secretary Noble. It was the first intimation, he said, he had had on the subject.

The General Assembly to Adjourn.

DETROIT, Mich., June 2.—It is decided that the Assembly cannot send delegates to other than ecclesiastical bodies, and so cannot do so for a temperance congress to be held at Saratoga this month. The Assembly will probably adjourn to-day.

Set on Fire by a Flash of Lightning.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 2.—The Buffalo flour mill and an elevator, containing several thousands bushels of grain, and the Sault Ste. Marie Railroad depot were burned early in the morning. The loss is $20,000. The mill was set on fire by a flash of lightning.

An Insane Texan.

BOSTON, June 2.—A wealthy Texan named Herbert Timon, who came here for treatment for epilepsy, became violently insane yesterday and was with great difficulty captured and restrained. He had been informed that his case was hopeless, and it is believed that brooding over the matter unpalsed his mind.

Dr. Hall Resigns as Chancellor.

NEW YORK, June 2.—At the meeting of the Council of University of the City of New York, held last night, Dr. John Hall tendered his resignation as Chancellor of the University to take effect at the end of the month.

Philadelphia's City Treasurer.

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—Richard G. Oellers, the choice of the County Commissioners and City Councils for City Treasurer to succeed John Bardsley, has taken possession of the City Treasurer's office.

Knights Holding Secret Sessions.

HAVERHILL, Mass., June 2.—The convention of the National Trade Assembly No. 216, K. of L., is in session here. There are 80 delegates in attendance. The sessions are secret.

The Simplest Method of Resuscitating the Apparently Drowned.

In the Transactions of the Medico-Chirurgical society of London, Dr. Bowles gives the following excellent advice: After the patient has been placed for a moment with face downward, to allow the escape of water from the mouth and throat, he is turned on the side and kept on that side continuously, except when (about fifteen times a minute) the body is rolled for a few seconds on the face again. By keeping the same side always up, the lung on that side becomes clear. Turning first one and then the other side up is dangerous, because thereby the partly cleared lung is suddenly flooded with fluid from the lung which was downward. It is better to clear one lung entirely than to have both half cleared. Each time the body is turned upon the face a little more froth and water escapes from the mouth and nostrils. If one lung is thus cleared it may escape the inflammation which results from the inspiration of water. When the upper lung has been almost cleared it is useful to raise the upper arm above the head as in the Sylvester method, since the entrance of larger quantities of air into the lung is now safe. Pressure upon the back at each pronation assists the escape of water somewhat, and it has a good influence on the heart, aiding the propulsion of the blood toward the lungs. The continued use of the prono-lateral method is an excellent mode of keeping the pharynx clear of obstruction. The Medical Record speaks approvingly of this treatment in a recent editorial, and considers it superior to the usual Sylvester or Marshall Hall method.

Shiloh's Cough Cure.

This is beyon question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

TREATMENT for CONSUMPTION.

To the Physicians of Plainfield and Vicinity.

I would respectfully announce that I am prepared to supply the Solution of Iodo-Chloride of Gold and Manganese, lately suggested by Drs. Shurly and Gibbes, for the treatment of Consumption.

Recent experiments seem to promise better results from the use of this remedy than have been attained by any other treatment, not excepting that of Dr. Koch. Absolute purity of materials and careful manipulation are required for the successful preparation of the Solution which, after repeated trials, we have attained.

BASHFUL BRIDEGROOMS.

Brides Are More Self Possessed Than Their Partners in Facing the Minister.

Ministers declare that in nine cases out of ten brides are much more self possessed than are bridegrooms when the marriage ceremony is being performed.

A shy, modest looking little creature robed in white will stand perfectly erect, looking the minister calmly and squarely in the eye without for an instant losing her self poise, while the big, blunt six-footer of a bridegroom by her side is pale and nervous and trembling. His fingers are likely to twitch nervously and he may even hitch at his trouser legs or twist a corner of his coat skirt.

I was once "best man" to a stalwart, middle-aged bridegroom, noted for his courage and feats of daring, says a writer in the Philadelphia Call, and when the time came for us to go downstairs to meet the bride and her attendants he nearly had a fit, and he looked like a walking corpse all through the ceremony. I had to keep saying: "Brace up, old boy," and "Come, come, you've got to go down," to get him started at all, and at the door he was idiotic enough to clutch at me and say:

"Say, Fred, how would it do to have Mary and the preacher slip in here and have it all over with before we go down at all? I can't go through it before all that crowd."

"Idiot!" I said briefly and pointedly enough to leave no doubt as to my meaning. "Mary won't come in here and you will go down this instant."

He got through at last without doing or saying anything ridiculous, in which respect he was luckier than another stalwart bridegroom of my acquaintance, who was so dazed and overcome that he held out one of his own fingers for the ring when the minister said: "With this ring I thee wed."

Another bridegroom I know lost his head to such a degree that when it came time for him to say: "I, Horace, take thee, Annie, to be my lawful wedded wife," he said, in an unnaturally loud tone: "I, Annie, take thee, Horace, to be my lawful wedded wife," and when the time came for him to introduce his bride to some of his friends who had not yet seen her he did it by saying, awkwardly: "Ah, er—Miss Carter, this is my wife, Miss Barton," calling her by her maiden name.

Few men say "my wife" easily and naturally the first time they use the words in public.

A funny case was that of a badly-rattled bridegroom who stared blankly at the minister until asked if he took "this woman to be his lawful wedded wife," when he started suddenly and hastily, and said, in the blandest manner:

"Ah! beg pardon, were you speaking to me?"

A village preacher says that he once married a rural couple at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of a large company of invited guests. The bridegroom was a big, bony, red-faced young fellow who looked as though he could have felled an ox with his fist; but he shivered and turned pale at the beginning of the ceremony, and at its close he fell down in a dead faint, to the manifest annoyance of his bride, who had been as cool as a cucumber throughout the ceremony.

SPECIALIST OR SMATTERER?

Does It Pay to Take Up a Special Line of Professional Work.

We often hear it said of a dabbler in music, or in art, or in science: "Oh, she only knows enough of that thing to talk about it!" and the words imply a sneer. From one point of view it is a trivial attainment, and perhaps the sneer is deserved if the knowledge has been acquired simply to furnish a subject of conversation, although to be conversant with even the jargon of a study is better than to remain totally ignorant concerning it. Besides, she who knows the terminology of music or art sufficiently to talk about either intelligently can hardly fail to pick up scraps of information occasionally. The very fact that a woman has cared enough for a topic to induce her to trouble herself to learn its phrases, argues the possibility of her appreciating further knowledge, says Harper's Bazar.

After all, the matter resolves itself into the question: For what purpose is study, general or particular, pursued? Is it not to widen the views, to strengthen the mind, to deepen the sympathies? Cannot these objects be as well achieved by general as by particular reading or study? Since one cannot go to the bottom of everything, can she not be well enough educated to gain enjoyment for herself and others by taking such selected knowledge as comes in her way? It is not necessary to be an Italian scholar to be able to read and appreciate the "Inferno," nor need one know Greek before she can become familiar with the "Iliad." Translations, collations and anthologies are meant for the help of those whose other duties preclude their going to the fountain head for their instruction and their enjoyment.

As the travel of current thought is toward specialties, let the young student just equipping for her life's work fit herself for labor after the fashion of the day. But the general reader whose opportunities for work have been limited need not despise her scattered knowledge. She possesses the advantage usually of having her capital available. She can utilize her information in her writing and in her conversation after a fashion that is both helpful and entertaining to those with whom she is thrown. It may be debated, indeed, whether the general reader, the general student, does not do more to benefit and delight her kind at large than does the specialist who limits herself to one or two branches of study, who never reads a book that does not touch upon her specialty, who can discuss nothing but her hobby, and who too often makes a bore of herself to all but a few sympathizers. The one-ideaed woman has her uses, and they are important, but may not as much be claimed for her who is forced by events and environment to be a smatterer?

THE GUINEA PIG.

A Creature That, From One Point of View, Stands Absolutely Alone.

The secretary of the Selborne Society of England, an association of lovers of wild nature, has lately written an account of the guinea pig. This creature, the writer says, stands absolutely alone, from one point of view. Do what you will, it is impossible to make a friend of him.

Titmice, robins, squirrels, wild ducks, cuckoos, even rats and mice, have been found amenable to kindness. Even Roman snails, Egyptian beetles and butterflies have been taught to recognize their masters and show a friendly interest in them.

A GUINEA PIG.

The guinea pig is an absurd little animal for a number of reasons, and one of the most remarkable absurdities about him is his name. He is not a pig of any kind, nor any relation to the pig, and he has nothing to do with Guinea. He is a kind of rat, and his native home is South America.

Why he should have been called a "pig" no one knows, unless it was on account of the slight grunting noise that he makes; and the word "guinea" in his case may be a corruption of Guiana, where the animal has sometimes been found, though it was first brought from Brazil.

His real name is the "cavy," and by that he should be called. In his wild state he is quite differently colored from the domesticated animal and lacks the spotting of white, black and tawny color which the tamed cavy often has.

It used to be commonly supposed that the guinea pig drove away ordinary rats, or rather caused them to go away on account of their extreme dislike of him; but even this negative merit is denied to the poor little animal. No one, however, is able to deny his gentleness and submissiveness.—Youth's Companion.

HAVOC OF A CYCLONE

A Terrific Tornado Sweeps Over South Dakota.

THE PEOPLE BADLY FRIGHTENED

Three Men Killed and a Great Deal of Property Destroyed.

Horses Lifted from the Ground and Hurled Into the Air—Houses and Barns Literally Carried Away—The Debris of the Storm Spread Along Its Line for Nearly a Mile.

WATERTOWN, S. D., June 3.—A terrific storm swept over a portion of this section last evening. Its funnel shape appearing close to the ground, its whirling motion, the roar like the crackling of a fire with which its was accompanied indicated to the frightened people that the storm was of the cyclonic order.

Fortunately it struck the city on the extreme eastern limit, where the buildings were scattered, and the whole city is thankful to-day that it came no closer. Six barns were demolished.

The path of the storm was only about 100 feet wide, and it was miraculous that not a single house within the city limits was in its way. Horses were lifted from the ground, hurled into the air and sent sprawling to the earth. Wagons were taken up and hurled to atoms. Five miles northeast of here two houses and three barns were literally carried away. The debris from the storm as left this city spread along its line for nearly a mile.

O. P. Chandler and his son were in one of the barns when the storm struck it, and they were pinned under the boards until assistance came, but were only slightly injured.

Three people were killed at Hazel, 16 miles southwest of here, and the storm is said to have been very severe in that vicinity. No other fatalities have been yet reported.

SANDBAGGED BY A THIEF.

A Bank Cashier's Sister Terribly Beaten While Trying to Give an Alarm.

MATAWAN, N. J., June 3.—Great excitement exists over the daring attempt to burglarize the residence of Cashier William H. Tuthill of the People's National Bank.

At an early hour the burglar awoke Miss Maggie Tuthill, sister of the bank cashier, who, after listening, called her brother. Not receiving any answer, she made her way to his room, but was prevented from entering by the intruder, who suddenly struck her over the head with a sandbag, which felled her to the floor. The villain struck her again and again with the sandbag until each blow left its mark. Her screams were heard by Cashier Tuthill, who quickly got his gun and attempted to shoot the robber, but the gun would not go off.

The villain jumped out of a second story window. The occupants of the house began screaming, which aroused the neighbors, who chased the robber with pistols and shotguns.

When Miss Tuthill was carried to her room she could not speak. Later she said that the man was rather tall and that she was struck several times across the head with an instrument called a sandbag.

Miss Tuthill is somewhat marked about the face, and it is thought that some scars will remain to disfigure her. Tuthill was somewhat frightened. It is thought that Mr. Tuthill had some $30,000 or $40,000 for deposit in his Keyport bank.

GLADSTONE'S KIND HEART.

He Orders Tombstones for Five Little Children Buried in Ohio.

SPRINGFIELD, O., June 3.—The following story shows the sympathy and kindness of heart of England's Grand Old Man, W. E. Gladstone.

At Waverly, O., live a family named Gladstone, who have always been understood to be related to Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, the great ex-Premier of England.

Between September 28 and November 2, 1862, there was an epidemic of diphtheria in Waverly, and little Esther Gladstone was taken ill with the disease. Every effort was made to save her life, but in vain. She died after sowing the seeds of the disease among her little brothers and sisters.

One after the other little John, James, Jane and Joseph Gladstone succumbed and were laid beside their sister Esther in the cemetery at Waverly.

For twenty-nine years the graves of the little children have been but slightly marked, but a few days ago an order came from England from Mr. Gladstone to have five marble tombstones erected in the cemetery to mark the graves of his little kinsmen in America. The tombstones will be erected at once.

The Tilden Will Contest.

SARATOGA, N. Y., June 3.—The Tilden will contest has begun in the second division of the Court of Appeals. It is an action of George H. Tilden against Andrew H. Green, George W. Smith and John Bigelow, the executors and trustees under the last will and testament of Samuel J. Tilden and others, being an appeal from the Supreme Court in favor of the plaintiff. About $5,000,000 are involved in the suit.

Financial Trouble in Buenos Ayres.

BUENOS AYRES, June 3.—There was a run on all the banks during the morning. Large crowds of depositors surrounded the various institutions and considerable excitement prevailed. The outlook is very unfavorable.

Big Decrease in the Irish Census.

LONDON, June 3.—The Irish census shows a total population of 4,706,162, of whom 2,317,076 are males. This shows a decrease in the total population of 468,674 since the last census.

PHILADELPHIA'S MUDDLE.

The Supreme Court Will Hear Argument To-morrow on the City Treasurership.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—The first move to test the power of filling a vacancy in the City Treasurership was taken in Common Pleas Court. The court made a decree in favor of Oellers that the case might be heard at once by the Supreme Court and there decided for all time. The Supreme Court will hear the argument to-morrow.

Ex-City Treasurer Bardsley has steadily improved in his physical condition since his confinement in Moyamensing prison. This morning he was so much better that he spent much of his time in pacing up and down in his cell in the hospital ward.

Dr. Butcher, the prison physician, who has Mr. Bardsley in charge, says that the prisoner is fast increasing in strength, but refuses to discuss his mental condition.

When asked if he had noticed any symptoms of mental trouble, Dr. Butcher declined to express an opinion either way, saying that it was a question which would very likely come before the courts.

CHURCH MEMBERS INDICTED.

To be Tried for Disturbing a Religious Meeting and Riot.

BUTLER, Pa., June 3.—The grand jury returned true bills on 13 indictments against members of the West Sunbury M. E. Church, charging them with forcible entry, disturbing a religious meeting and riot. The cases will be tried next week.

Rival factions in the church have for some time been carrying on a bitter contest for the possession of the church property. The suits grew out of the recent attempt of one faction to forcibly eject the other while services were in progress.

ANOTHER TRIAL FOR LINGO.

The Supreme Court Sustains Judge Garrison's Decision.

TRENTON, N. J., June 3.—The matter of the certiorari proceedings in the case of Francis Lingo, convicted of murdering Mrs. Miller, was argued before the Supreme Court and ex-Prosecutor Richard S. Jenkins spoke against the proceedings, and endeavored to have them set aside.

Judge Wescott, for the defendant, made a logical argument in favor of Judge Garrison's certiorari, and the certiorari was sustained. The case will now be retired.

$50,000 Blaze in Boston.

BOSTON, June 3.—At 8 a. m. fire started in the fifth story of the building 99 to 105 Broad street. The building was occupied by West and Jenny, wholesale drug dealers. Flames spread quickly to adjoining stores and caused a loss to Allen & Berry, label printers, and Eldridge & Butter, job printers, which will aggregate $8,000. West & Jenny estimate their loss at $40,000. Captain Perkins and two firemen were taken from the building unconscious from the fumes of the chemicals.

The Reformed Church General Synod.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 3.—The 85th regular annual session of the General Synod of the Reformed Church of America convenes here this afternoon. In the evening the retiring president, J. Asmeyn Berry of Rhinebeck, N. Y., will preach the synodical sermon. A new appeal in the case of the Third Reformed Church of Philadelphia, which was disbanded six years ago by the Classis of Philadelphia, will be heard at one of the sessions of the convention.

A Prominent Lawyer Found Dead.

ERIE, Pa., June 3.—Hon. William Benson, one of the oldest and most widely known members of the Erie county bar, was found dead in his room in the Olds block last night. He was in court yesterday in apparently good health. He was known throughout the State as the "Poor Man's Lawyer." Heart failure was the supposed cause of death.

An Old Veteran Dead.

CHOASSET, Mass., June 3.—Col. James Quick, a former Boston business man, died last night, aged 63. He was born in Milton, N. Y., and during the war served with distinction as colonel of the 95th New York regiment. He was a 33d degree Free Mason and was a member of Polar Star lodge of New York. He leaves a widow and one daughter.

A County Treasury Bankrupt.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 3.—Owing to the abolishment of the office of county tax collectors and there being no way to collect back taxes the treasury of Newcastle county is practically bankrupt and county warrants have gone to protest. There are over $60,000 taxes due the county, but it has been necessary to borrow $10,000 to meet current expenses.

Regarded as a Spy.

BOSTON, June 3.—A special from North Sydney, C. B., says great excitement prevails at St. Pierre, over the continued presence of Hon. James Fox, member of the Legislature for St. John's, N. F., who is regarded as a spy. Mr. Fox denies that he is there in any official capacity, but refuses to say why he remains. The Governor has been asked to expel him, but this he refuses to do on account of the complications it may lead to.

HE CLINGS TO LIFE

Sir John Macdonald Bravely Struggling With Death.

NO CHANGE IN HIS CONDITION.

Prof. Osler, an American Specialist, Summoned to the Bedside of the Premier.

Canadian Politicians Still Talking About His Successor—It Is Said That the Cabinet Will Be Reorganized by Sir John Thompson—Sir Charles Tupper to Remain Where He Is.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 3.—The condition of Sir John Macdonald throughout the morning is believed to have been better than yesterday. The bulletins that were issued by Dr. Powell announced his condition as about the same. The Premier dozed comfortably all the morning. The weather was warmer, but did not apparently affect him. The doctors, however, have not changed their minds as to the impossibility of his recovery.

Eager crowds scanned the bulletins all the morning and gathered at "Earnscliffe," the home of the dying Premier.

The Hon. C. H. Tupper this morning denied the report that his father had sailed for Canada. The High Commissioner is still in Vienna.

On the question of the successorship the Empire, the organ of the Government, declares that the subject has not been mentioned at a Cabinet meeting; that the Cabinet, upon the death of Sir John, will be dissolved, to be reconvened again only by the order of the Governor General, who will select a successor to Sir John.

Probable New Cabinet.

It is declared on the authority of a prominent French Canadian that the Cabinet will be reorganized by Sir John Thompson with the following changes:

Premier and Minister of Justice—Sir John Thompson.

Minister of Railways—Hon. J. A. Chapleau.

Minister of Public Works—G. A. Kirkpatrick.

President of the Council—W. B. Ives.

Leader of the Senate—Lieutenant-Governor Angers.

The politician said that the remaining portfolios would remain the same except that some French Canadian member would succeed Chapleau as Secretary of State, the Hon. J. Carling will probably retire from the Cabinet to make room for Meredith, the present leader of the opposition in the Ontario House. Sir Hector will be made Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec and Sir Charles Tupper will stay where he is. It is all "bosh," he declares, about Sir John Thompson refusing the Premiership.

THE PASTOR'S CRIME.

He Comforted the Dying Without License from the Presbytery.

PITTSBURG June 3.—The Reformed Presbyterian Synod has commenced the trial of the six suspended ministers who think members should have the right to participate in civil elections.

By a vote of 144 to 29, after a heated and angry discussion, it was resolved that the offenders be arrested for contempt until they purge themselves. The contempt consisted of preaching in churches of other denominations. The accused all appeared before the Synod and denied that they had willfully been in contempt. They considered that their suspension covered only Reformed Presbyterian pulpits.

The Rev. B. B. Milligan, one of the young recalcitrants, touched more than a few hearts when he admitted he had prayed with the sick, comforted the dying and buried the dead of his own flock, but he did not do so in consempt of the Pittsburg Presbytery.

The Rev. A. W. McClurkin of New Alexandria was the first called for trial. He confused his accusers by pointing out that he had been convicted for what others did, on false evidence, without an opportunity to defend himself, and by a proceeding irregular and illegal. This so impressed the Synod that it was decided to give him a separate trial after the other five have been disposed of.

Pinter Committed for Trial.

LONDON, June 3.—Edward Pinter, alias "Sheeny Al," who is charged with attempting to obtain $40,000 from Edward Streeter, the Bond street jeweler, by means of the philosopher's stone game, was again under examination at the Marlborough Street Police Court. One witness was produced who proved that the prisoner had in April last purchased from him twelve ounces of potters brown gold. The prisoner was then formally committed for trial.

Senators Gathering Statistics.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Senator Jones of Nevada arrived in town yesterday, and joined Senators Hiscock and Carlisle. These three are members of the Senate Committee on Tariff. They prepared a formula for collecting statistics of the wages paid employes in all industries. Another meeting will be held this afternoon.

FIVE MEN KILLED.

Terrible Results from a Boiler Explosion in a Saw Mill.

BOWLING GREEN, Va., June 3.—A frightful boiler explosion, resulting in the death of five men and the wounding of eight others, all dangerously, occurred in J. L. Jordan's saw mill near this place. The killed are: William Seef, Lawrence Hayes, William Jayes, John Fry, colored, and Weseam Catlett.

Seven other colored men and one white man were rescued alive, but their injuries are so serious that they all may die.

The cause of the explosion, which completely wrecked the building, has not yet been definitely determined.

WILL FIGHT THE STANDARD.

Oil Producers Holding a Secret Convention at Bradford.

BRADFORD, Pa., June 3.—Delegates from every producers' protective association assembly in the oil region are holding a secret convention here.

The purpose of the meeting is to organize a company to compete with the Standard Oil Company in producing, refining and marketing petroleum.

Pipe lines will be built throughout the producing regions and the seaboard, and a number of large refineries will be erected. Only the outline of the scheme is made public. The details are promised when all plans have been perfected.

BREAKS THE RECORD.

Tristan Beats Tenny and Wins the Rich Metropolitan Handicap.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The race for the rich Metropolitan Handicap at Morris Park was one of the grandest struggles ever seen on the turf.

The mighty Tenny was beaten, though he showed himself worthy of the people's confidence. He carried 129 pounds to Tristan's 114, and was beaten only a little over half a length in 1:31 1-2, a second and a quarter faster than the previous best on record.

New York Masons in Session.

NEW YORK, June 3.—There are 721 lodges represented in the 110th annual communication of the Grand Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons now in session at Masonic Hall, Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue. In delivering his annual address, Grand Master Vrooman paid a high tribute to the memory of the fraternal dead of the past year. He also congratulated the fraternity upon the prosperity, peace and harmony which prevailed among the craft. All the lodges in the State were reported in a flourishing condition.

Disposing of Infants.

DANBURY, Conn., June 3.—The body of a prematurely born infant, which was found in the yard of a tenement house here yesterday, led to the belief that a child murder had occurred. An investigation was instituted, and it was ascertained that the mother was Mary Cogswell, who lived with George Corsa, a well-known young man. It was also learned that Corsa had previously secretly buried at least one infant. Corsa has disappeared.

Two College Students Drowned.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 3.—Walter Pfeifer, of Williamsport, N. J., and Willard P. Smith, of Hallsville, N. Y., freshmen in Rutgers' College, were drowned last evening while bathing in the canal. It is supposed that one of the young men was seized with cramps and that his companion went to his assistance and tried to save him, when they were both drowned.

ENGLAND'S SCANDAL

The Third Day of the Famous Baccarat Trial.

UNPLEASANT FACTS DEVELOPED.

The Prince of Wales Testifies that He Saw No Crooked Play.

The Case Against Cumming Believed to be Settled—A Woman's Revenge Said to be at the Bottom of the Exposure—A Report that the Plaintiff Will Commit Suicide if Defeated.

LONDON, June 3.—The Baccarat case has thus far developed the following facts: That Gordon Cumming signed a document for the purpose of securing himself against the charge being publicly made known, and that he did not demand to be confronted with his accusers, but signed the damaging document and left the house next morning, as he was told to do by Gen. Williams and Lord Coventry. This conduct he explains by saying that at the time he had lost his head.

That the Prince of Wales did not ask him to sign the paper, nor was it even mentioned in the course of the interview which he had with the Prince.

That Lord Coventry and Gen. Owen Williams, who advised him to sign, were very old friends, and he had no reason to doubt that they believed him to be guilty. That he took no steps to assert his innocence until the scandal leaked out, and then because he was justified in the thought that the affair would be taken up by his club, his regiment and his friends. So the case stands to-day, the evidence given by the Prince of Wales not materially affecting the main issue.

The Prince in the Box.

The Prince of Wales went into the box looking very much annoyed. He spoke with a German accent, showing his embarrassment. He continually wiped his bald head with his left hand and crossed one leg over the other. His testimony showed plainly that he still has a fellow feeling for his old friend Cumming.

Gossip About the Trial.

The Prince of Wales made a decidedly favorable impression as a witness. His testimony was given with a frankness that seemed to command the belief of all present, at the same time the Prince was unable to conceal that he felt himself in an unpleasant position. His popularity was shown by the spontaneous respect which everybody displayed.

The general talk in clubs and lobbies is that the testimony of the Prince has settled the case against Cumming. His avowal that he had cut Sir William since last September is accepted as stronger evidence of the Prince's belief in Cumming's guilt than if he had plainly expressed his conviction of such guilt. In matters of the kind the Prince is known to be merciless.

Clubmen generally scout the story that a woman's revenge was at the bottom of the Cumming exposure. One of the leading men of the Marlborough—the Prince of Wales' own—said last night that it was a story impossible to keep, and that it was well for society and the army it could not be kept. The Prince, he said, had erred only in attempting to keep the matter secret through his sympathy for Cumming.

One of the rumors floating about is that Cumming had doubly offended the Prince by his free remarks regarding the Prince and Lady Brooke, and that had Cumming kept his tongue still as to the Prince and the lady, he would have had influence enough behind him to save him from the present disgrace.

PARNELL ACCUSED.

He is Charged by a Newspaper With Misapplying Funds.

DUBLIN, June 3.—A sensation has been sprung by an article in the National Press, accusing Mr. Parnell of misapplying certain funds.

The paper announces its intention of reiterating the charge in order to compel Parnell to take legal proceedings against the publishers, and the editor says: "Our secretary waits in his office to receive service of a writ from Mr. Parnell."

Davitt's Paper a Failure.

LONDON, June 3.—It appears that Michael Davitt's paper, the Labor World, which he had proudly hoped to make the organ of British labor and the champion of English-speaking workingmen, has been a complete failure financially. The paper had $50,000 behind it, and nearly $45,000 having been exhausted, without any apparent prospect of success, the company concluded to give up the struggle and it has ceased publication. It is said that the fact is unknown to Davitt, who is now abroad.

A Difficult Problem Solved.

LONDON, June 3.—Gen. Stewart Stanley of South California announces that he has discovered the law of variation of the maximum tension of aqueous vapor, a principle hitherto regarded as impossible of discovery. It would thus appear that after a hundred years of research, science has finally solved one of the most difficult problems of terrestial physics, and that we can now legislate for the control of the atmosphere and of the steam engine.

Queen Victoria Afraid of the Grip.

LONDON, June 3.—A number of the domestics attached to the Queen's household at Balmoral are ill with influenza. The malady is of an acute type. Her Majesty is said to be fearful of contracting the disease and is ordering the utmost precautions to be observed.

Deficit in the Peter's Pence Account.

ROME, June 3.—A committee of Cardinals is said to have discovered a deficit of ten millions of francs in the Peter's Pence account.

CALL FOR BONDS.

Interest on the Four and One-Half Per Cents Will Cease September 2.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Secretary Foster has issued a circular that the principal and accrued interest of such of the four and one-half per cent. bonds issued under the acts of July 14, 1870, and Jan. 20, 1871, as may be outstanding on the 2d day of Sept., 1891, will be paid at the Treasury of the United States in the city of Washington on that day, and that the interest on the said bonds will then cease.

Suggestions have been made on the point of the holders of some of these bonds of a desire to extend the payment thereof at the option of the United States at the rate of 1 or 1 1-2 per cent per annum, and the Secretary of the Treasury will hereafter consider whether the acceptance of such offers or any of them will be profitable to the government, and in that event reserves the right to except such bonds from his call.

It is officially stated that the suggestion as to the extension of the 4 1-2 per cent. bonds was added to the call made by Secretary Foster more as a matter of prudence than necessity. The Treasury Department, it is stated by the same authority, is abundantly able to pay all of the $51,000,000 4 1-2 per cent. bonds outstanding, but in view of the uncertainty of the public receipts and expenditures, it is judged better to take the side of safety.

One of the purposes, it is stated, of affording an opportunity for offers in regard to an extension of the 4 1-2 per cent. bonds is the desire to avoid the enforced retirement of a part or all of the National bank circulation secured by these bonds, amounting to $23,000,000.

ONE HOUR IN A TRANCE.

Miss Scott's Strange Experience When Going to Her Mother's Funeral.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 3.—A special dispatch from Schoharie relates the case of Miss Scott going into a trance for 40 minutes. She was about to leave for Preston Hollow, 18 miles distant, to attend the funeral of her mother, when she became unconscious and could not be aroused for nearly an hour.

When she regained her senses she related to her attendants all the details of her mother's funeral, describing the dress in which the body was clothed, the flowers held in her hand, also a peculiar spot or indentation on her lips, which had not occurred until after death. Miss Scott had been in feeble health for some time and had not seen her mother for some weeks.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Henry Taylor was convicted at Boston of making counterfeit postage stamps.

Rochester, N. Y., blacksmiths are on strike because they were told to leave the union.

The Massachusetts House passed the bill to repeal the bar law which requires that a drinker must be seated.

A statue of Leonard Calvert, the first Governor of Maryland, was unveiled at St. Mary's City, Md., at 1 p. m., to-day.

Secretary Tracy has ordered the North Atlantic Squadron to rendezvous at Portsmouth, N. H., on the Fourth of July.

Aged Albert Kidder of Chicago has been mulcted in $25 for shaking a small boy who whistled "Where Did You Get That Hat?"

Trouble between the builders and bricklayers of Boston is brewing over a question of three cents more an hour for front work.

The Czar has returned to St. Petersburg from Moscow. The Czarina and the members of the imperial family will visit the Crimea.

The Grand Jury of McDowell county, West Virginia, after an investigation, says the reports of ill-treatment of Hungarian or other laborers on the Norfolk & Western railroad extension were wholly unfounded.

All the stonecutters employed by the leading contractors at Scranton, Pa., have gone on strike on account of the refusal of the contractors to accede a nine-hour day, notice for which was given seven months ago.

C. W. Harris, a guest at the Brower House, New York city, committed suicide some time during the night by cutting his throat with a pocket knife. Harris was 60 years old and a resident of Hartford, Conn.

A call will soon be issued at Worcester, Mass., for the organization of a new American Society of Pedagogy. The object is the association of all those who are scientifically studying education and its underlying principles. The organization of the association will take place at Saratoga or some central spot in the early summer.

EACH DAY'S RECORD.

The last issue of THE PRESS contained 18 columns of live advertising. The last issue of the "news" had 12 columns, mostly dead.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—What's the news? Peck is selling better goods than ever, and at prices the same.

—The Unions of Grant avenue will play the Hope chapel base-ball club Saturday afternoon at 3:45.

—A devotional meeting will be held in the rooms of the Women's Christian Temperance Union to-morrow afternoon at 3:30.

—Fire Sunday night destroyed a portion of Billian's block at Bound Brook. The burned buildings included Billian's saloon.

—When passing N. H. Guttman's cigar store on West Second street, just drop in and call for a "Toast" cigar. They are fine smoking.

—The mercury climbed higher yesterday than on any previous day this year, and the heat and humidity are to-day still holding their own.

—An examination of candidates for State scholarships, for Union county, will be held at the Court House, Elizabeth, Saturday morning, beginning at nine o'clock.

—The Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association will meet at the residence of President W. D. Murray, 110 Central avenue, to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock.

—The American Economist, the bulletin of the Tariff League of New York, copies in full, in its current issue, E. P. Williams's recent letter to this paper, on the tin-plate question.

—The Pierson Hardware Company are closing out their entire stock of tools, stoves, granite ware, screen doors, and window screens, at a reduction of from 25 to 50 per cent., previous to getting in a new stock.

—Complaint is made that certain parties are in the habit of shooting rabbits and song birds in the vicinity of Hotel Netherwood. The guilty ones need not be surprised if they are brought before the courts, when sufficient evidence is secured.

—A cool and inviting scene awaits the public at 59 North avenue, where, to-morrow and Friday, afternoon and evening, the Whatsoever Circle of King's Daughters will serve luscious strawberries and delicious ice-cream. The festival will be a very pleasant event for those who go.

—Sixty fish, of the black bass, pickerel and perch variety, weighing over seventy-five pounds altogether, was the high catch at Lake Hopatcong, June 1, by ex-Postmaster W. L. Force and Jack Simpson of Fanwood. The largest was a four and a half-pound small-mouth black bass.

—Subscription books are now in the hands of the committee arranging for the celebration of Emancipation Day, and subscriptions are being received by the members of the committee. In giving freely and liberally to this fund the citizens will be helping along a worthy cause, and will aid in the establishment of an annual festival day which will yearly be of great advantage to the city.

Miss Taylor Was the Sleeping Beauty.

The parlors and lecture room of the First Baptist church were taxed to their utmost capacity, to hold the large number of people who assembled there last evening, the occasion being tableaux entertainment prepared by that wide-awake organization, the Young Ladies' Missionary Society.

Two illustrated poems were remarkably well rendered.

The first was Tennyson's Day Dream," and the principal characters were:

Martin I. Cooley.....the King
Mrs. E. J. Waring.....the Queen
Miss May Taylor.....the Sleeping Beauty
L. H. Biglow, Jr.....the Prince

Besides these were the maids of honor—Miss Emma Case and the Misses May Clawson, Needham, Woodland, Smalley, and others, with their escorts, composing the court.

The second poem, "The Three Links", was loudly applauded and encored. The principal parts were taken by:

Geo. H. Batchelor and Mrs. Harold Serrell, as father and mother, with Miss Grace Yerkes as the daughter, Arthur Serrell as the Indian, and the young ladies, with their male escorts, as settlers.

During the intermission Mrs. Martin I. Cooley sang one of her beautiful solos in her usual pleasing manner, and Raymond McGee gave a cornet solo, which was well received.

The serving of strawberries and ice-cream filled up the rest of the programme, and when the young people retired to their homes it was the opinion of all that the entertainment was the most successful one, financially and socially, ever given by the mission band.

Women Who Aid in Hospital Work.

At the recent annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary Board of the Muhlenberg Hospital, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. M. E. Edgerton.
Vice President—Mrs. Rowland Cox.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. M. D. Tomlinson.
Treasurer—Mrs. Samuel Huntington.
Auditors—Mrs. W. E. Lowe, Miss Mary Tweedy.

A HORSE STOPS A TRAIN.

AND BLOCKADES TRAFFIC TWO HOURS ON THE JERSEY CENTRAL.

Homesick to Get Back to Its Former Master's Stable. It Made the Mistake of Taking to the Railway Tracks in Its Runaway Career, and Was Torn to Pieces by the Locomotive Which It Disabled.

Traffic over the Jersey Central railway was considerably delayed last night by the killing of a runaway horse.

The horse was one owned by a Mr. Cook of Washingtonville, who paid $200 for the animal only day before yesterday. Last evening Mr. Cook drove to Scotch Plains, and while there the horse got homesick and started off by itself in the direction of its former master's stables in Bound Brook.

After an exciting run through the Plainfield streets, the horse climbed the railroad embankment at the Grant avenue station and took to the track. A freight train struck it and threw its heavy carcass on the main eastbound track.

The train that crashed into it was the Blue Imperial vestibuled lightning express from Baltimore and Washington, due here at 8:10, and drawn by locomotive 373. The horse was of course torn to pieces, and with disastrous effect to the engine. The fragments became tangled up with the machinery, and the works were partly clogged up. Besides this, the cowcatcher was knocked out of shape, and its heavy bars of iron were bent so that they dragged continually over the road bed, threatening to throw the engine from the track.

Engineer Clapp says that his train was going at a speed of 60 miles an hour, and that he could not possibly, with safety and comfort to the passengers, stop it any sooner than he did, which was midway between Madison and Park avenues.

Two hours were spent by the trainmen in tinkering away at the damaged engine, and meanwhile the 8:31 and 9:28 passenger trains and a number of freights were stalled on the track behind it. Finally the locomotive was patched up so that it could proceed nearer to the North avenue station, and the 8:31 then passed it by a switch and side track which hitherto had been blocked. By orders received from Jersey City the Blue Imperial cars were detached from the disabled locomotive and attached to the rear of the 8:31 way train, which left Plainfield, with its unusually heavy burden, at 10:15. The 9:28 followed five minutes later.

A part of the Blue Imperial train was a special Ohio and Mississippi Railroad car, containing the president, treasurer, secretary and other officials of the Oregon Central Railroad Company.

The damaged locomotive was the same that killed Liebe and Cannon at Dunellen recently. When it was finally taken away from the track it blocked up so long it left its shattered cowcatcher behind.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

J. D. Spicer of this city has rented a cottage on Eighth avenue, Belmar.

The Shakespeare Club met last evening at the residence of Miss Lydia Colton, Grove street.

Ex-Judge John Ulrich, now of Westfield, has taken the Terry cottage on Sixth avenue, Belmar.

Dr. Probasco reached home at five o'clock last evening. His return trip from Europe was by the steamship "Maasdam".

Henry S. McGee of North Plainfield has been elected a member of the board of managers of the New York Produce Exchange.

At the residence of the bride's parents, in this city, last evening, George Radford and Miss Kate Cose were united in marriage by the Rev. Cornelius Schenck.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Honeyman, of North Plainfield, returned from Detroit last evening. They had a delightful trip, but are glad to get back to New Jersey's crescent city.

Mrs. George Lissignolo, of "Sans Souci Villa", East Front street, will give an informal luncheon to a circle of friends, ladies, at one o'clock to-morrow afternoon, in honor of her guest, Mrs. Ruttmann.

T. S. Dolittle, D. D., LL. D., one of the most scholarly and best liked professors at Rutgers College and the Theological Semitary at New Brunswick, will occupy the pulpit of Trinity Reformed church next Sunday.

The Rev. Cornelius Schenck left town to-day to attend as a delegate the session of the General Synod of the Reformed church at Asbury Park. The session will begin this afternoon, and will continue for one week.

The following are some of the counsel who will appear in the Job Male will case: Ex-Gov. Bedle, ex-Chancellor Runyon, Foster V oorhees, Craig A. Marsh, Nelson Runyon, Charles A. Reed, William M. Stillman and Judge Daly.

W. M. Alberti, formerly of this city, and Secretary of the Seaside Assembly, is, with his wife, Mme. Alberti, Dean of the Delsarte Department of the Assembly, at Avon-by-the-Sea, arranging their pretty cottage on Sylvan Lake for their occupancy.

The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes read an address "Our Dead Heroes" before the East New Jersey Baptist Association at the second day's session of the semi-centennial jubilee in Jersey City to-day. The Rev. J. K. Folwell of Westfield preached the annual doctrinal sermon.

The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes and the Rev. Asa Reed Dilts took prominent part in the half-century celebration of the East New Jersey Baptist Association at Jersey City yesterday. Dr. Yerkes was appointed a member of the standing committee on obituaries, and Mr. Dilts on the committee on corresponding bodies.

THAT UNSIGNED WILL.

It Devises Much Property to the Public Library, But Nothing to the Unitarian Church or the Y. M. C. A.

At Trenton, yesterday, before the Prerogative Court of New Jersey, the effort was begun to have admitted to probate the nuncupative will of the late Job Male, ex-Mayor of this city. The Court ordered that testimony in the case be taken before Master in Chancery Herbert W. Knight, at Newark, Friday of next week.

The following certificate, filed with the Court, sets forth just what are the provisions of the will that Craig A. Marsh, in the interests of its beneficiaries, is fighting so hard to sustain. It is herewith made known to the public for the first time, through the columns of THE PRESS.

We, the subscribers, George W. Endicott, M. D., Thomas S. Davis, M. D., and Augustus C. Baldwin, all of the City of Plainfield, County of Union and State of New Jersey, do hereby certify, that on the twenty-ninth day of January, eighteen hundred and ninety-one, at about the hour of ten o'clock p. m., and about one hour preceding his death, Job Male, then of said City of Plainfield, did pronounce his last will and testament in our presence, and at the time of so pronouncing the same, said Job Male did bid us, the subscribers who were then and there present, bear witness that such was his will; that said will was made in the time of the last sickness of said Job Male, and in his dwelling house in said City of Plainfield, in which he had been resident for several years next before the making of such will; that said will pronounced as aforesaid was as follows:

In reply to a question by Craig A. Marsh to him, he, Job Male, said that he wanted to make his will, and that he wanted the children of his brothers to share equally, and said but first I give the Park avenue house, No. 120 Park avenue, and Nos. 9, 11 and 13 College place, to the Plainfield Public Library. He said, I make John W. Harrison, Job Male and George W. Fenno, my executors. I give ten thousand dollars to Mary Ann Gleason, my half sister. I give my executors power to sell real estate, but not before five years after my death. I give the ornaments and bric-a-brac known as the Schoonmaker Collection, to the Plainfield Public Library. I give this house and lot to Job Male, but Mrs. Stout is to have it for her home, without charge, as long as she lives; after her death I give it to Job Male. I give the house in which Mrs. Fenno lives, No. 133 Broadway, to her. What is left after the gifts to the Public Library, to Mary Ann Gleason and Mrs. Stout, I want equally divided among the children of my five brothers, Simon, John, William, James and Ambrose.

We further certify that at the time of pronouncing his said last will and testament said Job Male was of sound and disposing mind and memory, and that we were present continuously from that time until he died.

In testimony whereof we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals this fourth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

Signed,
GEO. W. ENDICOTT, M. D.,
THOMAS S. DAVIS, M. D.,
A. C. BALDWIN.

It is a good will, and it would be most unfortunate if it should not be admitted to probate. The man who dictated it was surely as sound as any, and more capable than many. Take for instance the provision about the sale of his large real estate holdings in Plainfield. The lawyer at the bedside suggested "one year", then "two years", then "three years", as the limit of time before selling any of the property. The old man shook his head at each suggestion, and then answered, "make it five years". He knew better than anyone else the effect on the market if so much real estate was offered for sale too soon. Then, also, he devised that the residue of his estate be equally divided among the children of his five dead brothers, and he named them all.

Women's Meetings at the German Church.

The annual general meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church, for the receiving of reports, and the election of officers, will be held to-morrow evening, at 8 o'clock, in the Sunday-school room of the church. The annual celebration of the organization of the society, in connection with an entertainment, will be held Thursday evening, June 11, at 8 o'clock.

All members of the society are sincerely and cordially invited to attend both meetings.

His Arm Torn by a Dog's Teeth.

Tunis Hewitt, an eleven-year-old lad living at 80 East Third street, was walking along in front of Weber's butcher shop near his home, last evening, when Weber's big Newfoundland dog sprang upon him, knocked him down, and sunk its teeth into the muscles of his arm. The wound, which was an ugly one, was dressed by Dr. Paul. The dog has been kept chained up most of the time, but was released for a run on the street yesterday afternoon.

A New Market Man Gets a Prize.

Printers' Ink, published at New York, announces in its issue of this week the award of 20 prizes to the writers of complimentary notices of that publication. Out of the 711 entries, only one advertising agent in the country carried off a prize, and that falls to New Jersey, into the hands of Stanley Day, publisher of The Advertisers' Guide, New Market.

The City Council Again Adjourns.

The Plainfield Common Council did nothing at last night's meeting but adjourn to Friday evening. The vote for adjournment was the usual 6 to 5. Councilman Ginna said it was perfect boy's play to adjourn so much, and wanted to know when the Councilmen were going to act like sensible business men. Councilman Hetfield retorted that he and his associates did n't intend to do anything with the proposed water-works and sewerage contract, which was the matter to have been considered, until everything was in proper shape, and adjournment was rendered necessary because the city's counsel had found that the proposed ordinance needed further revision. It would be made all right and ready for action in the interim.

Exhibiting the New Baptist Organ.

The new Midmer organ of the First Baptist church will be exhibited for the first time next Tuesday evening, June 9, when Dr. S. N. Penfield, the celebrated organist of the Broadway (New York) Tabernacle, will give a recital. He will be assisted by Wm. E. MacClymont of this city.

To Make Good Boyer's Losses.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 3.—One hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars have been placed on deposit in several banks by the sureties of State Treasurer Boyer, in order to make good the losses by the State in the Delamater and Jamison failures.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for six weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am nearly cured, and yet it seems too good to be true. Have no doubt but that much of the sleeplessness people complain of is caused by indigestion.

A good shoe is like a good friend—it will not disappoint you when you call upon it for real service. You know a good friend by trying him, and that's the way you can test a shoe; but the trouble in the case of the shoe is that, when you've tried it, you must keep it, whether it's good or not. You won't complain about having to keep our shoes, because we know what they are when we sell them, and what we know we let you know before you buy. There is nothing in the market which will give you a better return for your money than our $3 00 Shoe.

WATER-WORKS AND SEWERAGE

WHAT J. M. LOW & CO. PROPOSE TO DO FOR PLAINFIELD.

Fire Hydrants that Will Throw a Stream Over Any Building, Without an Engine's Aid—Water Mains and Sewers that Will Be Perfect in Every Detail—Nothing But the Best, Is the Promise of the Company, and They Will Forfeit $25,000 If They Don't Keep Their Word.

The proposition of J. M. Low & Co., of Kingston, N. Y., to construct and operate a system of water-works and sewerage in Plainfield, is as yet not at all understood by the public. The details of the plan are to-day first made known to the people, and, as usual, through the columns of THE PRESS exclusively. The water committee of the Common Council, in their faithfulness to the city's interests, have insisted that the proposed ordinance granting the company the asked-for franchise shall be ironclad in its requirements, and have secured from the company every possible concession and advantage. In its perfected shape the ordinance will, they believe, provide for the best service that can be procured, and at the lowest price to patrons that can honestly, safely and trustworthily be guaranteed, if the high standard of service required is to be maintained. From the terms of the proposed franchise THE PRESS has condensed the following:

WATER-WORKS.

The water-works are to consist of a pumping station situated in or near Plainfield, a two-million-gallon storage reservoir situated on the range of hills north of the borough of North Plainfield, or, if the reservoir be deemed unnecessary, a stand-pipe of large capacity, and a system of cast-iron mains, pipes and double-nozzled hydrants throughout the city.

The water supply is to be obtained from a subterranean source, underlying the valley of Green brook, or from such other source as the city may direct.

The bottom of the reservoir, if one be built, is to be 200 feet above the highway at the corner of Park avenue and Front street. A system of driven wells, with a two-million-gallon capacity, will be used.

The pumping station will contain two compound, condensing, duplex pumping engines, with a capacity of 5,000,000 gallons per day.

The surface of the water in the stand-pipe or distributing reservoir will be about 200 feet above the level of the streets.

The pumping station is to be a very neat and durable building, nicely finished in every department. The machinery, pipes, boilers, etc., are to be of the very best workmanship.

The proposed reservoir is to be constantly clear of all soil and vegetable matter, is to be lined with concrete or similar substance, its banks are to be ten feet thick at the top, sloping inwardly and outwardly to the bottom at angles greater than 45 degrees. The reservoir will be fenced in.

A brick and stone gate house will be erected at the reservoir's outlet.

All pipes will be laid four feet and a half underground, with good grades. The work of laying the pipes must in every particular be carefully and thoroughly done. All work must be solid and thorough.

During the laying of pipes excavated streets shall as far as possible be kept open for traffic.

All roadbeds must be restored to a condition as good as their original one, when the work of laying pipes is completed.

The company, in return for its franchise, will agree to furnish the city of Plainfield at all times with an ample supply of pure and wholesome water for drinking, domestic, fire extinguishing and manufacturing purposes.

The capacity of the system shall enable fire streams to be thrown simultaneously from six hydrants in the business part of the city, through 50 feet of hose and a one-inch nozzle, to a height of 100 feet, or a horizontal distance corresponding therewith. This without the aid of fire-engines!

The city is to have the use of hydrants at a yearly rental of $25 apiece. There are to be 12 hydrants for each mile of pipe laid. Should any hydrant get out of effective working order, the company must pay the city $5 per week during its disability.

The city may purchase the works, if it so desire, at the end of ten years after completion, or at the end of any subsequent ten years, the actual value of the works at the time of purchase to be determined by arbitration. two arbitrators to be chosen by the city, two by the company, and a fifth, if necessary, by those four.

Provided the city do not purchase the works, the franchise and contract shall stand 25 years.

The company agrees to indemnify the city against any damage that may be adjudged to have arisen from the negligence of the company in the construction of the works.

The construction of the works is to be begun within ten days from the granting of the franchise, and is to be completed within twelve months, if not enjoined or restricted by legal proceedings "or malicious interference".

The company is to give a bond of $25,000 to the city, as security for a forfeiture fund.

For the failure of the company to supply pure and wholesome water as agreed, the company is to forfeit $5,000; for failure to provide the specified head of water for fire protection, $1,000; for failure to supply hydrants according to the terms of agreement, $1,000; for failure to repair any hydrant after being out of working order more than five weeks after written notice has been given to the company, $1,000; for failure to leave the streets in as good condition, or as near as may be, as before disturbing the same, $2,000; for failure to begin work within the specified time, unless restricted by legal proceedings, $3,000; for failure to complete the work within the time agreed on, $3,000; for failure to maintain the system according to the terms of the agreement, $3,000; for failure to supply material according to the terms of the agreement, $3,000.

SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

The plan or system proposed, is what is known as the "separate" system, which provides for carrying house drainage or sewage only, in contradistinction to the "combined" system, which, at greatly increased original cost, is arranged to carry both sewage and storm water.

The advantages of the "separate" system are:

1. Economy in construction and maintenance.

2. They are automatically self-cleansing.

3. They are more perfectly adapted to the removal of domestic filth than any other system, and

4. They perform this work without escape of foul air, usually called, "sewer gas", into the streets, or the backsetting of such gases into the dwelling through house connections.

A. 1. Study of the topography of the city and of the levels taken and noted upon the map, demonstrate that a main trunk sewer should start at the intersection of Richmond street and Seventh street, six feet below the surface, with a grade of ten feet to the mile, pass through Seventh street to Franklin place, passing through Franklin place to Ninth street, through Ninth street to Central avenue, through Central avenue to Eighth street, through Eighth street to Plainfield avenue, through a twenty-inch sewer on Plainfield avenue to Front street, through a twenty-four-inch sewer on Front street to West End avenue, through West End avenue in embankment to the outlet sewage tanks at the Sewage Works.

A. 2. A main trunk sewer should start at the intersection of Richmond street and Front street, passing through Front street and discharging into the twenty-four-inch sewer at the intersection of Plainfield avenue and Front street.

This practically provides for the entire city of Plainfield west of Cedar brook.

The main and lateral sewer pipes are carefully arranged to provide for the maximum service that may be required of them, when the area drained shall be fully populated or built up, and also to provide for extensions.

The six-inch pipe has been adopted as the minimum size of sewer, and a single line of this sewer does not exceed one thousand feet in length.

House connections on six-inch lines are limited to five inches in diameter, as anything which will pass through a five-inch house pipe with its trap, will not stop or obstruct the six-inch pipe.

Automatic "flushing tanks" situated at the various sources of each drainage district, discharge once in twenty-four hours their entire contents of 100 to 140 gallons, into the dead end of the sewer pipe, in from 40 to 50 seconds, cleansing the pipes from all accumulated sediment.

The sewage passes through sewage tanks at the sewage works [on waste land in the outskirts of the city], where it is treated with chemicals, the solid ingredients are precipitated and drawn off, while the liquid part is clarified and allowed to filter through and into the earth.

Manholes are to be placed at all street intersections.

In wet districts the line of pipe will be thoroughly underdrained by tile pipes laid in the same trench with the sewer pipes.

Provisions for the purchase of the works by the city are made as in the proposed water-works contract, and as in that also the company indemnifies the city against damages.

The work of construction shall be begun within 60 days after the granting of the franchise, and completed and the works in operation within 18 months.

The following forfeitures are agreed to:

Six thousand dollars in case the work of constructing, ready for use, said system of sewerage in the principal streets of the city, is not completed according to the agreement within said period as aforesaid fixed for the completion thereof; $1,000 in case the company shall fail to lay pipes in other streets of the city than the principal ones according to the agreement when required so to do by the provisions in that behalf in the agreement; $1,000 in case of any failure of said company to furnish flushing tanks according to said agreement; $2,000 in case said company shall fail to lay the sewer pipes or any of them on a proper grade; $1,000 in case the company shall fail to cement their pipes or any of them properly; $1,000 in case of the failure of the company to furnish and provide proper manholes according to said agreement; $3,000 in case of the failure of the company to pay within ten days from the time of demand of, or establishment by law of the right to any damages caused by their neglect to any person or property; $5,000 in case of failure of the company to furnish or maintain proper, competent and adequate disposal of the sewage in accordance with the agreement; and $5,000 in case of the failure of the company in any other respect to maintain properly and adequately the system of sewerage provided for by said agreement, according to the agreement, the company to forfeit and pay to the city said respective sums as and for liquidated damages on the failure of the company in any way in the respect in which the sums are respectively named, and the same to be recoverable accordingly.

ALEXANDER D. BUTTON.

He Was Vastly Influential in Making New York State Democratic.

Alexander Drake Button, of whose death THE PRESS told yesterday, was for many years a prominent figure in political and newspaper circles. He retired from active life about twenty years ago, and for the past sixteen years had lived in Plainfield. He was born in Sherburne, Chenango county, N.Y., March 1, 1813, and early engaged in the manufacture of willow-ware at Watertown with James G. Lynde, then the Clerk of Jefferson county. When the factory burned, in December, 1852, Mr. Button became connected with the Rome Sentinel, and afterwards took part in the business management of the Albany Argus at the time when the late Daniel Manning was a reporter on the paper. He was appointed Port Warden of New York by Gov. Hoffman, and held the office from March 30, 1870, to March 30, 1873. Thereafter he retired to Plainfield, and did not again enter the field of business or politics.

Mr. Button was at one time the confidential adviser of Tilden, and performed sundry confidential services for Seymour and other leaders. He made one journey to the South bearing a letter from Tilden to influential Democrats of that section, wherein he was described by the Sage of Gramercy Park as a person who had "done more towards making New York State Democratic than any other one man". Allen C. Beach was his political protege. Under the administrations of Presidents Pierce and Buchanan he was secret agent for the Federal Government at Sackett Harbor.

Mr. Button leaves three sons. His wife, Elizabeth, died two years ago. She was the daughter of the Rev. Benjamin Graves of Middletown, Conn., and the granddaughter of Roswell Graves, who was captured in the battle of Long Island and starved to death with other patriots in the old sugar-house prison which stood on the site of the present Register's office in City Hall Park.

During the investigation which led to the final overthrow of the Tweed regime in New York city Button was indefatigable in furnishing statistics showing the corruption of the "gang".

Mr. Button's three children are: Benjamin Button, of Waterloo, Iowa, Oscar P. Button, of Elizabeth, and Eugene L. Button, of New York city.

The "Open Season" Too Early.

The "open season" for black bass fishing began May 30, and on that day and since the disciples of old uncle Izaak Walton have jealously endeavored to allure the wily bass from his native element with varying success. In the streams and lakes in this vicinity, old fishermen report that the bass had an aversion to taking their baited hooks, and consequently the catches were small. At Lake Hopatcong there was quite a gathering of fishermen, who were, however, disappointed in many instances at the amount and size of their catch, although there were cases where the strings of large yellow perch and pickerel made the eyes of the disciples glisten with pride. The truth of the matter is, the 30th day of May is too early a date for the "open season" on black bass, as the fish have not, by that time, completed their labor of spawning, or, in many instances, even commenced. This is known to be a fact by actual observation, the roe in the black bass taken June 1 being found in perfect form in the fish, which would not have spawned in at least ten days from the time of capture. Still, as the law says May 30, so will the fish have to suffer and the pleasure of the angler in the future be lessened. A few years ago the "open season" in New Jersey began July 1, while in New York and Pennsylvania it was June 1. As the mountain would not come to Mohammed, that individual had to go to the former, and the law of New Jersey was changed to May 30. The great argument used at the time of the passage of the bill was the fact that Greenwood Lake lies partly in the State of New York and partly in the State of New Jersey. Consequently the Jersey angler had to wait a month longer than his New York cousin before he could catch the gamey bass. The law is a mistake, however, and all three States ought to change the "open season" to either June 15 or July 1. Re-stocking will not overcome the damage done by the catching of black bass before they are ready to spawn.

The City's Cases Before the Supreme Court.

By the Supreme Court of New Jersey, at Trenton, yesterday, the certiorari proceeding against the city by one Lewis questioning the constitutionality of the law under which the city granted a contract to a private corporation for the building of water-works, was set down for argument next Tuesday.

In the cases of the Plainfield gas company against the city, and because of the ordinance restricting the laying of pipes of E. R. Pope against the city, because of the granting a franchise to a street railway company; the taking of testimony was ordered.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed.—Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

MUST VACATE SANDY HOOK.

The Jersey Central Railroad Ordered Off the Reservation.

After Oct. 1 this year the Sandy Hook boats will no longer be permitted to land at the Hook, nor will the Central Railroad of New Jersey be permitted to operate its line of railroad there. The Government has decided that both the boats and the railroad must go, and they have been ordered off accordingly, the order to go into effect Oct. 1.

Some time ago, while one of the Central Railroad's trains was proceeding leisurely up the neck leading to the landing, a shot from a six-inch gun which the Government officers were testing sped across the track with a screech and buried itself in the adjoining bank. The engineer was badly frightened, and the passengers were given a shock. They petitioned the railroad company to have that sort of thing stopped. The railroad, in turn, petitioned the Government to exercise a restraining influence over its officers at the Hook in order to prevent accidents to the lives and property of its patrons.

Before the War Department had time to examine into the merits of the case another petition was received from the railroad company asking permission to extend its line from its present terminus at the steamboat landing clear to the end of the Hook. The granting of both these requests, the department readily foresaw, would drive its proving grounds off the Hook altogether. This the department was loth to permit, inasmuch as the Hook is the only proving grounds in America owned by the Government and for the further fact that demands upon its capacities are being constantly increased by the building of new gun carriages and the testing of new heavy ordnance.

For these reasons the authorities at Washington have not only declined to grant the Central Railroad's petition, but they have informed that corporation that it occupies its present position on a revocable license which must now be canceled. The company is therefore given to Oct. 1 to remove its track and cease its occupancy of the pier.

Lieut.-Col. Gillespie of the army told a reporter yesterday that the original application to build a line of railroad on Sandy Hook was made by the old Jersey Southern Railroad in 1865. The application was indorsed by President Lincoln, who added to the indorsement a few lines stating that the company must vacate its line when ordered to do so. This paper is still on file at Washington. Col. Gillespie said that while the revocation of the company's license was undoubtedly an outgrowth of its complaint, it would have been obliged to vacate within a year or so anyway, owing to the constantly-increasing demands upon the land at the Hook for experimental and proving purposes. He did not think it would be safe to run trains of land passengers there next year.

It is understood that the railroad company has already begun to make preparations for its impending ejection by increasing its facilities at Atlantic Highlands, where the Sandy Hook boats will land when the department's order goes into effect. The company already has a pier there, with a plenty of deep water, and connections by rail. Long Branch and Seabright will, after Oct. 1, be reached directly from that point, and the cheerless Hook will thenceforth be given over entirely to the Government's martial purposes.

Not only delicious for the palate, but an exceedingly health-giving beverage is Hires's Root Beer. It is the thirst quencher. Not intoxicating, and yet gently stimulating in its effects. Cheap enough for anybody.

I would respectfully announce that I am prepared to supply the Solution of Iodo-Chloride of Gold and Manganese, lately suggested by Drs. Shurly and Gibbes, for the treatment of Consumption.

Recent experiments seem to promise better results from the use of this remedy than have been attained by any other treatment, not excepting that of Dr. Koch. Absolute purity of material and careful manipulation are required for the successful preparation of the Solution which, after repeated trials, we have attained.

UNDER THE MICROSCOPE.

Inhabitants of a Drop of Water Described by a Red-Nosed Man.

"You asked me the other day why I entertained such a prejudice against water," said a gentleman with a toddy-blossom on the end of his nose to a Washington Star reporter. "If you will kindly gaze through this microscope I shall be able to explain without having recourse to wordy argument. I will take a drop of water from the tap here at the washstand. There! You observe I let it fall upon this little piece of glass. It is ready now for examination under the instrument, which I adjust to a high power. Let us see if, in swallowing this pure Potomac fluid which the people of Washington are obliged to consume, they do not imbibe very many extraordinary and uninviting creatures. Let us turn the reflector a little. Now there is a cheerful specimen right in the field of vision. Apply your eye to the microscope and drink him in, in imagination. Isn't he lovely?

"That, my dear sir, is a beast known scientifically as the 'bosmina longirostris.' The latter part of its name signifies long-beaked. Observe the coquettish pose of its hind leg. You drink lots of those fellows every day at meals.

"Let me move the glass a trifle, so as to bring into view another part of the drop. There are two rather unpleasant-looking fellows for you.

"That wormlike one, which you see squirming around in a transparent sac as if anxious to get out, is called an 'anguillua.' 'Cyclops' is the name of the other, which resembles a young six-legged baby somewhat, I think. It is young, too, being newly hatched; but it will grow much bigger, which is a comfort. You yourself consume ever so many such.

"But look here! Now that I have moved the glass a trifle the other way, I have brought into view still another part of the drop, in which you may see cavorting the 'cyclops quadricornut,' so-called because it is a one-eyed monster, with four horns and ten legs. Take a look at him.

"I won't bore you with any more just now, but I could show you more than two hundred species of microscopic creatures in the water, each of them with a scientific name of its own. I might mention, for example, the vorticella of formidable jaws; the clostorium, precisely the shape of a pair of cow's horns; several species of hydra, with waving tentacles; and the 'amphora gigas' in the shape of an ornamental letter O. There are no end of things which these creatures imitate in form. One looks like a fish, but is not. Another resembles a broom, still another a coal scoop, and so on ad infinitum.

"Now, it is all very well for persons who are not acquainted with these things to drink water, but a microscopist like myself ought to know better. And when you consider the disease germs, like those of typhoid, which are so apt to haunt this fluid, you cannot but realize the desirability of avoiding it as I do."

Not to Be Bluffed.

A merchant in Syracuse offered a young woman twenty yards of silk for a dress if she would saw half a cord of wood in front of his store. She borrowed a saw, spit on her hands, and went through that woodpile in just three hours, and the admiring crowd bought her a twelve-dollar hat to go with the dress.

FETTERED VOLUMES.

Libraries Wherein the Books Are Secured by Chains.

In Europe, long before the days of printing, books were fastened to shelves or desks in libraries and churches, to guard against their being stolen, and also to prevent one student gaining an unfair advantage over another by securing the loan of a book from a too amiable librarian.

The libraries of the English universities were chained until the latter part of the eighteenth century, when, on account of the inconvenience of using them, the chains were removed. It is recorded that at King's college a man was paid one pound and seven shillings, in 1777, for nine days' labor in taking the fetters off the college books. According to the Antiquarian, there are, however, a few chained libraries still remaining in England. The largest of these is at the cathedral church of Hereford, and is the one genuine survival of an old monastic library. It consists of about two thousand volumes, of which fifteen hundred are chained. There are five bookcases, and the remains of two others.

The catalogue, which is also chained, classifies the books, many of which are in manuscript, in eight divisions. Each chain is from three to four feet long, according to its position, so that every volume can be placed on the reading desk. In the center of these chains are swivels, which are useful in preventing their entanglement.

Hereford possesses the latest, as well as the oldest collection of chained books in the kingdom, the library of two hundred and eighty-five volumes, which was bequeathed to All Saints' church.

Some Important Advice to Our Readers, Particularly for Women.

You, lady reader, are nervous, weak, run down, worn out, exhausted.

You have tried physicians without avail, and used medicines without help.

And now you wonder why you have not been cured.

YOU HAVE NOT HAD THE RIGHT TREATMENT.

You have used the wrong medicine.

THE TROUBLE WITH YOU IS PROSTRATION OF NERVE POWER.

The symptoms all prove this, for you are extremely nervous, you feel weak and languid most of the time, wake as tired as when you go to bed, you lack ambition and energy, have strange faint feelings and trembling sensations, cry easily and at trifles, have lost some of your interest in society and friends, in fact, you feel dispirited, dragged out, and miserable generally. Often your head feels badly, sometimes you have backache, for nervous diseases is generally attended by other diseases peculiar to females. In Spring these symptoms are always worse, and more dangerous if neglected.

Do you have those symptoms?

If so you are suffering from nerve disease, nerve weakness, nerve exhaustion, and just so surely as you neglect yourself, just so surely will utter and complete nervous prostration follow.

EXHAUSTED.

What shall you do?

You have tried doctors and wrong medicines without number. Now take the remedy which will give you a new nerve—a nerve power, a nerve strength, a nerve vigor—Dr. Greene's Nervura, the greatest of all nerve and vital restoratives, the boon and friend of weak, nervous and suffering womankind.

If you suffer from these nervous complaints suffer no longer. Go to your druggist's and procure for $1 a bottle of this wonderful remedy, Dr. Greene's Nervura. You need not fear to use it, for it is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, and it will bring back strength to your nerves, freshness to your complexion, brightness to your eyes, the bloom of health to your cheeks, elasticity and spring to your step, and that happiness and enjoyment of life which you have missed so long.

A PRIVATE WORD TO WOMEN.

I have been a sufferer from nervous weakness, for seven or eight years. I used Dr. Greene's Nervura. It acted like magic. Why do women suffer when Dr. Greene's Nervura will surely cure them? I think it is splendid.

F.E.C. KIDNEY BLOOD & LIVER REMEDY $1.00 A BOTTLE, SIX FOR $5. TRY IT TO-DAY

DELICATE women need not be told how much they would give to get and stay well. If their blood is free from the poisonous ferments of the Kidneys and Liver, they will never know what "weakness" is. The blood is the source and sustainer of health; it cannot be kept pure except the Kidneys and Liver do their work naturally, and to aid them nothing equals the herbal, guaranteed

THE "FOR" BALLOTS

Decision of the Supreme Court of Connecticut.

POLITICS STIRRED UP AGAIN.

The Long-Vexed Gubernatorial Question May Now be Settled.

Republicans Claim that the Decision Throws the Election Into the House of Representatives—The Democrats Still Maintain that the Disputed Ballots Are Illegal—Judge Morris's Views.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 4.—Connecticut politics has been stirred up again. The Republicans are pleased, but the Democrats do not give up the ship. The hubbub is over the decision rendered by the Supreme Court of the State in the Branford election case, in which the highly important question regarding the "for" ballot votes were also passed upon. The Court says: "Upon the facts in the case we hold that the ballots in question were not illegal and void because of the use of the word 'for.'"

The court decides on other grounds than on the question of the legality or illegality of the "for" ballots, but with regard to those ballots says that under other circumstances the "for" ballots might be legal.

A Legal Political Party.

The court decides another important matter, viz.: "What is a legal political party?" The so-called Citizen's party issued the "for" ballots in dispute. This party was organized like third parties are generally formed. The "for" ballots, the court says, are legal under some circumstances and illegal under others. The case before the court is not decided on the question of "for" ballots. The legal existence of a citizen's party is defined by the court as follows: "The element of time is not essential to the formation of a legal party. It may spring into existence from the exigencies of a particular election, and with no intention of continuing after the exigency has passed. To hold the contrary would be to strike a blow at that independence in political action upon which the good government of a locality may depend.

The decision is regarded by the Republican leaders as a moral victory and another important step toward a settlement of the long-vexed gubernatorial question in favor of the Republicans. The Democratic leaders still maintain, however, that dispite this ruling the "for" ballots are legal. The great bulwark upon which they rely for victory is unshaken, viz., their position that the Republicans cannot go behind the face of the returns.

The Republicans maintain that the court's decision throws the election into the Republican House of Representatives.

What Judge Morris Says.

Judge Morris, the Democratic claimant, maintains that his party did not rely upon the question of the legality or illegality or the returns, and that inasmuch as the returns showed a clear majority for the Democratic candidate they should decide the question.

THE BACCARAT CASE.

It Looks as if the Odds Were Against Cumming.

LONDON, June 4.—One would imagine that after three days of listening to what appears to be intensely interesting testimony in regard to the baccarat scandal the public would begin to tire of it on the fourth day. Such, however is not the case.

The same crowd of fashionable people, ladies still predomination, was found inside the court, and the lunch baskets and pocket flasks were out in stronger force than ever. Fresh-cut flowers formed part of nearly every lady's costume, and their odors, mixed with the artificial perfume on the handkerchiefs of the belle dames present, gave fragrance to the warm court room.

It is too early to sum up the effect of the testimony already taken upon the mind of the British matron, who, as these good ladies will admit, has a great deal to do in molding public opinion. It is safe to say, however, that both the plaintiff in this libel suit, Sir William Gordon-Cumming, and the defendants, Mr. and Mrs. Lycett Green, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson and Mr. Berkeley Levett, to say nothing of the Prince of Wales, have not shown up in very bright colors. Even the Prince of Wales's best friends are said to admit unwillingly that the testimony he gave was far from being of a nature to reflect credit upon the future King of England and Emperor of India.

At this stage of the proceedings it is safe to say that Cumming will lose the case.

Monument to Confederate Soldiers.

JACKSON, Miss., June 4.—The unveiling of the monument to the Confederate dead of Mississippi drew 25,000 people to this city. It was a big day for the ex-Confederates, their wives and sons and daughters. Not only were they here from every hill and dale in Mississippi, but every Southern State had its representation, some small and others large. Nor was the South alone participating in the jubilation of the day, for several Eastern and Western States were represented.

Their Bodies Found Together.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 4.—The bodies of Walter Pfeifer of Williamsport, Pa., and W. R. Smith of Kallsville, N. Y., who were drowned while swimming in the canal here, were found close to each other. Both men were Freshmen in Rutgers College.

Superintendent of Immigration.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The question of filling the new office of Superintendent of Immigration, which has been hanging fire ever since Congress adjourned, will likely be determined this week by the appointment of ex-Congressman William D. Owen, of Logansport, Ind.

A MILLION MISSING.

Interesting Developments in Philadelphia's City Treasury Investigation.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—There were a number of interesting developments in the city treasury investigation during the day. A report was circulated that Bardsley's mind is affected and it attracted considerable attention. Dr. Butcher, the prison physician, who has charge of the ex-city treasurer, has refused, however, to confirm it, and the prevailing impression is that the rumor has been started by Bardsley's friends for effect.

James Dobson, who, together with his brother, is on Bardsley's bond to the extent of $120,000, has had an interview with the prisoner, and has received from him the assurance that the missing million of money was deposited in the Keystone Bank, and if it is not there must have been taken away by Marsh.

Ephraim Young, a director of the Spring Garden Bank and a member of the assigned firm of Van Gunden & Young, has made a statement denying that he overdrew his firm's bank account.

THE HOUSE FELL ON THEM.

Three Men Killed by the Collapse of a Building.

CHICAGO, June 4.—A two-story frame house at 161 West Jackson street fell during the afternoon and killed three men.

The house stood on cedar posts and the men had gone in under it to escape the heat and to drink beer.

The men killed outright were George Schwartz, William Schwartz and John Cahill. Three others were under the house with them at the time of the accident, and of these Gus Schwartz cannot recover.

The men, under the influence of the beer, began to wrestle, and two of them fell against one of the rotten posts and the whole structure collapsed.

STRANGLED TO DEATH.

The Murder of Miss May in Dedham Results in a Double Tragedy.

DEDHAM, Mass., June 4.—There is great excitement here over the murder of Miss Mary Emerson, who conducted a small boarding house on High Rock street. She was found dead in a closet in the kitchen of her residence. There were finger marks on the throat, and it was evident that the woman had been choked to death.

The kitchen showed evidence of a desperate struggle.

A German of the name of August is suspected. He was in the employ of Miss Emerson, and his room-mate, Philip Hoffman, declares that he left him in bed. August has not since been seen. The police locked up Hoffman, pending an investigation, but they do not think him guilty.

Miss Emerson's age is now stated to be 73. She was reputed to be worth $25,000 which, it is said, she intended to leave for the support of the poor of West Dedham.

Found the Suspected Murderer's Body.

BOSTON, June 4.—The body of the man found under Charles River bridge has been identified by the Dedham police as that of "August," the farm hand who is supposed to have murdered Miss Emerson at Dedham.

Masons Elect Officers.

NEW YORK, June 4.—At the second day's session the 110th annual commemoration of the Grand Lodges, Free and Accepted Masons of the State of New York, officers were elected. Grand Master Vrooman was unanimously re-elected, but declined the office in a happy speech. The present Deputy Grand Master, William Sherer of Brooklyn, was then unanimously elected Grand Master for the ensuing year. R. W. Bro. James Ten Eyck of Albany, Deputy Grand Master; R. W. Bro. John Hodges of Lockport, Senior Grand Warden; R. W. Bro. John J. Gorman was unanimously elected Grand Treasurer and R. W. Bro. Edward M. Eplens, Grand Secretary.

An Old Judge May Retire.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 4.—It is not believed that Judge Dwight Loomis, of the Supreme Court will attend court hereafter. He did not attend Tuesday's session of the court, and evidently thinks that he is not entitled to sit on the bench of that court since his nomination to the Senate by Governor Bulkeley to succeed himself was not considered by that body. Had the Judge served to the 27th of next month he would have reached the age of seventy, and would have been entitled to retirement, under the statue of age limitation. He has been Judge of the Connecticut courts since 1864.

Two Men Smothered to Death.

APPLETON, Wis., June 4.—A fire in the rag room of the Patton Paper Mill, at 3 a. m., destroyed $10,000 worth of property and two mill men were smothered to death. Cornelius Johnson and Henry Ryan were using the mill hose when the fire got the best of them. They tried to escape down stairs but missed their way in the smoke and got into a small dressing room, where they were shortly afterwards found.

Dunkards Opposed to Divorce.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 4.—The German Baptists or Dunkards decided, by a big majority, against allowing members of the church to be divorced.

THE ITATA IS SAFE

She Has Arrived at a Chilian Insurgent Port.

AN OVATION FOR THE CAPTAIN.

Great Rejoicing Over the End of the Famous Ocean Chase.

Nothing Is Said About Her Arms and Ammunition—The Charleston Was Not Seen at Any Time—A Belief that the Itata Will Be Surrendered to the United States Authorities.

IQUIQUE, June 4.—The greatest enthusiasm was created early in the day when word was received that the Itata had arrived at Tocopilla.

Immediately upon hearing this welcome intelligence the insurgent authorities sent back orders to the commander of the Itata to lose no time in coming on to this port.

It is, therefore, believed that the Itata will arrive to-morrow.

An ovation awaits her, her captain and her crew.

The pursuit of the transport by the cruiser Charleston has been naturally followed with the keenest interest by the inhabitants of this town.

It is said, however, that the commander of the Itata reports that he did not see any trace of his pursuer.

It is still generally believed here that the Itata made a transfer of her arms ammunition to the Esmeralda off the Mexican coast.

It is thought likely, however, that the insurgents would order the Itata here if she had the arms and ammunition still on board.

It may be that she has already discharged her cargo at Tocopilla.

At any rate, if she has got rid of it in any way by transfer to the Esmeralda or by landing it on the Chili coast it may be that her being ordered here is in accordance with the report already sent out that the insurgents intend to turn her over to the United States government in order that the question of violation of the neutrality laws may be fully tested in the federal courts of your country.

Whatever action is taken the skill of the Itata's commander in reaching here in safety, despite the great efforts put forth by the United States Government to capture her the high seas, is the subject of praise on every hand.

TWO NEWSPAPERS IN ONE.

The New York Commercial Advertiser and the Continent Amalgamated.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The disappearance from the top of the editorial page of the Continent of the name of Frank A. Munsey as editor has been followed by the announcement that the paper has passed out of his control. He will sever his connection with it to-day.

Under an arrangement with C. P. Huntington, Col. John A. Cockerill, formerly of the World, and a syndicate have purchased the plant of the Continent and its news franchises. It will be consolidated with the Commercial Advertiser, and a new journal will be issued shortly from the Continent building, at Broadway and Park place, under the name of the New York Advertiser. It will be issued both morning and evening.

The President and the Banks.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The developments in Philadelphia in regard to Bank Examiner Drew and the Keystone Bank are the subject of much discussion at the Treasury Department. It is stated that the President will take immediate action in the matter, and ask of the Secretary of the Treasury a full report of just what the Government's agents did in the bank matter, whether they carried out the law fully and impartially, or whether favoritism was shown and a failure to enforce the law.

A Station Agent Kills Himself.

BUTLER, Pa., June 4.—O. P. Hennon, station agent of the Pittsburg and Western Railroad at Reibold, committed suicide last evening by blowing his brains out with a pistol. The auditor of the company had come to Reibold from Pittsburg accompanied by Hennon's successor. While they were auditing his accounts, and in the presence of his wife, Hennon placed his revolver against his head, pulled the trigger and blew his brains out. It is rumored he was short in his accounts.

Declared a Six Per Cent. Dividend.

BOSTON, June 4.—The stockholders of the Vermont and Massachusetts Railroad Company re-elected the board of directors and declared a 6 per cent. annual dividend.

Suicide of a District Attorney.

CARSON, Nev., June 4.—Judge T. D. Edwards, district attorney, committed suicide last night by shooting himself.

Sir John Slowly Sinking.

OTTAWA, June 4.—Sir John Macdonald is slowly sinking. He will probably die before night.

SENDING GOLD ABROAD.

Are English Bankers Conspiring to Keep Up Fictitious Rates for Money?

NEW YORK, June 4.—The Teutonic took $1,500,000 in gold coin for Europe, and the total exports from New York and Boston this week will be $4,250,000.

Henry Clews says it appears that the Bank of England and other English banking institutions have conspired to keep up fictitious rates for money, with the purpose of interfering with the laws which should govern trade and commerce, and of draining us of gold.

He suggests that the American banks and trust companies retaliate by maintaining an arbitrary rate of interest, at say 6 per cent., and that the Treasury refuse to furnish gold for export in higher denominations than five dollar pieces, in order to put possible obstacles in the way of shippers.

HE SPECULATED IN WHEAT.

Another Bank Cashier Disappears Leaving a Shortage of $50,000.

MARSHALL, Mich., June 4.—The following notice was posted on the door of the City National Bank at 10 a. m.: "This bank is closed on account of the defalcation of E. J. Kirby, the assistant cashier."

The announcement caused great excitement. The directors of the bank verified the report. The bank examiner was here all last week. The shortage is between $35,000 and $50,000, it is said. Kirby has left the city, and his family claim they do not know his whereabouts. He confessed to his wife last Friday that he had sunk all of his own money three months ago, and since then had sunk $41,000 of the bank's reserve fund in wheat speculations in Chicago. The bank claims to be amply secured and will resume business in a day or two.

THE TARRYTOWN VERDICT.

The President and Directors of the Central Road Censured.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., June 4.—The coroner's jury investigating the recent explosion here, by which 18 men were instantly killed, returned a verdict last evening to the effect that the victims died from concussion of the brain received from a dynamite explosion on May 19, and censuring Foreman James W. Travis, Conductor John O'Connor and Edward Finnegan, the assistant foreman, now dead, and the president and board of directors of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad for allowing explosives to be carried in a careless manner.

Officers of the Reformed Church Synod.

ASBURY PARK, June 4.—The 85th annual session of the general Synod of the Reformed Church in America elected these officers for the ensuing year: President, Rev. E. T. Corwin, New Brunswick, N. J.; vice-president, Rev. C. L. Wells, Flatbush, N. Y.; permanent clerk, Rev. Dr. Teneyck, New York; temporary clerks, G. Z. Collier, Thousand Islands, N. Y.; Rev. W. H. DeHart, Raritan, N. J. Last evening Rev. J. R. Berry, of Rhinebeck, preached the synodical sermon. Three hundred delegates are in attendance.

Eva Hamilton at May's Landing.

MAY'S LANDING, N. J., June 4.—Mrs. Eva Hamilton is now the guest of ex-Sheriff Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, her former jailors. Mrs. Hamilton admitted that she intended going on the stage in a play to be called "The Hammertons," which was written especially for her, and which is to portray all the sensational incidents in her career that once rang through the country.

Killed While Asleep in His Wagon.

NYACK, N. Y., June 4.—Patrick Gallagher, a New Jersey market gardener, while on his way to New York during the morning, fell asleep on his wagon. When crossing the track of the Northern New Jersey Railroad at Hackensack, the wagon was struck by an express train, and both man and horse were instantly killed.

Soldiers and Sailors' Monument.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June 4.—A great gathering of veterans and other citizens participated in the ceremony of unveiling a $10,000 monument erected in the public square of this city by the munificence of George Cook, an old citizen of this place, in memory of the soldiers and sailors from Jefferson county who were in the late war.

Ex-Ball Player Walker Acquitted.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 4.—The trial of Moses F. Walker, the colored ex-ball player, for murder in the second degree ended last night in a verdict of acquittal. Walker is well known throughout the country as a ball player, but at the time of his arrest he held an important position in the railway mail service.

Arrest for Malpractice.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., June 4.—Dr. Chas. W. McDonald was arrested here charged with performing an abortion on Mrs. Sullivan, aged 14, an employe at Allan's Hotel. Maggie Ransom, also employed at the hotel, was arrested charged with being an accessory. The prisoners were held in $1,000 bail each.

Mrs. Young Sent to Prison.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., June 4.—Mrs. Blanche W. Young, the youthful widow, charged with having poisoned her husband, J. Norris Young, was given a preliminary hearing here. Damaging testimony to the accused was introduced, at the conclusion of which, Mrs. Young was remanded to prison for trial.

Ten Graduates at the Indian School.

CARLISLE, Pa., June 4.—Commencement exercises were held at the Indian school here during the afternoon. Commissioner of Indian Affairs Morgan was present and presented the diplomas. There were 10 graduates, nine of whom were boys and the other a girl.

Marshal Lake Dead.

NEW YORK, June 4.—United States Marshal Lake, of Brooklyn, who was injured by falling from a train on May 15 died at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

AROUND THE BASES

Association Magnates Hold a Secret Meeting.

KING KELLY'S CLUB IN TROUBLE

Over $8,000 Lost So Far This Season and More Money Wanted.

The New York Giants Hold Second Place in the League—Anson's Team Play a Fine Game in Brooklyn—The Baltimores Whitewashed by St. Louis—Eastern Association Games.

CINCINNATI, June 4.—The American Baseball Association is still secretly wrestling with some mighty question. As has been surmised the meeting means more than the mere adjustment of the schedule, and the future of the Cincinnati Club is being considered. Locked doors have been the rule, but the following facts have leaked out. It was decided that new grounds must be obtained here, any other course being death. All the members but one voted for a new national agreement, with Cincinnati in the Association.

The local club has lost more than $8,000 so far and is urgently in need of money, which the association is loath to give. The books were carefully gone over, and it was shown that the paid attendance has been but half the published figures. It is believed the season will be played through here, however. The matter of Sunday games will be considered as soon as the jury now out in the Sunday ball case reports, but there is a feeling that it will be wise to secure other grounds.

BASEBALL SCORES.

Results of the League, American and Eastern Association Games.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Jerry Denny, the Giants' great third baseman, has been given his walking papers. Bassett has been playing such a fine game that the management has decided to let Denny go to some other club.

The following are the scores of the League games:

Suffering from Hydrophobia.

ASBURY PARK, June 4.—Richard S. Bartine, a prominent Monmouth County lawyer, is suffering from hydrophobia, the result of a cat bite on one of his hands inflicted nine months ago. He is not expected to live. The sight of water, or liquids of any kind, causes severe spasms. The wound had healed up nicely soon after it was made, and nothing more was thought of it until recently, when Mr. Bartine was taken ill and developed signs of hydrophobia.

The Amalgamated Association Scale.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 4.—The wage committee of the Amalgamated Association completed its work and presented the scale to the convention for discussion and approval. While it is understood that the wage committee report favoring the present scale, or $5.50 per ton for boiler iron, there is a very strong influence at work among the delegates favorable to an advance to $6, on a two-cent card.

Fresh To-Day

AND

Dry To-Morrow.

A complaint often made about cakes and breads. This "peculiar dryness" is caused by the ammonia or alum in the baking powder.

The leavening power of Cleveland's Baking Powder is produced by cream of tartar and soda only, and food raised with it keeps moist and fresh for days.

Cleveland's is the only baking powder having this quality.

MONUMENT TO GEN. GRANT.

Unveiled at Galena in the Presence of 30,000 People.

GALENA, Ill., June 4.—Thirty thousand people thronged the narrow streets of this place to witness the unveiling and dedication of a monument to Gen. Grant, the gift of H. H. Kohlsaat, a former Galena boy and now one of the millionaire citizens of Chicago.

When the great crowd and distinguished visitors assembled in Grant Park several bands struck up "Hail to the Chief," and amidst a scene of inspiring enthusiasm little Miss Pauline Kohlsaat, of Chicago, daughter of the donor, gave a strong tug at the silken cord, and the black shroud in which the monument had been enveloped fell apart, revealing the work of art in all its beauty. The vast crowd gazed on the life-like features of the dead soldier and President for a moment as if spell-bound, and then, led by the old veterans of the Ninety-sixth Illinois, three hearty cheers and a tiger were given.

A brief address of acceptance on behalf of the city was made by Mr. Clennan, and after the band had rendered "America," Mr. Chauncey M. Depew was introduced and enthusiastically greeted. His oration was a masterly effort, even for so great an orator, and was received with repeated applause.

NINE-INCH HAILSTONES.

Ohio Towns Shaken Up by a Violent Wind and Rain Storm.

CLEVELAND, O., June 4.—A violent wind and rain storm raged in this city at 7 a. m. and was accompanied by extraordinary electrical disturbances. The lightning struck the Hotel Wilmot and jumped from thence to the trolley wire at an electric street railroad, severely shocking the occupants of a passing car, and throwing several of them in a heap toward one end of the car.

At Clyde, O., hailstones fell that measured nine inches in circumference. A passenger coach on the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad had the windows on one side broken. A hole was made in the roof of the engine cab, the headlight was broken and the boiler jacket battered as though with a hammer.

Has a Royal Yacht Now.

LONDON, June 4.—The "Truth" this morning says: "Mr. Vanderbilt has purchased the well-known steam yacht Conqueror, lately used by the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin; and now at Portsmouth."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Fire in the drying room of the Shufeldt Distillery at Chicago, caused a loss of about $50,000.

The President has appointed John D. Stedeker postmaster at Hempstead, N. Y., and Sigmund E. Wisner at Mariette, Pa.

Chief Secretary for Ireland, Balfour, has sold his estate in the Scottish Highlands to Mr. Coombe, the well-known London brewer, for $500,000.

A saw mill engine boiler exploded during the morning killing five men and wounding three others. The mill is located six miles west of Bedford, Ind.

Minnie Lewis, aged 28, of New York, while in a fit of delirium tremens jumped from a fourth story window to the sidewalk and was instantly killed.

M. Verein, a prominent Paris broker, has been declared a defaulter to the amount of $1,000,000. The announcement creates a profound sensation.

The Windsor House, at Gardner, Mass., which was undergoing repairs, was destroyed by fire during the night. The loss on the building is $10,000. Stratton Bros., dry goods, loss $5,000; H. A. Turner, grocer, $1,000. All insured.

The body of Hefferman Fay, of Ballston, N. Y., was found in Saratoga Lake, during the morning. The body had evidently been in the water for several days. It is supposed that the unfortunate man was intoxicated and upset his boat.

Cut His Throat from Ear to Ear.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 4.—George W. Truax, a prominent harness manufacturer of Red Bank, committed suicide here during the morning by cutting his throat from ear to ear with a knife while laboring under a fit of temporary insanity.

A Trusted Cashier in Trouble.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 4.—Jacob Miller, a prominent German and for 13 years the trusted cashier and bookkeeper for Iribacker & Davis, has been arrested, charged with embezzlement. It is said the firm has made discoveries which lead them to believe that Miller has stolen over $30,000.

EACH DAY'S RECORD.

The last issue of THE PRESS contained 18 columns of live advertising. The last issue of the "news" had 12 1-2 columns, mostly dead.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin, of 72 East Third street, are the proud parents of a baby boy.

—The interior of St. Joseph's church is being handsomely remodeled. A $300 altar rail is to be erected.

—Alonzo T. Ayers, the painter, will call his men off their work every Saturday hereafter at 12 o'clock noon.

—The workmen in the employ of Woolston & Buckle will have the pleasant privilege this summer of stopping work at 12 o'clock noon, Saturdays.

—The Woman's Home Missionary Society will hold its quarterly meeting, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the Crescent Avenue church parlors.

—James O'Neill is determined to get a saloon license. When the City Council told him that his original 12 signers were not all right, he promptly secured 21 with whom no technical fault could be found.

—A strawberry festival is to be given at Saenger and Turner Hall, for the benefit of St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, June 10 and 11. There will be music and dancing.

—Stanley Kinna, Arthur Carpenter and Robert Keenan, ran from South Plainfield to Plainfield, a distance of 2 7-8 miles, in 26, 27, and 34 minutes, respectively. They would like to challenge all sprinters under 17 years of age.

—Bicycle-riding commuters will find a long felt want supplied them, at 61 North avenue, where J. S. Pike has opened an office for the checking of wheels through the day. The advertisement in another column explains itself.

—The young people's meeting in the Crescent Avenue chapel, to-morrow evening, will be an "Example Meeting." All are expected to mention some Bible character whose example they would like to follow. F. H. Andrews will conduct the meeting.

—Everybody is cordially invited to be present at the Council meeting of next Monday evening, when the petitioners for permission to establish a new company here for the manufacture of better gas at less money to consumers, will be present to confer with the Council and the citizens.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The family of J. D. Spicer left town today for a summer at Belmar.

There will be tea from 4 till 6 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, at the Hillside Tennis Club.

The family of Emil Woltman, of West Seventh street, will sail for Europe early in July, to be gone three months.

Mrs. Andrew McClellan and son, of 16 North avenue, will sail for Europe, Saturday, to be gone an indefinite time.

Rachel A., daughter of the late John Stine, died at her residence in North Plainfield yesterday, at the age of 74.

R. V. Lindabury is another of the counsel engaged in the Male will case. This is in addition to the list published in these columns yesterday.

Ex-Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, and G. Harry Squires, of Broadway, are registered at the Windsor Hotel, Saratoga Springs.

Mrs. Emma Watson Doty, of New York, who is to sing at the First Baptist church concert next Tuesday evening, is considered one of the best church singers in the country.

THE PRESS office was honored by a visit from Senator Henry H. Winton, of the Bergen County Democrat, yesterday. Mr. Winton is negotiating with Scott's Press Works for a new fast press.

The many friends of the afflicted ones will grieve to learn that both Mrs. L. L. Manning and her daughter, Mrs. Philip McIntyre, are dangerously ill at their home on West Seventh street.

The marriage of Miss Rosa F., daughter of Walter A. Bass, Sr., to John H. Cuthbert, took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride, West Eighth street. The Rev. E. M. Rodman officiated. In the morning, Mr. Cuthbert attended the wedding of his son and a Newark bride. Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbert, Sr., will reside in Titusville.

Base-ball at Stony Hill.

An interesting game of base-ball was played on the Stony Hill grounds Saturday afternoon, between the Washingtonville Stars and the Actives of Stony Hill, resulting in a victory for the Actives. The main features of the game were the one-hand catch of Gifford and the sliding of Louis Burgmiller.

THE SCORE BY INNINGS:

Actives	1	0	1	2	0	0	2	2	2	—10
Stars	0	2	2	2	0	0	1	1	1	— 9

Batteries—Rob Rogers and Dick Rogers, Harry Coddington and Eph Compton.

Umpire—William Simmons. Scorer—H. Ackor.

TOOK POISON BY MISTAKE.

Death of Aged Mrs. Maloney Under Most Distressing Circumstances.

Mary Maloney, the aged and highly respected widow of the late Edward Maloney, of New Market, died last night under distressing circumstances, from a dose of Paris green taken by mistake, at the home of James Nolan, on Manning avenue, North Plainfield, where she was visiting.

Last week Wednesday evening Mrs. Maloney noticed Mr. Nolan preparing a licorice powder for his wife. The next morning, feeling unwell, she slipped out of her room to the closet where the licorice was kept, to mix a powder for herself, without troubling any of her friends to assist her.

The box containing the licorice was in plain sight, but Mrs. Maloney unfortunately mistook for the licorice a package of Paris green, that was securely wrapped and tied up, and tucked away in an out-of-the-way corner. From this package she prepared and swallowed a teaspoonful. She had taken the dose some time before the awful mistake was discovered, but as soon as it was known that she had swallowed the deadly mixture, a neighbor, Mrs. Andrew Kenney, administered an emetic of salt and water, which relieved the patient somewhat.

Drs. Hedges and Carman were immediately summoned, and they did all in human power to save the woman's life. At noon she was apparently better, and the physicians had hopes of her recovery, but at about 4 o'clock she began to suffer terribly, and sank steadily until last night, when death came to her relief.

The remains were removed to the residence of James McCarthy, 371 West Front street, Evona, from where the funeral will take place Saturday morning at nine o'clock. From the house the funeral will go to St. Mary's church, where a solemn requiem mass will be offered.

The deceased had reached the honorable age of 84.

A TEAR-STAINED LETTER.

"If Anything Happens, Give It to John", Says Mrs. Gable.

John B. Gable, the wife deserter, is said to have written a letter to a friend in this city describing the gay times he is still having with Mrs. Wm. B. Avery, who eloped with him some weeks ago. In the letter he inclosed a photograph picturing himself and Mrs. Avery nestling side by side. It was a tin-type, evidently a Coney Island one.

Meanwhile Mrs. Gable, the deserted wife, is in a bad way at her home, 47 Cottage place. Yesterday, it is said, she spent a long time writing a long and tear-stained letter. This she sealed up and placed in a drawer, saying to her little boy, "If anything happens to me, see that your papa gets that". Then she broke down and sobbed hysterically. Finally she went into spasms, and has been very ill ever since, going into spasm after spasm.

Gable writes to one of his former associates that he has been doing work in New York and Philadelphia, and is soon going west. It is inferred that Mrs. Avery is going with him. He promises to do the right thing by his children, "some day", and asks that "the boys" take good care of old Gazelle engine, as he "loves that better than anything else in the world".

Notes from Washingtonville.

The Misses Katie and Etta Stam, of Brooklyn, are on a short visit to their cousin, Miss Nettie Beeching.

Miss Rosie Bartells is visiting relatives in New York.

The Rev. Alfred Winans, of Millville, N. J., has returned to his home, where he has charge of a Congregational church. He told a PRESS reporter he'd be back in July, as he was engaged while at Washingtonville to tie a marital knot during that month.

Harrison Smith, superintendent of the Edison electric light works on Race street, North Plainfield, expects to remove his family to the farm of his brother-in-law, A. H. Wilmont, for the summer, for the benefit of their health. No healthier place can be found in the State than among the Watchung mountains.

The Stirling base-ball club played a game with the Basking Ridge club, at Basking Ridge, defeating the home club by the score of 14 to 13.

Mr. Breakly and family, of Brooklyn, paid a pleasant visit to their relatives, the Winans, over Sunday.

Still Persisting In Her Mendacity.

That scolding old woman, the Central Times, needs correcting again. She has even led the Elizabeth Journal into error when it says that "Plainfield is going to the courts to see if the trolley electric system of cars must be endured there."

Now everybody knows that "Plainfield" is n't doing anything of the sort. It's Pope, but the Times is either afraid or too dishonest to say so. Plainfield is almost unanimously in favor of the road, and very impatient for it. The ordinance providing for it was passed by a vote of 10 to 1, and the Mayor after thorough consideration of the document and a careful weighing of the desire and interests of the people in the matter, approved it.

The Central Times knows all this, and so do her readers. Therefore the latter's opinion of the former's misrepresentation of a state of affairs so generally and correctly understood, must be mighty mean.

ROSE BUDS COULDN'T WIN IT.

The Record Now is One Game Apiece.

A second match between the Y. M. C. A. bowling team and the second team of the Crescent League, took place last evening, on the latter's alleys. The visitors all wore rose buds for mascots, yet lost the game.

The first game was rolled on the Olympia alleys, May 19, and resulted in a victory for the Y. M. C. A's by a score of 1,333 to 1,244. Last night's game was much closer. The changes in the teams were: on the Y. M. C. A., Goodhue, Rockfellow and Boe in place of Sutphen, J. Murray and Lowry; on the Crescents, Teel, King and Stelle in place of Williams, Barnes and Keller. The score was:

CRESCENT LEAGUE.		Y. M. C. A.
Vail	122	Collier	129
Emerson	122	Cutter	137
Teel	141	Lowrie	166
Arnold	120	Gardner	116
King	132	Goodhue	141
Haven	173	Spicer	127
Stelle	142	Munday	178
Doane	142	Rockfellow	131
Hetfield	143	Boe	97
Davis	149	Dilts	168
	1,397		1,390

BY FRAMES:

Crescents	143	281	426	575	702	823	974	1099	1256	1397
Y. M. C. A.	170	305	416	543	706	844	973	1104	1264	1390

The game was very close throughout. The Y. M. C. A. took the lead at the start, but were passed on third frame. In the fourth the Crescents were ahead, but dropped behind in the fifth when the Y. M. C. A. ran down the frame with only two breaks. The Y. M. C. A's led in the sixth, eighth and ninth frames, but their six breaks in the wind-up were disastrous, because old reliable Davis closed the score as in former days. He doubled up a strike and won for his team by seven pins.

ONE YEAR IN STATE PRISON.

Horse Thief J. Nelson LeClair Gets No Mercy on Such a Plea.

J. Nelson LeClair, who was arrested in Plainfield two weeks ago, for horse stealing, was sentenced yesterday to a year's confinement in the State Prison at Trenton.

As was related in THE PRESS at the time of the arrest, LeClair was in the employ of George Stone, a traveling horse dealer, who had halted, with his stock of animals, near Fanwood. Shortly after midnight of Wednesday, May 20, he slipped away with a horse and bridle valued at $150, which he sold to hackman Patrick Lynch for $5. LeClair has respectable connections in this city, but he annoyed them so that his sister's husband put the police on LeClair's track to get rid of him. Otherwise he might have been a free man yet.

LeClair's counsel pleaded for him at great length, alleging that he took the horse from his employer while intoxicated and without any intention of stealing it. LeClair, he said, was highly connected in Plainfield, Boston, and other places, and his friends hoped to save him from the disgrace of going to state prison.

The plea of intoxication, however, was no justification in the eyes of Judge J. Kearney Rice, of New Brunswick, who had exchanged courts with Judge McCormick for yesterday, and LeClair will have to wear convict's stripes for months to come.

A Lawyer Buys Glasses His Eyes Do n't Need.

Plainfielders who have wondered why Councilman Walter L. Hetfield has been sporting so much fine jewelry of late will find in the Elizabeth papers of yesterday a solution of the question. It seems that Mr. Hetfield was one of the big buyers at a sale of diamonds, jewelry and other goods sold at auction at the Sheriff's office Tuesday to satisfy the bills left unpaid by Edson M. Hubbard when he went insane at the home of Miss Shotwell, Rahway, and was taken to the asylum. The Plainfield lawyer made several bargains, among them securing a watch fob and ribbon for 75 cents, a pair of gold-rimmed spectacles for $1.05, and a scarf pin for 5 cents.

A soup ladle caught the eye of J. Frank Hubbard, of this city, Director of the Union County Board of Freeholders. It had the name Hubbard engraved on it, and so was useless to any other man. There being no opposition bidding except from those who had an idea that when melted up as old silver it might be worth more than they bid, Mr. Hubbard got it for $3.65.

Here's a Chance to Arouse the Lost Interest.

The people of Rahway are as anxious as the people of Plainfield to see a couple of ball games between the teams of the two cities. Six of Plainfield's nine were taken from the Rahways—Jones, Gregg, McIndoe, Martin, Lufbery and Simmens—yet Rahway is entirely satisfied that she can beat Plainfield.

It is only such games that will arouse the enthusiasm of the people again. They want to see contests that will result in some glory over neighboring towns. The gate receipts of the Plainfield-Somerville games, prove this. Rahway is ready to cancel any present engagement, if necessary, to suit Plainfield. The latter should accept this offer at once.

A Fine Piece of Work.

Michael Uhdal, the contractor, has completed the laying out and grading of the 3,300 feet of winding roadway on the Sledell tract at Netherwood Heights Park, where, in the near future, elegant residences are to be constructed, adding to the beauty and wealth of that neighborhood. Mr. Uhdal is to be congratulated on the expeditious and satisfactory manner in which he has completed his contract. He thoroughly understands his business.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed. —Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

Drop by Drop.

Nothing is softer than water, yet nothing is more powerful, when properly applied. It is only by practical experiment that some people can be convinced of its potent force. At a recent entertainment in Leavenworth a wager was made that the strongest man present could not stand a quart of water, dropped into his open hand, drop by drop, from a height of three feet. A strong, manly fellow eagerly accepted the bet, thinking that to stand the force of such a small quantity of water was mere child's play. Before five hundred drops had fallen into his hand, he almost cried with pain and said he had enough. After a little water had fallen, each drop seemed to crush his hand and a blister in the center of it was the result. This a very practical illustration of the old adage that constant dropping wears away stones.

A Break in the Proceedings.

Mrs. Slimson—I don't understand, Willie, how you should have worn your clothes out so sliding downhill. Didn't you use your sled?

Willie—Yes'm. All but the last time.—Harper's Young People.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for six weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am nearly cured, and yet it seems too good to be true. Have no doubt but that much of the sleeplessness people complain of is caused by indigestion.

WHAT THE PEOPLE WILL PAY.

Water and Sewerage Rates in the Schedule Proposed by J. M. Low.

Detailed information concerning the water-works and sewerage system proposed by J. M. Low for Plainfield was published exclusively in THE PRESS of yesterday. To-day THE PRESS is enabled to give, again exclusively, the rates which patrons of the concern will have to pay, under Mr. Low's schedule of prices. As has already been stated in these columns, this schedule has been very carefully prepared, and the prices are, it is claimed, the very lowest that can honestly be guaranteed, if the high standard of service required in the proposed ordinance granting the franchise is to be maintained.

NORTH PLAINFIELD LIKES IT.

Dr. Carroll Talks About the Advantages of Borough Government.

(From The Westfield Standard.)

Dr. Howard Carroll, a resident of North Plainfield, and an editor of The Independent, has written a very interesting letter on the subject of borough government, to E. J. Whitehead, chairman of the committee on borough government for Westfield, from which we are permitted to quote:

The two considerations which had most weight with us were these; first, a compact community of over three thousand members requires a municipal council having power to pass necessary ordinances for the prevention of nuisances, for the care of the streets and sidewalks, for the preservation of order, for the control of street venders, scavengers, etc., and for the advancement of the general interests of the community. The passing of such ordinances is best accomplished by a deliberative body. The Town Committee is not a deliberative, but an executive body. The borough council is large enough to be called a deliberative body. Its meetings are held regularly every month. The sessions are open to the general public; its proceedings are published in the press. The meetings of the Town Committee had not been public in the strict sense, and it was seldom that the public got any information as to the business transacted. We find the proceedings of the borough council have created a larger and more intelligent public interest in the government of the community. People read and discuss these proceedings, offer criticisms of the action of the council and urge upon council subjects which should receive attention. In this way a public spirit is created and a public policy formed. This, in my judgment, is one of the most important results of the practical operation of the system of borough government. It manages to interest a much larger number of citizens in the public affairs of the community.

In the second place, borough government gives a community a single responsible head in the Mayor. Those who have complaint to make of nuisances of any kind know to whom to go to make them. Where there are three men all equal in authority, as in a Town Committee, a division of responsibility is quite possible and promptness of action is not always easily secured. We find that we have a much more intelligent and effective control of our public affairs by placing the responsibility upon one man. It is his duty to see that the ordinances are executed, that the peace is preserved and that every officer does his duty.

The result of borough government in North Plainfield is a vast improvement in all directions. Previously it was impossible to get sidewalks repaired. In the first three years I lived in Plainfield, under the system of township government, I raised $150 by contributions from those using the same sidewalks as myself in the streets I had to pass through in order to get to the railroad station, to lay board walks and to repair old ones. Now all this is changed. On presentation of petitions to the council owners of property are compelled to lay sidewalks, or, if they are out of repair, to put them in passable condition. The gutters of the streets are no longer allowed to be overrun with rank weeds; cattle are no longer allowed to wander at will in the streets; scavengers are under a strict surveillance, and no nuisances of any kind are allowed. I do not belive there are twenty-five voters in North Plainfield who would be willing to return to the old system after having tried the new, and I am satisfied that a growing, thriving community like Westfield would be vastly benefitted by making a similar change in its system of government.

Very truly yours,
H. K. CARROLL.

A NEW RIVER LINE.

Four Big Steamers to Run Up the Hudson from Elizabeth.

The report comes from New York that the Hudson Navigation Company will this week file articles of incorporation in Union county. A big scheme for a new Hudson river line with a starting point from Elizabeth is proposed. The company will, it is said, build a line of boats which will ply between Elizabeth and Cold Spring on the Hudson, making stops at Communipaw, the foot of Rector street and Vesey street in New York, and at several other points on the line.

The project is to establish a new line from New York city and points along the Hudson; but to conform with the articles of incorporation to be filed in this State at least one trip daily will be made from Elizabeth.

Four steamers, to cost $80,000 each, and modeled after the Monmouth and St. John of the Sandy Hook route, only smaller, are being built.

The incorporators of the company are New York capitalists. Among those interested are ex-Mayor Grace, F. B. Thurber, John D. Kinney, James W. Hyatt. The officers of the company are: President, Samuel W. Groome, chairman of the Third National Bank of Philadelphia; vice president, E. R. Chapman; treasurer, R. G. Rolstone.

The company will begin operations as soon as its vessels are completed next spring.

Plainfielders Join the Army.

Twenty recruits, five men and fifteen women, were sworn into the Salvation Army last night, and will hereafter take part in leading the meetings. It is said the army have converted 500 people in this city the past few months.

Last night's meeting was very interesting. The visitors taking part were Col. Evans, Staff Captain Walsh, Ensign Dunham, and Major and Mrs. Evans, father and mother of the Colonel. Col. Evans led, and Major Evans swore in the recruits. Staff Captain Walsh, who is a reformed minstrel, gave some excellent banjo selections, and Ensign Dunham gave fine cornet solos. Capt. Leyh played the piano. The local officers who have done so much good work are Adjutant Leyh, Captain Leyh and Lieutenant Watkins. The recruits were sworn in with the Salvation Army and United States flags draped over them.

He Won't Take $25,000.

One of the cases down on the calendar of the Supreme Court, at Trenton, for the present term, is that of Orrin E. Runyon against Wilkinson, Gaddis & Co., the big grocers of Newark. Mr. Runyon is a son of the late Calvin Runyon, of this city, one of the founders and editors of the Central Times. Manager Charles Runyon, of the telephone company, is his brother.

Since leaving Plainfield Mr. Runyon has been a shrewd and prosperous real estate agent at Newark. Last year he negotiated the sale of Wilkinson, Gaddis & Co's business to a British syndicate. The price agreed upon was between two and three million of dollars. But before the transfer the grocers backed out. Mr. Runyon, however, had completed his part of the transaction and is now suing for his commission. He has been offered $25,000 to settle, but has refused.

Butchers Strike for a Different Foreman.

The men at W. W. Corlell's butcher shop all went on a strike this morning because the proprietor refused to discharge foreman Jerry Rowe, who for some reason had become obnoxious to them. Mr. Corlell considered him an excellent foreman, told the strikers they could go and welcome, and at once sent to New York for new men. The strikers went some to Long Branch and some elsewhere, to work in other shops.

Keep the Horse's Mustache Waxed.

Clayton & Huff, whose name on the side of stages is a familiar sight on the Plainfield streets, have at their stables in Newark a horse which wears a fine black mustache, waxing and curling it every day, and, although the horse is a common looking "plug" driven to a stage and furniture van alternately, he attracts more attention than any high-class horse in Newark.

—The police arrested two men to-day, one white and one colored, for trespassing on coal trains. The colored man is said to be "wanted" in Elizabeth for trying to slash a man with a razor in a fight in that city last night.

THE BIGGEST OF FLYING BIRDS.

The Wandering Albatross and the South American Condor Are the Ones.

The biggest of all really powerful flying birds are, I believe, the wandering albatross and the South American condor—for the roc I reject outright as worthy only of the most restricted Arabian and nocturnal ornithology. Seen on the wing, says a writer in the Chicago Globe, or even with the wings expanded merely, both these great existing birds have a most majestic and colossal appearance. But feathers in such cases are very deceptive; they make fine birds out of very small bodies. For example, our well-known little English swift, which looks so imposing in flight as it passes overhead with pinions poised, is hardly as big when plucked as a man's top thumb joint and weighs only half an ounce. So, too, the albatross, though its expanse of wing is said to exceed that of any other known bird, amounting sometimes to nearly ten feet from tip to tip, does not average in weight more than fifteen pounds, which is just exactly the poulterer's statement for my last family Christmas turkey. As for the condor, while he spans from wing to wing some eight feet, his length from beak to tail is only three and a half, and I doubt if he would pluck into anything corresponding to his magnificent outer show—though I am bound to admit that I have never personally tried the unpleasant experiment.

Shiloh's Cough Cure

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

Agricultural Electricity.

M. Comille Gonzy, the proprietor of numerous small farms in the commune of Millas (Western Pyrenees), having an area altogether of nearly 1,500 acres, has for some time past been utilizing a neighboring stream for electric lighting purposes. He has now applied electric power to the working of a wine-crushing plant. Besides providing the power for lifting and driving purposes, electricity is made to work the pumps for irrigating the vines. The 180 16-candle power lamps employed are distributed over all the farms, and the area which they cover may be judged from the fact that the length of telephone wire connecting the buildings is 63 miles.

Black Polish on Brass.

To make a dead-black polish on brass, for microscopes, etc., mix 1 ounce of nitrate of silver in a dish with 20 ounces of distilled water. In another dish mix 1 ounce of nitrate of copper with 20 ounces of distilled water. Mix the two solutions together, dip the brass in the liquid, remove the brass, and heat in an oven until the desired degree of black is obtained.

TREATMENT for CONSUMPTION.

To the PHYSICIANS of Plainfield and Vicinity.

I would respectfully announce that I am prepared to supply the Solution of Koch-Calcaride of Gold and Mangenese, lately suggested by Drs. Shurtz and Gibbes, for the treatment of Consumption.

Recent experiments seem to promise better results from the use of this remedy than have been attained by any of the newly proposed methods of treatment, not excepting that of Dr. Koch. Absolute purity of materials and careful manipulation are required for the successful preparation of the Solution which, after repeated trials, we have attained.

It is of a good design and is adapted for a 33 foot lot. The store room is 20x26 feet with rear room 21x23 feet. The flat contains 8 rooms as follows:

Parlor 13x14 with a fireplace and bay window. Sitting-room 13x14 feet with a fireplace. Dining-room 12x13 feet. Kitchen 11x13. Front chamber off parlor 10x10 feet. Chamber off sitting-room, 10x10. Chamber off rear hall 10x11 feet, and bedroom off kitchen 8x10 feet. Pantry 5x8 feet, and front hall 6x10 feet. The front stairs and the floors in kitchen, pantry, dining-room, front and rear halls will be of maple. The front doors in store and in vestibule to be of ¼ sawed red oak. The floor in vestibule to be of tile. The finish on first and second floors to be of pine.

The building to be piped for gas. The first floor to be 12 feet in clear and the inches on centers. Inside studding 2x4, 16 inches on centers.

The front bay can be built of copper, galvanized iron, wood or stone. The roof to be of gravel "composition" with a fall of ¾ of an inch to 1 foot.

GEORGE A. W. KINTZ.

The Draft of Chimneys.

The form of a roof often has much to do with the draft of a chimney. The flat roof offers no resistance to the passage of air, but as the pitch is increased the current is more and more disturbed until with a high pitched and many gabled roof it is broken into innumerable eddies, some of which are sure to curl down and force the smoke and gases in the flue into the rooms below. Chimneys on such roofs should be built higher than ordinarily.

An Albino Raven.

A milk-white raven is now on exhibition at the Berlin Aquarium. He was found last spring by a farmer who was out shooting crows, and who happened to notice the ornithological curiosity in the top of a high tree with a brood of coal black brothers and sisters. The place where it was found is known as the Georgenthal and is a valley of Thuringen. This contradiction to nature's laws is now the lion of the old German capital.

Better Than Ordinary Soap.

Petroleum jelly serves to clean and take away all traces of dirt from the hands after work in the shop or laboratory. For that purpose one need only rub the hands with a small amount of the jelly, which, penetrating into the pores of the skin, incorporates itself with the greasy matters which are there. Wash them with warm water and soap and the hands quickly become cleaned and softened.

NEW DYNAMITE GUN.

The Most Powerful Instrument of Destruction Yet Invented.

The Graydon dynamite gun is a wonderful engine of warfare. The gun will project 600 pounds of dynamite three miles in thirty seconds. The explosive contents are made up for greater safety in tiny waxen pellets and lodged in a shell, the true flight of which is secured by a tapering telescopic tail, and the gun is to be discharged by the expansion of condensed air at a pressure of 5,000 pounds per square inch, the impulse of which is a safer propelling energy than the ignition of any kind of power, because it does not operate so suddenly as to cause a danger of the premature explosion of the missile. "The use of such a terrible weapon as a heavy lynamite shell has been the subject of much fearsome speculation," says Mr.

THE GRAYDON DYNAMITE GUN.

Graydon, who is a lieutenant in the United States navy. "The noise of the discharge being small, the projectile might be dropped into a fort or on to a ship without giving the besieged any intimation of the quarter from which the attack came. The concussion when the dynamite exploded would in all probability be violent enough to put a large garrison hors de combat, even if they were not wounded by debris; and, truly aimed, a single shell would destroy an ironclad. The barrel, or pneumatic tube, of the gun is of Whitworth forged steel, and weighs about eleven tons. It is supported at the breech end on fixed trunnions fifteen inches in diameter, which are hollowed for the passage of compressed air. Toward the muzzle it is carried on movable trunnions engaged with two forged-steel arms or levers. These levers have sliding fulcrums and are actuated by a hydraulic plunger for the purpose of elevating or depressing the gun. The breech is closed by means of a steel screw-block with interrupted screw threads, as in heavy service ordnance."

The peculiar feature of this particular Graydon gun is that it can be loaded at any degree of elevation within its working range.

WOVEN WIRE ROPES.

A New Form of Metallic Cable for the Transmission of Power.

In view of the extensive use of rope in the place of leather belting for the transmission of power, considerable interest attaches to a new wire rope which has been patented during the past year, and which is already coming into favor. The illustration shows the structure of a one-inch rope, which is claimed to be equal to an eight-inch belt in its powerful transmitting capacity.

A CURIOSITY IN LINES.

The rope is hollow, being nothing more than a spiral spring, woven through and through with small wire. Actual tests of a cable of this character, weighing ten ounces to the foot and made of ordinary Bessemer wire, showed that it possessed a tensile strength of 6,000 pounds.

A Wonderful Rustic Bridge.

Dixie says that a rustic bridge has been completed at Beech Haven, Ga., that contains 57 different kinds of woods and vines, grown on the 50 acres of Beech Haven park. The following is a list of the woods and vines: Short leaf pine, long leaf pine, post oak, white oak, Spanish oak, water oak, red oak, poplar, sweet gum, black gum, red haw, black haw, red bud, prickly ash, chinquepin, wild plum, persimmon, cedar, wild sloe, wahoo, sumac, red elm, pig hickory, scalybark hickory, hock or sugar berry, willow, china, black alder, crab apple, wild mulberry, wild cherry, dogwood, sourwood, winter whortleberry, black locust, sassafras, cottonwood, buckeye, cypress, laurel beech, holly, ash, ironwood, birch, magnolia, sycamore, walnut, sweet bay, evergreen, spruce. Vines—Grape, muscadine, bell flower, rattan, bamboo.

CALL FOR $3,000,000

Public Money Wanted from National Banks.

THE SURPLUS ONLY $5,000,000.

Paying the June Pensions the Cause of the Reduction.

The Navy Department Receives Official Information About the Itata—The Vessel Surrendered to Rear-Admiral McCann—She Also Gives Up 5,000 Rifles Taken on Board at San Diego.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Acting Secretary of the Treasury Spaulding, according to directions received from Secretary Foster now in New York, has issued the following call:

The Secretary of the Treasury has this day called upon a number of national bank depositories to transfer to the Sub-Treasury a portion of the public moneys held by them and not needed for the transaction of public business.

These banks, which are mostly what is known as "surplus" banks, had been notified by the late Secretary Windom and had previously transferred the amount of two calls made by him. The amount to be transferred on or before June 30, 1891, under this call is about $3,000,000.

The surplus in the treasury to-day is about $5,000,000. The cause of its reduction is the payment of about $30,000,000 in pensions due June 10.

Treasury officials say the effect of the call outlined above, together with the proposed extension in the payment of 4 1-2 per cent. bonds, with interest at 2 per cent., will be to send the surplus up to at least $25,000,000 if not $30,000,000 within the next few weeks.

THE ITATA SURRENDERED.

Formally Turned Over to Commander McCann at Iquique.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Secretary Tracy last night received the following dispatch from Admiral McCann dated Iquique, Chili, June 4:

"The Itata arrived at Iquique, Chili, from Tocopilla last night and was placed at the disposition of Rear-Admiral McCann this morning. She had on board 5,000 rifles and ammunition taken from the Robert and Minne in the port of San Diego, Cal. She has no other munitions of war than those belonging to the ship, and transferred nothing to the Esmeralda, with whom she communicated off Acapulco, Mexico. She then went direct to Tocopilla.

The Charleston arrived at Iquique to-day and the Pensacola is expected to-day.

As soon as the Itata takes on coal and prepares for the return trip, Admiral McCann will send her back to San Diego, probably under convey of one of his cruisers. She will be delivered to the United States court officers at San Diego, and the proceedings against her for violation of the neutrality laws will be resumed at the point where they were interrupted by the unlawful departure of the steamer, and the responsible parties will likely be called upon to answer the charge of contempt of court for running away while under injunction.

Sweinfurth Chased by a Mob.

CHICAGO, June 5.—A dispatch from Kansas City says that Sweinfurth, the Rockland, Ill., crank, who styles himself "the only true Christ," and who has been for the past few days holding forth with his "disciples," in Kansas City, had to flee for his life. A crowd assembled before the building in which Sweinfurth has been exhibiting himself, with the firm determination of applying a coat of tar and feathers to the pretender. Sweinfurth up to a late hour had not been caught.

The Late Rufus King's Estate.

LEWISTON, Me., June 5.—The value of the late Hon. Rufus Prince's estate is nearly double what was expected, according to the report of the appraisers. The results have completely set at rest the reports to the effect that Mr. Prince had so mixed up the estates of others, of which he was guardian or trustee, that it was probable that there would not be money enough realized from all to go around.

Mr. Cleveland to Live in Jersey.

NEWARK, N. J., June 5.—The now famous and beautiful Saddle River Valley, Bergen County, N. J., is about to occupy a still more prominent place in the eyes of the public. Ex-President Grover Cleveland will reside at the Joe Jefferson mansion this summer, and it is stated that he will purchase the property should it prove to his liking.

Bound to Die This Time.

MEADVILLE, Pa., June 5.—Dr. John Thompson, who lived near Linesville, this county, yesterday tied his feet together with a rope, hitched the rope to a tree, leaving plenty of slack, and then plunged headlong into a creek and was drowned. He was 67 years old. He had frequently threatened suicide on account of ill health.

No Power to Grant Railroad Concessions.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—A dispatch from the City of Mexico says the Congress which has just adjourned did not give the President power to grant railroad concessions, as has been customary previously. It is said that this is in accordance with the President's own suggestion. The Executive wishes to have fewer concession made.

Italy Will Investigate.

ROME, June 5.—The Government will investigate into the causes of the decline of Italy's foreign trade, which decreased about 11,680,000 pounds sterling during five years including 1890. The committee will also make inquiries regarding new outlets for Italy's foreign trade.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE MINISTERIAL WAR.

Secrets Are Being Divulged by Clergymen in the Pittsburg Synod.

PITTSBURG, June 5.—There was a very large audience in attendance at the morning session of the Reformed Presbyterian Synod.

Rev. O. B. Milligan, one of the suspended ministers, was the first speaker. He declined to speak from the platform, saying that by so doing he would be guilty of contempt, as the Pittsburg Presbytery had forbidden him to do so. He would not speak from a Reformed Presbyterian pulpit until he could do so as a free man.

This declaration created a sensation, and the speaker had not proceeded far in his address until cries came from all parts of the church: "Take the platform!" "Take the platform!"

After asking that the court be held responsible for his action, Mr. Milligan continued his address from the pulpit. His speech attracted close attention, as did the address of Rev. J. R. J. Milligan, who followed him. The speeches occupied the time of the morning session.

The suspended ministers in their addresses are divulging secrets, which place the Rev. Dr. McAllister and Rev. R. J. George in an unenviable position. Several of the young ministers have made charges of unfairness, prookedness, breach of faith and wilful persecution. These charges are substantiated by documentary evidence such as will be very difficult to refute.

MOONEY DEFEATS MURPHY.

Over $25,000 Wagered on the Big Pigeon Shoot at Hollywood.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 5.—A large crowd attended the pigeon shooting match at Hollywood between C. Edgar Murphy of New York and Capt. A. W. Mooney of London, England.

The match was for $1,000 a side, and the conditions were 100 birds each at 30 yards rise, with a 21-yard boundary line, the use of both barrels being allowed. Fully $25,000 were wagered on the result.

The match was the fastest ever shot, occupying two hours and three minutes. John S. Hoey was the referee, Philip Daly, jr., trapper, and Walter G. Murphy scorer.

Mooney won the match by a score of 87 to Murphy's 83 killed. Mooney also made the heaviest run, he killing 21 birds in succession.

WILL NOT SURRENDER.

A Deposed Official in Pennsylvania Refuses to Vacate the Office.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 5.—Attorney-General Hensel and Professor Snyder had another conference with Dr. Waller at the Department of Public Instruction. Prof. Snyder made a formal demand for the office, which Dr. Waller declined to surrender. It was then agreed that nothing further should be done until a conference, at which, if is expected, a settlement will be reached, has been held.

Prof. Snyder was nominated by Gov. Pattison to be Superintendent of Public Instruction, but the Senate refused to confirm the nomination. Since the adjournment of the Legislature the Governor appointed Prof. Snyder to the office and issued his commission, but Dr. Waller refused to vacate.

The Tissue Ballot Case.

PROVIDENCE, June 5.—Two new and interesting phases developed in the tissue ballot cases in Lincoln. The Republicans secured from the Supreme Court writs of quo warranto and citations returnable to-morrow, which were served on the town officers. On the other hand, the Democratic council met to-day and ordered the ballots burned. These instructions were carried out by the town sergeant.

Newspaper Changes.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Mr. George W. Turner has resigned the office of publisher of the World, and has been succeeded by Manager Dillon, late of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mr. Joseph Pulitzer, the proprietor of the World, sailed yesterday from Liverpool for New York. Mr. Turner goes to the Recorder, in which he is said to have acquired a proprietary interest, together with Col. C. W. Taylor of the Boston Globe.

Destitution in the Coke Region.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., June 5.—The 140 employes of Robert Hogsett at Mt. Braddock coke works are on strike on account of the discharge of two drivers. There is dissatisfaction at a number of independent producers' plants, which will probably culminate in a strike. Great destitution prevails among the miners who were refused employment. The labor leaders have sent out appeals for immediate aid.

Big Failure at Nashville, Tenn.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 5.—The McConnell, Hall, McKoster Company, wholesale dry goods and shoes, have made an assignment. Their assets are estimated at $725,000, while their liabilities are $473,000.

Execution by Electricity.

BERLIN, June 5.—Dr. Schelling, the Prussian Minister of Justice, is interested in the new American method of execution by electricity, and has caused instructions to be sent for full reports as to its methods of working.

SLAIN BY HIS PALS

An Unknown Burglar Murdered Near Danbury.

HIS BODY FOUND IN A RAVINE.

Everywhere About the Scene There Were Evidences of a Struggle.

Bloody Footprints Leading from the Spot to the Water—About the Body There Was a Miscellaneous Lot of Plunder—The Goods Were Stolen at Mill Plain, Conn.

DANBURY, Conn., June 5.—This place has a murder mystery. Clarence Kent and William Williams, with two others, drove to the farm of Benjamin Lynes, just outside the city limits, on Park avenue, to fish for bait. In order to reach the brook they had to descend a steep embankment which is covered with a thrifty growth of small trees.

Another brook runs through the place, and it was near this, in a sort of ravine about 200 feet from the highway, that the fishermen stumbled over the dead body of a man. The police and Medical Examiner Wile were notified and the body was brought to this city and placed in the morgue.

It is a Case of Murder.

When the medical examiner saw the body he said it was a case of murder. The man was killed and laid out there. Across the back of the victim's head there was a long, ugly gash, evidently caused by a blow from a heavy instrument like a club. From the gash the blood had been washed clean. There were few traces of blood upon the body, except upon the hands.

Everywhere about the scene there were evidences of a struggle, and it is believed the burglars quarrelled over a division of the plunder.

The man whose body was found had evidently wounded his antagonist, as there were bloody footprints leading from the spot to the water.

About the body in the ravine was found a miscellaneous lot of articles.

The police recognized them as part of the goods stolen from Wilson's store, which was robbed in Mill Plain on Tuesday night. The dead man is believed to be one of the burglars, and the police think he was murdered by his companions. Coroner Doten was telegraphed for, and an investigation will be made. The murdered man has not been identified.

OFFICERS AFTER MARSH.

The Fugitive Bank President Is Hiding Near Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA June 5.—Gideon Marsh, the fugitive president of the Keystone Bank, is said to be in hiding within a few miles of this city, and while the detectives have been scouring the country for him and watching steamers for South American ports Marsh has remained near at hand.

So asserts Francis W. Lawrence, a reputable citizen of Thurlow, near Chester, who claims to have traced Marsh to his lair. Lawrence has, however, been carefully guarding his secret, and so much time has elapsed that Marsh may have again escaped and sought a new refuge.

According to Lawrence's story, Marsh has been hiding all this time within two miles of the Highland House at Thurlow, the place to which he was traced the Saturday before his flight was made known.

Forced to fly from that refuge by the fear that he would be discovered by reporters or detectives, Marsh left the Highland House and took up quarters at Linwood, two miles further down the river, where he has been repeatedly seen during the past few days.

A warrant has been issued for Marsh's arrest and Lawrence deputized as a constable with power to serve it.

Abe Coakley in Custody.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Abe Coakley, the notorious bank burglar who was implicated with "Jimmy" Hope in the robbery of the Manhattan Bank in 1878, has just been arrested for a robbery committed two years ago. He and a confederate named Williams robbed a German merchant of $545. Williams turned state's evidence, but the jury in the trial of Coakley disagreed. The latter then gave bail and when his trial was called the second time Coakley could not be found.

Dygert Goes to Prison.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 5.—Fred W. Dygert, the last of the Mount Morris gang, connected with the Joslyn murder, was sentenced to Auburn prison for five years.

Secretary Blaine at Bar Harbor.

BAR HARBOR, Me., June 5.—Secretary and Mrs. Blaine arrived in Bar Harbor last evening and were immediately driven to their cottage.

DROWNED IN THE SURF.

Terrible Experience of a Life Saving Crew on Lake Erie.

ERIE, Pa., June 5.—The propeller Badger State was driven on the beach about a mile from the flash-light, and Captain Clark, Superintendent of the Life Saving Station of this port, while trying to pass a line from the propeller to the tug Erie, was struck by a high wave and the life boat capsized.

The crew clambered onto its bottom but another wave struck the captain and hurled him about thirty feet from the boat.

The upturned boat drifted ashore with the men still clinging to her.

Captain Clark's body was not recovered. The crew and passengers of the Badger State were brought to shore.

The Badger State is still on the beach, but it is thought she is not in a bad condition.

Captain Clark entered the life saving service as a surf man when the station was established here in 1876. Through his efforts many lives and a large amount of valuable floating property have been saved. He was nearly 55 years of age, and had he lived he would have been retired when he reached the age of 55.

The Appeal of the Delamaters.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 5.—The appeal of the Delamaters for a change of venue from the court of Crawford County was argued before the Supreme Court. Counsel for the Delamaters claimed that so much prejudice existed in Crawford County against their clients that they could not have a fair and impartial trial. District Attorney Best denied these allegations, and in support of the assertion presented the affidavits of more than 300 residents of Crawford County. The court reserved its decision.

A Young Business Man Kills Himself.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 5.—Just before noon Samuel Maxwell Hartman, a prominent young business man, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head. When his mother rushed upstairs Hartman was lying, with his arms folded peacefully, dead, with the revolver in his hand. He had been suffering for some time with an incurable disease and was discouraged.

Must Pay the Penalty.

TRENTON, N. J., June 5.—The Hudson County election officers, who were convicted of dishonesty at the polls, appealed their case to the Supreme Court, which has affirmed the decision of the lower court. Unless they take a further appeal to the Court of Errors, they must go to State prison and serve out the sentence of 18 months.

School Teachers Prevent a Panic.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 5.—The schoolhouse in Jeffersonville was burned about 10 a. m. There were 150 pupils in the building at the time. The teachers by their coolness prevented a panic, and marched the children from the building in an orderly manner. The building was burned to the ground. Loss, $5,000; insured.

Florida Votes for Dr. Brooks.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 5.—The standing committee of the Episcopal Diocese of Florida met and voted in favor of the consecration of the Rev. Phillips Brooks as the bishop of the Massachusetts Diocese.

TERRIFIC SEA FIGHT

It Lasted One Hour and 100 Men Were Killed.

DARING WORK BY INSURGENTS.

Their Cruiser Attacks the Chilian Government Torpedo Boats.

Crept Into the Harbor of Valparaiso After Dark—Government Steamers Unknowingly Fire Into Each Other—The Rebel Vessel Steamed Out With Every Gun on the Forts Opened on Her.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—News of the fiercest sea fight that has taken place during the whole of the Chilian war has just been received here. It took place in the harbor of Valparaiso between the insurgent cruiser Magallanes and the government torpedo boats Alden, Condell and Lynch, four days after the encounter between the same vessels in Channel Bay, the news of which was received in New York on Monday last.

After the latter battle the Magallanes decided to attack the government ships and, if possible, destroy them before they could again be fitted for sea. Favored by darkness the Magallanes crept into the harbor of Valparaiso and began the attack by ranging close alongside the already crippled Alden and firing a broadside into her that did terrible execution. Nearly half of the torpedo boat's crew were either killed or wounded, and the vessel was completely riddled.

The Forts Alarmed.

An alarm was sounded in the forts, but as the vessels lay so close together the gunners in the forts dared not fire, for fear of hitting their own vessels.

Getting clear of the Alden, the Magallanes at once attacked the Lynch, but her fire was returned with interest. The smokestack of the Lynch was blown away, and a boat containing ten men, who had been sent to try to attack the rebel vessel with a torpedo boat, was blown out of the water.

Forty of the Crew Killed.

The Condell had steamed to the outside of the Magallanes, thus getting the latter between the two fires. The Magallanes was shot through and through. Over 40 of her crew were lying dead on her decks, but her guns were untouched, and her captain made up his mind to try to better his condition.

Suddenly the rebel vessel began to move astern and ceased firing. The night being so dark the government steamers were unknowingly firing into each other, and the Condell began to fill rapidly. The trick was not discovered until the Magallanes had turned and steaming across the stern of Condell poured in a broadside that nearly demolished the latter, dismounting every gun and killing 14 and wounding six more of the crew.

Flight of the Rebel Steamer.

The rebel steamer then started to steam out of the harbor at full speed. Every gun in the forts on shore opened on her, but only once was she struck. A heavy shell landed fairly on her deck just forward of her pivot gun and burst. The explosion tore a big hole in her deck, the pivot gun was thrown over on its side and four men were killed. Soon after that she was out of range of the forts and ran up the coast to Caldera.

Over 100 men were killed during the fierce conflict, fully one half of whom were on board the Magallanes. No attempt was made by the foreign war ships to stop the fight, which lasted fully an hour.

CLOSING THE SCANDAL TRIAL.

The Baccarat Case Will Probably Be Finished This Evening.

LONDON, June 5.—The baccarat case will probably finish this evening. The Prince of Wales has been in court all day. When he enters the court rises and bows, the court including everybody. The Prince returns the bow and sits, then all sit.

Mrs. Green and her husband were among the witnesses. Mr. Green has been pictured by his father-in-law as something of a fire eater; he is halting of speech and has a memory like a sieve. Mrs. Green was nervous at first, but soon regained her composure.

She was asked more than one pointed question. How long had she known Sir William Gordon Cumming? Six years. By whom had she been taught to play baccarat? By Gordon Cumming. Mr. Gill, who appears with the Solicitor-General for Cumming said to-day, in an aside intended for the jury, that there was more in the case than appeared on surface. Many believe this; but that it is susceptible of proof is doubtful, apparently.

Schooner Sunk in Lake Erie.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 5.—The propeller Northern Queen, Capt. Smith, bound up from Buffalo, ran into the schooner Fayette Brown at a point eight miles east-southeast of the Dummy Light, and sunk her in nine fathoms of water. There is no report as to the fate of the crew. The Queen stopped at Detroit and reported the accident to Manager Gordon. She was not injured and proceeded on her way. The Brown was loaded with sandstone for Buffalo and was owned by Bradley of Cleveland. She was valued at $16,000.

A Bride Attempts Suicide.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 5.—Mrs. Philip Einsfeld, a bride of 11 days, attempted suicide early in the morning by taking a quantity of oxalic acid, followed by a big dose of castor oil. The oil may save her life, but the physicians say she will die.

The Japanese Murderer Sentenced.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Jugiro, the Japanese murderer, was sentenced by Justice Van Brunt to be executed in the week beginning July 6, the same week fixed for the execution of the murderers Wood, Slocum and Smiler.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS.

The Accused Man is Sick, but Protests His Innocence.

New YORK, June 5.—A short time ago Paymaster Fred C. Ward of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company was injured in a railroad accident. He was taken to his home in Albany, and the officers of the road, with whom Ward is very popular, did everything to provide for his comfort and quick recovery. A substitute took his place.

After he had been doing Ward's work for a week or ten days, he discovered an apparent shortage of $10,000 in the Albany accounts. The officers of the company, particularly the President Robert M. Olyphant, were horrified, and immediately expressed their disbelief in the report. An investigation followed and the results were such that Ward was taxed with making away with the money. He strenuously denied that his accounts in any way, shape or form, were mismanaged, and asserted his innocence. He said that if he could only get to the office he would straighten out his accounts immediately and explain the apparent shortage.

Ward's case was critical from the start, as he suffered from concussion of the brain, and the fact that it was alleged that his accounts were $10,000 short caused him to grow rapidly worse. He became delirious and continually talked about the case, asserting his innocence of wrong doing.

In his conscious moments he would demand that he should be taken to the office, so that he could show his superiors where the mistake had been made. It is greatly feared that he will not recover. His mind never wanders from the subject of the shortage and he never hesitates to say, "It's all wrong—it's a mistake. Oh, if I could only get to the office."

He is a young man, and it is said has always led a regular life. He performed his duties in strict accordance with the rules and was never delinquent.

Thirty Men Arrested for a Boy's Murder.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5.—Thirty young men, whose names are unknown, have been arrested at Waldo, about twenty-five miles from Sheboygan, on the charge of causing the death of Fred Kopwood, aged 14 years, near Cascade. It appears the men were shearing sheep, and on the boy coming along and refusing to drink whiskey with them, he was thrown into a mill pond, from whence he crawled out, and died in the woods from exposure.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Gold is booming in the Argentine Republic at $3.23 premium.

Edward P. Thompson has been appointed postmaster at Indianapolis.

Charges for heresy are to be preferred against Dr. Dalton, rector of St. Stephen's, at Portland, Me.

German immigration to America for the past quarter of 1891 was 41,693, the largest on record in six years.

The State Reform School at Cape Elizabeth, Me., was destroyed by fire early in the day, together with the furniture. Loss, $16,000; uninsured.

The death sentence of Jacob Schulz, who killed Constable Drake at New Canaan, Conn., in 1888, has been commuted to life imprisonment.

John Yoh, an inmate of the county hospital, Reading, Pa., 21 years of age, partook of food for the last time 27 days ago, and yesterday died, having starved to death.

Van Heise, the professional hangman for New Jersey, has been engaged by Sheriff McPhillips to hang the negro murderer Hellinger on June 30 at the county jail in Jersey City.

Judge William Allen, of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, died yesterday at his home in Northampton. His death was quite sudden and was due to neuralgia of the heart. He was 69 years old.

Frank Tracy, supposed to be the head of a gang of horse thieves which has been operating recently along the Hudson River, was arraigned in the Circuit Court at Kingston, N. Y., on charge of horse stealing and pleaded guilty.

The striking quarrymen at Milford, Mass., have consurred in the action of their committee in accepting a ten per cent. raise from the firms of Norcross Brothers, Darling Brothers, and Woodbury & Leighton in lieu of the prices demanded by the men.

In a suit for divorce brought by Mrs. L. Rood of Hartford, Conn., her husband alleges that the whole trouble is due to his mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen M. Atkins of Bristol, and has sued her for $1,000 damages upon a charge of enticing away his wife. Mrs. Rood charges her husband with neglect and habitual intemperance.

There is complete stagnation among the lumber firms at Bangor, Me., owing to a boycott existing in the lumber trade in New York. A number of vessels are lying idle in the harbor awaiting cargoes. Nearly all the saw mills have suspended operations, and no lumber whatever is being shipped.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—For New England: Fair weather; variable winds; stationary temperature.

For Eastern New York: Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey: Showers; stationary temperature; variable winds.

For Western Pennsylvania and Western New York: Fair; warmer; variable winds.

THE DAILY PRESS.

W. L. S. A. L. PRICE, Publishers and Proprietors.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - Managing Editor.

EACH DAY'S RECORD.

The last issue of THE PRESS contained 18 columns of live advertising. The last issue of the "news" had 15 columns, mostly dead.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Read what the United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association have to say about butter, etc.

—The best bowlers of the Plainfield Crescent League will roll against the Union Leagues at Westfield to-night.

—Good plump spring chickens, weighing two pounds, are reduced to 30 cents per pound, at Voehl's, 17 West Front street.

—A chief attraction of the First Baptist church concert Tuesday evening will be Dr. S. N. Penfield, the famous composer and player.

—P. L. Conde, the musician, of this city, has accepted an engagement at the Albion Hotel, Asbury Park, for the months of July and August.

—A cake and candy sale for the benefit of the "Kitchen Garden", will be held to-morrow afternoon, corner of LaGrande avenue and Washington street.

—The Emancipation Day committee will meet to-night. The members are working hard to make the proposed celebration the thorough success it deserves to be.

—Have your window screens and screen doors, this season, made by C. S. Whitlock, 73 West Fifth street. He makes a specialty of the work and can therefore do it less than anybody else.

—Chas. B. Brown will conduct a study of the book of Numbers at the meeting of the Bible training class in the First Baptist church at 7 o'clock to-night. All young people are invited to join.

—At the request of a large number of THE PRESS readers, there is republished on the fourth page of this issue, ex-Mayor Randolph's sixteen pertinent questions, to none of which has anyone addressed dared give an answer yet.

—The festival at Vincent chapel which opened last evening, was a success from the start. To-night new features will be added, although the beautiful features of the young women in attendance are enough to attract the wide, wide World.

—The lad arrested yesterday afternoon for trespassing on coal cars was fined $2. The colored man arrested for the same offense was sent to the county jail for 20 days, at the end which time he will be tried for trying to slash another man with a razor in a fight at Elizabeth two or three nights ago.

—A hay carter who is constantly on the road between New Market and Newark went to sleep, while intoxicated, on the Jersey Central railway tracks in this city last evening. The police saved him from death by snatching him off the rail just as a train came thundering along. This morning he paid a fine of $5 for the trouble he had given.

—The Water Supply company surely can find no fault with the expeditious and workmanlike manner in which Doud & Rice, the contractors, are putting down the pipes. Men were working yesterday on East Second, Fourth and Fifth streets and Washington street. The day before they laid 2,364 feet of pipe, and drove a ton of lead in fastening the joints. There are now 137 men at work.

All Will Turn Out to the Jubilee Dance.

A number of Plainfield's best citizens have consented to co-operate in the plans for making the coming Emancipation Day celebration a big event. Some of the most notable people of the country will be present at the celebration. A feature will be a grand jubilee dance of the colored people at night, which everybody will turn out to see. The costumes will be the gayest and most gorgeous that can be devised, and the carnival will be one of great splendor. The whole town will be expected to join in the festivities. As has already been suggested by THE PRESS, the chief orator will probably be J. J. Price, a full-blooded negro of remarkable ability, President of the Salisbury, N. C., University.

New Officers of Wetumpka Knights of Honor.

At the annual meeting of Wetumpka Lodge, K. of H., held last evening, the following were elected:

Past Dictator—George W. Housman.
Dictator—W. B. Rogers.
Vice Dictator—L. I. VanAlstyne.
Assistant Dictator—A. W. TenEyck.
Reporter—John Sylvester.
Financial Reporter—S. E. Flower.
Treasurer—F. P. Haffney.
Chaplain—R. E. Seaman.
Guide—Andrew Steiglitz.
Guardian—David Sutphen.
Sentinel—T. Osment.
Trustees—Louis Brown, George McGinnis, Eli Odam.

Miss Spangenberg Will Read.

A conference of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union will be held in the Second Presbyterian church, Rahway, Friday evening, June 19. The local societies are making preparations to give the visiting societies a royal reception, and the exercises promise to be of great interest. Papers will be read by Miss Alice Spangenberg, of Netherwood; Mr. Williams, of Rahway, and Miss Middaugh, of Elizabeth. There will also be reports and election of officers.

A CHANCE FOR PLAINFIELD.

Baptist Women Want a Site for a New and Worthy Institution.

The founding and maintenance of a home for aged and destitute Baptists is the highly commendable object of the Baptist Home Society of North and East New Jersey, recently organized at Newark by women from Plainfield and other places. The location of the home is yet to be decided on, but the committee in charge of that matter are said to be prejudiced in favor of this city, and by a little exhibition of generosity on the part of wealthy citizens the institution can be made a local one. In making a selection for the location of the handsome, commodious and substantial structure that is to be erected the committee will be governed largely by the liberality of offers made in the way of lands suitable for a site. Plainfield has just the sites desired, and whether or not the home be established here rests entirely with the people whose purses control the ownership of the property wanted.

The officers of the society are as follows:

First directress—Mrs. J. Thompson of Newark.

Second directress—Mrs. L. H. Bigelow, of Plainfield.

Third directress—Mrs. Stephen Colgate, of Orange.

Corresponding secretary—Mrs. J. B. Bollinson, of Rahway.

Recording secretary — Mrs. James M. Jacques, of Orange.

Treasurer—Mrs. George Rusher, of Newark.

The number of women on the board of managers is to be 100. Of these 65 have already been chosen. In those yet to be appointed the Park Avenue church of this city will be represented. The First church of Plainfield is already represented, by Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, Mrs. Poultney Bigelow and Mrs. A. J. Boice. New Market's members are Mrs. J. A. Cubberly, Mrs. L. Squier and Mrs. Z. Grenell. Westfield's are Mrs. A. F. Grant and Mrs. C. F. Oxley.

The vexed question of how to rotate the managers out of office has been settled by the decision that the first 100 shall decide by lot which 33 shall drop out at the end of the first year and which 33 the second year. The remaining 34 shall serve four years, and each year as many shall be elected, for three years, as there are vacancies to fill.

KING'S DAUGHTERS ENTERTAIN.

Their Friends "Drop a Nickle, and Pull the Spider's Leg".

A very happy time was had at 59 North avenue, last evening, at the strawberry and ice-cream festival arranged by the Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters, of the Trinity Reformed church. Besides the refreshments, which were deliciously served by sweet young maidens, there were many things to feast the eye and to entertain. The flower booth in the centre of the room was a very pretty arrangement of evergreens and clover blossoms, entwined about rustic wood-work. The fancy tables, lemonade well, cake stands, and other divisions, were all well patronized. The spider—"pay five cents and pull his leg"—was a novelty, and a source of much amusement. The "legs" were strings, stretched out in all directions from the spider's body. Attached to each string was a prize package, which a nickle abstracted from the depths of a barrel. The main colors of the decorations were the colors of the King's Daughters society, white and royal purple.

In every way the first night of the festival was a success. It will be repeated this evening. The proceeds will be contributed to the church debt fund.

Eloped in Search of Happiness.

John B. Gable, the wife deserter, writes from New York to a former fellow-fireman that he thinks Gazelle Engine Company very unfair and unkind in expelling him from office and membership. He wonders why he was n't "given a show" to resign, and be saved from the disgrace of expulsion. He says that his life the past three years has been a "hell on earth", and that in his flight with Mrs. Avery he sought happiness amid other surroundings and distant scenes. He thinks that he and his paramour will make their home in Chicago.

Robbers Who Like to Read.

That all Plainfield people are not as honest as they ought to be, and that dishonesty is not confined to the ignorant and illiterate, is proved by the testimony of Miss E. L. Adams, public librarian, who reports that 24 books have been stolen from the Job Male building during the past two years. An expenditure of $18.50 would have secured ownership of the coveted property honestly.

Prefer Fiction to Philosophy.

The Plainfield public library now contains 10,274 volumes. The number of regular patrons drawing books by cards is 2,059. During the 12 months just ended the circulation of books reached a total of 20,134, and the number of visits to the building was 29,767. The proportion of fiction read was 11,205. Philosophy was least patronized, being read only 84 times.

That's Right Crescents: Play Home Teams.

The Westfield Leader says: "We are glad to announce that a series of games has been arranged between the Crescents of Plainfield, and the Westfields. The dates have not yet been arranged, but they are the only thing in the way, and the Crescents will soon either wax or wane before or under the skillful playing of Westfield's boss team".

TO-MORROW'S BALL GAME.

It Will be an Indication as to the Standing of Plainfield's and Somerville's Teams.

The original Acmes, of New York, is the ball team that is to play the Crescents to-morrow afternoon. They were beaten by the West Ends, at Somerville, last Saturday, by a score of 14 to 5. It is to be hoped Plainfield will do as well, because to-morrow's score will be some sort of an indication of what will be the result next Saturday, June 13, when the Crescents meet the West Ends for the first time this season.

The Acme team that played the Somervilles last Saturday, was composed of Jack Hatfield, as catcher, (who played right field for the Crescents last year); Riners, second base; Sutter, left field; Ridley, pitcher; Heiser, short stop; Rafferty, centre field; J. Skelley, first base; Keinth, third base; D. Skelley, right field. But the manager of the Acmes assures Manager Green of the Crescents that he will take a stronger team to Plainfield than he did to Somerville. So compare the team that comes here to-morrow with the team mentioned above, before deciding the merits of Somerville's and Plainfield's teams by the scores of last Saturday and to-morrow.

Last year's games with the Acmes, resulted as follows: April 19—Acmes, 7; Crescents, 2; June 7—Crescents, 3; Acmes, 0; July 12—Crescents, 10; Acmes, 9.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Philip McIntyre, of 139 West Seventh street, is recovering from her serious illness.

District Deputy Grand Master Anthony Schoder will visit Anchor Lodge, F. and A. M., next Tuesday evening.

William Archibald Coddington, of this city, was admitted to the bar yesterday, and is now an attorney at law.

Miss Ethel Green, of East Fifth street, ruptured the ligaments of her ankle, a day or two ago, by a bad fall from her bicycle. The injury is a painful and slow-healing one.

Mrs. Matilda Manning, wife of L. L. Manning of West Seventh street, whose critical condition was reported in these columns yesterday, died at five o'clock this morning. She was 48 years of age. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The East New Jersey Baptist Association, which has been celebrating its semi-centennial jubilee in Jersey City, this week, with the Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes and the Rev. A. R. Dilts participating, will meet next year at Scotch Plains. At the concluding session of the jubilee O. B. Leonard, of this city, delivered an appropriate and interesting address.

Warren H. Rice, of North Plainfield, is the latest addition to the ranks of editors and publishers. He has just issued the first number of Once-a-Month, an 8-page paper, "Devoted [as is usual] to the interest of all". It has an "agricultural department" which will recommend it to the bucolical; and "next month", it is promised, "there will be some local items".

Dr. Arthur M. Kimball, of this city, who has been for the last five years the associate in physics at Johns Hopkins University, has just accepted the chair of physics at Amherst College. The trustees of the college have appropriated $50,000 for the erection and equipment of a complete physical laboratory, and Dr. Kimball will go to Amherst about August 1, to superintend the plans and building of it. He is the youngest son of Dr. Horace Kimball of East Fifth street, and the brother of Kate F. Kimball, General Secretary of the C. L. S. C., and Samuel F. Kimball of Franklin place.

Lawyer Edward C. Perkins, of Central avenue, is fighting the elevated railways in New York city in their efforts to destroy the rights of the property-owners. If the managers of the elevated railways win what they are striving for, they will virtually secure for their unlimited use the remainder of the metropolitan streets for nothing, without any recourse on the part of the owners of the abutting property, and will take away from the people their right to maintain suits for damages and secure judgments against the railway encroachments. Mr. Perkins represents a large syndicate of property-owners interested.

A delightful luncheon was served at the hospitable home of Mrs. George Lissignolo, East Front street, yesterday afternoon, in honor of her guest, Mrs. Ferdinand C. Buttman. The ladies were charmingly entertained, and the fact that the affair was entirely informal added to its pleasantness. The favors were dainty boxes of bon-bons, decorated in silver and royal purple. Among those present were Mrs. Craft, Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, Miss Schipper, Mrs. William Myers, Mrs. DeWitte C. Ivins, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Stover, Mrs. Hellwig, Miss Hellwig, Mrs. William Stillman, Mrs. Charles R. Thiers, Mrs. R F. R. Huntsman, Mrs. Walter Irving Clarke, Mrs. Brown of Jersey City Heights, and Mrs. Schuker of Westfield.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for six weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am nearly cured, and yet it seems too good to be true. Have no doubt but that much of the sleeplessness people complain of is caused by indigestion.

The State Must Pay the Commissions.

BOSTON, June 5.—The Legislative Judiciary Committee has submitted its report on the Davis claim for $14,000 commission for his services at Washington in securing the refunding of the Direct Tax. The committee says that the Legislature cannot impair a contract and the Executive must settle the matter. The report is on the message of the Governor asking as to the legality of a contract, claimed to be held by Davis with the State and under which he claims to be entitled to the commissions stated.

They Want Dillon for Leader.

DUBLIN, June 5.—A strong effort is being made to settle the Irish troubles by forming a union of the factions under the leadership of John Dillon. The project is advocated by many of the Irish Members of Parliament and Archbishop Croke. It is stated that William O'Brien favored Justin McCarthy as the party's leader.

No English Interference.

LONDON, June 5.—Sir James Ferguson, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, denied in the House of Commons that England had pledged herself to employ either her naval or military forces in the defense of Italian interests against French attack, as represented in the recently published letter of M. Millevoge.

The Storm in Indiana.

LA PORT, June 4.—Reports are coming in of great damage by the terrific hurricane and hail storm which struck this section Wednesday night. The storm was especially severe in this city. The roof the warehouse of King & Fildes, woolen dealers, was blown off, and $40,000 worth of flannels soaked. The roof of the Quaker Church was torn off, the new City Hall badly damaged and the fronts of several stores blown in.

He Has Genuine Hydrophobia.

ASBURY PARK, June 5.—A three hours' consultation between Doctors Kinmouth, Johnson and Wilbur and David W. Bartine, brother of the lawyer who was bitten by a cat, and Mrs. Reading, his sister, last night. All agree that the patient has genuine hydrophobia and is passing into the last stages.

Cadets Appointed.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 5.—Reports from the residence of Sir John Macdonald, are to the effect that the old Premier is slowly sinking.

Owen Appointed.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The President appointed William D. Owen of Logansport, Ind., Superintendent of Immigration.

A Boy's Sentence Commuted.

ALBANY, June 5.—Governor Hill commuted the sentence in the case of the boy Frederick Easton, who entered a farm house in Wyoming in 1888 and stole $4.20 and was sent to Auburn Prison for 26 years by the late Judge Corlettee. Under the commutation the sentence will expire to-day. The case has attracted some attention because of the alleged severity of the sentence.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed.—Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

A good shoe is like a good friend—it will not disappoint you when you call upon it for real service. You know a good friend by trying him, and that's the way you can test a shoe; but the trouble in the case of the shoe is that, when you've tried it, you must keep it, whether it's good or not. You won't complain about having to keep our shoes, because we know what they are when we sell them, and what we know we let you know before you buy. THE TROLLEY IS THE THING.

Even Cable Railway Companies Are Being Forced to Change.

Those Plainfielders who have been clamoring for a cable railway and against the trolley will be interested to learn that of late there has been a marked tendency on the part of the street railway companies who are using cables on their lines to relinquish, in favor of the electric motor, the power with which they have superseded the horse. One of the most striking instances of this is the action just taken by the cable street railway company of Grand Rapids, who propose to remodel the whole of their system. The importance of this step may be gathered from the fact that their present cable system represents an investment of over $2,000,000, and the cost of substituting electric traction, of the improved trolley pattern, is estimated at $700,000. The constant occurrence of similar changes throughout the country is a significant indication of the growing confidence in the trolley for street railways.

In St. Paul, where not long ago a brand-new cable plant valued at $400,000 was consigned to the scrap heap in order that the street railway company might install electric trolley cars on its lines, an ingenious method has been adopted for the laying of the dust which in summer time causes much annoyance to passengers. A line of water cars, very much after the fashion of the ordinary street sprinklers, are being built, and on each water car is mounted a tank 6 by 6 and 12 feet long. Two or three cars will be connected by hose and attached to the locomotive, so that one train can sprinkle the whole track. The journey between St. Paul and Minneapolis will thus, in future, be as rapid and pleasant as it was formerly tedious and distressing, and the inhabitants of those cities are looking forward with much satisfaction to the prospect of cool and enjoyable travel.

Attention, New Jersey Comrades.

The ninth annual reunion of the surviving members of the 11th regiment, New Jersey Vols., will be held in Westminster church, at Phillipsburg, on Tuesday, June 16.

It is earnestly hoped that every member of the old regiment will—even at a sacrifice—meet again the comrades whose ties of friendship were welded in the fires of battle. Let no other association or organization keep you away from your Regimental Reunion. These were your comrades. These it were with whom you marched side by side and bared your breasts to the terrible shock of battle upon a hundred fields. These were your companions, whom you knew and loved, and these are the ones to whom you owe your first allegiance. If other organizations and reunions keep you away from your regimental meeting our association must, of necessity, droop and die.

Therefore, come and meet the boys with whom you stood upon the line. Come where rank and title do not hold high carnival, but where we can look each other in the eye, and grasp each other by the hand, and recite the story of the camp, the bivouac, the march and the battle, and where we can pay a tribute of respect to the honor and valor of those who can proudly claim that he, too, was a member of our famous regiment.

The Rev. E. Clark Cline, late Chaplain of the 11th regiment, is the pastor of Westminster church, and it is hoped that every survivor of the regiment will honor with his presence the loyal patriot, the Christian counselor, and devoted friend who did so much for them during the days of trial and danger. Through his efforts a beautiful memorial window has been erected in the Westminster church in memory of the comrades of the 11th regiment who have passed away.

The Ladies' Relief Corps, of Phillipsburg, have taken the matter of our reception in hand, and an abundance to eat and a warm welcome will be given to all who may attend. Do not forget that your wives and daughters have always a special invitation. BISHOP W. MAINS, Sec'y 11th Regt. Association.

Cheaper Fares to Jersey.

(From The Elizabeth Journal.)

Travel between New York and Brooklyn is now free to foot passengers on the big bridge. Every such reduction of fare, however small, increases competition between Long Island and New Jersey, and the latter should, in some way, be put upon an equal footing. Reduced railroad fares is one of the most desirable schemes that could be put in operation for the benefit of New Jersey property, and for the benefit of the railroad companies. If property-owners in all the cities and towns along the lines of railroad were to combine and urge upon the railroad companies the advantages of greatly reduced fares, it is entirely probable that something worth while could be effected. There is now an enormous tide of travel toward the beautiful suburban sections of New Jersey, and it should not be diverted in any other direction by a reduction of fare that is not at once met by a corresponding reduction in this direction. Travel to New Jersey is becoming more and more convenient each day. West street, New York, is spanned by bridges, the ferry boats run more rapidly and are more comfortable than formerly, and the trains are larger, faster and more accommodating than ever. New Jersey is destined to be the home of tens of thousands of business men, who go daily to and from New York, and cheaper fares are a necessity that is becoming more pressing each succeeding year. By and by there will be a big bridge—or possibly two of them—spanning the Hudson river; one for foot passengers, carriages and small cable cars, the other for steam cars and to accommodate the big railroads. Besides these there will also be a tunnel, and with all these must be a great reduction in fares.

Her Pastor Pays Homage to Her Dust.

In a recent issue of The Sabbath Recorder the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis pays the following glowing tribute to the memory of a former member of his congregation:

Juliet Randolph Titsworth was born at New Brooklyn, Sept. 12, 1802. She passed from this life to the kingdom of the redeemed, at South Plainfield, May 1, 1891, having completed nearly ninety years of life.

She was married to Deacon A. D. Titsworth in 1819. He went before her to the home beyond in 1869, just before the time for their golden wedding.

Sister Titsworth was baptized by the Rev. Wm. B. Maxson, D. D., and she united with the Seventh-Day Baptist church at New Market, about 1833. She became one of the constituent members of the church of Plainfield, in 1838, which membership she adorned by a worthy life until the Master transferred her to the Church Triumphant. Though an invalid for several years, from a slowly developing palsy, and though shut out from earth through blindness, and almost total deafness, she continued to express a lively interest in the church and its work. After she was unable to attend the public services she sought to know the details of every service, Scripture lesson, hymn, sermon, etc. She truly loved the gates of Zion. Her distinguishing characteristic was femininity. She was pre-eminently womanly, quiet, modest and domestic; yet she was strong to bear the burdens and cares of a long life. Eight stars were in the crown of her motherhood—five sons and three daughters. Four sons have gone hence, and the hands of her grandchildren bore her dust to its resting place. So the weariness of earth gave place to the rest of heaven.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's New Summer Excursion-Route Book.

The Pennsylvania railroad's Summer excursion-route book for the season of 1891, just from the press, is undoubtedly one of the most elaborate reference compendiums issued by any railroad company in the world. The company this year has used new illustrations, printed on a very high grade of paper, while a decided departure from the old cover heretofore binding the work is seen in the new one, which is beautifully illuminated, and would do credit to the brush of a Rossi, so cleverly French is it in every detail. The new map embraces a territory from Canada to the Carolinas, and from the British possession of New Brunswick to beyond the Great Inland Lakes. When comparison is made with this volume of 272 pages, 100 illustrations, and over 1500 routes, a book which enters its year of manhood the first day of June, 1891, and the tiny pamphlet of 24 pages and 63 routes issued twenty-one years ago by the Pennsylvania railroad, and considered at that time a marvelous departure in railroad advertising, the growth is hardly credible.

7,000 Converts Through Mr. Mills.

The Rev. B. Fay Mills has been pursuing his evangelistic work at Cleveland, Ohio. As usual, he was supported by a union of the principal evangelical churches. In that city of 200,000 inhabitants the idea of observing Wednesday as a "mid-week Sabbath" was widely respected, and fully one-half of the business houses and many of the manufactories were closed. In one week more than 7,000 people signed cards signifying their intention of becoming Christians, and most of these have since made arrangements to join the church.

Will Keep Him to Pitch Against Plainfield.

Pitcher O'Neill, of the Westfield baseball team, has received a very flattering offer from the Corinthian Club of Staten Island, but has not yet decided to ask for a release. It is needless to add—remarks the Westfield Leader—that Manager Codding will do his best to retain O'Neill, as will for his personal as his professional qualifications.

JERSEY CENTRAL STOCK.

An Increase of $2,700,000 to Meet Extraordinary Expenses.

For the purpose of making permanent provision for the payment of extraordinary expenses during the last three years, the Directors of the Jersey Central Railroad will exercise the authority vested in them of increasing the capital stock of the company to the amount of about $3,700,000.

A circular just issued by President Maxwell contains the statement that $8,773,465 has been expended within three years upon terminal and other stations, office building, new equipment, third and fourth tracks, and for bonds and stock in leased lines. Of this large amount $5 358,566 was provided by surplus earnings in excess of dividends paid, leaving a requirement of $3,414,899 in addition to the amount needed during the present year to complete the office building, new stations, etc. This arrangement will leave $6,434,900 of general mortgage bonds reserved in the treasury.

Stockholders of record at the close of business on Monday, the 8th inst., will be entitled to subscribe on or before Monday, the 15th inst., for the new stock at par to the extent of 20 per cent. of their recorded ownership, being at the rate of twenty new shares at $100 per share for each 100 old shares. Subscriptions will be payable in installments of 25 per cent. each, June 15, July 1, July 15, and Aug. 1, with interest at 6 per cent. from May 1.

DUNELLEN DOINGS.

Interesting Items from a Thriving Borough, by Our Own Correspondent.

The members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Dunellen Presbyterian church are preparing for an entertainment, to be given in the basement of the church, Friday evening, June 12, which promises to be a very pleasant event.

The Christian Endeavor Societies of Dunellen, New Market and Warren Union Mission of Plainfield, are making arrangements for an excursion up the Hudson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dunham have returned from a visit to the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Skellenger, now at Albany, and formerly of Dunellen.

The singing society under the leadership of Mr. Roe has met with great success. It now has 60 members. They are practicing for a concert to be given in June. This singing society is something Dunellen has needed a long time to arouse the young people so that they may keep up with their neighboring towns.

The Smith property, opposite the school-house, has been rented to a family from Brooklyn, who will take possession about the 6th of June.

INDOOR ARTILLERY.

A Clever Trick Which Enhances the Value of Empty Bottles.

If you are asked: "Would you hear the report of a cannon, with the loud noise which frightens nervous people, see the shell start with the rapidity of lightning, and at last assist at the phenomenon of the recoil of a piece of artillery?" you may bravely answer: "Yes!" for the experiment which I offer here is of the most innocent description, as you may judge for yourself.

Take a thick glass bottle; fill it three-quarters full of water, dissolve in that water about a dessertspoonful of bicarbonate of soda. Make a cylinder of a large card; stop up one end of it with a piece of crumpled tissue paper, and put into this cylinder a dessertspoonful of tartaric acid. Fasten the cartridge thus manufactured by a pin and thread to the cork of the bottle, which is placed upright on the table. Let the opening of the cartridge be at the top, and regulate the length so that it does not touch the water. Then cork the bottle tightly.

Now our cannon is loaded, all that remains to be done is to fire it off; for this purpose, place the bottle carefully in a horizontal position on two pencils laid parallel on the table, to form a gun carriage. The water penetrating the tube or cartridge will dissolve the tartaric acid and the carbonic acid gas which will be the result will force the cork out of the bottle with a violent explosion. By the effect of this reaction the bottle will roll back, imitating the recoil of a piece of artillery.—Churchman

Shiloh's Cough Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

HE PAYS THE FREIGHT.

Jones, of Binghamton, and His Gubernatorial Boom.

The relation between politics and advertising suggests itself as a subject for comment in connection with the candidacy of Lieutenant Governor Jones—better known as "Jones of Binghamton"—for the governorship of New York state. Mr. Jones is rarely mentioned in the newspapers without some reference to the business he has so successfully advertised and his peculiar catch phrase, "Jones, He Pays the Freight." It is true that the advertiser who comes into political prominence is a favorite mark for the shafts of the humorous paragrapher, but at the same time the conspicuousness which his newspaper advertisements have given him helps his chances for political success, while his individual prominence reacts in a helpful way upon his business interests. If the advertiser does not succeed with his political aspirations he can find consolation in the large number of free reading notices which have been generously given him by the newspapers. Incidentally, the value of a good catch phrase makes itself felt. What fun the newspapers would have if the proprietor of such a unique phrase as "He won't be happy 'till he gets it," or "You press the button, we do the rest," should become a candidate for public office!—Printers' Ink.

Patronize Home Industries.

Next to the deep abiding interest which every man has in his individual possessions is the pride and satisfaction he feels in seeing his town prosper and its people happy. Too many men, selfish in the extreme, are envious of their neighbor's prosperity, and hence we see many who patronize foreign establishments for everything they need rather than buy at home and help their own town. Many articles that are bought elsewhere are no better or cheaper than those offered by home dealers. This shortsightedness does not permit them to see that their interests are identified with those with whom they are continually coming in contact in the everyday affairs of life.

Now it seems to us that a man in the community in which he lives can get anything good enough for himself without sending away to other places for it. Every resident should take sufficient interest in the town in which he lives to do his trading and thus keep the money in circulation in his own community. In short, if you want to kill a town and invite hard times to your door import everything you can and export as little as possible. Patronize your home business men and mechanics, and see what a difference it will make.

Where Modesty Is Out of Place.

Apropos of the Hon. Thomas B. Reed's remarks on advertising made at the dinner of the Federal club, the New York Sun says: "Modesty is out of place in an advertiser. His business is to recommend his goods and to put his advertisement of them in the most alluring and convincing form that occurs to him. If he habitually exaggerates his customers will find him out in time and will cease to be attracted by his advertisements; but habitual understatement is not required of him."

A Good Advertiser Gone.

In the death of P. T. Barnum the advertising world lost a stanch friend and advocate. The great showman never lost an opportunity to preach the possibilities of printers' ink. Although not a typical advertiser—his field lying outside of ordinary paths—he was an enterprising and energetic one, and he has always been quoted—as he deserved to be—as one of the shining examples of success attained through judicious advertising.—Printers' Ink.

Advertise Wisely.

In this age of keen competition a man must advertise and advertise wisely. He must give the same attention to his advertising as he does to his stock and store. An advertisement forms an impression on the mind of the reader, and it means a great deal to the advertiser that that impression be a favorable one, and that it be fully sustained in the establishment.—Exchange.

Physicians May Advertise.

We believe the time is fast coming when all progressive physicians will feel at liberty to advertise as freely as men engaged in other business, and there is no reason why they should not do so, except the restrictions laid down in an ancient code that not one doctor in ten has ever read, but of which the average physician stands in mortal terror.—Covert Medical News.

Perseverance Pays.

It is the untiring, unremitting, everlasting, never-take-no-for-an-answer appeal to the eyes of the people who want their hair to grow, by the people who have something for sale which they say will make the hair grow, that carries the day, splatters the hair tonics over innumerable scalps and puts fortunes in the banks to the credit of the advertiser.

Value of the Local Paper.

Successful advertisers supplement their city advertising by using the local country weeklies. City papers are generally valuable, but they do not supply the entire needs of advertisers. To advertise thoroughly and successfully the country weeklies must be used as well.—Beals.

Intelligence and Cleanliness.

Frank Siddall, the Philadelphia soap man, says: "I have confined my advertising entirely to newspapers. The man who does not read a newspaper does not use soap."

A Natural Suspicion.

A large advertisement once, and then discontinued, creates the impression that the man has failed.

The Watchword.

The man who tries to advertise
With printer's ink consistent,
One word must learn, nor from it turn,
And that one word's persistent.

THE CITY'S FUTURE AT STAKE.

SIXTEEN SEASONABLE QUESTIONS THAT GO RIGHT TO THE ROOT OF IT ALL.

The People's ex-Mayor Wants to Know (Besides Much Else) Whether the People Who now Claim to Own the City for Water Purposes are not Those who Already own it for Gas Purposes, and Whether the Quality of the Former is to be as the Latter and at Prices as "Generous".

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Lack of time prevents my compliance with your kindly repeated request for my views on the Water Works and Sewerage question. I can only say now that it is not only my opinion but that of every man well informed on the subject, whom I have met, that the question is one and not two. The experience of all cities shows that water supply and sewerage should be dealt with together and not separately.

Though I cannot now write an article on this subject, I may venture to ask a few questions—the answers to which may be made by the Council and officers of the city of Plainfield, or by the so-called Plainfield Water Supply Company, at their convenience.

1. Is there any reasonable probability that the party who twenty-two years ago lobbied through a special act enabling it to supply Plainfield with water, and afterward abandoned the job without taking a single step toward its practical accomplishment, is today a legal corporation in full force under that act?

2. Who were the persons in the Legislature—and out of the Legislature—in 1869 and half a dozen years afterward (when they tried to cure delinquencies and revamp legislation) who attended to this legislation, and what present relation do those persons now bear to the Plainfield Water Supply Company?

3. Why are these parties now so anxious to pay the trifling expenses of the current litigation as a quid pro quo for the abandonment by the city of its resistance to their pretensions?

4. Are any of the manipulators and managers of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, who propose to own the city for water supply purposes, the same men who are the managers of the gas and electric light interests, who practically own the city for these purposes? If so, may the city expect from them the same quality of water as it has had of gas, and on like generous terms?

5. Have property purchasers in Plainfield for the past twenty-two years, understood that in purchasing they were acquiring only an equity in property, subject to rights, liable at any moment to be exercised under an ancient charter of a close corporation?

6. Is it wise to consent to a monopoly in any form in the hands of a corporation in respect to our water supply? If so, should that monopoly be given to parties who already monopolize the other matters of public need and supply?

7. Why should Plainfield rush into water supply or sewerage, without proper care for the interests of the city, when she has now the reputation and record of being the healthiest city of her size in New Jersey, and one of the healthiest cities in the country, and when there is danger that, having water without sewerage, or water and sewerage together without proper precautions taken, she may lose her fair reputation?

8. Why — morally and reasonably speaking—should the city of Plainfield have foisted upon it the tail end and ruin of a defunct and irresponsible concern?

9. Why—from the same point of view—should the wreck of an Elizabeth investor's speculations even though grafted on a long forgotten charter (so-called) be palmed off on the Plainfield public?

10. Though it may be doubted whether or not Mr. Marsh's plea before the court (representing the great detriment to Plainfield of water supply without sewerage) was really a legal argument—was it not nevertheless an argument based on truth and correct premises? If so, why should it be abandoned until we are driven into the last ditch?

11. After Mr. Marsh had stated to the court that he intended in his answer to call in question the existence of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, why was his answer put in void of any such radical and vital count?

12. If there was any good reason then for not going to the root of the matter, why should not the step be taken now; either by quo warranto, bill in equity, or any other available method?

13. Is there any good reason why, in defending itself against unreasonable schemes, the city of Plainfield should not have the best legal assistance it can obtain?

14. Is there any one remark made by the Mayor regarding the necessity for the city's owning its own sewerage works, which does not apply with equal force—or even greater force—to the necessity for owning its water works?

15. Is there any sense in the public's being stampeded by an outcry against the "Big Six", and the evil doings of the "Great Combine"? Let the "Big Six" make its own record, and let the public commend or condemn it on its record. But, merely because it wants a thing is not a final reason for condemning that thing; nor, because it opposes a thing, should the rest of the Council and the citizens rush off to sanction it.

16. Is there any one reason why the city of Plainfield should not now begin its way of dealing with the water and sewerage question by getting the control of the situation back into its own hands, so that it can deal with this subject in its own true interest, and so that its Common Council can pass ordinances that will have the respect alike of the people and the courts?

L. V. F. RANDOLPH.

English Speaking Indians.

It is a common mistake to suppose that most of the Indians can speak English, says a trader. I presume not to exceed one-fourth of the Yanktons speak English. The various tribes of the Sioux use practically the same language, though there are slight differences between the tribes located in different sections of the country or on reservations at some distance apart. But of the Yanktons, a comparatively small number speak English. About the same proportion of the Santee tribe uses the language, and the number of English speaking Indians in the other tribes is still smaller. They have much less need of the English language now than formerly. The Yanktons have an excellent school where they are educated in their own language. John P. Williamson, the missionary who has been working with them for many years and whose father before him was an Indian missionary, has reduced their language to a practical system of orthography, compiled a dictionary, and translated a number of books into the Indian tongue. Most of the Indians can now read and write their native language.—Sioux City Journal.

IMPORTANT IN SPRING.

Advice what People Should Take During the Spring Months—A Remedy Certain to Produce Beneficial Results.

In the Spring everybody begins to think of taking a Spring medicine. Not only is this a very common practice, but a very necessary and healthful one. It is a fact which physicians acknowledge and the people recognize generally, that a Spring tonic taken during the months of March, April and May is more conducive to the restoration of health in cases of those who are sick than any other course of treatment that could possibly be adopted.

It is further understood by everybody that even for those who call themselves well it is very important at this season of the year, if they would maintain good health and vigor, to take a Spring remedy to strengthen and invigorate the nerves, tone up the action of all the organs, and thus, by creating a healthy condition of the nerves, blood, stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, assist Nature in the efforts she always makes in the Spring to cleanse, purify and invigorate the system.

In the Spring there are great and important changes going on in the body. Perfect health cannot be maintained when the system is clogged and the organs sluggish, and the person has a languid and weakened feeling, with more or less nervousness and debility. If the person has previously been sick these symptoms will be much aggravated; there will be a weak, tired and nervous condition, with sleepless and restless nights, a tired waking in the morning, no appetite for breakfast, a bad taste in the mouth, dull head, and general dispirited feelings. In severe cases there will be a feeling of great exhaustion and prostration and the nervousness will be very marked, with no inclination for exertion, the work of the day being done with an effort.

For such cases as these be sure and use that remarkable invigorator and tonic, Dr. Greene's Nervura, the great nerve, brain and blood invigorant. It is pronounced by everybody, doctors as well as the people, to be the best Spring medicine in existance, and has taken rank as the greatest and most important medical discovery of modern times. Under the use of this wonderful remedy that weak, tired and nervous feeling disappears; the nerves become strong and steady, the nights are restful, and the sleep natural and refreshing; the appetite returns, good digestion and regular action of the bowels are established, the kidneys and liver are restored to healthy action, and the vital energies, strength and vigor of the system perfectly built up.

This truly remarkable Spring remedy, which is purely vegetable and harmless, is for sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle, and if any one desires to be perfectly and permanently cured of those disagreeable feelings, weakness and exhaustion incident to Spring, take our urgent recommendation and get a bottle of this medicine. It will well repay you, as we can testify from our own experience of its marvelous curative powers, and you have our assurance that you will not be disappointed. Be sure and ask for Dr. Greene's Nervura as druggists sometimes recommend their own preparation or something on which they make a greater profit. Do not be persuaded to take any other remedy in place of this, as we really believe that this is the greatest and best of all Spring medicines.

Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth St., New York, its discoverer, is the famous specialist in the cure of nervous and chronic diseases. The doctor has devoted special attention to the treatment of all forms of chronic diseases through letter correspondence, and will give by mail his opinion and advice in any case free of charge. The perfection of this system renders a complete cure almost assured, as his success in treatment by correspondence is wonderful and unequalled.

N. B. Send for symptom blank to fill out, or write Dr. Greene about your case, and a carefully considered letter, fully explaining your disease and giving you a perfect understanding of all its symptoms will be returned, free of charge.

-S A Y:-

GOOD value in seasonable goods will rule at our store this week. Every department is packed full of goods bought for hard cash, and at prices that are way below their marked value; and as we bought, so we will sell.

BEST Mexican Grass Hammocks, 90c each.

HOW that last case of Fine Satines went out; and no wonder—goods that are well worth 20c, for 10c per yard. Another case opened to-day. Same price.

CURTAIN Poles, all complete, 19c each.

HOW about a Blouse or Shirt Waist for these warm days? We have them in all kinds and styles, and our prices are as usual, the lowest.

FOUR Dollars buys a first-class Baby Carriage.

WE put on sale the entire stock of sample Parasols, bought direct from the manufacturers, at half regular price. Styles are the latest.

FIVE thousand yards best Shirting Prints, 4c per yard.

JAPANESE Portieres, for Porches; our prices $1.69 and $1.98 each. Just the thing to keep the sun out.

WE open to-day five cases extra fine Dress Ginghams; the lafest styles, and quality the best. Price 10c, as long as they last.

WINDOW Screens, 25c.

PRICES on Mattings have taken a tumble; and if they are wanted, you can save money by coming here for them.

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE.

THE OLD RELIABLE HOUSE,

BRIGGS WILL STAY

So Say the Union Theological Seminary Directors.

THE NOTABLE CASE REVIVED.

No Attention Will be Paid to the General Assembly's Action.

Dr. Briggs as Much in the Robinson Chair as He Ever Was—The Board of Directors Take Legal Advice—They Will Discharge Their Duties Under the Charter and Constitution.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The whole business of Dr. Briggs' position in the Union Theological Seminary is settled, so far as the directors of the institution are concerned. Dr. Briggs is there and will stay there. He is professor of Biblical theology now and will be next winter when the seminary reopens, just as much as if the General Assembly had never been born. In other words, Union Theological Seminary stands by its guns and affirms its independence.

An important meeting of the directors was held with closed doors, and after some debate it was decided to ignore the jurisdiction of the General Assembly, recently convened in Detroit, in its action with regard to the Rev. C. A. Briggs. There were but three members absent, the Rev. Dr. Holmes and laymen John Taylor Johnston and William E. Dodge.

The Assembly, after a two-day debate a week ago, voted to disapprove of Dr. Briggs's transfer from the professorship of Hebrew to the chair of Biblical Theology. The vote was 440 to 59. Yesterday the directors discussed the vote and then passed the following resolution, the vote being 10 to 2:

"Resolved, That this board of directors, after having taken legal advice, and after due consideration see no reason to change their views on the subject of the transfer of Rev. Professor Briggs and feel bound in the discharge of their duties, under the charter and constitution, to adhere to the same views."

The Rev. Dr. Hall was compelled to leave before the vote was cast.

After the meeting had adjourned the Rev. Dr. Clark of the Harlem Puritan Church thus expressed himself:

"The Directory stands by its guns! Dr. Briggs is at this moment just as much in the Robinson chair as he ever was, and as if the General Assembly had no existence. The Assembly says he must go! We directors say he shall stay!"

LOVE AND TRUST BETRAYED.

A Young Woman of High Social Position Dies on Her Father's Doorstep.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., June 6.—A sad story of love and trust betrayed comes from Petersburg, in this county. At daybreak the body of Miss Annie M. Herncame, aged 24, was found on the front step of her father's residence. Miss Herncame was highly gifted intellectually, and was of high social position. She was well known throughout Central Penhsylvania as a prominent temperance advocate. She was to have been married this month, but three weeks ago her accepted suitor mysteriously disappeared.

The coroner's inquest revealed the fact that Miss Herncame was about to become a mother and had taken poison to cover up her shame. The whole community is so stirred up over the affair that dire vengeance is threatened her betrayer should he be caught.

Sudden Death of a Prominent Mason.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 6.—Fred. L. Wiseman, one of the most prominent Free Masons in New Jersey, died very suddenly at his home here during the night. Mr. Wiseman retired at his usual hour in apparently good health. An hour afterward when his wife was about to retire she found him dead. Besides being a Mason of the highest degree, he was connected with many other secret organizations. He was about 60 years of age.

"Bridgeport Dick's" Body.

DANBURY, Conn., June 6.—The body of the man found here Wednesday has been identified by Jailor Alexander of this place as Charles Maney, alias "Bridgeport Dick," of Bridgeport. The testimony adduced at the inquest points strongly toward the guilt of the man under arrest. Other arrests are expected.

A Youthful Incendiary.

BOSTON, June.—A boy named Walter C. Henza, aged 11 years, was arrested here last night on a charge of attempting to set fire to the Emerson Street School on Poplar street last Monday. The boy is a pupil of the school, and on Monday asked leave to go out. Shortly afterwards fire was discovered in one of the closets where a quantity of shavings had been put. There were several hundred children in the school at the time.

The Whiskey Trust in Complete Control.

CHICAGO, June 6.—The negotiations for the purchase of the only whiskey trust distilleries in the country have just been completed. They are the H. Schufeld Company distillery and the Calumet Distilling Company. The negotiations for the purchase of these companies have been carried on with great secrecy, and the announcement of the consummation of the purchases caused considerable surprise.

Gen. Schofield to Marry.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Maj.-Gen. John M. Schofield, commanding the army of the United States, smilingly admits that it is true that he will marry Miss Georgia N. Kilbourne, of Keokuk, Ia., on June 18, at St. John's Episcopal Church in that city.

Duncan Committed for Trial.

REWARD FOR MARSH.

The Mayor of Philadelphia Issues a Proclamation Offering $5,000.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—There is little change in the situation with respect to the Treasury scandal. Mayor Stuart approved the action of councils in reference to the reward for Marsh's arrest, and issued a proclamation offering $5,000 for his capture. This, with the $1,000 offered by Bondsman Wanamaker, makes the total $6,000. In the meantime Marsh seems to have made good his escape.

Gossip as to Bardsley's disposition of the State's money is still rife. It is one of the interesting points yet unsettled, and the belief is forming that not one cent of it found its way in the Keystone Bank.

From the county prison comes the information that ex-Treasurer Bardsley is improving in health, though considerably worried. As to Marsh, the government officials said this afternoon they were not making an effort to find him. They contend that their work ended when he was first arrested, and that now it is the duty of his bondsmen to find him.

HIS TERRIBLE STRUGGLE.

Lawyer Bartine's Physicians Resort to Mercury to Counteract Hydrophobia.

ASBURY PARK, June 6.—Lawyer Bartine, who was bitten by a cat, is still alive. His physicians, as a last resort, injected bicarbonate of mercury in order to counteract the effects of hydrophobia. His pulse at the last report made was 125.

Mr. Bartine cautioned his daughters to keep away from his bedside, as he feared he would do them harm. During the day he attempted to leap from a window, but was overpowered by his guard. He piteously begged to be allowed to kill himself.

MISS SMITH A BRIDE.

The Victim of Harry French's Tongue Weds Agent Merrill.

BOSTON, June 6.—Helen F. Smith, the young lady whom Harry French declared to be his wife, and who went away to Europe to get clear of him, was married at 2 p. m. to J. N. Merrill, the London agent of her father's piano company, who came back with Miss Smith on her return from Europe with the intention of thrashing Mr. French for his scandalous accusations against Helen and Merrill.

The wedding was private. It had been kept very quiet and was a modest affair, only a few intimate friends being present. For a time, at least, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill will live abroad, and the date of their permanent home-coming is not announced.

THE ITATA DELIVERED.

She Will Soon Start for San Diego Under Convoy.

IQUIQUE, via Galveston, June 6.—The Itata has been delivered to the American admiral with 5,000 rifles and 2,000,000 rounds of ammunition.

The Itata will soon return to San Diego under convoy.

Railroading in the Adirondacks.

ALBANY N. Y., June 6.—Attorney-General Tabor and the Forest Commission were notified during the day by agents in the Adirondack mountains that the railroad people had begun to trespass. The Attorney-General immediately telegraphed back that he would at once proceed to serve the injunctions already in his hands, and restraining further building of any kind, unless the trespass was stopped.

The Elliott Murder Trial.

COLUMBUS, O., June 6.—The jury in the Elliott murder case was sworn in and attorneys for prosecution and defence made their statements as to what they expected the evidence to prove. During Attorney Converse's argument allusion was made to the offensive charges Osborn had published regarding the wives of the Elliotts. The defendant rose in his chair, made an exclamation of grief, and sank back weeping.

Connecticut's Political Contest.

NEW HAVEN, June 6.—A conference was held between Senators Fox and Holden and a member of the Democratic State Central Committee at which the Senators urged that Judge Morris and Dr. Alsop petition Chief Justice Andrews to call an extra session of the Supreme Court to dispose of the quo warranto suits.

Emery Has Assigned.

BOSTON, June 6.—Francis E. Emery, boot and shoe manufacturer, has assigned for the benefit of his creditors to Joseph B. Lincoln of this city and Hon. Frank Breed of Lincoln. Mr. Breed stated that all of Mr. Emery's property had been transferred to the assignees for the equal benefit, without preference, of all the creditors.

Hon. J. D. Decker Dead.

BROCKPORT, N. Y., June 6.—Hon. J. D. Decker, a prominent lawyer, died last night from a second stroke of apoplexy. Deceased was 56 years of age. Judge Decker was born in Hamptonburgh, Orleans County, this State, June 17, 1835, and graduated at Yale College in 1855. He leaves a widow and four adult children.

LONDON IS AROUSED

The Prince of Wales Denounced for Gambling.

A LEADING RADICAL'S VIEWS.

The Scandal Will Have an Influence on the Future of England.

Conservatives Fear that the Disclosures May Affect the Next Election—A Methodist Conference Discusses the Subject—Severe Comment from the Poor—The Trial Adjourned Until Monday.

LONDON, June 6.—In his argument for the defense in the baccarat scandal trial Sir Charles Russell asked now the plaintiff's conduct could possibly be consistent with innocence. Could anything, he said, be imputed to the witnesses to justify the assumption that they were not credible. He had never known, in his experience, five witnesses giving concurrent testimony so absolutely untouched by cross-examination.

Pending argument the court adjourned until Monday.

The developments of the baccarat trial have aroused the strong Nonconformist feeling against the class of which the Prince of Wales is the leader, and from the talk in the lobies of Parliament there is evidently fear that the disclosures may affect the next election unfavorably for the Conservatives.

It is among the middle classes and the poor that severe comments are heard on the incidents of Tranby Croft, and the public opinion of the multitude is evidently disposed to hold the Prince of Wales to responsibility for his indulgence in gambling.

A leading Radical remarked to-day that the Cumming scandal would have an influence on the future of Great Britain that could not be measured in this generation.

As stated in these dispatches Lord Middleton, brother-in-law of Sir William, has been his backer from the first in the effort to redeem his name from disgrace, and his lordship's appearance in court was the open assertion of the sympathy he has all along felt and displayed for his unfortunate relative. Cumming has many friends among the audience, and the fair portion especially seem to be his attentive admirers.

The South Wales Methodist Quarterly Conference adopted a resolution re-regretting that the Prince of Wales took part in a game of baccarat at Tranby Croft, thus by his example encouraging vice, and damaging the standing of the royal house in the estimation and affection of the people.

A RECEIVER WANTED.

The Central Company Crippled in the Recent Rubber Crash.

TRENTON, N. J., June 6.—The Eckstein White Lead Company, of Cincinnati, has filed a petition in the Court of Chancery, asking for the appointment of a receiver for the Central Rubber Company.

The petition states that the latter owed the White Company $1,077.30, and when called upon for a settlement of the account, Treasurer John P. Britton declared that the Central Rubber Company could not pay the bill, admitting at the same time the company's insolvency, owing to the fact that it had been endorsing heavily for the Star Rubber Company and the Hamilton Rubber Company, which were recently placed in the hands of a receiver.

According to the petition, a large portion of the assets of the Central consist of bills receivable from the Star and Hamilton concerns.

CHICAGO, June 6.—In a bill for the appointment of a receiver, filed in the United States Court here, by Anna W. Baird, of Pennsylvania, it is said that the Northwestern Rubber Company is hopelessly insolvent, and likely to collapse any day. The Company has a large store at 141 Lake street and a branch on State street. The liabilities are over $100,000 and the assets not much more than half that amount.

Work of White Caps.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., June 6.—A barn, containing valuable farming implements and 300 bushels of grain, belonging to Richard Ashman, of Tell Township, was burned last night. Loss, $4,000; no insurance. Ashman had been warned by White Caps that his property would be burned, but paid no attention to the matter. No reason can be given for the incendiary fire.

Mrs. Young Released.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., June 6.—The habeas corpus proceedings in the case of Mrs. Blanche Young, charged with poisoning her husband was heard here. The judge discharged the woman on the ground that there was not sufficient evidence to hold her.

Stabbed by His Step-Father.

BIRMINGHAM, Conn., June 6.—Patrick Hawley was probably fatally stabbed by his step-father, Christopher Humphrey, during a quarrel here.

YOUNG NOT GUILTY.

The Jury Acquit the Long Island Millionaire of Murder.

NEW YORK, June 6.—After an exciting trial at Riverhead, L. I., John D. Young, charged with the murder of his coachman, Carl Carson, brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Young is well connected, but since his marriage to a young German woman some years ago his family and relatives have become estranged.

He lived in a handsome villa at Bay View, on an allowance from his mother and spent his time boating and fishing. He is heir to $3,000,000.

The shooting and killing of Carson, according to the story of the defendant, was in self defense and the result of a hand to hand conflict with Carson, while the latter was intoxicated, and endeavoring to gain possession of one of Young's horses.

A Notorious Dive Burned.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 6.—At 3:45 a. m. the notorious Royal Palace variety dive, 36 Royal street, owned by Schonhausen, Plant & Co., was destroyed by fire. Loss, $25,000; insurance, $16,000. This is the dive to which Elbogen, the procurer, who was recently sent to State Prison in New York for five years, sent a number of virtuous girls, who were under the impression that they were to become respectable actresses. The destruction of the dive is pleasing to the people of this city.

Denied a New Trial.

PITTSBURG, June 6.—The Supreme Court refused to grant the application for a new trial in the case of Andrew Todt, George Rusnack and Michael Sabol, the Hungarians charged with murder during a riot at the Edgar Thompson steel works last New Year's, at which time Foreman Michael Quinn was murdered. The attorneys in the case will now endeavor to have the sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Germany's Fleet at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—The German fleet of three corvettes, the Leipsic, the Sophie and the Alexandriene, under command of Admiral Valois, arrived during the morning. Fully 200 officers and 1,800 men are on the vessels. The fleet is bound for Chilian waters and will coal and provision here, and also take on board supplies to be transferred to the German vessels now in South American waters.

A Boston Paper Sold.

BOSTON, June 6.—The rumors about the sale of the Boston Daily Evening Traveller to a committee of 100 are practically confirmed. A certificate of organization has been filed by the new company, the Traveller Publishing Company of Boston, capital $75,000, and with James B. Dunn as president.

Stone-Masons Return to England.

PITTSBURG, June 6.—Twenty-nine of the locked out stone-masons have left this city bound for their homes in England. The stone stone-masons have been locked out for seven weeks, with no prospect of an early change in the situation.

CANADA'S CRIMINALS

Sent to the United States in Violation of Law.

THEY DRIFT OVER THE BORDER.

Europe's Scheme to Avoid Complication With This Country.

Director-General Davis Talks About the World's Fair—There Will be a Display Such as Has Never Been Seen in This World—Investigating the Concord Accident—New Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A stricter enforcement of the immigration laws is one of the certainties of the near future.

The Treasury officials are fully in sympathy with the sentiment of the country in this regard, and from this time it will become more and more difficult for undesirable foreigners to find a lodgement in the United States.

Assistant Secretary Nettleton, who has the immediate control of immigration matters, is fully alive to their importance. He has given them careful and intelligent study. He has gone about his work, not in a spirit of bigotry, but in the belief that all Americans, native born and naturalized, are equally interested in keeping the idle, the vicious, the pauper and the unproductive immigrant from our shores.

In the course of an interview covering the general subject of immigration Assistant Secretary Nettleton was asked: "Has the wholesale shipping of paupers from other countries to the United States entirely ceased?"

"There is no real machinery of that kind at work now," he said. "We have learned, however, that in many provinces of Europe, or the small towns where undesirable persons have been found—such as idlers, thieves or questionable characters—steps have been quietly taken to provide them with means of deportation to the United States in order to be rid of them.

"A more extended and vicious system has recently been brought to our notice by a lady who came to this country as a steerage passenger in order to know something about our immigrants. She has informed me that in England it is the custom of some of the towns to ship Canada the inmates of workhouses and poorhouses as soon as their brief terms of imprisonment expire. These people are sent to Canada in order to avoid any complications that might arise from a violation of the international laws between this country and Great Britain, but they eventually drift over the border into the United States, where they expect to get along in some way."

DOUBLE HANGING.

Militia Ordered Out to Protect the Sheriff at the Execution.

FREMONT, Neb., June 6.—Charles Shephard and Chris Furst were hanged at 1 p. m. for the murder of Carlos T. Pulsifer, an aged farmer, near Crowell, Neb.

Pulsifer was quite wealthy, and as there was no bank in that village he carried his money with him at night. The two men planned to rob him, and on the night of December 10, 1889, they waylaid and shot him down, robbing the body of $30, which was all he had.

Governor Thayer refused to interfere with the findings of the court, and ordered out the militia to protect the sheriff at the execution and to keep people from tearing down the stockade in which the murderers were hanged. Both men confessed their guilt on the scaffold.

Germany Watching Portugal.

BERLIN, June 6.—The German government is watching events in Portugal very anxiously. A belief is growing that France is purposely withdrawing the political and financial support which she has hitherto accorded the Portuguese government, hoping thereby to force the monarchy into a corner, to arouse the spirit of the people and to bring about the declaration of a republic in Portugal, followed by a republic in Spain, which would be the natural result.

A Farmer Arrested for Forgery.

ROSCOE, N. Y., June 6.—Abner A. Hornbeck, a well known and respected farmer of Rochester, Ulster County, was arrested here charged with forging a note held by the State of New York Bank at Kingston. The arrest has caused a sensation.

PAYMASTER WARD'S CASE.

His Friends Explain About the Shortage in His Accounts.

NEW YORK, June 6.—A dispatch from Albany says the friends of Paymaster Frederick C. Ward, of the Delaware & Hudson road, claim that at the time of the collision between the pay car and the freight train at Oneonta three weeks ago, in which the paymaster was so severely injured, there was $45,000 in the pay car, which was thrown about and handled by several parties besides the paymaster.

From that time on his books have been in the possession of others, and a large amount was disbursed before his accounts were balanced and the shortage discovered. The auditor of the company balanced and approved Mr. Ward's accounts no longer ago than April 1, and as there is said to be simply an absence of vouchers, it is more than probable that some one since Mr. Ward's illness is responsible for carelessness in bookkeeping.

The road officers here say simply that the matter is in the hands of the Fidelity & Casualty Company, who are on Mr. Ward's bond. The Troy City National Bank officers, where the funds of the road are deposited subject to the paymaster's orders, have simply been notified of Mr. Ward's retirement and the succession of Charles V. Winne.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The arguments at Saratoga in the Tilden will case are concluded.

Wright & Smith, clothiers of Philadelphia, are financially embarrassed. Their liabilites are $40,000.

The police have seized the office of the "Revolta," a new journal, at Lisbon, and suppressed its publication.

Heavy frosts caused much damage to the crops in Somerset, Kennebec, Franklin and Oxford counties, Maine.

William McGibney, the Eastern Agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, died in New York at midnight from pneumonia.

Miss Ellen Terry, the actress, is ill in London with congestion of the lungs. Her condition is reported to be serious.

In a fire near Myersdale, Pa., two children were burned to death and nine other occupants of the house barely escaped in their night clothes.

Father John Brady of St. Joseph's Church, Amesbury, Mass., has been appointed by the Pope as coadjutor to Archbishop Williams of the Boston diocese.

Governor Russell of Massachusetts has signed the repealing bill permitting persons to take drinks at the bars of saloons while standing up.

Ex-Governor Henry Lippitt of Rhode Island died yesterday at Providence. He was born in 1818, and was a lineal descendent of John Lippitt, who came to this country in 1638.

In the Cambridge, Mass., Police Court thirty students of Harvard College were fined $65 each for having liquors stored in the rooms of the Alpha Delta Phi Club, of which they were members.

In the Massachusetts Legislature the bill taxing inheritances so that direct heirs pay no tax and collateral heirs pay 5 per cent. was passed in the Senate. The bill to regulate mercantile agencies was defeated in he House.

It is said that Governor Steele of Oklahoma, has been offered a position as Commissioner of Pensions by President Harrison. Governor Steele is an Indianian, and was appointed Governor by the President.

After a long conference between committees representing the Boot and Shoe Workers' International Union and the Knights of Labor Shoemakers, of Boston, they failed to reach a basis for consolidation of both organizations.

Governor Hill has appointed District-Attorney Hugh Reilly of Albany N. Y., Commissioner of the Board of Claims of New York State to succeed the late Judge Muller. The Governor also appointed Assistant District-Attorney Andrew Hamilton to succeed Mr. Reilly, promoted.

At Buffalo, N. Y., paper says the published statement to the effect that Speaker Sheehan is a candidate for the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor has been made entirely without his authority. Mr. Sheehan says emphatically that he is not a candidate for that nomination.

Returns just received by the Pennsylvania State Board of Agriculture give a promising crop outlook, especially with respect to wheat, which will be above the average for the past twenty years. Dry weather affected hay and oats somewhat. There will be an average crop of apples. Live stock reports indicate that the stock is hardly up to the average condition.

—This morning on the Phillips field the Resolutes defeated the Young Songsters in a game of base-ball by the score of 22 to 14. The battery for the Resolutes was Kline, pitcher, and Giles, catcher; for the Young Songsters, Mumford, pitcher, and Rice, catcher.

—Henry Williams, druggist, of Asbury Park, was convicted yesterday before Justice Wyckoff of that place on the charge of selling liquor contrary to the borough ordinance. He was fined $50 and costs. This is not the hustling young Asbury Park druggist, George Williams, who has a branch at Park avenue and Fourth street, this city.

—To the name of Dr. Penfield and Mrs Doty, who will participate in the organ concert at the First Baptist church next Tuesday evening, has been added that of John C. Dempsey, the baritone soloist, who was so favorably received by the Plainfield people in the oratorio of "The Messiah", given by the Choral Society last year. The concert promises to afford a rich treat to all lovers of good music and singing.

—For the convenience of the worshipers at the Church of our Saviour, Netherwood, two free stages will leave the railroad station, every Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The route for the larger stage will be, directly up Broadway and Woodland avenue, to the church. The route of the smaller stage will be, up Broadway, and through LaGrande and Putnam avenues. Both stages will make their return trip to Plainfield, immediately after the conclusion of the services.

Thrown From His Safety.

While Dr. Carmon was riding along Jerusalem road, near Westfield, the other day, his "safety became unmanageable going down a hill and the Doctor was thrown over its head. His forehead was cut and his arm so badly sprained that he now carries it in a sling. Fortunately Dr. Hedges was with Dr. Carmon when the accident occurred, and the wounds and bruises were at once treated.

After having expended one thousand dollars for various medicines and with doctors, and growing worse all the while, I considered my case incurable. I was induced to try Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. After their use for six weeks I can eat meat without distress, a thing that has not occurred before for years. I believe I am nearly cured, and yet it seems too good to be true. Have no doubt but that much of its sleeplessness people complain of is caused by indigestion.

DISFIGURED FOR LIFE.

William Wyngies of Dunellen Murderously Assaulted by a Tramp.

William Wyngies, Water Commissioner of the city of Hoboken, and collecting agent for Ruppert's Brewery, was murderously assaulted and horribly disfigured by a tramp at his country residence at Dunellen last night.

Mr. Wyngies drove to Dunellen from this city at about 6 o'clock and found the tramp in his barn, preparing to spend the night there. He told the fellow, who was one of the toughest-looking tramps he had ever seen, that he never allowed people to sleep in his barn, and ordered him away. An altercation ensued, and the tramp applied insulting language to Mr. Wyngies, who pushed him away. The fellow then drew a big-bladed clasp knife and sprang on Mr. Wyngies with it open in his hand. He made one vicious slash at his head, and then turned and ran.

Mr. Wyngies called for his wife, who bound her apron and two or three towels over his bleeding face and took him to Dr. Brakeley, who found a very ugly gash extending from near the temple, down the cheek, past the nose, and across the upper lip. The physician sewed seventeen stitches in the gaping wound and bound it up. Mr. Wyngies was then put to bed, where he still lies to-day, very weak from loss of blood, and suffering a great deal from the pain and nervous shock.

Soon after the affair occurred, a neighbor, Mr. Kuenler, and a young man named Louis Hildebrandt, started out in a wagon in pursuit of the murderous tramp. They caught up with him on the highway near Bound Brook and after a sharp struggle made him a prisoner.

The borough people were highly excited over the assault, as Mr. Wyngies is one of their most prominent and popular citizens, and were disposed to handle the tramp roughly, but the local justice soon issued a commitment and had the constables handcuff the prisoner and take him to New Brunswick, where he was locked up in the Middlesex county jail to await trial.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Henry Liefke is expected home from Europe about the 19th of June.

George B. Titsworth and wife, of this city, are registered at the Bristol, Asbury Park.

"The Heresy in the Pews" will be the theme of the Rev. Hobart Clark at the Unitarian church to-morrow morning.

Miss Marion A. Taggart has returned to this city after spending several months in Cincinnati.

Leo Daft and family are now at The Albion, where they will remain for the coming week and then leave for the far west.

Mrs. Frank E. Miller gives a dance, this evening, at The Albion, to the unmarried belles of Plainfield's most select circles of society.

Miss S. Augusta Hart has taken a very pretty cottage, known as the "Edge Moor", on Seaview avenue, Ocean Grove, for the season.

The Rev. Dr. Doolittle of Rutgers College, will occupy the pulpit of Trinity Reformed church to-morrow, at both the morning and evening services.

Archibald Coddington died at his residence on Somerset street, North Plainfield, last night at 8 o'clock. He was born of Mt. Horeb, 85 years ago. Funeral services will be held from the house Monday morning at 10:30, with interment at Mt. Bethel, beside his wife and three children. The deceased was a devout member of the Methodist church from early youth. He was a millwright by trade and a miller by occupation, having operated the Green Valley mills, which he built, for many years. Eight children survive him.

The Choral Society's Plans for Next Season.

In view of the hearty appreciation with which the work of the Choral Society throughout the season just ended has been received by the public, and the deep and growing interest shown by the subscribers and active members in the study of the higher class of choral music, the Society will continue the work on the same lines during the ensuing year.

The substantial approval manifested by the community in the series of concerts of 1890-91 is particularly gratifying to the members and managers of the Society. Opening the season with the "Elijah" and closing with the "Creation", with Gade's "Crusaders" at the second concert, the three performances excelled all previous efforts, the credit for which is due to the intelligent and untiring leadership of Mr. Fitzhugh, seconded by the sustained enthusiasm of the members of the chorus.

For the season of 1891-92 it is proposed to give works equal in merit and importance to those rendered last year, including the "Messiah," which will be repeated in response to the request of a large number of the patrons of the Society.

Subscriptions, which, for the coming season, are $12, entitle each subscriber to four reserved seats to each of the three concerts.

The annual subscriptions have been increased from $10 to $12 to enable the Society to continue to give concerts up to the standard of last year's performances.

As the subscriptions last year equalled the full seating capacity of Music Hall, and many were consequently declined, the managers this season are obliged to accept them in the order presented until the limit is reached.

THE FIRST PIGEON RACE.

Plainfield Fanciers Hope to do Better Next Time.

The Central New Jersey Flying Club, of which Captain Doane of this city is President, had their first race from Manassas, Va., Wednesday. The birds were shipped on Monday to S. P. Stoddard, who took good care of them. At 6 o'clock a. m., Wednesday, Mr. Stoddard liberated them for their trip to this city, Elizabeth and Newark, distances of over 200 miles. The fly was a success. Of the seventy-five homing pigeons in the race, almost every one was in its loft before sundown. Notwithstanding the heat, excellent time was made.

The first bird to arrive home was a red-checkered cock owned by E. K. Tucker, of Elizabeth, which finished the 210 miles at 12:04½ o'clock Wednesday afternoon. A blue-checkered hen belonging to W. B. Garrabrant, of Newark, came in next at 12:16 o'clock, having traversed 215 miles. Ferdinand Peppin's red-checkered cock arrived at Elizabeth at 12:15 o'clock. The other records were made by Plainfield birds whose distance was 204 miles. In order they came in as follows: Fourth, S. P. Craig's red-checkered cock, "Puritan", 12:21 o'clock; fifth, C. E. Faber's silver cock, 12:27 o'clock; sixth, J. Hervey Doane's red-checkered cock, 12:46½ o'clock; seventh, Captain Doane's blue cock, 1:25 o'clock. F. R. Stevens's birds were not timed. Among the birds that were in the race was one belonging to J. Hervey Doane. She had never been flown, yet came straight home the two hundred miles.

The next fly will be held on Wednesday of next week from Covington, Va., a distance of 300 miles. The birds will be shipped on Monday.

Plainfielders Abroad.

[From The Clinton Democrat.]

Compton Vail, Harry Milligan, and Geo. Urlick, rode their bicycles from Plainfield to Clinton in about five hours on Decoration Day. Pretty good time for boys.

Among those we have noticed visiting their Clinton homes during the past week are: Miss Maggie Evans, of Trenton, Harley Apgar, of Plainfield, Ed. Conover and Walter Bird, of Trenton, Geo. Honness, of Lafayette College, John Honness and Ed. L. Voorhees, of Newark, M. Gooley, of New York, and John Gulick, of Trenton.

Decoration Day falling on Saturday gave the townspeople of High Bridge who are engaged in other places a chance to spend a double holiday at home. Among those noticed were Mr. J. S. Cramer of Wilkesbarre, P. H. Murray of Trenton, Walter Lewis and Melvin Fritts of Plainfield, W. F. Lindaberry of Unionville, N. Y., Edward Levy and Clarence Estes of Newark, and Isaac Hummer and William Lance and son of New York. No public observation of the day was held, not even a ball game.

Mangled by a Train.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 6.—An unknown woman about 30 years old, well dressed, threw herself before a New Jersey Central Railroad train here at noon and was killed. Her head was cut off and the body terribly mangled.

Ordered to Seize Whiskey.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The commanders of the revenue cutters Bear and Rush have been ordered to seize all whiskey, except such quantity as may be required for medical use, found upon any whalers cruising in Alaskan waters.

Investigating the Concord Accident.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A board of officers is to meet at the Norfolk Navy Yard to-day to investigate the circumstances of the death of two men on the United States steamer Concord, by the blowing out of her main steam pipe, which occurred a few days ago while on her final trial trip. Commander Batchelder of the Concord requested that the investigation be made.

Fourth Class Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Fourth class postmasters were appointed in New York State as follows: J. Austin at Cinconia, Yates County; F. Price at Paradise, Orange County, and E. W. Place at Wyandance, Suffolk County.

Over Seven Millions This Week.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Lazard Freres shipped $1,500,000 gold to Europe to-day. Total for export by to-day's steamers, $2,000,000. Total for the week, $7,350,000.

An Opium Smuggler Heavily Fined.

BOSTON, June 6.—D. W. Wood, of Lubec, Me., was fined $2,500 and costs in the United States Circuit Court here for smuggling opium into the country.

Tracy Sent to Dannemora.

ROUSDOUT, N. Y., June 6.—Frank Tracy, the horse thief, was sent to Dannemora Prison for two years and ten months.

Violated the Lottery Law.

BOSTON, June 6.—George D. Hackett, treasurer of the Boston Speculation Company, was convicted in the United States Court of violating the lottery law.

The New Orleans Bribery Cases.

NEW ORLEANS, June 6.—The jury bribery cases were called up in the District Court and continued until Wednesday.

The Dear Girls.

Maude—George told me last night that he was madly in love with me!

Ethel—Poor fellow! Perhaps he is. I've heard that insanity runs in his family.—Munsey's Weekly.

Not only delicious for the palate, but an exceedingly health-giving beverage is Hires's Root Beer. It is the thirst quencher. Not intoxicating, and yet gently stimulating in its effects. Cheap enough for anybody.

A SAD SCENE.

Director-General Davis of the World's Fair Suddenly Afflicted.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A very sad scene occurred in Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Nettleton's room during the morning. Director-General Davis of the World's Fair, who arrived here yesterday, was entertaining a number of friends and the assistant secretary with accounts of the progress of the arrangements for the fair.

He was in the best of humor, when a telegraph messenger boy entered the room with a telegram for Mr. Davis. He opened it, and his face became pale, and he almost broke down. The telegram told of the death of his mother in Boston.

Mr. Davis left the department at once and went to the depot and took the train for Boston. Mrs. Davis was over 70 years of age, but her death was sudden, and the shock therefore great. Mr. Davis had just been talking about the World's Fair, and had said that the Exposition has $11,000,000 either actually in the treasury or available in 90 days, but that $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 more is now being secured in order to assure a display such as has never before been seen in the world.

Director-General Davis has been empowered by the State Department to appoint five commissioners to visit Europe in the interest of the fair, and to have their expenses paid by the government. Mr. Davis will, within a few days, announce the names of the commissioners selected.

ANOTHER HITCH.

There May Be Considerable Trouble in Settling the Behring Sea Question.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—There is a fair prospect for another hitch in the Behring Sea matter before it reaches arbitration, and there are obstacles yet to overcome before an agreement can be reached for a closed season.

The bill passed by the House of Commons confers authority upon the Queen to issue a proclamation prohibiting British subjects from taking seals during a certain period, but the issuance of this proclamation is dependent upon the disposition of the Queen—or rather of Lord Salisbury.

The British government, it is understood, will insist that the United States shall be pledged to pay British subjects for losses sustained through the deprivation of sealing privileges during the closed season if the contentions of the United States are not sustained by arbitration. On the other hand, the British government will probably agree to pay damages to the American Company in case a different decision is reached.

Of course the President can give no such pledge for payment of damages, that being a matter that Congress alone can deal with. Congress not being in session, this question complicates the situation, and it is doubtful how the matter will be settled.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed.—Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

J. M. LOW TO GO AHEAD WITH WATER-WORKS AND SEWERAGE.

Four Councilmen Oppose the Enterprise, but the Faithful Six Are Determined that the People Shall Have What They Want, and What the City's Best Interests Demand—The Plainfield Sewerage and Aqueduct Companies to be Organized at Once, for Work.

Official approval of the plans of J. M. Low to construct and operate in the city of Plainfield a perfect system of water-works and sewerage was given by the City Common Council last night, and ordinances granting the necessary franchises were started on their way towards becoming laws.

All of the Councilmen were present at the meeting except Mr. Ginna. The session was not called to order till 9:10, and then considerable time was wasted in disposing of such petty things as a motion to adjourn, made by Mr. Ackerman, and the useless going over of the entire regular order of business when there was only one matter, and that an important one, to attend to. That important matter was reached at last, however, when Mr. Hetfield presented and Clerk Coward read the proposals and specifications of J. M. Low in reference to water-works and sewerage.

Mr. Ackerman promptly moved to refer the documents to the law and ordinance committee, and when that was lost he moved to refer it to the committee on finance. This also was lost, by the vote of 6 to 4, Councilmen Ackerman, Johnston, Rushmore and See alone voting aye. Mr. Ackerman gave as the reason for his second motion that the matter was a most important one. Changes—he said—had been made in the specifications and proposed agreement—alterations of the original text of which up to the present moment he and his associates had known nothing. The finance committee—he added—had charge of the money matters of the city, and ought to be permitted to see that the city's interests were fully protected.

Mr. Hetfield moved to amend the proposed agreement between the city and Mr. Low by inserting a passage providing that the term "contractor" should be interpreted as meaning the full title "The Plainfield Sewerage Company". This was adopted by a vote of 6 to 4, Councilmen Ackerman, Johnston, Rushmore and See voting no.

Mr. Rushmore moved to table the contract. He said it had only been decided on to-day, had been entirely changed, and could n't be taken in at one reading. The motion was lost, Councilmen Ackerman, Johnston, Rushmore and See alone voting aye.

Mr. Hetfield moved that the proposals of Mr. Low be accepted and that the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to execute a contract for the fulfillment of the proposed agreement.

Mr. Ackerman moved as an amendment that the proposed contract be held for alteration and correction.

Mr. Rushmore said that there was no question of the day that required more thought. The Council had only a short time ago received a strong letter from the Mayor and the State Board of Health counseling caution in this sewerage matter, and no contract should be entered into hurriedly. The present proposition to rush the thing through was an unusual thing, and would cause unpleasant comment. He could n't speak too strongly against it. The majority knew nothing about the details of the plan.

Mr. Hetfield resented the claim that the Councilmen were pushing through something the others knew nothing about. The committee had labored with this matter all last year and so far this year, and had spent many days and nights over it. The plans under discussion were virtually the same as submitted to all the Councilmen days ago, and as published in detailed outline in THE PRESS of June 3 and 4. The few changes that had been made were all slight and not material. Chancellor Runyon (as special counsel), Corporation Counsel, and the committee, had all gone over the agreement and were satisfied. To delay further would be unnecessary, ridiculous, and foolish. The committee were willing to take the whole responsibility. If the other gentlemen had amendments to make they ought to have made them before the motion to authorize a contract was presented. He hoped the agreement would be approved at once.

The motion to defer action pending correction was lost, Councilmen Ackerman, Johnston, Rushmore and See voting aye.

The original motion, that the specifications and agreement be approved, and that the Mayor and City Clerk be directed to execute a contract according to the specifications, was finally adopted by the following vote:

Aye—Councilmen Gallup, Hetfield, Moffett, Roberts, Smith and Spangenberg—6.

No—Councilmen Ackerman, Johnston, Rushmore and See—4.

During the discussion of the motion Mr. Rushmore took occasion to say that some of the Councilmen had had no opportunity to discuss the matter or make amendments. The whole thing—he said—was out of order, and almost out of respectability.

Mr. Hetfield promptly called the gentleman to order, and Mr Rushmore paused in embarrassment and finally sat down in confusion.

Mr. Ackerman started out by saying that he did n't suppose the eloquence of Demosthenes would make any difference about the consummation of this scheme, and then proceeded to read a written speech. In the course of his remarks, which seemed to possess a superabundance of big words, he said that sewerage system properly regulated might be a blessing to the town, but improperly constructed and operated it would be a cancerous sore, running the reputation of the municipality. The matter ought to be proceeded with only with extreme caution. It was a question of great gravity. It was inexpedient to grant a franchise to anyone now. It was not necessary to have a sewerage system just because of the presence of water-works. Other cities had water works without sewers. The State Board of Health ought to decide if the proposed method of disposing of the sewage was all right.

Mr. Rushmore held it was folly to grant a water-works franchise under the existing laws, which had been questioned and against which a writ of certiorari had been granted. Besides, it was illegal—and the action would not stand the test of the courts—to grant hydrant privileges to a company charging $25 per hydrant when another responsible party (the Plainfield Water Supply Company) had put in a bid for $15.

Mr. Hetfield sarcastically remarked that he hoped that the speech Mr. Ackerman had read was the same one that he would have printed in his newspapers on the morrow; the last time the manuscript of a speech had been furnished by that gentleman it was far different from what he had actually delivered. Mr. Hetfield said further that other cities might have been able to get along without sewers, though they had water-works, but such cities were situated differently than Plainfield, and had natural drainage. Sewers were necessary in Plainfield; they were needed more than water, and the people wanted them.

After the adoption of the motion to execute a contract, Mr. Hetfield presented an ordinance providing for the construction and operation of sewers in accordance with the plans and specifications of J. M. Low. The company is to be styled the Plainfield Sewerage Company, and is to have six members beside Mr. Low, four of them residents of New Jersey.

Councilman Ackerman tried to get the ordinance referred back to the Corporation Counsel, but Mr. Hetfield said that he had already seen it; in fact, the construction of the ordinance had been left entirely to counsel; the committee had had nothing to say.

Corporation Counsel Marsh said that it was unqualifiedly true that he and ex-Chancellor Runyon had drafted the ordinance and that the committee had had nothing to do with it, But the ordinance referred to the contract, and the contract embraced the terms of the agreement put into legal phraseology. He and the ex-Chancellor had acted in the matter merely as lawyers, and had not passed on the merits of the sewerage system. The ordinance virtually incorporated the agreement into the ordinance. In this agreement the ex-Chancellor had merely incorporated the terms agreed on between the committee and Mr. Low. They had told what to put in, and the counselor had done it.

The ordinance was passed on its first and second readings and ordered engrossed and advertised, preparatory to third reading and final passage. The vote was:

Aye—Councilmen Gallup, Hetfield, Moffett, Roberts, Smith, Spangenberg—6.

No—Councilmen Ackerman, Johnston, Rushmore, See—4.

Mr. Hetfield introduced an ordinance granting to Mr. Low's "Plainfield Aqueduct Company" a franchise for the construction and operation of water-works, in accordance with the plans already published in THE PRESS.

Mr. Ackerman's motion to refer it to the law and ordinance committee was lost by the vote of 4 to 6, Councilmen Ackerman, Johnston, Rushmore and See alone voting aye.

The ordinance was passed on its first and second readings, and ordered engrossed and advertised.

Aye—Councilmen Gallup, Hetfield, Moffett, Roberts, Smith, Spangenberg—6.

No—Councilmen Ackerman, Johnston, Rushmore, See—4.

The Council adjourned to next Monday night, when the new gas-works matter will come up.

WHY BOROUGH LIGHTS WENT OUT.

They Were Painting the Poles, and a Man Was Sick.

The Borough Council met in regular session last evening, with all the members present but Councilmen Hummer and Sebring. The minutes of the last two meetings were read by Clerk Brokaw and approved as read.

A communication from Charles Hyde, asking the Council to accept that part of Sandford avenue which is in the borough, was referred to the street committee.

A communication from J. B. Coward, asking the borough to repair the crosswalk at the Boice estate, on Elm place, which was damaged during the freshet, and which the Boice estate did not consider it its duty to attend to, was similarly referred.

The Edison Electric Light Company presented a very slim excuse for not having kept all the street lights lighted during the past month. They said that they had been painting the poles and that one of the men who attended to the regulating of the lights had been sick.

Some sharp comments were made by the Councilmen, and it was the general opinion that the company would better attend to business and keep their lights all in order and burning every night, or suffer the penalty that the Council has the right to inflict.

A communication from Otto Ebel and others, asking for a crosswalk at Park place, was referred to the street committee.

A petition from Joseph Humble and others, for a street light at the corner of Somerset and Emily streets, was referred to the committee on fire, water and lamps.

Peter Doeringer, Wm. H. Coombe, and others, asked for a crosswalk on Linden avenue from Somerset to Washington streets. The committee on streets were given power in the matter.

The following claims were ordered paid. Louis Conrad, $2.85; Thomas Rutledge, $25.25; L. M. VanDyke, $4.37; M. Powers, $22.86; P. Seader, $7; J. Coddington, $6.50; M. Estil, $4.69; Wm. Sharkey, $3.63; P. Kellegher, $7.55.

A. I. Smalley was paid $400, on account of a bill for $416.66, for crushed stone.

The bill of the Edison Electric Light Company, for $330, was referred back for correction, the Council demanding discount for lights not burned.

The monthly reports of Collector Spencer and Police Justice Crosley were received and filed. The fines collected by Justice Crosley during the month amounted to $14.

The following resolutions were adopted:

From Mr. Buckle—That the license money from saloons be credited to the street account.

From Mr. Hegeman—That a loan of $1,000 be negotiated for street purposes.

From Mr. Needham—That a crosswalk be laid on Park place at the intersection of Duer street.

From Mr. Hegeman—That a loan of $1,000 be negotiated for street lighting purposes.

From Mr. Hegeman—That the bid of Samuel Moore, to cart crushed stone for the borough at 18 cents a ton, be accepted.

From Mr. Smalley—That the fire wells on Grove street and Jackson avenue be cleaned, that No. 1 Engine Company take proper precautions for the Fourth of July, and that five feet of suction pipe be purchased for Warren Engine.

The Council adjourned to Friday evening, June 12.

CRESCENTS ROLL THE BIGGEST TOTAL.

Plainfield and Westfield Each Win a Bowling Match.

A five-men team of the Crescent League went to Westfield, last evening, and bowled two games with the Union League team on their new alleys. Each won a game, but the Plainfielders led on the total of both—1450 to 1442.

In the first game the Crescents led from the start until the sixth frame when a bad break of Thiers that gave him only "three all", enabled the Unions to gain nine pins on the frame and go to the front. After that the Westfielders bowled in fine shape—Baker getting three strikes and a spare in the last four frames, Wilcox getting four strikes in succession and Cohen winding up with a double-header. For the Crescents wind-up, Thiers bowled three strikes in his tenth frame.

Although they won the first, the Westfielders were not over confident and substituted English for Rapp in the second game. It was no use, however, although the new man put up a bigger score than the other. The Crescents bowled a waiting game the second time. They started in the rear, tied the score on the fourth frame and led the way thereafter. Rogers bowled eight frames without a break. The scores were.

A Borough Tramp That It Took Two to Arrest.

Marshal Rutledge seized a tough looking tramp on Somerset street, last evening, about ten o'clock, and undertook to take him to the lock-up for accosting women. The brute was too strong for the marshal, although the latter got a grip on the former's throat that took his breath away. The tramp was getting the best of it when J. W. A. Bauersachs arrived on the scene and put the nippers on him.

TREATMENT for CONSUMPTION.

To the PHYSICIANS of Plainfield and Vicinity.

I would respectfully announce that I am prepared to supply the Solution of Koch-Chloride of Gold and Manganese, lately suggested by Drs. Shurly and Gibbes, for the treatment of Consumption.

Recent experiments seem to promise better results from the use of this remedy than have been attained by any of the newly proposed methods of treatment, not excepting that of Dr. Koch. Absolute purity of materials and careful manipulation are required for the successful preparation of the Solution which, after repeated trials, we have attained.

Out from the corners and over the floor
Come flocking and flocking the shadow band;
I will get in my little white coach and drive
Through the Valley of Dreams into Slumber land.

I have four black horses that Night has lent,
I call the name of my coachman Sleep;
And the little white coach is cozy and soft,
As I nestle down in its cushions deep.

Heigho! we are off. The horses go slow
At first, then fast and faster still,
With silent hoof-beats speeding on,
Down to the foot of the Drowsy Hill.

This twilight place is the Valley of Dreams,
Where all the wonderful dream things are,
And the balsam groves and the poppy fields
O That stretch on ever and ever so far.

The dream forests rustle their secrets out,
The lights of the dream towns twinkle and shine,
And the white dream ships from the harbor sail
Away to the dim horizon line.

Ah! the sounds of the Valley are growing faint,
Its sights are fading on either hand.
I cross the border still and dark,
And enter the real Slumberland.

RACING FOR A BRIDE.

Three Lively Railroad Races for a Farmer's Daughter.

Along the line of the Santee railroad no trainmen were better known than Billy Perkins and Jack Smith, the only passenger conductors the road found it necessary to employ. Every man and boy along the route watched for the familiar trains, and when the mail passed east in the morning each station lounger was ready to shout "Hello, Billy," while they never missed greeting Jack in the same manner an hour or two later, when he passed in the opposite direction. In the evening when the trains returned the genial ticket-punchers again received ovations at each stopping place. Even the passengers were apparently all acquainted with the conductors, for as they went their rounds each traveler would have some remark to make or some sly inquiry about Bob Yocum's Sallie, which would bring color to the cheeks of the officials. To a Northern stranger it sounded ludicrous to hear the uniformed youths (neither was more than twenty-three) addressed as Captain Billy or Captain Jack, even though accustomed to the universal Southern habit of adding that title to conductors' names.

The total length of the Santee railroad was only forty miles, but the natives regarded the conductors with that awe and admiration which country folk always feel for railroad men. Did not Billy run every day to Carthage, the junction of the main line, and know all the prominent officials of the great through route of which the Santee road was a branch?

No telegraph line ran along the branch, and the trains were run in the good old way upon the single track; that is, sidings were placed a few miles apart, and when a train scheduled to pass another at a given point did not find the other at the switch it simply waited until the belated train did come, or after an hour or two started on its journey at a snail's pace, a flagman running in front.

In the morning the trains passed at a lonely siding in the woods, but in the afternoon the meeting point was directly in front of Bob Yocum's plantation, and as the farm-house, with its shady porch, stood near the railroad, the trainmen had long ago struck up an acquaintance with the owner and daily resorted to the cool garden to while away the time until the opposing train arrived. Sometimes one train reached the point first, sometimes the other would be in ahead. The engineers had no signals to hold them back, and very often the farm would be reached half an hour ahead of time. The schedule was slow even for the old-style engines, and unless there was something unusual to detain them or the wood was very wet the crews could generally manage to spend about twenty minutes at Yocum's, tranquilly smoking or romping with Sallie, the planter's daughter. Now it was this same Sallie who caused so much disturbance in the breasts of Billy and Jack. Each strove to cut a favorable figure in her sight, and she was the loadstone which drew them daily to the garden. Luckily for them each had an engineer as wild and reckless as the most ardent lover could desire, and when the conductors told the man at the lever to "let her go," he did let her go until some faint-hearted passenger protested at being bumped into jelly.

Only a reckless man would dare to ride one of the rattle-trap old engines over the uneven road at the rate of forty miles an hour, which speed was occasionally reached in sudden bursts. Forty miles an hour over old-style "U" rails, laid on rotten ties five feet apart and joined with fish-plates is equal to sixty miles an hour on a smooth track, so far as sensation goes. To the observer the Santee railroad was hardly visible, high grass growing between the rails, but where the track could be seen it seemed to be laid upon the ground without any preparatory grading. Up hill, down hill, tilting to the right, tilting to the left, it pursued its devious way, and the shaking and creaking of trains and track were enough to alarm any one not preoccupied in endeavoring to regain his seat. The engines burned wood, and when running at night resembled volcanoes in active eruption. If the reader has ever traveled behind one of these fiery machines he will remember how the sparks and pieces of wood flew when the engine got into good working order. He will also have a very vivid recollection of the long and frequent stoppages when all hands heaved cordwood into the tender until it could hold no more. These were the characteristics of the line over which Billy and Jack made daily trips. There were wood stations on each side of Yocum's, and the trains in the afternoon were required to get a supply of fuel before reaching the passing siding.

The conductors pressed their suit with the fair Sallie for many a day, but while each felt that the other had no advantage neither could make any headway. At last the two friends decided to put matters to a test, and together they sought Bob Yocum, and explaining their desires asked that he and Sallie choose which, if either, should be the favored suitor. Sallie with blushing face declared she could not decide, although she felt she could be happy with either. With that keen instinct for gaming which characterizes Southerners her father at once suggested that they settle the question by racing their trains for the next three days, the one getting to the switch twice ahead of the other to be the winner. The proposition was eagerly grasped by the conductors and acceded to by Sallie. All agreed upon secrecy, except that the conductors should make confidants of their engineers.

Anxiously the father and daughter awaited the coming of the trains the next afternoon. Fully twenty minutes before schedule time the familiar whistle rang out, and Billy's engine came to a standstill just as Jack's train came around the bend. Billy was exultantly happy. The next day, however, Jack was sitting upon the porch talking serenely to the prize when Billy's engine came into view.

The following day would decide it, and the morrow found four eager hearts wondering what the result would be. About ten o'clock, however, a steady rain set in, which apparently settled the question of fast time being made that day. As Billy passed down the line and saw the soaking woodpiles he felt exceedingly blue, but while pondering a great thought came into his brain, and his countenance cleared in an instant. When he got to the end of the run he took the engineer aside and explained something, which caused a broad grin to overspread the features of that worthy. Billy was next seen in a provision store, and ere the train departed an odd-looking barrel marked "Sugar Cured" was put aboard the engine. His train made glorious time that afternoon, and when the passengers asked how the engineer managed to keep up steam Billy smiled, but said nothing. He felt no forebodings of defeat now. Poor old Jack must be a dozen miles down the road, and right around the curve was Yocum's. "Hurrah," Billy said to himself. "Hur—" he did not finish. From the car platform he saw something that made him rub his eyes in astonishment. Was it Jack's train lying there so quietly on the siding, or had his senses deserted him? A wild screech of triumph from the waiting engine made him realize it was indeed true. His rival had won the third heat.

Jack, taking warning from his defeat the first day, had wisely bargained with the wood-station man for a special supply of dry pine-knots, and these were supplemented on the rainy day with a barrel of pine tar.

Billy danced at the wedding, but the sight of a ham has filled him with disgust ever since.—Chicago Journal.

It Came in Her Dreams

Burglar (flashing his dark lantern)—Wake up, here! Don't you make no noise, nuther! Where's yer vally bles?

Elderly Maiden Lady (moving uneasily in her slumbers)—Why, Algernon, this is so sudden, so—so unexpected!—Chicago Tribune.

—"John," said a New York schoolteacher to a boy who had come from the West, "you may parse the word 'town.'" "'Town' is a noun," said Johnny, "future tense—" "Think again," the teacher interrupted. "A noun couldn't be in the future tense." "I don't know about towns here," said Johnny, stoutly, "but half the towns out where I come from are that way."

HAD FOUR HUSBANDS

The Coroner's Jury Believe the Last One Was Poisoned.

THE WIDOW PLACED IN JAIL.

All the Circumstances Point Suspiciously to Foul Play.

The Accused Woman Tells Conflicting Stories—She Said Her Husband Threatened to Kill Her—Traces of Paris Green Found in His Food—Two Other Husbands Died in the Same Way.

ROME, N. Y., June 8.—The inquest touching the death of John Sorgenfrie, who was found dead in bed at his residence on Laura street, Utica, resulted in the coroner's jury finding that Sorgenfrie came to his death from paris green, and that from the conflicting testimony of those nearest connected with the deceased, they believe that the poison was administered to him by his wife Caroline.

It was first thought that Sorgenfrie had committed suicide, as he was found in his bed with a dipper on the floor containing traces of paris green. From the strange actions of Mrs. Sorgenfrie the coroner suspected something more than suicide.

By investigating the case he found that not only were the circumstances of Sorgenfrie's death peculiar, but that the woman had had four husbands, two of them dying by poison. Sorgenfrie had eaten a hearty supper the night before, and his wife testified that he did not eat anything. Traces of paris green were found in the food he had eaten. It was found he had a quarrel with his wife the night before. She testified that he threatened to kill her, and that she would not sleep with him, though she knew nothing of his death, only that she found him dead in the morning.

The Coroner found that a week or two before his death his wife found him with a notorious woman by the name of Mary Fox, who threatened to keep Sorgenfrie with her. This woman swore to this at the inquest.

Mrs. Sorgenfrie was very jealous over this woman. Sorgenfrie had property worth about $2,000. She married him with the intention of getting this property. These circumstances, combined with the fact that two other husbands of the woman died in the same house by the same means, point suspiciously to foul play. Mrs. Sorgenfrie is confined in the Utica jail.

THE BACCARAT CASE.

Sir Charles Russell Resumes His Argument This Morning.

LONDON, June 8.—The baccarat trial continues to excite the greatest interest, and it is said that even yesterday the Chief Justice received several applications for seats in the court room to-day. The applicants included, it is stated, an official of the admiralty who had a narrow escape recently from himself becoming the hero of a court sensation.

The report that the Prince of Wales is in debt to Arthur Wilson is denied on semi-official authority, and a Sunday newspaper which had given out an intention of publishing something about the matter received a plain intimation that proceedings would follow.

Sir Charles Russell resumed his address to the jury this morning, and, judging from the scope of his remarks, it is probable that he will take up a considerable portion of the sitting of the Court to-day. Sir Edward Clarke is to follow with the closing speech for the prosecution, and is not likely to fall behind Sir Charles in the length of his speech; as the evidence being rather against him he will have to depend largely on his forensic powers to restore the case of his client. If he gets a chance to open after the recess he will be fortunate, and will no doubt take up a large part of to-morrow. Then comes the summing up by the Lord Chief Justice, to which all look with the greatest interest, especially that part which is to treat of the Prince of Wales.

The case cannot be given to the jury before to-morrow evening. How long it will take for the jury to come to a decision it is impossible to tell. While it is a remarkably sympathetic body, and has followed the case with closest attention, it has shown no inclination of inclining to either side. Much will depend on Lord Coleridge's charge, which cannot fail to have great influence with the jury. Should he be able to clear up in advance their doubts, differences and hesitations, an early verdict is to be expected.

John Burns Arrested.

LONDON, June 8.—The London omnibus strike was attended by some excitement. Burns, the Socialist, occupied a bus driven by a novice without a badge, as is required by law. Two constables removed Burns from the bus and took him to Bow street, while the crowd cheered him. Upon being released he hastened to address a meeting at Westminster. Piratical bus drivers collected a sixpence for any distance and the underground railways carried enormous numbers of people. Public sympathy is with the strikers on the question of hours.

Attacked by a Drunken Mob.

COLUMBUS, Ind., June 8.—The northbound train on the Pennsylvania line was attacked by a drunken mob just after it pulled out of Seymour at 9 o'clock last night. Knives were drawn and used freely. Charles Cutsinger was badly used up, as were also two strangers. The train was in charge of Larry Smith, conductor, who placed four men under arrest here and lodged them in jail.

PLANS FOR THE SUMMER.

The Vacation Programme of the President and His Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The summer plans of the President and the members of his Cabinet are about decided upon. It is still stated that Mrs. Harrison, with Mrs. Dimmick, will go to the Harrison cottage, at Cape May Point some time next month. They expect Mrs. McKee to join them and the children there on her return from Europe in August, and the President, of course, is counted upon for periodical trips back and forth.

The Blaine mansion is practically closed for the summer, though J. G. Blaine, Jr., will make occasional visits. Miss Hattie Blaine, who is now in Europe, is expected to join her family in Bar Harbor soon.

The Attorney-General, whose health is far from good, will get away from Washington as soon as possible with his family, and stay away as long as he conveniently can.

Secretary Rusk and his wife, son and daughter will go to Wisconsin.

Secretary Proctor, whose resignation and election to the United States Senate are expected in the fall, will be away most of the summer. So also will Secretary Tracy.

A COUNTERFEITER CAUGHT.

Secret Service Officers Make an Important Arrest at Wilkesbarre.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 8.—Early in the morning secret service officers arrested Reuben Palmer, a horse trader, on the charge of passing counterfeit money. A complete counterfeiters' outfit was found on the prisoner.

For some time the country in the vicinity of Hornellsville, Elmira and Troy has been flooded with spurious coin. The government put the secret service officers on the case who traced the counterfeits to Palmer. Palmer is said to be an assistant to the famous counterfeiter, James Holden. Holden was arrested in New York Saturday in connection with the same case.

HYDROPHOBIA VICTIMS.

Three Brothers Bitten by Cattle Afflicted With the Disease.

KANSAS CITY, June 8.—A short time ago a mad dog bit a steer, one of a herd of cattle belonging to Vanderburg Bros., living in Atchison county. The steer was soon afflicted with hydrophobia, which spread to the remainder of the herd.

There were three of the Vanderburg brothers, and each of them was bitten by one or another of the afflicted animals. The brothers paid no particular attention to their injuries until Friday, when one of them became violently ill with hydrophobia. Last night he died in the most excruciating agony. To-day another of the brothers died, and the third is not expected to live more than a day or two.

Census Office Employes Nervous.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—There is consternation in the various branches of the Census Office. It grows out of the fact that the money appropriated to carry on the work is running so low that it has become necessary to reduce the force. It is hinted that between now and July 1 the force is to be reduced at least one thousand, which takes in quite a large number of the original appointees and nearly all of those who were recently given a three months appointment.

Mysteriously Assaulted.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 8.—Imrah Hollingsworth was knocked down on Central street by an unknown man and lay senseless until picked up by pedestrians. He was unconscious all night and is now in a critical condition. Robbery was not the motive, as Hollingsworth's money and watch were on his person when picked up.

Chilian Insurgents Excited.

IQUIQUE (via Galveston), June 8.—The decision of Admiral McCann to take the Itata without allowing the discharge of her arms and ammunition has caused great excitement here, while the press comments very bitterly upon the matter, and considers that the United States, the cradle of republican ideas, commits a grievous mistake in thus indirectly assisting Balmaceda, the dictator.

Rains Help the Miners.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 8.—The rains of the past few days have been a godsend to the river coal operators. It is expected that fully 20,000,000 bushels of coal will go to the lower ports to-morrow if an 8-foot stage water is reached.

Lockport's Centenarian Dead.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 8.—Asa Carpenter, Lockport's centenarian, died last night in the 108th year of his life. Death resulted from the wasting away of the vital forces.

German Warships Sail for Chili.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—The Asiatic squadron of German warships, the Leipsig, Sophie and Alexandrine, sailed last night for Chili after a stay of two days in this port.

Won the Grand Prix.

PARIS, June 8.—The Grand Prix has been won by Clamart, Reverend second and Clement third.

THE DEAD PREMIER

Canada in Mourning for Sir John Macdonald.

PREPARING FOR THE FUNERAL.

The Body to Be Buried at Kingston With Great Honors.

Hundreds of Messages of Condolence Received from Europe—Queen Victoria Deeply Pained Over the Premier's Death—Toronto Orangemen Opposed to the Accession of Sir John Thompson.

OTTAWA, June 8.—Ottawa is a city of mourning to-day. Everywhere are seen signs of the general sorrow felt at the loss the nation has sustained in the death of Sir John Macdonald, one of her greatest sons. Flags are flying at half-mast from the Parliament and other public buildings and also many private houses, some of which are draped with crape. The United States flag is floating at half-mast over the United States consulate.

The body of the dead leader has been embalmed. The embalmer says it is less emaciated than was generally supposed.

The casket was made in West Meriden, Conn. It is of rolled steel and is painted rose color. The massive handles are solid bars of oxidized silver, and extend along both sides. On the lid are three large silver figures emblematic of the flight of time. The inside is lined with heavy white silk. No inscription has yet been engraved on the silver plate.

Sir John Macdonald's body will be privately removed from Earnscliffe to the Parliament buildings and will lie in state from 10 o'clock to-morrow morning until the hour of the funeral.

The state funeral will leave the Parliament buildings at 10 o'clock p. m. Wednesday for St. Alban's church, thence to the Canadian Pacific station, whence the body will be conveyed to Kingston. The body will lie in state in the City Hall in Kingston until noon, when the interment will take place.

Hundreds of telegrams reached Mrs. Macdonald during the day. They all extended condolence and sympathy. Queen Victoria telegraphed from Balmoral to the Governor-General that she was deeply pained to learn of Sir John's death, which she regarded as a great loss to Canada and the sovereign. Sir Charles Tupper also cabled a message of sympathy from Vienna. Other messages were received from Lord Salisbury and scores of other notables in England.

Orangemen Opposed to Thompson.

TORONTO, June 8.—A quiet canvass is being carried on among prominent Conservatives in this city with a view of discovering how far the accession of Sir John Thompson to the party leadership would be acceptable. The feeling against him on the part of the Orangemen has been found to be of unexpected strength.

London's Tribute to Macdonald.

LONDON, June 8.— The papers all eulogize Sir John Macdonald. The Daily News says that his death is a loss to the whole empire. If not exactly a great man, he did great things. His death was likely to produce far-reaching changes.

The Times says that the Canadian Pacific Railway will be Macdonald's enduring monument. From his death we must date a new period of doubt and danger.

SHOT AT THE PASTOR.

A Young Swindler's Desperate Act When Refused Financial Aid.

NEW YORK, June 8.—George Mouser, 18 years old, who has probably been engaged in a wholesale swindling of clergymen, tried to kill to the Rev. Dr. Clark Wright, pastor of the Tremont Methodist Episcopal church at 178th street and Washington avenue, on Saturday night.

His only provocation was that the clergyman would not give him the financial aid for which he asked. After shooting at the pastor he made his escape; but he had the hardihood, to return to Mr. Wright's house last night. He was met by the pastor, who held him until a policeman arrived. He was locked up in the Tremont police station.

No More Negro Waiters.

RICHMOND, Va., June 8.—A revolution has been inaugurated in the matter of dining room waiters at the various mountain resorts of Virginia and West Virginia. The proprietors have determined to substitute white girls for negro waiters. This has already been accomplished at Rawley Springs, at the Hotel Intermont at Covington and at the Hotel Elkton at Elkton. The proprietor of the last named hotel brought on from New York an expert white girl waiter, who drilled the new girls in their duties.

Violent Rain and Wind Storm.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 8.—A violent rain and wind storm passed over this city last evening, doing considerable damage. Rufus Turner, a teamster, was killed by lightning, as were also dozens of cattle. It was the first rain for three months.

THE MISSING MONEY.

Philadelphia Detectives Think They Have a Clew to Bardsley's Transactions.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—The detectives in the employ of the city have at last secured what they think will prove a clew to the mystery surrounding the transactions between Bardsley and the Keystone Bank. After two weeks of diligent search they have secured a large number of checks from Mr. Magill, Bardsley's assignee. These checks were drawn against the five banks in which the city's money was deposited, and the authorities think that by carefully going over these checks they can tell where the missing million has gone.

Bardsley's business plans were very peculiar. His custom was to place the city's cash in the five banks designated by ordinance, and then gradually draw it out and make the checks payable to the Keystone Bank. Through the whole of his term Bardsley's transactions always seemed to be mixed up with the rotten institution. The point of the whole thing now hinges on these checks, and if they bear the name of any private person trouble may be expected. It is said that if any of the checks were issued to or drawn by any other persons than those connected with the banks, arrests will immediately follow. Bardsley had gathered all of these checks and secreted them in his private office.

Postmaster-General Wanamaker refused to say whether he is to appear before the Council's investigating committee and help to clear up the Keystone-Bardsley mystery. Bardsley and President Kennedy spent the day quietly in prison. Bardsley is improving rapidly in health, and will have a second hearing next Friday.

THE SECOND DELUGE.

Schweinfurth Threatens to Turn the Water Upon Kansas City.

ROCKFORD, Ill., June 8.—George Jacob Schweinfurth has returned to Rockford from Kansas City. He confessed to a feeling of relief at reaching Rockford, but insisted that he had no fear of the Missouri mob doing him bodily harm.

"Kansas City, he said, "can ill afford to incur my anger. Located high upon the bluffs, it behooves the city authorities to greet strangers courteously. It is for what they hoped to do that I will send the floods from Heaven to harrass and overwhelm them. There shall be weeping and wailing in Kansas City because of the insults offered the perfect man."

MR. BLAINE IMPROVING.

The Invigorating Air of Bar Harbor Produces Its Usual Effects.

BAR HARBOR, Me., June 8.—Since Mr. Blaine arrived here the weather has been very cool, the skies have been clear and the Secretary has driven out each day. He has already improved as far as appearances indicate, and it is believed the air of Bar Harbor will have its usual invigoring effect upon him.

Of course it is very quiet here early in the season, and that is one reason for his coming at this time. Bar Harbor air has done much for him in the past, and he believes it will help him this time.

Coke Workers to Be Reorganized.

PITTSBURG, June 8.—Efforts will be made at once for the complete reorganization of the miners in the coke region by the United Mine Workers of America. Vice-President Penna of that organization said: "Our fight against the coke operators must be maintained as long as we cannot get our rights. The fight cannot be evaded. I believe it will not be long before there will be another strike in the regions. The settlement at present is one purely through force. The men have no obligations, moral or legal, to remain at work for three years. A settlement like the present one will never remain in force."

Bitten by a Pet Dog.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 8.—Miss Jennie Schroeder of Guildin street, a school teacher, while lacing her shoe during the morning was seized at the wrist by a pet dog, which clung tenaciously. The young woman could not shake off the brute, and, finally, dragging the animal to the door, pressed her body against it and the door frame, causing the dog to let go his hold. The animal was killed at once and the lacerated flesh of Miss Schroeder's arm was cauterized.

Twenty Thousand Dollars Destroyed.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 8.—In the accident to the Winnipeg express on the Canadian Pacific road at Straight Lake the sum of $20,000, which had been mailed from two banks here, was destroyed. One package of $10,000 was entirely destroyed, but there was enough of the second bundle left to enable the bank to recover several thousand dollars. Who the actual losers will be is not known, but it is likely to fall on the banks shipping the amount.

Unconscious from Inhaling Gas.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Three women employed in the kitchen of the Manhattan Club were taken to Bellevue Hospital in a serious condition, they having been found in their rooms unconscious from the effects of inhaling illuminating gas. The gas was probably turned on by accident. Their names are Kate Fleming, aged 22; Ann Tracy, aged 20, and Annie Cassidy, aged 20.

Medical Experts Interested.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 8.—An autopsy on the remains of Lawyer Bartine, who died from what is supposed to have been hydrophia caused by a cat's bite, will be held this afternoon. Medical experts from New York will have charge of the autopsy in the interest of science.

American Hams Confiscated.

ANTWERP, June 8.—Five hundred boxes of American hams have been confiscated in obedience to the new law which prohibits the importation of fresh meat, and the hams in question were considered by the authorities to come into that category.

THIRD PARTY PLANS

Prominent Alliance Leaders Off for the West.

MANY MEETINGS TO BE HELD.

Every State in the Union Will Be Actively Canvassed.

Hundreds of Speeches to Educate the Masses—The Sub-Treasury Scheme to Be Practically Tested—Banks to Be Established in Every County in Kansas—Grain Deposit Checks to Be Issued.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Col. L. L. Polk, President of the National Farmers' Alliance, and Congressman Jerry Simpson have gone to La Crosse, Wis., to attend a convention of the different industrial organizations of that State, which meets to-morrow, for the purpose of uniting with the National Alliance as one working body.

After the organization of the Alliance is completed they will make several speeches in that State, and then proceed to Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York where mass meetings have been arranged by the Alliance leaders of these States, to discuss the principles of the order.

President Polk says: "Every State in the Union will be actively canvassed by the best talent in the Alliance in the way of speakers, lecturers and canvassers, who will fully explain the objects of the Alliance and what will be asked in the way of State and National legislation."

President Polk has arranged through his 40 State Alliance presidents to have mass meetings at several points in each of the 40 States during the next four months with a view of accomplishing the greatest amount of work in the shortest possible time. He will have hundreds of speakers at work at the same time throughout the entire Union, educating, as he says, the masses to the Alliance cause before the meeting of the 53d Congress.

By the time the National convention meets in November he thinks the Alliance will be fully posted as to what strength the order will have as a Presidential and Congressional factor in 1892.

President Polk has taken the field in person, and will visit every State from Maine to the Pacific coast.

A GIGANTIC SCHEME.

The Alliance to Make a Test of the Sub-Treasury Plan.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 8.—The Executive Committee of the Farmers' Alliance of Kansas is considering a gigantic scheme which will at once test the practicability of the Sub-Treasury warehouse plan. Mr. J. Hopkins of New York, who was a delegate to the Cincinnati Convention from the Economic Club, is the originator of the plan, which is to establish a bank in each county of the State under the direction of the local Alliance Exchange. In connection with each bank is to be an elevator or storehouse.

A farmer may then dump his grain into the elevator, receiving for it a check for 80 per cent. of the value of the grain deposited. By paying a small per cent. for storage and insurance he will be allowed to keep his grain in the depository until such time as he may deem it best to place it on the market.

Corn, silk, castor beans or other imperishable products may be stored, and deposit checks to the amount of 80 per cent will be issued. The scheme will be tested by the Alliance of Kansas.

A New Prison Industry.

SING SING, June 8.—Warden William B. Brown, of Sing Sing Prison, has started about 30 convicts to work at preparing raw material to be used in the manufacture of brushes. This is known as the brush fibre industry, and consists principally in converting bales of Tampico horses' tails, hogs' bristles and like materials into a proper condition to be sold to brush manufacturers. The material used is prepared in England and Germany and imported to this country. It is virtually a new industry, and if it proves successful in Sing Sing Prison it will be introduced into the other penal institutions in the State.

The Anti-Kidnapping League.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Anti-Kidnapping Union's central committee passed resolutions that the case of Mrs. Sopranis Northrup, whom official investigation shows was imprisoned eight months in the lunatic asylum at St. Paul, Minn., without lawful authority and without being insane, is a flagrant outrage, a signal disproof of the statement of the National Convention of Asylum Superintendents that no sane person was ever imprisoned in an asylum, and a clear proof of the need for the Anti-Kidnapping Union's existence.

Her Head Cut to Pieces.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 8.—Mrs. John Booker, aged 46 years, wife of a colored barber, was found murdered at 5 a. m. in a shed near her home. The murdered woman's head was cut into pieces. Although there has been several arrests there is no positive clue. It is supposed the crime was committed early in the evening. The woman had been assaulted.

Bakers Gain Their Point.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The strike of German bakers, which was inaugurated Saturday night, is practically over. 100 out of the 135 bosses conceding the strikers' demands. Of the 1,200 men who went on strike, 800 have been called back to work and it is expected the remaining 400 will be at work by to-morrow.

New Jersey Shakes.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 8.—A distinct shock of earthquake, from southeast to northwest, accompanied by a rumbling noise, was felt here yesterday.

GEN. SCHOFIELD'S MARRIAGE.

There Will be No Elaborate Display or Military Pomp.

KNOXVILLE, Ia., June 8.—Mrs. George Kilbourne and Miss Georgia, her daughter, who is to wed Gen. John Schofield, commander-in-chief of the United States army, on June 18, have returned to Knoxville from Chicago.

Mrs. Kilbourne says that much of the newspaper talk as to the details of the forthcoming event were exaggerations. While all the details of her daughter's wedding have not yet been formulated, it has been determined that the occasion will not be the occasion for an elaborate display of military pomp and ceremony, as some of the papers have announced. This step has been taken because of the recent bereavement of the family, and is in accordance with Gen. Schofield's earnest desire. St. Paul's Episcopal church will be the scene of the marriage ceremony and high noon the hour.

General Schofield and members of his staff will appear in uniform and the bride will be unattended by bridesmaids. No invitations but verbal ones will be given, but announcement cards will be sent out on the day of the marriage.

A special car will convey General Schofield and party from Chicago. It is expected that only his brother, Gen. Schofield, and Lieutenants Bliss and Andrews, of his staff, together with a few relatives and personal friends will accompany him.

COMING WITH A FORTUNE.

A Carpenter Returning from Klondike With $350,000.

SPRINGFIELD, O., June 8.—James Haggin, lately a poor carpenter here, is coming his way home from England a quarter of a million dollars richer than he left this city.

The story of his sudden rise from poverty to wealth has many romantic features. Many years ago his grandfather, a young English naval officer, lived and married a young girl in Waterford, Ireland. The marriage was beneath social station, and his wife, being of an ardent nature, did not long bear the indignities which the inequality of station heaped upon her.

She soon left his home and came to this country. Here she found employment to support herself and her little daughter, who afterward became the mother of James Wood, now the sole heir of the larger portion of the Wood estate. The finding of the heir was through the accident of a tramp reading the advertisement of the case in the estate.

THE SAWTELLE TRAGEDY.

Hiram Says He Blessed Him and That He Tried to Protect Him.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 8.—It is reported that Isaac R. Sawtelle has written to the Governor the story of how his brother was killed. In it Isaac says that he was present when his brother was shot in Lebanon, Me., but that the shooting was done by an agent, Charles Blood. The shooting occurred because Hiram refused to sign a document releasing certain property. He was requested to do by Dr. Blood.

His brother's missing head, it is said, was thrown into the ocean from one of the Portland boats by the man who shot him.

Isaac asserts that he tried to save his brother's life, but to no purpose, and that there was not a particle of direct evidence at his trial to connect him in any way with the murder.

Floods in Texas.

AUSTIN, Tex., June 8.—The heavy rains which have prevailed west of here for the past 48 hours have caused the Colorado river to take a sudden rise. In the past three hours the river rose 12 feet. At the mountain gorge above the city it is 20 feet above low water mark. The big excavation for the dam now in process of construction was flooded and the cofferdam swept away. Many cellars in the city are flooded. The loss will be very heavy.

Haggin's Firenzi Injured.

NEW YORK, June 8.—J. B. Haggin's great mare Firenzi, the conqueror of Bard, Kingston, Tenny, and several other high-class thoroughbred horses in her own stable companion, Salvator, broke her leg while working for the Realization Handicap, and it now looks as though she would never race again.

Suicide His Worst Policy.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 8.—Frederick Bellhouse, an insurance agent, killed his wife's Bible, paid up an insurance policy with the proceeds and then committed suicide by jumping into the canal.

A Strike Declared Off.

ERIE, Pa., June 8.—The strike at the planing mill employes for shorter hours, which has been in progress since May 1 has been declared off.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Passaic Boat Club of Nutley, N. J., has engaged George Hosmer to coach its crew for the Middle States regatta.

The attempt to enforce the Sunday law in Irvington, N. J., was a failure, and all the hotels were open and did a rushing business.

George R. Bersan, for many years police sergeant in New York, has assumed charge of the Danbury, Conn., police as chief.

The new St. Joseph's Catholic church in Bound Brook, N. J., was dedicated yesterday. The edifice cost about $30,000.

Mrs. Grimwood Honored.

LONDON, June 8.—Queen Victoria has conferred the Order of the Red Cross on Mrs. Grimwood for heroic conduct at Manipur, where her husband, the British political agent, was murdered by the natives.

The Brigands in Constantinople.

VIENNA, June 8.—It is believed that the Kirkilisse brigands have reached Constantinople unobserved, and are now in that city, after dividing the ransom paid for the German tourists.

THE DAILY PRESS.

W. L. & A. L. FORCE, Publishers and Proprietors.

L. A. DEMAREST, - - Managing Editor.

EACH DAY'S RECORD.

The last issue of THE PRESS contained 1 1-2 columns of live advertising. The last issue of the "news" had 12 1-2 columns, mostly ad.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Westfield is planning for a local Young Men's Christian Association.

—Fanwood is anxious to have a water supply from Plainfield's proposed works.

—Edsall's is a "tell tale" advertisement to-day, as all will readily perceive who read it.

—The United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association have a new advertisement in to-day's PRESS.

—Reserved seats for the organ concert at the First Baptist church can be secured at Randolph's Pharmacy.

—Parts of Duer street and Craig place were again in darkness last night. The Plainfield electric light company seems afflicted, of late, to delinquencies.

—The officers, directors and committee of the Y. M. C. A., on invitation of W. Kissam, will meet at his residence, 3 Central avenue, Saturday afternoon, from 3 to 9.

—This is quick work! J. C. Pope & Co. to-day paid the German American Insurance Co's loss on the barn burned at Bonna, Saturday evening. It pays to insure in good companies, and through live agents.

—Boys who may wish to join the New York and New Jersey State Y. M. C. A. Boys' Camp, at Lake Champlain, July 6, should apply at the Association rooms at once, as word has been received that there are now but six vacancies.

—The Hon. Josephus Shann, of Mt. Pleasant, has generously offered the use of his beautiful lawn for the purpose of holding a strawberry and ice-cream festival to-morrow evening. The proceeds are to be for the benefit of the Mt. Pleasant Sunday-school.

—The Rev. Dr. T. S. Doolittle, Professor at Rutgers College, New Brunswick, delivered two magnificent sermons in Trinity Reformed church, yesterday. At the close of the evening, from the text Matthew v: 8, was particularly fine. The professor is a most able divine.

—The new St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church was dedicated at Bound Brook, yesterday. It is a $20,000 structure, built of stone, in English Gothic style, and its stained-glass windows are from the most famous shops in Munich, Bavaria. Father Connell and his parishioners are very proud of it, for it is the handsomest house of worship in Somerset county.

—The magnolia hunters among the stores in Central New Jersey are having a rush this year. In places where heretofore there have been quantities of the elegant flower only a few can be seen. The scarcity is due to the heavy frosts of last month, which killed the buds when they were about to expand. The few flowers now gathered are small and lack the exquisite perfume of the full-grown flower.

—Lovers of oratorio music will enjoy the programme at the organ concert at the First Baptist church to-morrow evening. Mrs. Doty will sing, "Hear Ye, Israel", from Elijah, and "Come Unto Him", from "The Messiah". Mr. Dempwolf will sing "O God, Have Mercy" from St. Paul. There also will be some very fine organ music rendered by Dr. S. N. Penfield, of New York, and W. E. MacClymont, organist of the church.

—The Westfield Wheelmen will hold a mile handicap road race Saturday afternoon, June 27. The course will be between Westfield and Cranford. Two minutes will be the handicap limit. Prizes to be contested for will be a medal for the best time and a gold silver medal for the first man and a bronze medal for the second man. The entrance fee has been fixed at 25 cents. All entries must be recorded with the Secretary before June 16.

—The Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters, wish to thank their friends for their very liberal patronge at the festival last week Thursday and Friday evenings, and to all who assisted in making the affair such a success. The circle rejoices in a net profit of $162, the larger portion of which will give towards extinguishing the floating debt of Trinity church. The remainder will be judiciously expended among the poor and needy during the coming heated term.

—It is but justice to the reputable reporters of Plainfield correspondents of the New York papers to state that none of them is responsible for the story in this morning's issues that the two little fires in Plainfield Saturday night were of incendiary origin and that the loss was $7,000. The person who sent such a grossly false report to New York is evidently the same party who sent in a dispatch a few days ago announcing a terrible railroad wreck at Plainfield avenue which never happened, and another dispatch reporting that Mrs. Conway, who died in North Plainfield, under distressing circumstances, of which she was taken accidently, committed suicide because of grief over her husband's death, which occurred years ago.

Drink, pretty creature, drink"! Drink beer made from Knapp's Root Beer Extract. Five minutes makes it.

HIS HAIR BLEACHED BY FRIGHT.

Thrilling Experience of Engineer Moynihan on the Jersey Central.

Michael Moynihan, one of the oldest and most trusted engineers in the employ of the Jersey Central railway company, and who never runs anything but one of the Blue Line lightning expresses, that whiz across New Jersey on their way to Washington with wings swifter than the wind, is just recovering from the biggest scare of his life.

Two or three nights ago his train was flying over the rails at a terrific speed, with the Greenbrook water-tanks just at the rear, and a straight track to Bound Brook ahead.

Suddenly there loomed up on the track before him two red lights. "The rear of a freight!" flashed through the engineer's brain. He reversed his engine and deluged the rails with sand, but the train glided on with frightful momentum. Moynihan closed his eyes in prayer and waited for the awful crash.

But the train slowed up, and the expected collision did not happen. As the engine reached the crossing of the highway Moynihan heard a mocking laugh, and saw two bicyclists mount their wheels and speed away in the darkness.

"It was a horrible joke"—says Moynihan.—"The dreadful suspense of that moment was agonizing. My heart stopped beating, and I could almost feel my hair turning gray. It was the most thrilling experience I ever had. My locks are whiter than they were before."

Railroad detectives are trying to find the fellows who flashed their bicycle lanterns before the train in such cruel fun. Things will be hot for the jokers when they are caught.

Engineer Moynihan is a brother of engineer Moynihan of drill engine 30 at Plainfield, and a brother-in-law of John J. Kenney of this city.

TWO LITTLE FIRES.

Locomotive Sparks Caused One, and Mice and Matches the Other.

At about nine o'clock Saturday night the Plainfield fire department was called out by an alarm sent in from box 47, at the Pond Machine Tool Works. Sparks from a Jersey Central locomotive had set fire to the shingle roof of a small barn at Timothy McCarthy's, 341 West Front street, and in a short time both that structure and the small barn of Robert Brand, adjoining, were burned to the ground. The loss of Mr. McCarthy did not exceed $800, and was insured for $100. Mr. Brand's loss was not more than $900.

Those who first saw the blaze made an effort to send in an alarm from box 45, but the holder of the key to whom they applied was in a very deliberative and investigative frame of mind, and concluded that the light in the sky was only that of a bonfire, so he would n't give up the key. Minutes later the other box sounded.

Neighbors of Mr. McCarthy saw the fire when it first broke out. It started on the roof. They ran to give the alarm, but were cut off by a passing coal train. The only thing saved from McCarthy's barn was one carriage.

At 2:30 Sunday morning dense smoke was found pouring from the cellar windows of the Northern Pacific Tea Company's store. The department was called out by box 12, and found a heap of rubbish afire in the smoking cellar. They soon had it out, with no damage whatever to the stock or fixtures of the store. A cellar door and window were damaged $12 worth by the firemen breaking in.

A delay of five minutes in getting water was caused by the race-way at French's Mill being found to be empty after a line of hose had been stretched to the Somerset street fire-well, which is supplied by the race-way. Chief Doane was astounded to find the race-way empty, for Mr. French had assured the city that it would always be kept full as long as the fire-well was attached to it. The firemen had to go back to the dam, open the gates, and wait for the race-way to fill, before they could start their engine at the well.

The fire in the tea store cellar was discovered by night watchman Benjamin Wright.

Westfield to Have a Theatre.

It is proposed by some of the leading citizens of Westfield to form a corporation to be known as the Westfield Improvement and Investment Company. The capital is fixed at $50,000, the number of shares to be 2,000 at $25 a share. A prospectus has been issued. The objects of the company are "to promote public improvements in Westfield and its vicinity, and to take the capitalizing and financiering of such improvements as will afford suitable returns on the capital invested". The first enterprise to be undertaken by the company will be the erection of the Westfield Auditorium. The temporary officers are: President—Martin Welles; Treasurer—Alexander S. Clark; Secretary—J. H. Vail.

A Great Game Next Wednesday.

There is a treat to come for Plainfield's base-ball lovers. At Westfield, Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, the N. J. A. C. team of Bergen Point, that has already defeated the Somerville West Ends this season by scores of 20 to 1, and 12 to 2, will play the Westfields. On May 23d the Westfields defeated the N. J. A. C's at Bergen Point by 3 to 1, but the latter hope for revenge next Wednesday.

The visitors' battery is the celebrated Currie brothers. Westfield is to try as its new pitcher the phenomenal Hammell of the Iroquois Athletics of Newark. Westfield has lost its pet O'Neil, as the Corinthian Club has stolen him.

HAMMILL FALLS AWAY.

He Pitched a Different Game Than He did the Previous Saturday.

Although Hammill was wild only in spots, Saturday, and the Acmes' hits were scattered through four innings, yet the progress of the game showed that he cannot be depended on and that the Crescents' managers must engage a change pitcher, without any delay. In fact had Gregg pitched the game that Hammill did, Saturday, the cranks would have been swearing about it yet, which shows that possibly Hammill has been overrated. It was only the perfect fielding behind him that saved him from being knocked out of the box when the balls were near the batters, and it was only Jones' magnificent work behind the bat that held the Acmes on the bases when the balls were traveling through the air in all directions except over the plate.

Martin, Lufbery and Lee had nineteen chances and accepted them all. Two double plays both resulted from Martin's sharp, true work in the infield. It was almost a perfect game, by the Crescents. The Acmes did not play so well, and but for the six bases on balls presented to them they would have made but a sorry showing. Brown, the new pitcher they brought for the occasion, was taken out of the box after Jones, Gregg, Lee and Hammill got through banging him in the second inning. The score:

PARTICULAR MENTION.

By the will of the late Carmon Parse, his wife and her brother, John H. Honeyman, are appointed sole executors. Mr. Honeyman was for many years in business here under the First National bank. He is now one of the most prosperous merchants in Knoxville.

Robert P. McBride, the head of the firm of McBride Bros., who own the hundred or so stores throughout the country under the title of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Tully, at East Orange, yesterday, in the 42d year of his age. Mr. McBride was a resident of The Netherwood, a few seasons ago, and his wife was a Miss Bomeleer, formerly of this city.

Miss Julia E. Buckley, Principal of the Plainfield public schools, who spent last year in foreign lands, will address the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian churches, in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock. The subject of her address will be, "The Condition of Women in the Orient", as she saw it. All ladies interested are cordially invited to attend.

The city of Little Rock, Arkansas, has been having a big time over the National Travelers' Protective Association convention. The streets have been gay with flags and bunting, and the people have given the drummers their heartiest welcome and highest honors. Among the most prominent delegates on whom the city has showered so much delightful attention is S. A. Haines, of Netherwood, chaplain of the Association, and founder of the Commercial Temperance League. Mr. Haines is one of the busiest and most popular and active workers at each of these annual conventions.

A Tennis Tea.

The Hillside Tennis Club of this city gave a most enjoyable afternoon tea to its many friends Saturday from 4 until 6 o'clock. Mrs. H. Augusta Schuyler received, assisted by Miss Stewart, Miss Katharine Yates, Miss Hunter of this city, and Miss Edith Hartley of New York. Tea was served in the picturesque club-house, and the guests well filled the pretty rooms.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. DeWitte Clinton Ivins, Miss Hunter, Miss Edith Hartley, Major Robert L. Burnett, Mrs. Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Opdyke, Mr. Streull, Miss Ginna, Mr. James F. Murray, Miss Schneely, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Mellick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. H. Poillon, Miss Jessamy Hart, Mr. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Kimball, Mrs. Emma C. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Finch, Miss Walz, Mr. and Mrs. R. Henry Depew, Dr. and Mrs. William H. Murray, Mrs. W. L. Patton, and Miss Margaret Miller of London.

ROBBED ON THE PUBLIC STREET.

A Tall Man in a Slouch Hat Snatches a Woman's Purse.

Mrs. Joseph H. Bolsterle, of East Second street, was passing along Washington street, between Front and Second, at nine o'clock Saturday evening, when a tall man wearing a slouch hat grabbed her by the arm, snatched a purse containing $18 from her hand, and ran down the street and out of sight.

Mrs. Bolsterle was so frightened that as soon as she could get home she went directly to bed, and has been prostrated ever since with the nervous shock.

The incident is another proof that a woman cannot provide any greater temptation to a thief, nor any easier method of losing her money, than by carrying her purse in her hand. Occurrences similar to this are constantly happening in New York city, and women are gradually learning that pockets are wise and safe.

BY THE WAY.

—Have you tried Titsworth's cigars? If not consult his advertisement in THE PRESS.

—The city court had one prisoner this morning—a young man who was fined $2 for drunkenness.

—Those in need of a good veterinary surgeon will find Dr. George Gidney, of 39 East Fifth street, with office at A. D. Thompson's North avenue stables, in every way competent and reliable.

—The people are requested to meet with the Council to-night if they have anything to say in favor of or against the coming in of a new company pledged to furnish better gas at less money.

—The closing exercises of the Wide-Awake Circle will be held in the Women's Christian Temperance Union rooms to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock. The attendance of every member is desired.

—If you want any medicines at night, the only drug store that will accommodate you is Williams', corner of Park avenue and Fourth street. Mr. Macon, the manager, lives in apartments over the store. You push the button, and he'll do the rest.

—The Unions of Grant avenue defeated the Hope chapel Sunday-school Saturday afternoon, in a game of base-ball, by the score of 23 to 15. The feature of the game was the home run batted by Harry Foose of the Hope Chapels when three men wereon base. It was the longest hit ever made in the field. Brit Martin, of the Unions, made a fine running catch. The battery for the Unions was: McComas, Young, Guinee and Shattle; for the Hope Chapels, Firstbrook, Malone and Foose. Malone had two fingers split in the eighth inning. The following were the two teams: Unions—Shattle, McComas, Young, J. Cose, Lebeau, Pugh, Martin, Guinee, Droll. Hope Chapels—Malone, Firstbrook, Penny, Meyers, Foose, Gray, G. Cose, Clifton, Hartfelder. Umpire—Walter Mague. Scorer—Billy Frye.

The "Two Johns" Capture a Brace of Thieves.

Lewis Wahl, fifty-five, and August Arnold, twenty-five years old, were arrested Saturday by County Detective John Keron and Detective John M. C. Marsh for a series of robberies during the past six months in the counties of Union, Middlesex and Somerset. The men had their rendezvous in a dilapidated house at a spot called Oak Tree, midway between this city and Metuchen. From this place they went nightly and plundered barns and country houses for miles around.

The prisoners were arraigned in the police court in Elizabeth yesterday, and committed to jail. Arnold married four weeks ago a young woman of Roselle, who was in entire ignorance of his unlawful occupation.

Strike in a Shipyard.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 8.—The bolters, riveters and calkers, 21 in number, employed on the government practice cruiser now building at the shipyard of Samuel Moore & Sons, here, are on strike for an advance of wages. The men work on piece work, and the firm says they averaged $4 per day. The men say they could not average more than $3. They tried to get the other workmen to stop work, and the firm telephoned to police headquarters and policemen were sent to prevent disturbance. Work on the cruiser has been suspended.

Three Prominent Citizens Arrested.

WALDO, Ark., June 8.—Three of the most prominent citizens in town, ex-Mayor J. R. Johnson, J. T. Faulkner and Ed. Waller have been arrested by U. S. Mail Inspector McClure, charged with robbing the mails at McNeil on March 16. The three are also suspected of being connected with the recent safe robbery. They will be taken to Texarkana for examination.

Two Boys Killed by Lightning.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 8.—A terrible storm passed over this section last night. The wind felled trees and small buildings, and the lightning struck several houses, a church in Belpre and barns in different neighborhoods. During the storm in Jackson County, John and Charles took refuge under a straw stack which the lightning struck, killing both boys instantly.

Closing Exercises at West Point.

WEST POINT, June 8.—The farewell sermon to the graduating class was delivered in the chapel by Prof. Pottlethwaite, the post chaplain.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm a few days and I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After forty-six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was gone.—Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

A good shoe is like a good friend—it will not disappoint you when you call upon it for real service. You know a good friend by tying him, and that's the way you can test a shoe; but the trouble in the case of the shoe is that, when you've tried it, you must keep it, whether it's good or not. You won't complain about having to keep our shoes, because we know what they are when we sell them, and what we know we let you know before you buy. There is nothing in the market which will give you a better return for your money than our $3 00 Shoe.

THE CORPSE WAS ALIVE.

Jim Smith Gets Square With His Wife's Relatives by Inviting Them to His Own Funeral.

James H. Smith, of South Plainfield, had a funeral last week, and besides furnishing himself as a corpse made all arrangements for the obsequies and had a nice jolly time welcoming the mourners over his lamented remains.

James is a married man, but has not lived much with Lizzie, his wife, because Lizzie's family were opposed to the match and since the marriage have had influence enough to keep the couple separated. Not that James and Lizzie do not love one another, but their affection has been smothered by the troubles that the wife's people have kept continually alive.

James has long been plotting revenge on his wife's family for keeping him in hot water and for estranging his wife from him, and last week Sunday he stumbled on a bright plan for getting square.

At the house of a friend he came across Mark Twain's books giving the life-story of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn. He is not much of a scholar, and his eruditeness does not extend beyond that obtained from the old-time country district school, but he managed to get through portions of the two books, and was particularly impressed with the chapter telling how Tom and Huck came back from being Mississippi pirates just in time to attend their own funeral services at the village church in St. Petersburgh. Here was James Smith's inspiration.

James spent the early part of the week perfecting his plans and getting together enough money to carry them out. By Thursday everything was ready, and he promptly sent dispatches, writing them something like the following, to all his wife's relatives, who were scattered about in Maryland, Long Island, and York State:

Deer James is ded, and I am hartbroken. O wy did I ever be cross and leve him. Come to the funeral Friday afternoon at 3, I will mete you at the station. Lizzie.

The operator corrected the orthography of what James wrote, condensed it into ten words, and wired it off, "collect".

Friday noon found James, comfortably clad in his old clothes, and extracting solid comfort from an old clay pipe, seated on the top rail of a fence behind a pile of railroad ties, through the chinks of which he had a fine view of the platform of the Lehigh Valley railway station. Presently the mourners began to arrive by train. Most of them were women. All of them were laden down with beautiful floral offerings, and as they waited for Lizzie to greet them James heard them talking among themselves sorrowfully about the deceased. He was n't such a bad fellow, after all—they said.—He was good-hearted enough, in his way, and perhaps if they'd helped instead of hindering him he and Liz might have had a happy home together.

All the good things they said did n't make James feel at all like rushing out and throwing his arms about their necks, and blessing them for their kind words. Instead he sniffed the air contemptuously and grumbled "Rats!"

By and by, as Lizzie did n't appear, the mourners asked the one lone hackman at the station where she lived, and learned that she worked on a farm some distance out. The hackman, singularly enough, had n,t heard of the funeral, but he readily engaged to convey the mourners to the house to participate in the obsequies. While they were gone James wrote a letter, signed Lizzie, and begging him for the Lord's sake to return to his loving wife, who was pining away for his presence. Having addressed it to himself, he went to the post-office, had it postmarked, solemnly received it back, and left it on exhibition at the village store as an indication of the kindly feeling his wife had for him, and of how much he had been abused in the past. Then he printed a sign, on brown paper, in rude characters, saying, "I hav gon to hang myself in the woods", and pinned it on a rail fence in a conspicuous place.

All South Plainfield was speedily excited. Searching parties scoured the neighborhood for Jim Smith's body, and got mad because they could n't find it. Then Lizzie's relatives came back, "mad clear through", at Jim's playing such a heartless, cruel, expensive joke on them. The men called him a "shiftless, worthless, lyin' cuss", and the women were ready to cry with vexation for having shed such wasted tears. Lizzie did cry, because she had been trying for a reconciliation, and here her plans were utterly frustrated.

Gradually matters quieted down, and the indignant relatives went home, after vainly trying to get Jim arrested for his heartless hoax. Word was spread about the village that James had utterly disappeared, and the mill pond at New Market was to have been searched Saturday, when the news came from Plainfield that he had joined a gang of laborers at work in the western outskirts of that city.

Somerville Wants More of the Old Excitement.

The Somerville Democrat speaks of the base-ball players of the Plainfield Bicycle Club as a strong team, and is glad to know that the nine have arranged games with Somerville's amateurs and that the team is nearly the same as the old one that defeated the old West Ends so often. It says:

"There was the ministerial third baseman, Asa Dilts, just as lively and just as much of a kicker as in years past. There was Billy Cadmus—the same old Billy who used to fool our boys by his twirling the ball so effectively. Then there was McMurray—a jolly good fellow, who, like the rest of us mortals, has his faults. One of his is to try and intimidate the umpire. He tried it once, but, as it did not succeed, he threw the bat at Harkins. Everyone can remember that occurrence. Those were stirring times. May we have some of the same kind this season! SamMcCutchen played at second, and kept up his reputation as a ball player by banging the ball out of the lot for a homer. McMurray, Dare, Cadmus and McCutchen batted like fiends, making all the hits—seven in all, off McFarland.

"The Plainfield amateurs are base-ball players, every one of them, and can well sustain the Plainfield reputation in base-ball."

Historian Lossing at Washington Rock.

The death of Benson John Lossing, the historian, which occurred at his home near Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Wednesday, recalls the fact that he once visited this section and explored Washington's old camp grounds near this city. It was in September, 1848, nearly 43 years ago, that he went all over this ground, and he describes it at length in his "Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution". Speaking of Washington's Rock, at the north of the camp ground, Lossing says:

It is an elevation of nearly 400 feet above the plain below and commands a magnificent view of the surrounding country, included in the segment of a circle of 60 miles, having its rundle southward. At our feet spread out the beautiful rolling plains like a map, through which course the winding Raritan and the Delaware and Raritan Canal, Little villages and neat farm-houses dotted the picture in every direction. Southward the spires of New Brunswick shot up above the intervening forests and on the left was spread the expanse of Raritan and Amboy Bays with many white sails upon their bosom. Beyond were seen the swelling hills of Staten Island and the more abrupt heights of Navesink mountains at Sandy Hook. Upon this lofty rock Washington often stood with his telescope and reconnoitred the vicinity. He overlooked his camp at his feet and could have descried the marchings of the enemy at a great distance upon the plain or the evolutions of a fleet in the waters beyond.

Yankee Doodle to Visit Westfield.

Westfield will have an old-fashioned celebration on the Fourth of July. These celebrations have been a feature in Westfield for some years. The people from the surrounding country flock to the village in twos, in groups and by wagon-loads to participate in the festivities. A committee composed of representative men from the churches and from every organization in the town takes charge of the celebration, and everything goes off with a whirl and a dash. This year there will be games in the morning and afternoon and fireworks in the evening. A programme of unusually wide scope is in preparation. At sunrise the church and the schoolhouse bells will be rung. At a later hour "Yankee Doodle" will be escorted into the town, riding his historical pony, by a brass band and a drum and fife corps. He will receive a royal reception.

Dunellen Doings.

At yesterday's Communion service in the Dunellen Presbyterian church four were received into the church, three by letter and one on profession of faith.

Miss Ella Dunham is confined to her home by illness.

Charles Carpenter's mother is visiting friends in Dunellen.

Miss Maggie Swackhamer is spending a few weeks with relatives in Phillipsburgh.

Miss Carrie Peck, a missionary in the south, under the Presbyterian Board, is visiting her parents in Dunellen.

Miss May Harold, Dunellen's assistant postmistress, has returned home from a visit to friends in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Saturday evening during the fire at Evona, it was reported that the Evona station was burning, a report which caused considerable excitement.

Borough Authorities Disagree.

Borough Marshal Thomas Rutledge and Borough Street Commissioner George Conover had an altercation on the street Saturday evening over the question as to whether Conover did n't have more men at work carting than he had license for. Rutledge seemed anxious to arrest Conover for violating the license ordinance, and Conover was sure he had violated no law. The war of words finally became so hot that Conover lost his temper and called Rutledge a damn liar, at which Rutledge arrested him for swearing, though under the law of New Jersey the mere word damn has already been adjudged to be not profane. Borough Magistrate Crosley released Conover on his own recognizance for a hearing to-night.

Julia Ward Howe's Son-in-law Drowned.

Prospect Lake, near Colorado Springs, was the scene of the drowning Friday night of Edward Elliott, son-in-law of Julia Ward Howe, and brother-in-law of Florence Howe Hall of Fanwood, well known in Plainfield society. He went to Colorado three months ago from Chicago, suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia. He had recovered and intended to leave for his home Monday.

THIRSTY ELEPHANTS.

How They Astonished the Man in Charge of a Railway Water Tank.

One day a circus and menagerie train halted at the railway station on its way through the town. Of course there was great curiosity among the railroad men to inspect this queer special train; and with the others the engineer and the fireman of one of the locomotives in the yard left their posts for a short time to see the different menagerie cars.

When they came back and were ready to move their locomotive, they noticed that the cover of the water-tank was open. Further, they luckily discovered that the tank was nearly empty—although it had been full to the brim when they left it.

Such an extraordinary thing had never happened before. No wonder there was great surprise on all sides; every one knew the tank was full when the men had left it; in fact some of the "hands" had seen it filled, neither was there a leak in it, and yet the tank was empty. The question was where had the water gone?

Seven thirsty elephants, shut up all day and all night in a car that gave them hardly room to move; their warm bodies fairly touching one another, a paltry allowance of water to quench their thirst, and then to be left standing on the hot railroad track, the sun's rays pouring down upon the roof of the car, and with only such air as could come through the small open windows! Was it any wonder, when their keen scent told them water was near, that they should search for it? How were they to know that it was not there for their convenience? At any rate, no sooner were the men gone than through a small window of the elephant car the dusky trunk of an elephant made its way sinuously out. Another followed its example, then another, until seven trunks had felt and snuffed around, over engine, tender and coal. What they sought was not there; but they still kept moving about, and, coming to the water tank, one of them stopped, felt all over the cover and at last managed to get the finger-like end under the edge of the cover. Then slowly and carefully it was opened, when, behold! there was what the elephants wanted—water, and plenty of it. The owner of that particular trunk took a long draught, its companions meanwhile shoving and pushing one another in their anxiety to drink. One after another they filled their trunks with the cool water and poured it down their dry, parched throats.

The mystery of the empty tank was a mystery but a short time. The keeper of the elephants on visiting the car had found it and the elephants deluged with water. A few inquiries, and the matter was explained.—St. Nicholas.

TRICK WITH STRINGS.

Puzzling, But Easy Enough When You Understand It.

A clever string trick is thus described by the St. Louis Republic: Tie together the two ends of a sufficiently long string (two yards at the least); hold the knot in your hand and spread the string on a table in such a way that the two extremities of the closed circuit A B and X Y cross each other at right angles, after their centers have formed two rings, M and N. Then invite one of those present to place one of his fingers on the table in the interior of the circuit, so as to prevent you from regaining the string. Nine times out of ten he will place his finger in the square space, X Fig. 1, believing that the finger is in the interior. But he will soon realize his mistake when he sees you pull away the string without its being held by his finger.

FIG. 1.

You will be asked to do the trick again, and this time you ask that the that the finger be placed so as to let you withdraw the string. The amateur then invariably replaces it in the same space, X, certain of being successful this time. You pull, and lo! His finger is encircled by the string, of which he can not rid himself except by lifting his finger from the table (Fig. 2). The whole secret consists in this: In the first instance you must be careful to avoid letting the two pieces, a and b, cross each other. In the second instance, on the contrary, by an imperceptible movement of the hand, you turn the knot between your fingers; the two lines of string are thus crossed at the point, O, before forming the square, X, (Fig. 2). This crossing, very apparent on our plan, where we were forced to represent a string of limited dimensions, will pass unnoticed when you operate with a string of the indicated length.

FIG. 2.

The Election in Wilmington.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 8.—Stanbury J. Willey (Rep.) has 449 majority for Mayor over Dr. Willard Springer (Dem.) The other Republican majorities are: Joseph K. Adams, City Treasurer, 932; Charles M. Curtiss, City Solicitor, 550; Nathaniel R. Benson, president of Council, 775. The Republicans will have three majority in the City Council and will have control of the city for the first time in seven years.

Superintendent Gray Acquitted.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 8. — Superintendent Gray, of Frick's Leiseuring No. 8 coke works, was acquitted of the charge of murdering one of the Hungarian strikers during a riot near Leiseuring. The strikers had induced some of the workmen to join them in drinking beer. When Superintendent Gray went after his imprisoned men he was assaulted and beaten. During the row one of the Huns was shot and killed.

Trotting Meeting at Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The trotting meeting of the Washington Driving Club will be held at Bennings' track commencing to-morrow and continue until June 12. The best class of trotters and pacers have been engaged, and the lovers of the trotting horse will be treated to one of the best exhibitions of speed ever shown here.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 20, 1890.

Having been a sufferer for sometime past with Biliousness, etc., I was recommended to use Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills. I did so, and am pleased to find that they are as recommended, a cure for those ailments. I therefore subscribe myself cheerfully in recommending them to any who may suffer with those complaints.

Hogan Knocked Out.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 7.—A prize fight occurred early in the morning four miles north of this city between Tommy Hogan of Clyde, N. Y., and John H. Sullivan of Sacramento, Cal., for a purse of $500. Hogan was knocked out in the fifteenth round.

Parnell's Financial Statement.

How tempting! Something "just as good" is offered when Hires's Root Beer is called for. The reason is plain. The unprincipled dealer makes more profit on imitation goods. The wise ones insist on getting Hires's.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 8.—The Rev. Philip Bernstein died last evening of heart disease, aged 55 years. He has ministered to the congregations Bethel at San Francisco, Montreal and Winchester, Mass.

An Historical Doll.

An historical doll, recently exhibited in New York, is copied from a Velasquez of Ferdinand II., Duke of Tuscany. It is dressed in green plush and point lace, with a suit of steel armor over it. A beautiful long curly wig graces this duke.

A young woman of Athens, Ga., detects the presence instantly of any feline that enters the room where she is. She need not see or hear the animal when it enters, but has intimation of its disagreeable presence by strange sensations that she invariably experiences when she is brought into contact with a cat, and she entertains an unconquerable repugnance to these animals.

TREATMENT for CONSUMPTION.

To the PHYSICIANS of Plainfield and Vicinity.

I would respectfully announce that I am prepared to supply the Solution of Iodo-Chloride of Gold and Manganese, lately suggested by Drs. Shurly and Gibbes, for the treatment of Consumption.

Recent experiments seem to promise better results from the use of this remedy than have been attained by any of the newly proposed methods of treatment, not excepting that of Dr. Koch. Absolute purity of materials and careful manipulation are required for the successful preparation of the Solution which, after repeated trials, we have attained.

HOW SOLDIERS DRESS.

Indian Fighters Pay Very Little Attention to Their Clothes.

When fighting the Indians the soldiers pay but little attention to the clothes they wear, says the New York Morning Journal, and to the inexperienced man of the East a private would hardly be recognized as one of Uncle Sam's gallant army should he run across him accidentally.

When the soldiers start out on an Indian campaign the bright blue uniform is usually discarded for a suit of brown goods, very much like the cloth of which overalls are made. The regulation army cap is discarded, and in its place a grayish slouch hat is substituted, which is much easier on the head, and protects the eyes from the glare of the sun.

The soldiers take a great pride in their uniforms, and not only when fighting, but when on long marches do they don the brown suit which does not show the dirt, and they wouldn't care if it did. It is impossible to keep a blue uniform looking half-way decent, half a day's march being quite sufficient to make it look as though it had been worn for years. The officers as well as the privates wear the slouch hat, and a regiment out in the Indian country, under any circumstances, presents a very unique appearance.

At a distance an officer looks about the same as a private, except that he has no gun, and especially in winter time it is difficult to distinguish them. Everybody wears the warmest clothes he can find regardless of uniform. If a soldier has a buffalo coat he is very liable to wear it if the mercury is saunstering down about twenty or thirty degrees below zero.

Another rather unique affair worn by the soldiers is what is called the California over-shoes. They are nothing more nor less than a large piece of jute tied up over the foot and leg and as high up as the knee. This is a great guard against the snow and cold, and the soldiers prefer it to any thing else they can find. About the neck is worn a handkerchief tied in a simple knot, which, among the cavalrymen, invariably joits around to the back of the collar, though originally tied in front. In cold weather another handkerchief is tied over the head and ears and tied in a knot under the chin. A slouch hat is held on by a string, usually tied to the band and then brought down through holes on either side of the brim and passed under the back of the head.

In a company of one hundred men almost every style of rough costume imaginable can be seen, most of which is covered with grease and dirt. The more grease the better, as it is said not until the old brown overalls are well smeared with all sorts of truck do they become really warm, and they never wear out.

FISHING IN JAPAN.

The Queer Aquatic Structure of a Japanese Fisherman.

Just as the steamer people were preparing for their first landing there detached itself from the background of trees along the shore the most singular aquatic structure I think I have ever seen, writes Percival Lowell in an article on Japan in the Atlantic Monthly. It looked like the skeleton of some antediluvian wigwam which a prehistoric roc had subsequently chosen for a nest. Four poles planted in the water inclined to one another at such an angle that they crossed three-quarters of the way up. The projecting quarters held in clutch a large wicker basket like the ear of a balloon. Peering above the car was a man's head. As the occupant below slowly turned the head to keep an eye on us, it suggested, amid its web of poles, some mammoth spider lying in wait for its prey.

It was a matter of some wonder at first how the man got there, until the motion of the steamer turned the side and disclosed a set of cross-poles lashed between two of the uprights, forming a rude sort of ladder. Curiosity, satisfied on this primary point, still asked how he got there. As this was a riddle to me, I propounded it to Yejiro, who only shook his head and propounded it to somebody else—a compliment to the inquiry certainly, if not to my choice of inquirers. This somebody else told him the man was fishing. Except for the immobility of the figure, I never saw a man look less like it in my life.

Such, however, was the fact. The wigwam was connected by strings to the entrance of a sort of weir, and the man who crouched in the basket was on the lookout for large fish, of a kind called bora. As soon as one of them strayed into the mouth of the net the man pulled the string which closed the opening.

The height of his observatory above the level of the water enabled him to see through it to the necessary depth. I am a trifle hazy over the exact details of the apparatus, as I never saw a fish inquisitive enough to go in; but I submit the existence of the fishermen in proof that it works.

Salt as a Fertilizer.

The farmers in the vicinity of the Gambo powder mills, in Windham, Conn., use as a fertilizer the salt which accumulates in great quantities at the mills. The salt comes from the saltpeter, and its separation from the nitre is a process of refining which constitutes the most difficult and important feature of powder-making. In the year 1863 tobacco was pretty scarce in the North, and its cultivation was instituted in Connecticut. At that time 800 tons of salt had accumulated at the powder mills, and it was sold to the Connecticut tobacco growers as a fertilizer for one cent a pound delivered at a wharf in Portland. It took four months to haul it. For what was considered worthless, the sum of $16,000 was realized.

Heir to Wind.

There are in the United States at this time people who imagine that they are heirs to over $600,000,000 in England, Germany and Holland. One of the best lawyers in New York says that he would not give an oyster supper to any man and take all these claims as agreed.

IMPORTANT IN SPRING.

Advice what People Should Take During the Spring Months—A Remedy Certain to Produce Beneficial Results.

In the Spring everybody begins to think of taking a Spring medicine. Not only is this a very common practice, but a very necessary and healthful one. It is a fact which physicians acknowledge and the people recognize generally, that a Spring tonic taken during the months of March, April and May is more conducive to the restoration of health in cases of those who are sick than any other course of treatment that could possibly be adopted.

It is further understood by everybody that even for those who call themselves well it is very important at this season of the year, if they would maintain good health and vigor, to take a Spring remedy to strengthen and invigorate the nerves, tone up the action of all the organs, and thus, by creating a healthy condition of the nerves, blood, stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, assist Nature in the efforts she always makes in the Spring to cleanse, purify and invigorate the system.

In the Spring there are great and important changes going on in the body. Perfect health cannot be maintained when the system is clogged and the organs sluggish, and the person has a languid and weakened feeling, with more or less nervousness and debility. If the person has previously been sick these symptoms will be much aggravated; there will be a weak, tired and nervous condition, with sleepless and restless nights, a tired waking in the morning, no appetite for breakfast, a bad taste in the mouth, dull head and general dispirited feelings. In severe cases there will be a feeling of great exhaustion and prostration and the nervousness will be very marked, with no inclination for exertion, the work of the day being done with an effort.

For such cases as these be sure and use that remarkable invigorator and tonic, Dr. Greene's Nervura, the great nerve, brain and blood invigorant. It is pronounced by everybody, doctors as well as the people, to be the best Spring medicine in existance, and has taken rank as the greatest and most important medical discovery of modern times. Under the use of this wonderful remedy that weak, tired and nervous feeling disappears; the nerves become strong and steady, the nights are restful, and the sleep natural and refreshing; the appetite returns, good digestion and regular action of the bowels are established, the kidneys and liver are restored to healthy action, and the vital energies, strength and vigor of the system perfectly built up.

This truly remarkable Spring remedy, which is purely vegetable and harmless, is for sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle, and if any one desires to be perfectly and permanently cured of those disagreeable feelings, weakness, and exhaustion incident to Spring, take our urgent recommendation and get a bottle of this medicine. It will well repay you, as we can testify from our own experience of its marvelous curative powers, and you have our assurance that you will not be disappointed. Be sure and ask for Dr. Greene's Nervura as druggists sometimes recommend their own preparation or something on which they make a greater profit. Do not be persuaded to take any other remedy in place of this, as we really believe that this is the greatest and best of all Spring medicines.

Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth St., New York, its discoverer, is the famous specialist in the cure of nervous and chronic diseases. The doctor has devoted special attention to the treatment of all forms of chronic diseases through letter correspondence, and will give by mail his opinion and advice in any case free of charge. The perfection of this system renders a complete cure almost assured, as his success in treatment by correspondence is wonderful and unequalled.

N. B. Send for symptom blank to fill out, or write Dr. Greene about your case, and a carefully considered letter, fully explaining your disease and giving you a perfect understanding of all its symptoms will be returned, free of charge.

Corporation Notice.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 3, 1891.

Notice is hereby given that James O'Neill has applied to the Common Council of the city of Plainfield for a license to sell spirituous and fermented liquors at 178 South Second street, in the Fourth ward, which application is signed by Charles A. Scheffmeyer, Theodore Zeller, William Mulligan, Henry Kingslow, John Galbraith, Richard Hanrahan, Arthur Scott, Thomas King, Thomas Burke, James Flynn, James Reville, Gustav Grossmann, Pat Power, Oliver S. Randolph, Wm. H. Lee, Martin Kane, James McCarthy, James F. Walsh, John B. De Hart, James Marrson, Stephen McIntyre, citizens and freeholders. All persons knowing of any reason why such license should not be granted, are requested to make known the same in writing to the City Clerk, at No. 7 Park avenue, on or before the 23d day of June, instant.

Done in accordance with the requirements of the ordinance to license inns and taverns and to regulate and prohibit the sale of spirituous and fermented liquors.

J. B. COWARD, City Clerk.

THIS IS WHY.

Ontario Center, N. Y. May 7, 1890.

P. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y.:

For seven or eight years my wife has been troubled with some kind of kidney trouble. She tried many different remedies but all in vain. She continued to grow worse. Last fall I induced her to try the P. E. C. Remedy, and before using one bottle she began to improve, and now, after using six bottles, she is entirely cured. I have recommended it to others, and it has benefitted in every case heard from.

ONE BRIBER GUILTY

He Interfered in the Hennessy Case at New Orleans.

THE JURY'S QUICK DECISION.

The Penalty for the Crime Is Two Years in the Penitentiary.

Another Bribery Case, of Which There Are Six in All, Will Be Tried To-Morrow—Minister Porter's Absence from Rome Creates Talk—Italians Believe He Has Been Recalled.

NEW ORLEANS, June 9.—The trial of the jury bribers began with the case against Bernard Glaudi, charged with attempting to bribe a tales juror in the Hennessy assassination case. Glaudi was convicted. The jury was quickly selected, neither side making captious challenges.

Henry B. Atwood, the juror who was approached, said Glaudi came to him and spoke to him about the case, and he told Glaudi that he had been summoned as a juror but wanted to get off.

Glaudi said to Atwood, "You can make some money by going on the jury and doing your duty." Glaudi told witness there was $500 in it for him. Witness said he did not care to make money that way.

Since the indictment of Glaudi witness has seen him once. That was in front of Mertz's barroom on Gravier street, the beginning of last month. Glaudi spoke to him and asked him about the Grand Jury, and then asked Atwood to be lenient with him.

Against this positive testimony Glaudi offered witnesses to his good character and then went on the stand himself. He admitted that he had spoken to Atwood in the court room. Atwood spoke to him about being excused because he could not afford to lose his business. Glaudi said he had seen in the papers that there was plenty of money in the case. He said he never offered any sum of money to Atwood. He never offered to give Atwood $500. Atwood had told him on Gravier street that he did not know why Glaudi had been indicted. He spoke to Atwood about their being money in the case simply for the sake of talking. He did not mean anything by it.

Atwood stopped him, he said, on Gravier street and shook hands with him. He denied that he asked Atwood to be light on him.

The argument on both sides was brief and the case was given to the jury. Three hours afterward a verdict was rendered. On the first ballot the jury stood six to six. Gradually the jurors who favored acquittal yielded, and finally a verdict of guilty was rendered. The utmost penalty for the crime is two years in the penitentiary.

Another jury bribery case, of which there are six in all, will be tried to-morrow.

Minister Porter's Departure.

ROME, June 9.—The Italians seem to believe, according to their newspapers, that Minister Porter will not come back to Rome, and that his departure is virtually a recall. The fact that not a single Italian Minister or notable politician accompanied him to say farewell is looked upon as significant of Italian sentiment.

SENATOR QUAY CALLS.

He Asks the President to Appoint Mr. Gilkerson to the Court of Claims.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, had a conference with the President and strongly urged the appointment of Second Comptroller Gilkerson, of the Treasury Department, to the Court of Claims. Judge Gilkerson said afterward that he was not advised as to whether there would be a vacancy in the position of second comptroller. Collector Martin, of Philadelphia, who accompanied Senator Quay, handed his resignation to the President as Collector of Internal Revenue at Philadelphia.

The Elliott Murder Trial.

COLUMBUS, O., June 9.—The testimony in the Elliott trial to-day was altogether corroborative, and no new facts bearing upon the crime were elicited. Two more witnesses testified that Elliott had threatened prior to the shooting that in case Osborn or Levering published anything derogatory to his wife and family he would kill them. Their testimony was unshaken by rigid cross-examination. Elliott's family was in court for the first time. His wife and five children occupied seats near the prisoner and his attorneys.

Carried Down by the Merritt Failure.

RONDOUT, N. Y., June 9.—The failure of the dry goods firm of George B. Merritt & Co. has carried with it the grocery firm of Merritt & Finger, the senior member of which is a brother of George B. Merritt and a heavy indorser for him. The firm of Van Kewren & Minard has also been forced to the wall through Van Kewren's connection with the Merritts.

Suits Involving $18,000,000.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Assistant Secretary Spaulding of the Treasury Department, Solicitor Taft of the Department of Justice and Solicitor Hepburn of the Treasury Department have gone to Philadelphia to represent the government in the hat trimmings' case, which is being tried there in the courts. The case involves about $18,000,000.

Lawyer Bartine's Funeral.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 9.—The funeral of Lawyer Bartine was very largely attended. It has been decided to postpone the autopsy on the body for a few days, and the body will meanwhile remain in the receiving vault.

Drowned in a Gas Tank.

NEWBURG, N. Y., June 9.—George L. Hart, age 9 years, while playing with other boys about an old gas tank filled with water, fell in and was drowned last night.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

HE HID THE LETTERS.

Guttenberg's Letter Carrier Secreted His Mail Matter in a Church.

GUTTENBERG, N. J., June 9.—Valentine Samerel, aged 63 years, the only letter carrier there is in this place, was arrested at noon charged with embezzling and secreting the mail.

Guttenberg is one of the three places in which the old penny post system is retained. Samerel was entitled to 2 cents for every piece of mail delivered.

Complaint has been made to the post-office authorities of non-delivery of mail matter, and an inspector was sent on to investigate. After a short search he found under the carpet of the Dutch Reformed Church, of which Samerel is Sunday-school superintendent and sexton, a mass of mail matter directed to Guttenberg residents. All told there were 700 pieces of mail matter. Some of it being a year old.

It is thought Samerel allowed the matter to accumulate because the remuneration was not always sufficient to induce him to tramp around and deliver it. None of the letters found were opened, and robbery therefore could not have been the motive.

JUDGE McCURDY DEAD.

He Graduated With High Honors from Yale in 1817.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 9.—Judge Charles Johnson McCurdy died at his home in Lyme yesterday, aged 96. He was descended on his mother's side from Ursula Wolcott, whose husband, father, brother, uncle, nephew and son were all Governors of Connecticut.

The deceased graduated with high honors from Yale College in 1817, studied law with Chief Justice Swift, was admitted to the bar in 1819 and went into extensive practice at Lyme.

He served in the State House of Representatives through 10 sessions, in three of which he was Speaker of the House, and in the Upper House three sessions, in two of which he was Lieutenant-Governor and President of the Senate.

In 1851 he represented this country at the Court of Austria at a time when the Austrians were much irritated against our nation on account of our reception of Kossuth. Mr. McCurdy's assistance to the Scotch missionaries who were driven out of Hungary was the subject of commendation in the British Parliament.

MRS JOHNSON FREE.

General Butler Secures Her Release on a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

BOSTON, June 9.—United States Circuit Court Judge Nelson has rendered his decision upon the application of General Benjamin F. Butler for the release of Mrs. Clarietta F. Johnson upon a writ of habeas corpus.

After delivering a long opinion he ordered the discharge of the prisoner. General Butler left the court-house smiling.

An appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States was taken.

Bishop Knight Dead.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 9.—Bishop C. F. Knight died at 1:40 p. m. He was stricken with la grippe several weeks ago and on Saturday last had a relapse, which was followed by a stroke of paralysis. Deceased was born in Boston and was 60 years of age. He was consecrated bishop of this Episcopal diocese two years ago.

On Trial for Riot and Conspiracy.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 9.—The trial of John McSloy, C. M. Parker, Michael Damon and 27 others for conspiracy and riot at Uniontown during the coke strike has commenced before Judge Ingraham. All are being tried together. J. H. Schoonmaker and Thomas Lynch are the prosecutors. More than 100 witnesses will be examined.

Apply for Lands in the Adirondacks.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 9.—Messrs. Clary and Paddock, attorneys for the Adirondack & St. Lawrence Railroad Company, have made formal application for lands in the Adirondacks to the Land Board. They state that they only desire to take 160 acres of State land, and that they are willing to pay the sum of $3,000.

The Lutheran Synod.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The convention of the Lutheran Synod of Missouri, Ohio and other States discussed doctrinal matters, the particular subject being the proposition "by faithful adherence to the word of God, alone, can the true renewing or sanctification of the heart and life be wrought among us."

An Inhuman Young Mother.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 9.—Sallie Law, aged 23 years, 16 Adams place, gave birth to a child during the morning. It is charged that she smothered the infant. Coroner Westcott and the Board of Health have the case in hand. Chief Eldredge has placed the inhuman mother under arrest.

Not Guilty of Bribery.

MEDIA, Pa., June 9.—The sealed verdict in the case of Dr. Henderson Hayward, charged with bribery at the Republican Congressional primary election a year ago, was read during the morning. It finds that Dr. Hayward is not guilty. The jurymen were out 26 hours before they reached a decision.

WANAMAKER TALKS

The Postmaster-General a Willing Witness.

NO DEALING WITH BARDSLEY.

He Was Not an Officer of the Keystone Bank.

Before the Failure He Had a Million and a Quarter on Deposit—He Never Borrowed Personally from the Bank—The President Says Federal Officers Must Explain Their Transactions.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—Postmaster-General Wanamaker appeared before the sub-committee of Councils, that is investigating the affairs of ex-City Treasurer Bardsley, during the day. The knowledge that he would appear gave additional interest to the proceedings.

Mr. Wanamaker being late in arriving at the committee room, the intervening time was occupied in questioning Bank Examiner Drew. While Mr. Drew was testifying Mr. Wanamaker arrived, accompanied by his son and brother.

At the conclusion of Mr. Drew's testimony Mr. Wanamaker stepped forward with a roll of manuscript in his hand and stated that he had prepared and proposed to read a statement in answer to all the allegations which have connected his name with the Keystone Bank, and giving a complete account of his transactions with that institution.

Before he began his reading Mr. Wanamaker expressed a hope that the committee would ask him any questions they desired.

The reading and subsequent questioning occupied an hour, during which time Mr. Wanamaker remained standing. When he had finished many persons stepped forward and shook his hand.

Mr. Wanamaker said he had never been an officer of the Keystone Bank, but was simply a depositor. Although his confidence in the bank was shaken at the time of the run, he continued to make deposits, and in the five months previous to the failure placed a million and a quarter there.

"I am as anxious," said Mr. Wanamaker, "and have as much interest as any other to prevent our city treasury from losing the funds provided by taxpayers.

"The firm of John Wanamaker, consisting of three persons, had an account with the Keystone Bank. On this account the checks of the firm were drawn. The firm account, by arrangement with the bank, was made responsible for Mrs. Wanamaker's checks upon the bank, which, for convenience, were kept in a separate account. It was substantially one account under two heads. Mrs. Wanamaker's account could not be overdrawn while the firm account had a balance to its credit. Under these circumstances the account was not overdrawn when the bank closed, according to our books, which show a balance in our favor.

"It is true that there was an item that the bank charged against our account at its last settlement a month or so before it failed of about $4,000, which no one at our office knew anything about, and which we refuse to recognize until it is explained. If they are right and we are wrong there would be a small balance against us.

"I never borrowed personally from the bank, except on the one occasion above stated. The paper appearing in my personal account was paper received in the course of business, with which I settled Mr. Lucas' indebtedness to me by reason of his having failed to keep his agreement. This was paper received from our customers in the usual course of business for goods sold and delivered.

"Nor did the bank nor any of the officers ever make any contribution or donation to me of any kind at any time. I never had a business transaction with Mr. Bardsley individually, or as city treasurer, nor with any one representing him in either capacity. Neither had my firm, except that he had small accounts for merchandise at the store payable monthly. I never subscribed any money for his benefit at any time."

Mr. Wanamaker further said that he had an agreement with the late John C. Lucas to buy Reading stock. "The agreement between us was verbal, that Mr. Lucas was to personally supply certain sums of money as I called for them, and deposit the same to my personal account in the Keystone Bank in accordance with that agreement from time to time I drew."

THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY.

Federal Officers Must Account for Their Action in Keystone Bank Affairs.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The President had a conference with Secretary Foster and Comptroller Lacey in regard to the case of the Keystone National Bank of Philadelphia, as a result of which he dictated a letter to Mayor Stuart acknowledging the receipt of the resolutions of Common Council calling for a governmental investigation of the bank, and saying that he will investigate a thorough examination of the affairs of the bank to the full extent of his powers and will see that any officer of the government found guilty of wrongdoing in that connection is held to a strict accountability for his action.

Comptroller of the Currency Lacy will furnish all the correspondence and a statement of the reasons governing his action relative to the bank. The further examination of the affairs of the bank will be continued as requested, subject to the approval of the United States District-Attorney at Philadelphia. If additional information is desired as to the action of the Comptroller, it is probable that he will, subject to the opinion of the District-Attorney, appear before the Council Committee.

Seventeen Indictments Against Bardsley.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—The grand jury found 17 indictments against Bardsley, ex-city treasurer. The maximum penalty is 65 years.

THE OMNIBUS STRIKE.

London Strikers Reject the Offer Made by the Companies.

LONDON, June 9.—The Road Car Company decided to submit the following terms to employes: Drivers, 6 shillings a day, and after a year's service, 6 shillings and 6 pence; conductors, 4 shillings and 6 pence, and after a year, 5 shillings, a 12-hour day to begin on July 13. Should the terms not be accepted, there will be a lock-out, the company refusing to dismiss faithful employes.

Messrs. Mann and Burns addressed an enthusiastic meeting of the omnibus men. The offer of the companies was rejected, and it was resolved to stick to the original demands. Should those demands not be conceded by to-morrow the hostlers would be forbidden to attend the horses.

The executive committee of the London Trades' Council has issued a manifesto appealing to the public to support the strike.

The magistrate refused to grant a summons against Burns.

Brothers Quarrel Over a Girl.

NEWBURG, N. Y., June 9.—Two brothers named Swanson, employed as watchmen on the West Shore road above Target Hill, had a controversy over a girl, when Peter swung a sling shot and fractured the skull of Charles in two places. It is thought that the unfortunate man will die. His assailant is in jail here.

The Late P. T. Barnum's Estate.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 9.—The estate of the late P. T. Barnum, as shown by the inventory taken by the appraisers and filed in the Probate Court, is estimated as follows: personal property, $1,285,599; real estate, $2,993,933, making a grand total of $4,279,532.

Tool Sharpeners on Strike.

CONCORD, N. H., June 9.—All the tool sharpeners employed by the granite manufacturers of this city have quit work because of the refusal of the latter to accede to the men's demands for an increase of wages from 31 to 33 1-3 cents per hour.

An Old Editor Dead.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 9.—Edward M. Jerome, editor of the Shore Line Times, died yesterday from kidney trouble at his home in this city. He was born in Bristol, Conn., in 1826. He leaves a widow and two daughters.

THE NEW PREMIER.

Thompson the Choice of the Canadian Conservatives.

STRONG MEN FOR THE CABINET.

The Government Organ Predicts a Renewal of the Annexation Agitation.

The Ministers of the Late Cabinet View Sir John's Remains—They Will Act as Pallbearers at the Funeral To-morrow. A Strong Feeling that an Autopsy Ought to be Made.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 9.—The political situation is beginning to assume definite shape. Sir John Thompson is the almost unanimous selection of the Conservative members of the Commons and Senate for Premier.

Hon. Mr. Abbott, who has been urged for the position, has stated that he would only accept it when no other man is possible. The Cabinet will be reconstructed and the strongest men are to be taken from each province. It will, in all probability, be composed of Thompson from Nova Scotia, Foster from New Brunswick, Chapleau and Langevin from Quebec, and Dalton, McCarthy or Meredith, and Bowell from Ontario.

The Empire, government organ, says: "It is plain that Sir John's disappearance from the stage is to be the signal for a movement toward annexation now that the opportunity has come, and every force that can be invoked for blotting out from the map the name of Canada and handing us over as one of the Northern States will be marshaled to the fray with redoubled fury."

Sir John Macdonald's remains lie in the great dining hall at Earnscliffe. The casket stands on a pedestal in the center of the room, and all the appointments as most imposing. Lady Macdonald has somewhat recovered from the prostration consequent upon her husband's death.

The ministers of the late Cabinet met at 10 o'clock, after which they left the council chamber in carriages for Earnscliffe to view the remains of the late Premier. The Cabinet ministers will act as pallbearers at the funeral to-morrow.

There is a strong feeling that an autopsy ought to be made on the body of Sir John by independent medical men, in order that the public may know what was really the cause of death.

THE GREAT BACCARAT TRIAL.

A Verdict from the Jury Looked for This Evening.

LONDON, June 9.—The outcome of the baccarat trial this afternoon is a subject of wide speculation.

Lord Coleridge began his address to the jury at noon, and the verdict of "the 12 good men and true" will be awaited with interest. The jurors are mostly London tradesmen and a verdict satisfactory to the Prince of Wales would be to the personal interest of any one of them.

Sir Edward Clarke, for the plaintiff, created unbounded consternation among the spectators by a straight and scathing attack upon the Prince of Wales. He began quietly, amid breathless silence. As he went on he caused a flutter in the audience by declaring that if playing baccarat warranted Col. Cumming's dismissal from the army, then the Prince of Wales was liable to similar treatment. All eyes were bent upon the Prince to observe how he received this remark. He did not preserve his usual imperturbability. He flushed somewhat, moved uneasily in his seat and then stared stonily at the ceiling.

Society has received another shock over the news that Arthur Stanley Wilson has been elected a member of the Marlborough Club. He is the son of the Mrs. Wilson at whose residence the famous baccarat game was played, and he was proposed for membership by the Prince of Wales.

To Save Boston Half a Million a Year.

BOSTON, June 9.—Mr. Ernest W. Bowditch, the well-known engineer, who for the past year has been investigating the methods employed in carrying on the various city departments, as authorized by the Citizen's Association, has published his report. The result of his inquiry shows a general plan for the reorganization of the departments and the placing of them under one management by which it is believed a saving of $450,000 a year can be effected.

Twenty Suspected Thieves Arrested.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., June 9.—A wholesale arrest of 20 suspected thieves was made by the Newcastle police at Lawrence Junction during the morning. The men were in camp in the woods, and large quantities of silver and jewelry were found in their possession. All were committed by the mayor as vagrants and professional thieves. They will have a hearing Thursday. Nothing is known as to whom the valuables belong.

Behring Sea Bill Passed.

LONDON, June 9.—The bill to enable her Majesty, by order in council, to make special provision for prohibiting the catching of seals in Behring Sea by her Majesty's subjects during the period named in the order, passed the House of Lords.

No Attempt on Bismarck's Life.

BERLIN, June 9.—The capture of an imbecile while he was attempting to commit suicide by drowning himself in the lake in the Friedrichsruhe Park gave rise to a rumor that an attempt had been made upon the life of Prince Bismarck.

Large Shipment of Coal.

PITTSBURG, June 9.—Twelve million bushels of coal passed Davis Island dam to-day for Southern ports. This is the largest shipment of coal on record in a single day from this port.

A Lighthouse Sacked.

BOSTON, June 9.—A report is current here that a band of pirates have sacked a lighthouse off the Maine coast.

REBELS SHOT DOWN.

Over 100 Revolutionists Killed During the Uprising in Hayti.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—News has just been received here that the recent attempted revolution at Port au Prince, Hayti, was more serious than first reported. The latest account says that a party of half a hundred citizens, armed with guns and other weapons, made an attack upon the prison at Port au Prince, where more than two hundred political prisoners were confined. The mob was led by an ex-Minister of the Legitime government. The prison authorities were not prepared for the attack, and the doors were soon broken in and the prisoners recovered.

In a short time the whole town was in an uproar. President Hippolyte himself was at church when the outbreak occurred, and his followers, fearful that the mob might attack him, locked the doors of the building, and he remained there for some time in fear of his life.

When news of the attack on the prison had reached the barracks where Hippolyte's soldiers were quartered, several regiments at once turned out and hastened to the scene of the disaster. The rioters were still on the ground when the troops charged them.

The first volley scattered the mob and many persons were killed. A hundred or more others were arrested on the spot by the soldiers and arrests have been going on ever since.

When order was restored President Hippolyte took the most vigorous means to put down the rebellion, and many of the rioters were executed. Port au Prince is in an utterly demoralized condition and business of every kind is suspended, pending the settlement of the trouble. The law courts have been suspended by order of Hippolyte, and private citizens, on whatever charge they may be arrested, are tried by court martial.

DR. BROOKS' MAJORITY.

He Has Two Votes More Than is Necessary Among the Standing Committees.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The dioceses of the Protestant Episcopal Church throughout the country have given Rev. Dr. Phillips Brooks more than a majority vote in favor of his consecration as Bishop of Massachusetts. There are 53 dioceses in all, making 27 a majority. Dr. Brooks now has 29, with only 9 against him. The vote stands as follows:

Affirmative—New York, Albany, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Western Missouri, North Carolina, Southern Ohio, Indiana, Central Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Michigan, Connecticut, Maryland, Nebraska, Missouri, Minnesota, Long Island, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Virginia, Kansas, Western Michigan, Florida, Delaware, Louisiana, Pittsburg.—29.

Negative—Newark, Iowa, Milwaukee, Chicago, Mississippi, Maine, Texas, Fond du Lac, Springfield.—9.

As soon as the Massachusetts diocese receives formal notice from the necessary number of standing committees its officers will communicate with Bishop Williams, the presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States, and he will ask the seventy-four bishops to say yes or no to the question of Phillips Brooks's consecration. He ought to get the answers within two weeks.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - Managing Editor.

EACH DAY'S RECORD.

The last issue of THE PRESS contained 18 columns of live advertising. The last issue of the "news" had 12 1-4 columns, mostly dead.

NOTHING UNUSUAL.

Yesterday's issue of THE PRESS was nothing unusual, yet notice how much exclusive news it contained:

How John Smith of South Plainfield sent word to his wife's relatives that he was dead, and the tangle that resulted.

The altercation between Marshal Rutledge and Commissioner Conover, and what followed.

Who the burglars were, and how they were captured by the "Two Johns"—Marsh and Keron—in a deserted house near this city.

The highway robbery of Mrs. Bolsterle, on Washington street.

Who the executors of the estate of the late Cashier Parse are.

How two bicyclers stopped a Blue Line Express and almost bleached Engineer Moynihan's hair.

And much else of intensely interesting local news, published only in these columns.

Verily THE PRESS deserves the title the people have given it—"Plainfield's only newspaper".

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Telegraph lineman Joseph Eder, of 21 Steiner place, North Plainfield, fell from a pole yesterday afternoon and fractured an arm.

—The first quarterly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will be held in the Crescent Avenue chapel, this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

—The subscription list for next season's concerts of the Choral Society is rapidly filling up, and will soon reach that point marked out by limitation.

—Harry Couch, an old and well-known citizen of Plainfield, died last evening at the residence of Mrs. Totten, a widow, with whom he had been boarding.

—People are wild to get Peck's goods, wild if they don't get them, and wild if they go elsewhere than Peck's, which is conceded to be the leading store in the city.

—Staff Captain Walsh, the reformed minstrel, will be a prominent figure at the Salvation Army meetings to-night and to-morrow night. He will sing, and play the banjo.

—The trial of Street Commissioner George Conover, of the borough, who was arrested for calling Marshal Rutledge a damn liar, was adjourned by Justice Crosley last night for two weeks.

—A colored traveling minstrel was arrested by policeman Cooney last evening for drunkenness and disorderly conduct on the street. This morning he paid a fine of $5, took his banjo, and went away.

—The expected election of officers of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children did not take place last evening. For lack of a quorum the members present adjourned to Thursday evening, June 18.

—The semi-annual election of officers of the Young Men's Auxiliary, of the Y. M. C. A., will be held at the association rooms to-night. Plans will be discussed and the future interests of the society considered.

—The presence of James Galligan, the professional ball player, about town all day yesterday, gave rise to a rumor that he had been signed by the Crescent management as change pitcher. Fortunately, that is not so.

—The borough people think they have a great joke on ex-Councilman Peter Emmons. Some stranger mistook his first initial as standing for the name of Ireland's patron saint, and now everybody calls him Patrick.

—The Sons of the American Revolution are striving to have all States recognize and observe June 14, of each year, beginning at once, as the nation's Flag Day, by a general display of flags upon both public and private buildings.

—The live stock and farm and household goods of John Jamison will be sold at auction by H. Hand, auctioneer, on the premises, in Washington Valley, situated about one mile from Scotch Plains, to-morrow, beginning at 10 in the morning. Details of the sale are announced in the advertising columns of THE PRESS.

—G. A. Bennett, Jr., general manager of the Freehold Gas Light Co., writes that three years ago they painted all the tin and iron roofs of their gas works and electric light station, and also a large smoke stack and the boiler fronts with Dixon's Graphite Paint, and that the present condition of the paint is apparently as good as when it was first put on. He was so much pleased with it that he recommended it to the Monmouth county officials who have used it on all the county buildings to their entire satisfaction.

—First Baptist church concert to-night.

ANOTHER APPLICANT FOR A FRANCHISE.

Here's a Concern Which Promises Light and Fuel Cheaper Than Natural Gas.

Illness prevented President Smith from attending last night's meeting of the Plainfield Common Council, and in his absence Councilman Moffett occupied the chair.

Councilman Spangenberg regretted to report that because of death in the family of the principal applicant for a gas-works franchise the project could not be fully explained at that meeting. The representative of another company, however, was present, and was given the privileges of the floor. He said he came from I. S. Elkins & Co., of 141 Broadway, New York, who were anxious to have a gas-works franchise in Plainfield, if one was to be granted to anyone. His concern stood ready to supply illuminating gas at a price never to exceed $1.25 per thousand cubic feet, and domestic fuel gas at 60 cents per 1,000. He admitted that this was cheaper than the price of natural gas in regions where that commodity is abundant, but he thought that even with the added cost of manufacture there would still be a margin for a reasonable profit. He explained this by saying that "recent improvements" had reduced the cost of manufacture. His company—it was added—was willing to be bound by ordinance to the prices quoted.

After listening to the gas-works man and referring the application to the committee on public lights the Council adjourned.

Local News as New York Sees It.

This morning's New York Herald says:

Mrs. Joseph H. Bolsterle, of East Third street, Elizabeth, N. J., while on her way home late on Sunday night was attacked by a highwayman. She says the man grabbed her by the throat, seized her wallet, containing $50, and escaped.

Those who last evening read first news of this affair, published as usual exclusively in THE PRESS, will recognize at a glance the accuracy of the Herald's statement. The Herald is quite right in every particular, except that the woman lives on East Second street, Plainfield, instead of East Third, Elizabeth, that the robbery occurred early Saturday night instead of late Sunday, that the man did not grab her by the throat, but by the arm, and that the purse contained $18 instead of $50.

Pleasant Words From Whittier.

Miss Emilie S. Coles, the daughter of the late Dr. Abraham Coles, of Scotch Plains, has received the following letter from John G. Whittier:

Emilie S. Coles:

DEAR FRIEND—Illness has prevented me from writing some word expressing my sympathy with the many who mourn the death of a great and good man, who has left us a legacy of inestimable worth, some of the sweetest of Christian hymns. His "All The Days" and his "Ever With Thee" are immortal songs. It is better to have written them than the stateliest of epics. With him it is well.

Thy aged friend,
JOHN G. WHITTIER.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Mellick, Sr., of 175 Broadway, are to-day celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. They were married at New Brunswick June 9, 1841. The venerable clergyman who tied the knot which has bound the loving couple so happily is now a guest at their home.

Junior Past State Councilor W. S. Hill of Trenton, State Councilor S. C. H. Mills of Rahway, and several other prominent members of the order, paid a fraternal visit to the members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, of this city, last evening.

At the home of Edward P. Thorn, 120 East Front street, is one of the finest collection of roses, now in full bloom, in the city. The beautiful blossoms are the pride of the entire neighborhood. There is a great profusion of them, and they are of most delicious fragrance and of the choicest tints and rarest fullness.

Archbishop Corrigan is an admirer of the writings of the late Dr. Abraham Coles, of Scotch Plains, whose friendship he enjoyed. In a note to the family, since Dr. Coles's death, the Archbishop says that one of the Doctor's translations is from St. Bernard's hymn, which is written in memory of the church and is chanted on the Feast of the Holy Name of Jesus; and that all his selections "are fragrant with the perfume of the Sacred Scriptures".

How tempting! Something "just as good" is offered when Hires's Root Beer is called for. The reason is plain. The unprincipled dealer makes more profit on imitation goods. The wise ones insist on getting Hires's.

STOLE POULTRY FOR PLAINFIELD TABLES

Important Capture of Two Daring Thieves Who Robbed Many Farmers.

A more than ordinary capture was that reported in yesterday's PRESS as having been made by detectives John M. C. Marsh of Westfield and John Keron of Elizabeth in the arrest of Louis Wahl and August Arnold.

Wahl is sixty years of age, and has pursued his unlawful calling in various places the past dozen years. He is an artist by profession, and used his skill to help him in his thieving. He would repaint harness and other articles he stole from the farmers so that they could not recognize them, and he managed thus effectually to disguise his illgotten property. Eight years ago he was arrested in Somerset county for chicken stealing, and was convicted and sentenced to one year in State Prison. When his term expired he at once resumed the same occupation. When set at liberty, he carried on his operations in Newark, going from there to Newton and next to Houtenville, on the Pennsylvania Railroad near Rahway.

Last February he rented a small house in Middlesex county, a few miles from Plainfield, on the line of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and midway between the hamlets of Oak Tree and Dog Tavern. It was a secluded spot and well adapted for his nefarious business. The house is owned by Phillip McGuire, of South Plainfield, who had no idea what kind of a tenant he had let the place to. McGuire formerly occupied the place himself until his wife three years ago was killed in the garden attached to it by falling from a cherry tree.

Securely, as he believed, in this remote spot, Wahl used to sally forth nightly on his thieving forays through the surrounding country. He had a black horse and a dark wagon, in which he conveyed the plunder to his habitation. He used only the black horse at night for his thieving trips, and took another horse when he wanted to dispose of his booty, mainly live chickens, to storekeepers at Plainfield, Roselle and Cranford, who never suspected the fowls were stolen. Lutkins & Hummer, of Plainfield, bought from him, as did also Butcher Andreas, of Amboy. Numbers of his stolen poultry have graced Plainfield tables.

Just before taking McGuire's house, Wahl, while at Houtenville, formed the acquaintance of August Arnold, of Newark, a young man of twenty-four, who worked for T. B. Smith, a farmer. Wahl took a fancy to Arnold and convinced the latter there was more money to be made by stealing poultry and selling it to storekeepers than in remaining at farm work. Arnold, who is an innocent-looking German, was easily persuaded by the old chap's oily tongue, and, abandoning his work, joined his fortunes to those of the hardened old chicken thief.

This was last February, since which time the pair have operated together. They raided poultry houses at Woodbridge, Perth Amboy, Mount Bethel, Raritan, Plainfield, Piscataway, North Plainfield, Roselle and Cranford, and in four months stole at least 1,000 chickens, valued at $170. They also stole a set of wagon wheels from Moses Hetfield, of Westfield, a set of heavy team harness, with a bridle, from Michael Burke, of Union, and horse-blankets, nose-bags and reins from Allen Denman, of Cranford. These goods were all found in Wahl's residence.

So daring did the robbers become in their operations that Arnold used to take crates filled with stolen chickens to Crane's grocery store at Roselle, get them weiged on the scales and then return with the empty crates, which were also weighed so as to get the exact weight of the fowls. On all their trips in the daytime they used a gray horse, so as to baffle any attempt to connect them with the chicken thieves who it was known among the farmers had a dark beast. The house they dwelt in was very filthy. Nine big bags of feathers were found in the place, together with a large quantity of farmers' utensils and carpenters' tools, presumably stolen from various places. There were also all the different colors of paint, a dozen paint brushes and pots, table cloths, towels and a tame pigeon, together with several crates for the stolen poultry.

The clue which led to the detection of the robbers was furnished by the dog which always went with them. On their last expedition, when they robbed the hennery of Thomas Martin, at Roselle, their horse cast a shoe, and, it being a muddy night, the next morning the animal was easily tracked along the road to the rendezvous of the thieves.

The prisoners have made a full and frank confession. They will be arraigned to-morrow in the Union County Court at Elizabeth.

Sang Hymns and Cursed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roughtenhausen, with several members of the Salvation Army, held religious services in front of their house on West Second street, Saturday, and after the Army people had gone they celebrated the occasion by an outburst of filthy language. For their profanity and obscenity they were arrested. This morning Judge Codington fined Roughtenhausen $2, but discharged the wife.

I SUFFERED from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

FOR THREE weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed.—Henry C. Clark, New York Appraiser's Office.

Gibson's Indictment Quashed.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Judge Blodgett quashed the Federal indictment against George J. Gibson, the ex-secretary of the Whiskey Trust, on the ground that the Federal statutes did not cover the crime.

He is Out of Politics.

HORNELLSVILLE, N. Y., June 9.—Assemblyman Milo M. Acker will not seek re-election this fall. He says he is out of politics and has no designs on Senator Fassett's seat as has been stated.

Naval Changes.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 9.—Commodore Stanton, commandant of the naval training station here, has been ordered to the governorship of the Naval Home at Philadelphia, July 1. Capt. Bunce will succeed the commodore as commander here.

The Female Burglar Sentenced.

BOSTON, June 9.—Lizzie Witherell, the female burglar who broke into the house of Mr. Frank A. Colley in Cambridge and stole jewelry worth $1,000, pleaded not guilty and was sentenced to 10 years in the House of Correction.

A Wealthy Young Couple Elope.

ROCHESTER, Pa., June 9.—Frank Hurst, aged 20, son of a retired banker, and Lena Schneider, daughter of a wealthy butcher, eloped from this city. It is believed they have gone to St. Paul.

Trouble Over New Mining Laws.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 9.—Considerable excitement exists here over the resolution adopted by the mine operators. They have decided not to obey the new laws and to test their constitutionality. The miners, confident of ultimate action, have decided to continue work as heretofore, but to prosecute the operators for every violation of the new laws. They will not strike, but if there is a lockout will hold the operators responsible.

Labor Leaders Fear the Pinkertons.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., June 9.—Master Workman Wise and Secretary Parker, active leaders in the late coke strike, declare that threats have recently been made against their lives by Pinkerton detectives. Parker says he was deliberately shot at Saturday night near Wheeler. The two labor leaders are discussing the advisability of hiring officers to investigate the matter.

The Esmeralda Receiving Coal.

PANAMA, via Galveston, June 9.—With the permission of the Columbian government the Esmeralda, Chilian insurgent cruiser, is receiving about 400 tons of coal, supplied by the Panama railroad, to enable it to proceed to Arica. The Esmeralda will probably leave this port to-morrow.

The Itata to Sail on Saturday.

IQUIQUE, June 9.—The Itata will be ready on Saturday to sail for California.

Pure and Old.

The attention of the readers of THE PRESS is called to the advertisement of the A. R. Tudor Co. in another column. They are introducing in this city for medicinal use A. R. Tudor's Rye Whiskey, which is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old. The importance of a pure old whiskey for family and medicinal use does not need to be dwelt upon. It is pleasing to know that there is one firm in this large country which is selling a genuine whiskey at a moderate profit and that they propose to adhere to it and not follow in the footsteps of others in the trade who are capitalized by the exorbitant profits that follow the sale of an adulterated article. Ask your druggist for it.

TREATMENT for CONSUMPTION.

To the PHYSICIANS of Plainfield and Vicinity.

I would respectfully announce that I am prepared to supply the Solution of Iodo-Chloride of Gold and Sodium, lately suggested by Drs. Shurly and Gibbes, for the treatment of Consumption.

Recent experiments seem to promise better results from the use of this remedy than have been attained by any of the newly proposed methods of treatment, not excepting that of Dr. Koch. Absolute purity of materials and careful manipulation are required for the successful preparation of the Solution which, after repeated trials, we have attained.

A good shoe is like a good friend—it will not disappoint you when you call upon it for real service. You know a good friend by trying him, and that's the way you can test a shoe; but the trouble in the case of the shoe is that, when you've tried it, you must keep it. Whether it's good or not. You won't complain about having to keep our shoes, because we know what they are when we sell them, and what we know we let you know before you buy. There is nothing in the market which will give you a better return for your money than our $3.00 Shoe.

BILL BRIGSON AND FAMILY.

A Chapter from the Homely Yet Joyous Life of a Traveling Tinker.

The mere fact that Bill Brigson and family spent the night in Plainfield is not a matter of extraordinary interest to the city's social world, but the circumstances under which that visit was made, and a brief glimpse at the kind of life Bill Brigson lives, may not prove uninteresting to those who like an occasional study of human nature and human character.

The thousands of people who have happy homes in Plainfield—commodious and cool in summer, and snug and hospitable in winter—may learn with some surprise that Bill spent the night in an open lot instead of at the home of a friend. Not that Bill has no friends; indeed, he has hosts, for he is one of those big-hearted and genial fellows who love all mankind. But not a soul in all this big New Jersey town knew him, and not a cot under any sheltering roof awaited his coming.

Bill's family consists of a wife and baby. The wife has a girlish figure and a fair, pale face. One would hardly think her a woman able to withstand exposure to the night mists and the broiling midday sun. But Bill says that an outdoor life is the best for everybody, and Jennie relies implicitly on every word Bill utters. So she trudges patiently about with him from town to town, and is as cheerful as a cricket all day long; and Bill tells her every morning that the country air is doing wonders for her, and that ere long the roses which were lost in the old days of squalor and steady grind, grind, grind, in the pent-up, stifling city, will return to her cheeks, and the cherries to her lips. And Jennie, in her gratitude to Bill for all his kindnesses and goodness, smiles and says "Yes, Bill".

The baby has the easiest time of all. While his parents are on the road he is always strapped in his little carriage, and blinks solemnly at the things along the roadway as they journey from place to place. He is a much-traveled youngster. Though not yet old enough to babble much that is intelligible he has been trundled about in the warm southern States during the winter, and is now well advanced on his tour through the north.

Bill, Jennie, and the baby, reached Plainfield yesterday morning. One would hardly suppose that well-to-do and aristocratic Plainfield had many broken umbrellas to be patched up, yet Bill did a thriving trade and at nightfall handed over to his wife a snug bit of profits to be added to the fund with which some day they will pay for their own cosy country cottage with its bit of garden. The possession of that little home is their highest earthly ambition.

The Brigson family chose a quiet spot near the bridge over Green brook, for their bivouac. They were to take an early morning start for the villages beyond the Watchung monntains, so Jennie rolled up in a blanket on the greensward, with her head pillowed on her arms, as soon as the frugal supper was ended. She had no table to clear away; no dishes to wash. Jennie did not go to sleep at once, but lay quiet, with her eyes resting lovingly on Bill and the baby. Bill was not an Adonis in looks, but in Jennie's eyes he was the handsomest man she had ever seen. He was a sturdy young fellow, and as generous and faithful a husband as any woman could wish.

For a little while young Bill, the baby, was permitted to play about in the grass, clutching with his chubby fists, and cooing, at the daisies and clover tops. As the dews began to gather he was tucked back into his carriage.

The Brigsons were not talkative. Instead of giving vent to their thoughts by medium of their tongues they sort of communed silently, and built happy air-castles, and enjoyed the evening calm and nature's serenity.

Bill sat propped up against a tree. He was always glad for this twilight hour, for its cool, delicious atmosphere, for its restful quiet. As he watched the varying tints of the sunset glow—the colors so delicate that they seemed to quiver before the breeze that stirred the trees in the mountain-top beyond which the orb of day had sunk—he almost wished he were a painter, that he might transfer to canvas the immortal purity of the heaven of which it seemed a glimpse. As the light faded and the curtains were drawn over that painting in the sky, the moon, the tiniest of silver crescents, came forth, and stars began to peep, and myriads of pale-gleaming fire-flies twinkled in the air around about. All these things were poetry to Bill's soul. He drank in to his heart's content the sublimity of the quietude, the beauty of the scene. As the shadows deepened and from the horns of the young crescent, now golden, a faint thread of light extended, encircling the lunar body, Bill went softly over to where his wife and little Bill were sleeping, kissed them both good-night, and returned to his seat by the tree. His eyes for a time followed the flight and gyrations of the fire-flies; then gradually his eyelids drooped and his head sank low. When the clarion notes from a neighboring hen coop announced the hour of eleven Bill's head was on his arms, and his arms were on his knees; he was sound asleep. Shrouded in the shadows no one could have seen that his clothing was much worn and mended; the bundle of old umbrella frames, and the tiny charcoal furnace, took on different aspects; the patchwork quilt beneath which the babe was slumbering might have been the costliest silk, for all one could see; the rough blanket encircling Jennie's slender form might have been purple and fine linen, and the grass a bed of down: the darkness hid all the signs of poverty, all the penury of the Brigsons' life; one could scarcely have distinguished the homely camp from the halted caravan of a prince. And for aught one knows the sleeping Bill Brigson may have been a real prince in disguise; at any rate, he was a much better man than some princes the people read about; perhaps the itinerant tinker and one of the bad princes were changelings.

Some time before the sun crept above the eastern horizon and shed his dazzling effulgence over the city, Bill was awake and had taken a refreshing bath in the cool waters of Green brook. And while the sunrise tints were still creeping across the sky he and Jennie and the baby had a breakfast, hearty and enjoyable, the best sauce of which was the keen hunger and natural relish bred by the free and happy life of the open air. Then, in a most jolly and satisfied frame of mind, the trio went their way, trudging towards the mountains, and Bill mending umbrellas and tinware at every chance that offered along the road.

The Present Rage With Plainfielders.

DeWolf Hopper, and his admirable coterie of artistic players and singers, are drawing such enormous houses at the Broadway Theatre, New York city, that even the capacity of that immense playhouse is taxed to its utmost. "Wang," that amusing and handsomely staged production from the pens of J. Cheever Goodwin and Woolson Morse is well worthy of a visit to this popular theatre, as the large audiences in attendance nightly verify.

Mr. Hopper and the entire management express their hearty satisfaction at the way business is keeping up, and the thorough appreciation of the audiences. Several interesting events are to occur at the Broadway during the coming week; first among these, is the visit of the West Point cadets on Friday evening, who come in a body from the Military Academy and will occupy boxes and orchestra chairs, dressed in full uniform. On the following night, Saturday, the New York and Chicago base-ball clubs, after the second game of their series in the struggle for a firm hold on the leading championship, will occupy proscenium boxes, and Hopper's telling base-ball hits, so familiar to all his admirers, will reign supreme.

A Great Musical Treat.

The concert this evening at the First Baptist church, will possess many features of unusual interest and pleasure. Dr. C. H. Penfield, of New York, the celebrated organist, and Wm. E. MacClymount, will give selections on the fine new church organ just erected by Midmer who built the organ in Dr. Ketcham's church, and the organs in the Masonic rooms of this city.

Mrs. Emma Watson-Doty, the popular New York soprano, will sing, "Hear Ye, Israel", from Elijah, and "Come Unto Him", from "The Messiah". John C. Dempsey, the well-known baritone, of New York, will sing "O God, Have Mercy" from St. Paul.

A Wooden Indian Smashed the Glass.

The wooden indian in front of Wolff's cigar store smashed a $75 plate-glass window, in the front of the store, months ago, and landlord J. S. Cutter has been trying ever since to recover the value of the shattered pane. Wolff claims that some passer-by shoved the indian through and that he is not responsible, but Cutter takes the stand that the indian had no business blocking up the sidewalk. The suit for damages will be tried before Justice Nodyne and a jury in a week or so.

Stole a Watch and Gave the Jeweler a Job.

A young lad whose name is withheld out of respect to his industrious and respectable parents picked up a watch a woman in a neighboring house left lying in easy reach the other day and escaped arrest only by his tearful pentitence and promises for future good behavior. He took the watch all to pieces to see if he could put it together again, and so gave the jeweler a job. He will have to foot the bill, and the next time he is caught in such an offense he will have to suffer for his guilt.

Fifty Cents Apiece for Annual Baths.

Police Captain Grant raided a party of boys in swimming in Green brook last night, and caught one of them, John Newman. The lad was arrested a year ago and was then told that the next time he got caught he would be fined $1, so he must pay that sum now.

Oh, What a Cough

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

A FAMOUS DUELIST.

Tales of Alex. K. McClung, Once the Terror of the Mississippi.

Thirty-five years ago the name of Alexander K. McClung was known and feared all over the State of Mississippi, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. He had come out of the Mexican war with a dangerous wound, received at the storming of Monterey, while at the head of his regiment; he had killed several men in street encounters and under the cruel code duello, and he was known as a man of dauntless courage and imperious temper. Few men of his day entered life with fairer prospects of achieving an honorable and enduring fame. In some respects he was a natural "Admirable Crichton" among men. He was possessed of a magnificent physique, and was a born soldier, poet, orator; but he died before his splendid gifts had hardly begun to germinate.

The curious lover of reminiscences has only to broach the subject of "McClung" to old residents to hear thrilling incidents of the desperado-duelist's doings. Occasionally they were of a humorous character. Upon one occasion Colonel McClung became enraged at an acquaintance in a public place, but instead of sending the usual formal challenge, he kicked the offending party out of the front door. A short time after this, at another public place, McClung saw the same person kick another man out the door. Very much amused and now in a good humor, the duelist pleasantly called attention to the coincidence between this and their own reconter.

"That's all right, Colonel McClung," retorted the kicked kicker, "you and I know who to kick."

Tradition says he never quailed before danger or seemed to be satisfied with the courage of his antagonist except upon one occasion. Having passed a challenge, the offender chose bowie knives in a dark room. Each was to take his stand in an opposite corner, when, upon a given signal, the seconds were to extinguish the lights, lock the door and retire; then the two were to meet and cut till one or both were killed or satisfied. Knowing McClung to be expert with pistol, sword and knife, the challenged party remained perfectly still in his corner, while the desperado went plunging around in the dark like a madman, hacking and slashing as if in close encounter. Finally, after several minutes of this terrific test of the nervous system, unable to find his antagonist, yet feeling conscious that he himself was in mortal danger, it is said his courage for the time failed him, and the hero of a dozen desperate fights stopped short and cried out: "Where are you?" and demanded that the door be opened. He was satisfied. When the lights were restored Colonel McClung was white as a sheet.

Upon another occasion he made an insulting remark to a little fellow whom he could almost have carried around upon his shoulder, for physical strength was another of his natural gifts. To his surprise and amazement the man proved game. Walking up to his towering antagonist and shaking his fist, he exclaimed:

"Colonel McClung! I'll let you know, sir, I'm no sardine if you are a whale!"

McClung laughingly shook hands with him on the spot and apologized.

An anecdote is related of Colonel McClung, which may or may not be Gospel truth, but it is at least plausible as being in line with his well-known character. The story goes that he was in the habit of visiting a lady at Mobile whom he admired. One evening when calling he noticed that she seemed nervous and agitated. He understood why when a heavy step sounded along the corridor and a brisk knock came on the door, which had been hurriedly closed by the lady. The knock was followed by a gruff voice demanding admission. The fair one explained to the Colonel that they were both in imminent peril, as the gentleman on the outside was a river captain who came to town periodically and insisted much against her will on visiting her.

"Let him in!" said McClung.

"Oh, but he'll kill us!" said the poor lady.

"Never you mind about that; you let him in," said the gallant Mississippian.

The outsider was getting furious by this time, and when the door was opened he fairly glared at the man he looked upon as an intruder.

"See here, young man," he yelled, "climb out of here, and don't waste any time."

Colonel McClung was reclining on a sofa, his head resting easily on his hand. Without changing his position he simply asked the river man:

"Do you know who I am, sir?"

"No, and —— the difference; you clear out."

Still, without making a movement, McClung drawled:

"Well, I am from Mississippi, and my name is Alexander McClung. I'll give you ten seconds to vacate the room."

"I have time to spare, Colonel," said the Captain, as he made a bee line for the door.

Colonel McClung was found dead in his hotel at Jackson, weltering in his blood, with one of his dueling pistols lying by his side. No doubt existed but that he had taken his own life. The causes generally given are two—remorse because of the men he had slain, and disappointment in not receiving a foreign office at the hands of the Whig administration he had worked to place in power so far as Mississippi was concerned.

Vine Culture in America.

Some recent statistics show that very rapid increase is being made in vine culture in this country. There are now under vine culture in America 400,000 acres, of which about 300,000 are bearing. The estimated value of the vineyards and wine cellars is $155,000,000. In California there are 150,000 acres under vine culture, and a large proportion of the grapes produced are made into wine. Most of the grapes grown in New York State are sold for food. The total production of wine in the United States during the last year is about 40,000,000 gallons.

CLOUD AND SUNSHINE.

Waiting in gloom and pain;
Weary, oh! so weary!
Steadily falls the rain,
Dark the day and dreary.
The bitterest winds are wailing loud,
And the funeral sky is clothed in cloud;
Will the sun ne'er shine again?

Courage! in heart and brain,
Though the day be dark'ning;
Waiting is not in vain,
If for God thou'rt heark'ning.
The dreariest weather will change some day,
And never a cloud but will pass away,
And the sun must shine again.

Be still, sad heart, nor mind
The heat of fiery trying.
The mystery entwined
With sorrow and with crying.
The costliest gold, by a method slow,
Must lose its dross in the hottest glow,
But it cometh forth refined.

AUNT ABIGAIL'S WILL.

What She Bequeathed to Cousins Roger and Dick.

It was Abigail Varley's three-score-and-tenth birthday. She was a rich widow, childless, and with no known relations save two gentlemen cousins.

Never was cousinly attachment more beautifully illustrated, or cousinly jealousy less amiably exemplified, than in the daily walk and conversation of these two collateral kinsmen. They bestowed so much affection on their common relative that they had none left to waste between themselves.

Both were several years younger than the lady, with a fair prospect, according to the course of nature, of surviving her; and how to supplant each other in her will, which she had at last begun seriously to talk of making, was the problem which at present engaged their attention.

On the morning in question, when Cousin Roger called to wish Cousin Abigail the usual "many happy returns," he was not a little chagrined to find Cousin Dick there before him. However, he presented his annual gift, and went through his annual speech without missing a word; and seeing Tabby, the cousinly cat, perched snugly on his rival's knee, by way of not being outdone in cousinly attention, he took up Pompey, the cousinly poodle, though dogs were his abomination.

"Well, Cousin Abigail, I hope your health continues good," said Cousin Roger, patting Pompey's head and glancing suspiciously at Cousin Dick, whom he devoutly wished at Jericho.

"Not so good latterly as has been. The fact is," the old lady continued, "I have been thinking seriously of sending for Mr. Parker, with a view to settling my worldly affairs without delay."

"Oh, there is no need of haste, cousin," broke in Dick; "you have many years before you yet;" mentally adding: "What has possessed the old lady to put it off so long?"

"Well, well, I suppose there's no hurry about it," said Cousin Abigail.

"And yet," Cousin Roger ventured to hint, "it is always well to be prepared; none of us can tell the minute or the hour, you know."

"And, after all, calling in a lawyer is not so serious a matter as calling in a doctor," said Cousin Dick, facetiously.

The conversation was interrupted by the entrance of a young and beautiful girl, at whom Cousin Dick stared with a surprised and troubled look.

"Pardon me, ma'am," she said, in a voice remarkably sweet and gentle; "not knowing you were engaged, I came to see if you wished me, as usual, to read to you to-day."

"Presently, dear," Mrs. Varley answered in a tone that plainly hinted her visitors would not be pressed to stay if they offered to go.

After an awkward pause the two cousins took their departure together.

"Who is that girl?" inquired Roger, as soon as they reached the street.

"You may well ask," said Cousin Dick; and, stooping, he whispered something in his companion's ear, at which the latter started suddenly.

"Good heaven! the resemblance is certainly striking. But what is to be done? Do you think the old—Cousin Abigail, I mean, suspects any thing?"

"Not yet, I think; but no time is to be lost. I have a plan which it would be well for us to talk over together."

And the two hurried rapidly along.

Mrs. Varley had occasionally found the time hang heavy on her hands, and so had advertised for a person to fill the post of "companion" to an aged lady. It was thus that Hester Darling had become an inmate of the house.

At as early an hour as was seemly on the morning following that on which we introduced them to the reader, Roger and Dick again presented themselves before their cousin.

"We have thought it our duty, cousin"—began Dick.

"Our bounden duty," put in Roger.

"As painful as it is imperative," Dick continued.

"To put you on your guard, ma'am," Roger added.

"Against a deceitful and designing person," exclaimed Dick.

"Who is no better than she should be!" shouted Roger, indignantly.

"Upon my word, cousins, I do not comprehend a syllable you have uttered," said Mrs. Varley; "nor shall I be likely to if you both keep talking at once. Come, Dick, you seem least excited. What is the meaning of all this?"

"What means, may I venture to ask," said Dick, "did you take to ascertain the character and antecedents of the young woman at present sheltered beneath your roof?"

"Why, none," replied the good lady. "Her young and truthful face were recommendation enough on which to give her a trial."

"We have ascertained her to be a most abandoned creature," proceeded Dick, "and have deemed it proper at once to apprise you of the discovery. Should she deny the accusation, we are prepared with abundant proofs."

And the two cousins took their leave, with an air of exalted virtue.

Mrs. Varley was a lady of the strictest propriety and severest morals. Much as she pitied and befriended the poor and friendless girl, she must be promptly freed from this foul and dreadful charge, or cross her threshold never to return.

She went directly to Hester's chamber.

"You must tell me your past history, child," said Mrs. Varley, in a determined but not unkindly tone.

"Oh, madam, I pray you pardon me, but I can not, can not tell it!"

"Then it has been one of shame and guilt?"

"For a time, of shame, madam," answered the young girl, with flushed cheek, "but never of guilt."

What was it that caused Mrs. Varley to start so suddenly and stagger half fainting to a seat at Hester's dressing-table?

"Who—whose likeness is that?" she exclaimed, in a scarce articulate voice, pointing to an open miniature on the table.

"My mother's," Hester answered.

"Then you are Florence Marvin's child?"

"That was, indeed, my mother's name."

"More, you are the daughter of my only brother, George Haywood, for Florence Marvin was his wife."

With a stifled cry, she who had believed herself alone and friendless in the world fell on her kinswoman's neck and wept tears of mingled gladness and sorrow.

Her story, which Hester had refused to confide to a stranger's ears, she now willingly imparted to one from whom she felt she had no longer any right to withhold it.

That her brother had married in opposition to her father's wishes, and had been disinherited in consequence, was already known to Abigail Varley; but what distant spot he had selected for his home, and what had befallen him there she had never learned.

The story was sad enough:

After a few toilsome, but not unhappy, years—for they were spent in the loved society of his wife and child—a dire calamity had fallen upon George Haywood. He came under suspicion of a fearful crime. A network of circumstances too intricate for man's wit to disentangle environed him, and he was condemned to die. The stern judgment was carried into effect, and the executed murderer's despised widow sought concealment for herself and child in a change of place and name. Long, long years afterwards the truth was discovered; but the judicial murder had passed among the things irrevocable. The poor widow died at last—died broken-hearted, but with one consolation: She had lived to see her husband's innocence vindicated.

"And this, my poor child, is the shame of which you spoke?"

"My life has known no other."

Not many days after, Hester was sent to one of the first seminaries in the land, for she had yet time enough to avail herself of opportunities of culture hitherto beyond her reach. Her aunt and she kept their own counsel. Cousins Rogers and Dick only knew that the object of their solicitude had disappeared, and probably congratulated themselves on the success of their virtuous stratagem.

After a time, Mr. Parker, Cousin Abigail's lawyer, was sent for, and after that the good lady seemed wonderfully revived in health and spirits. At her next birthday the prospect of "many happy returns" produced any thing but a happy effect on the two expectant cousins, who began to think that, after all, the life tables might not be infallible. But her time came at last; and, within a decent period after the sad event, Cousins Roger and Dick were duly summoned to attend the reading of Abigail Varley's will.

They were a good deal startled at the sight of their old enemy, the strange girl.

Poor Tabby, as if seeking consolation in her bereavement, leaped upon the knee of her old friend Dick, who stroked her back pathetically, but a little nervously. Pompey, who took things more philosophically, stretched himself out for a snooze at the feet of Roger.

Mr. Parker, drawing from his pocket the document, proceeded to read it. The introduction was long and formal. But, hark! there's something coming now:

"To my cousin, Richard Figgins"—

Richard looked at Roger in triumph.

—"I give and bequeath"—

You could have heard both their hearts beat.

—"In consideration of the natural love and affection which I have long observed between them"—

Dick looked puzzled.

—"My favorite cat Tabby"—

Dick gave Tabby a furious stroke the wrong way.

"And no more of my estate."

With a fling that betokened a most emphatic renunciation of the legacy, Tabby was sent mewing and spitting to the furthest corner of the room.

"To my cousin, Roger Smith"—

It was Roger's turn to triumph.

—"In consideration of the like natural love and affection"—

Roger began to feel suspicious.

—"I give and bequeath my dog Pompey, and no more of my estate."

With a violent kick Pompey was sent spinning after the cat; and the fear of her who had so long kept the peace between them being no longer before their eyes, the pent-up enmity of years found vent in an uproarious fight, in the noise of which the voice of the old lawyer was almost drowned; but the words: "rest and residue of my estate—niece, Hester, Haywood," were sufficiently audible, and Cousins Dick and Roger stayed to hear no more.—N. Angola, Erie Co., N. Y., April, 1890. Being very nervous my arms would twitch whenever I tried to lift anything, my memory was also affected, and bad thoughts troubled my mind so that I didn't know what to do with myself. Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic cured me entirely. JOHN SHEELY.

Perfect Health.

TAGONY, PHIL. CO., PA., Dec., '89. Mr. H. J. Ryan writes under above date: I had a fall about 18 months ago, from which I contracted fits, had such attacks every six weeks, but since I took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic I have not had any symptoms of them and am in perfect health.

Our Pamphlet for sufferers of nervous diseases will be sent free to any address, and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge from us.

This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., for the past ten years, and is now prepared under his direction by the
